TOWN MEETING VOTES AGAINST TEACHERS

By a vote of 443 to 267 Ten the special town meeting of Tuesday evening, attended by probably from 1200 to 1500 people, voted to support the town school board and against the effort of the teachers of the public school to get a $200 increase in salary, per teacher, for next year, over what the school board has set as the salary figure for 1920-1921.

The vote was taken on the following resolution offered by Judge John H. Barnes who presented the cause of the school teachers: Resolved, and it is the sense of this meeting that the town school committee of Norwich are requested, advised, and required, to further increase the wages of each of the school teachers of the town to the amount of $200 for each teacher for the school year beginning in September, 1920, in addition to the sum of $200, and regular salary of the public school to get a $200 increase in salary, per teacher, for next year, over what the school board has set as the salary figure for 1920-1921.

And he further resolved, that the town school committee be authorized to include in its next annual budget of estimated school expenses for the coming year, a sum sufficient to cover the total increase in the wages of said teachers over the present year. And he further resolved, that the selection of the town of Norwich in their next annual report to be submitted to the town meeting, shall include in its estimates of school expenses for the coming year a sum sufficient to cover the increase in wages of the teachers of the town as provided by this resolution, and the amount of the same to be put in force by the said town school committee as above stated.

The hour for the meeting arrived the town hall was filled pretty nearly to its capacity, every seat occupied, with rows of men standing six or seven deep at the rear, others standing along the sides, and a number of women seated in the front. The meeting was opened by Judge Barnes, who read the resolution and put it in force by the said town school committee as above stated.

It took twenty minutes to count the ballots and the vote was announced just as the clock was striking midnight. Judge Barnes and Allen L. Brown made the principal speeches on the opposing sides, both arguing on the point of comparison of salaries paid in Norwich and other towns and cities in the state.

Nothing was said in support of the teachers' claims as to whether the pay for Norwich teachers compared unfavorably or otherwise with other towns. The meeting generally got the impression that Mr. Brown was appearing for the school board, but it was stated afterwards that they had nothing to do with his appearance at the meeting.

Meeting Begins on Time. First Selectman Casper K. Bailey entered the hall promptly on the stroke of eight and called the meeting to order, turning it over to Town Counsel Henry H. Pettis as chairman.

After a few minutes Charles S. Holbrook read the call for the meeting. Chairman Pettis said he wished to make a statement of his opinion on the legal effect that any action taken would have in the event of a strike. He said that the school board had full power over these matters, but could listen to recommendations from this meeting. Nothing that this meeting could do would be binding in the matter of salaries, but would need to be voted upon at the annual town meeting in October.

Following his resolution, which Clerk Holbrook read, Judge Barnes said he was acting at the request of 120 teachers of the town who were asking for fair and impartial treatment. They say they are entitled to an increase and they ought to know. Whether or not the increase must pass the muster of the school board and the annual town meeting, with the $200 increase already granted them, he said he would not say. extravagance in handling other people's money. Attorney Leslie Brewer, formerly of East Hartford, argued for the teachers, and quoted figures, saying that education is a place where a town should not be niggardly. If this money is not granted, he claimed, it would have to be taken from other things which would mean a better salary somewhere else.

Support School Board. Ex-Mayor Allen L. Brown was applauded as he walked to the front of the hall and said he could qualify as a resident for 35 and a half years here, and that he had seen the public schools and hoped of having a girl there. Mr. Brown got another hearty burst of applause when he said that he was there with two propositions, and the first was that the citizens ought to support the school board which had been duly elected and was the constituted authority to administer the schools. They were a wire served by Mrs. Herbert Tubbs, Mrs. Eugene Saunders, Mrs. H. H. Perkins and Mrs. Arthur Blackledge, assisted by Mrs. Florence Tilly, Mrs. Anna Gordon and Miss Jeanette White of the Episcopate Circle, Miss Ruth Whiting of the Blue Bird Circle and Miss Jennie Sebastian of the Loyal Circle.

Several hundred people waited outside the South Baptist church at Hartford on Sunday evening hoping for an opportunity to hear Gypsy Smith, Jr., at the last meeting of the four weeks' revival he has been conducting in Hartford. With every seat filled and many standing in the rear of the church it was impossible to crowd any more in for the last message of the evangelist. Although the meeting was not scheduled to begin until 7:30 the church was crowded long before that hour and several hundred people were waiting outside for their places in order that those less fortunate should not be denied the opportunity. At the close of his sermon the evangelist led the congregation in song while scores of people went forward to make the promise to follow Christ.

Before Mr. Smith began to speak the Rev. Dr. Peter C. Wright, pastor of the Ansham Avenue Baptist church, expressed the appreciation of the people of Hartford for the work done in the campaign.

LAWN MOWERS

The lawn mower season being at hand and goods not arriving we arranged to have delivery made by auto truck from Orange, N. J.

This truck reached Norwich Saturday night, with over 100 Townsend Mowers, after an eventful trip.

Barring one or two mishaps, good time was made on this trip.

The National truck burned out the bearings ploughing through the mud at Clinton, and a telephone message to Orange, N. J., brought a new set through in a Ford service car.

With new bearings the car moved a few feet and slid off the surfaced road into the gutter and had to be unloaded before it could be extracted from the mud.

This method of transportation together with the 220 mile trip to factory in our Reo trucks after poultry netting last week are but examples of the spirit that has actuated merchants during the recent freight embargoes.

We're now prepared to supply LAWN MOWERS, POULTRY NETTING, SEEDS, GARDEN TOOLS, SCREENS, SCREEN DOORS.
