

WESTERLY

The superior court, Judge Brown presiding, adjourned Friday to Monday morning at 10:45, with the case pending of Owen P. Lee against Sheriff John H. Wilcox, Everett E. Jones and Owen H. Jones, charging illegal arrest, false imprisonment and malicious prosecution. The sum of $50,000 is claimed in damages. This case has been on for three days and will probably be finished Monday.

Justice of the Peace Perry, who issued the warrant for the arrest of Owen Lee, which plaintiff claims was issued after his arrest, and one of the factors in the case now on trial in the superior court, was on the witness stand Friday. In the course of his cross-examination by Attorney Curran of counsel for plaintiff, Justice Perry told the judge and jury of a case where a drunk was brought in for trial. The accused was so drunk that he could not get out of the automobile, and he was arraigned while in the auto, and warrant and mittimus were issued. He was asked if the drunk was arraigned or committed before warrant was issued. Objection was raised and sustained, and Justice Perry was not permitted to answer. Counsel for defendants asked the witness whether ground was being laid for another $50,000 suit. Justice Perry, while on the witness stand did not say whether the intoxicated man possessed guilty or not guilty in drunkness. It may be the justice did not deem it necessary to put the accused to plea, as there are people now in North Kingstown who use that old expression of "being in believing."

Frank Manna, who was shot by Antonio Cappuccio when in Pleasant street Thursday night, is still in a precarious condition at the Lawrence-Memorial hospital, New London. The police spent all night in a vain search for Cappuccio, and the search was renewed and continued through Friday.

Cappuccio fired but one shot at Manna, but soon thereafter a second shot was heard in the neighborhood, which was the basis of the report that Cappuccio had committed suicide.

There are three cases on the docket of the superior court assigned for the present term of Cappuccio against Manna and vice versa. Attorney Dunn, counsel for Manna, told the court Friday of the shooting of Manna, and Judge Brown ordered these cases continued to the next term of the court.

So far as can be learned, Cappuccio shot Manna without the slightest warning, and it was done so quickly that before other men present realized what had happened, Cappuccio had gone from their sight. Since Manna's arrival in New York on his return from Los Angeles with Mrs. Cappuccio, he has lived with his family in a house directly opposite the one occupied by Mrs. Cappuccio and her children. Cappuccio has lived elsewhere, but called frequently to see his children. Manna claims he has not visited Mrs. Cappuccio since their return, and had not spoken to Cappuccio, but saw him several times. He claims he did not see Cappuccio before the shooting, but turned and saw him run away immediately after.

The Manna-Cappuccio cases on the present docket of the superior court are of a civil nature, and are offshoots of the criminal charges against Manna. Attorney Dunn has motion pending in the superior court asking that the criminal charges against Manna be heard in the superior court for Kent county, instead of Washington county. This motion was made under the belief that it would be impossible to get an unprejudiced jury in Washington county.

Mrs. Charles H. Gavitt tendered her resignation as chairman of the motor corps at a meeting of Westerny chapter held in the directors' room of the Industrial Trust company. Treasurer James M. Pendleton's report showed a balance, April 1, of $7,542.06. Willard H. Bacon was elected a member of the executive committee.

Local Lectures.
Westerny will be in line with the other principal places of Rhode Island on daylight saving time, beginning next Sunday morning at 2 o'clock.

Governor Beekman has signed the enabling act allowing Rhode Island women to vote as soon as the federal amendment is ratified and proclaimed. This act would give women the same rights of suffrage as the men.

Rev. H. O. Hiscox of Pelham, N. Y., will be the preacher in the First Baptist church Sunday.

STONINGTON

From some unknown cause the motor used to generate the storage batteries of the Stonington fire alarm system were discovered to be burned out. This condition was found by Alexander P. Loper while inspecting the system. Power enough is in storage to hold the service over Sunday. It is probable that a new motor must be purchased before the system again become dependable. The service has been in operation three years without a hitch in working when occasion required.

Stonington Painters.
Mrs. Dwight C. Stone was called to New York to be examined by the illness of her mother, Mrs. J. O. Barrows. Mrs. Theodore T. Wilcox is in Boston, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Jr.

Rev. Samuel M. Cathcart, of Westerny, will preach in the Second Congregational church, Sunday morning.

NOANK

The death of Mrs. Marjorie O'Toole, for many years a resident of the village, occurred at her home in Sagamore, Mass., early Sunday morning. The funeral, which was held Wednesday, was attended by two granddaughters of the deceased—Mrs. John G. Jensen and Mrs. Irene Lavers, both of Noank.

The fishing boat that ran ashore on Turner's reef Tuesday afternoon was owned by Clarence Wilcox of Mystic instead of the Wilcox Bros' boat, Anna D., as stated. The Anna D. stood by the stranded craft until late in the evening, when the latter craft floated and was towed into the harbor. The damage to the craft was slight, one small hole being punched through the planking on the bottom.

James Slatore of Stonington was a caller in the village today.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Temple have left on a short visit to Granville, N. Y.

The regular Ram Island reef lights were returned to her station in Fisher's Island sound, off Mystic Island, Tuesday, after receiving a general overhauling. The boat, which was formerly schooner-rigged and carried two masts, now has only one and resembles an old-fashioned smack or sloop. The lights have been equipped with a powerful motor for several years and has no real need of any other power.

Miss Marion Rathbun, who has been visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Rathbun, has returned to Providence.

Mrs. Harry Herron and children of Groton are visiting Mrs. Herron's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pray.

so far recovered as to get around with the use of crutches.

After a month spent with relatives here, Pratt Allen has returned to the Dr. Baldwin homestead, in Canterbury, for the summer.

Mrs. Ada Snow Neff, wife of Frank P. Neff, died Tuesday morning, after an illness of two years. Although her health had been in a precarious condition for some time the end came suddenly and as a severe shock to her relatives and friends besides her husband, Frank P. Neff, of New London, she leaves two sons, Frank P. Jr., and Dudley W. Neff, a brother, Daniel P. Snow, also a granddaughter, Lillian A. Neff, all of Montville. The funeral services were held from her home on Gay Hill, on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial was in Union cemetery, Waterford, at the convenience of the family. Church and Allen of Norwich had charge of the arrangements.

In spite of the stormy weather twenty-two were present at the Ladies Aid society meeting of the Baptist church, held with Mrs. Ray Woodmansee, on Wednesday afternoon. Several pleasant hours were spent, nearly all being engaged in work of various kinds. A supper of potato salad, wheat and oatmeal bread, cake and tea was served at 4:45.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morgan, Mrs. Geo. Wait, and daughter Mildred, moved to New London, recently.

A SALE OF U. S. GOVERNMENT BALBRIGGAN UNDERWEAR BEGINS SATURDAY MORNING

Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers 69c a Garment

EACH GARMENT HAS PASSED A RIGID GOVERNMENT INSPECTION AND BEARS THE OFFICIAL STAMP WHICH MEANS SERVICE

The Shirts are pull-over style, with short sleeves, and are large and roomy. The Drawers are all ankle length, with double reinforcements at seat and crotch, and have taped seams, and ribbed ankle.

If bought through regular mercantile channels we would have to sell such Underwear for $1.25 a garment. It was made for hard service, and only the best materials were used, and the work was closely checked up—we cannot say too much in its favor.

We have a large quantity, but at this low price the demand will be lively, and we advise an early purchase.
