BEGIN WOOLEN MILL BURGLARY TRIAL

Norwich, Friday, May 7, 1920.

Trial of three men accused of burglarizing the Glen Woolen Mill at Norwich Town on the night of Dec. 31 was begun in the superior court at New London late Thursday afternoon before Judge James H. Webb of New Haven and a jury.

Matthew Guastamacha of the Otobando road, Norwich town, Tony Baldi of Groton and Pasquale Capogna of Groton were the three men placed on trial. Baldi has turned state's evidence and has pleaded guilty, but the other two have pleaded not guilty on the charge of breaking into the mill at night and stealing 15 cuts of cloth worth $2,500.

State's Attorney Hull, who is assisted by Attorney Warren A. Burrows, opened the case for the prosecution by calling to the stand William M. Eastwood of the Glen Woolen Mills who was the first person called to the mill after the burglary was discovered. He testified to the quantity of cloth that was found missing from the mill.

Dennis Houlahan of 51 Sturtevant avenue, Norwich town, whose home is across the street from the mill, testified to firing several shots at some men he saw near the mill with an automobile on the night of the burglary. He could not tell who the men were but said there were four or five. Some ran off and the automobile was driven away after he fired the shots.

Court adjourned for the day before Mr. Houlahan's testimony had been completed. Attorneys Henry H. Pettis, Thomas M. Shields and Perry Hollander are counsel for the accused, Messrs. D. Beck with, Stonington, Philip J. McDermott, Fred P. Phillips, David A. Johnson, William A. Cooke, Montville, George W. Deane, Robert J. Henderson, Charles H. Lymce, George Griswold, Charles H. Youngs, Old Lyme.

Other business disposed of by the court during the day was as follows: Arthur J. Messer of New London pleaded guilty to the charge of theft in connection with the Tate & Nelson robbery in New London on January 23. He was accused of stealing four fur coats, fur scarfs and other wearing apparel to the value of $1,400. Judge Webb stated to the accused that...

WORK OF SEWING CLASSES MAKES CREDITABLE SHOWING. At the United Workers' House Thursday there was a most interesting exhibition of needle work done by the girls in the sewing classes which have met every week from November to May, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at the Unit of Workers and Saturday mornings at the Falls. Miss Alice Cogswell, superintendent in general charge of the work, has been assisted by the following teachers: Miss Hazel Fletcher, Mrs. Corner, Mrs. Harry Clark, Miss Ely, Mrs. George Bruce, the Misses Loring, Miss Rogers, Miss Hobbs, Miss Underwood, Miss Armstrong, Mrs. Vaughan, Mrs. Gillan, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Hutchins, Miss Alice Allen, Miss Fisher, and Miss Paddock.

The children have worked very faithfully and the finished articles are a marvel of neatness and fine handwork. When a child first enrolls in one of the sewing classes, she is put to work on a sampler to learn fine hemming and stitching. Patchwork squares are the next step followed by holders and dish towels, outing flannel petticoats, handkerchiefs and aprons, and night gowns are the last and most difficult garments to make. In this gradual way a very practical knowledge of useful sewing is acquired.

The exhibit included many dozens of daintily fashioned sweeping caps, aprons of all kinds, varying from those made of print and gingham to pretty lace trimmings and tiaras. There were neatly hemmed handkerchiefs, some edged with lace, and embroidered with initials, crocheted bags of all sizes, gay patch work squares for doll beds, outing flannel petticoats and baby kimonos, with aprons of well made nightgowns and other underwear beautifully finished with French hems.

In addition to the sewing which meant many hours of patient application on the part of each child, there were also four splendidly made stockings, one chosen by the best from each of the four classes, for which useful little sewing baskets of sweet grass, stocked with darning needles, cotton and smery, had been given as prizes. The sewing on exhibition was only a part of the winter's work. The one since Christmas, as prior to that time, the classes made little Christmas gifts of work bags, needle cases, and handkerchiefs, which they were allowed to take home. Many of the warm outing flannel petticoats were also put to actual use during the winter.

From four until five o'clock tea was served under the direction of Miss Rosalie Bennett, in charge of the cooking classes which have met every week at the table was prettily decorated with jellies, and Miss Mary E. Richards poured. Miss Bennett was assisted in serving by Marton eggs, Catherine Egan, and Ruth Barber of the Falls school cooking class, with Mollie Yalen, Viola Compton, Catherine McVeigh, and Thera Kilduff of the United Workers' class. Many friends of the children called during the afternoon to inspect the work, which made a splendid showing, creditable to both teachers and pupils.

TO MAKE CONTRIBUTIONS. The "friendly citizen" side of the Interchurch World Movement financial campaign, which seems to have gained momentum, is being actively pushed at least partly finished, but the week showed encouraging signs of getting underway. Reports have come in to the headquarters office from many centers like Bridgeport, New Haven and Waterbury, and from such representative cities and towns as Danbury, Norwich, Greenwich, Middletown, Berlin, Bloomfield, Cheshire, Collinsville and North Guilford. The first gift from New Haven was $200. Waterbury reported a total of $500. Bridgeport mentions large gifts, but is holding up its report.

The total is not sufficiently indicative to be reported as yet. "I am greatly encouraged by the indications," Director Alling says. "The situation has had some discouraging features, but the present signs of awakening interest, extending from large, small and some formerly reluctant communities, convince me that while the returns will be much delayed, they will be substantial when they come."

The denominational canvass is still far from complete, but it also shows and promises impressive results. The Baptist total, which on Monday was $881,153, has now passed $900,000. No total is officially announced for the Connecticut.

CHILDREN CRY FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA. The children have worked very faithfully and the finished articles are a marvel of neatness and fine handwork. REGISTRATION. There is good reason from the scattering figures to believe that it approaches $200,000, and the first returns have yet to come from more than half the churches. From Willimantic the Rev. C. Harley Smith, director for that district, reports that of the churches which put on the canvass, the average return is seventy-five per cent. of their quota, and that practically all which failed to go in at the start are now planning to do so.

The last official returns from the Northern Baptists in the states of this region are: Massachusetts, $3,057,220; Vermont, $322,000; Rhode Island, $673,784; Maine, $510,000; New York, upstate $724,484; city, $5,026,000.

The total of interchurch gifts including denominational for the country, as reported to date, is $136,816,767.

LELYARD AND CANTERBURY WIN IN SPEAKING CONTEST. Sarah Stacciarini of the Ledyard school won the public speaking contest in the first district which was held at the Universalist church in this city Thursday afternoon and Norman Kilpatrick of Canterbury won the first prize in the second district.

In the spelling contest Genevieve Lewis of Waterbury won first prize in the first district and in the second district Jennie Lamone was first. Harriet McCluggage of Lisbon was given second place in the second district speaking contest.

All those who competed in the contests on Thursday had won first place in their town and now the winners in each district will compete at Hartford at the later date for the state prize. These contests are being held throughout the state in 16 districts which include 95 towns. The programs follow:

For Women's Troubles. headaches, dizziness, languor, etc., there are many causes, but when aggravated by a chronic derangement of the digestive organs, they are doubly disagreeable. A torpid liver or overburdened stomach, is not conducive to happiness.

Perfect health and comfort depend in a great measure upon the perfect condition of the stomach, intestines and allied organs. They eliminate the secretions of indigestible matter in the intestines, purge the liver, stimulate the tissues, send pure, invigorating blood through the system, energize the nerve cells. Health will soon return and morbid conditions disappear. That's why they are so popular, and why in the cause of health
