DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

With the score 13 to 4 against them and their fighting spirit in their boots, the Jewett City outfit left the field in the last of a seventh inning of the game with the Connecticut Mills team at Danielson Sunday afternoon. A crowd that gathered in spite of the poor weather, cheered the Jewett City boys to beat the band but their mind was made up and bent on pulling off their unimportant-looking trick they pulled off.

The only run failed by the visitors came when Reilly was pitched and each home run Malady poked for a two-bagger. With one down in the third Shean rapped out a three-bagger, but died on the hot corner sack, his fellow players being unable to drive him in.

Hebert put up a wretched game for the losers, his record being five errors out of nine chances. Other misplays were made by Cyr, Shean and Malady. Shean led his club two strikes for a triple and a single. Shean made a double and a single and the only other hitter was Malady, who drew down a double.

For the winners Capt. Elliott led at bat, polling for a triple and a single, and next in the hitting line came Couillard, who made two singles. Two base hits by Page, Neal and Arthur were also features of the offensive battle by the winners.

Shean worked on the mound for the losers. His batters were found for a total of 10 hits. He passed six, hit Reilly and fanned one. Arthur hurried for the winners. He allowed but five hits in 10 innings and two strikes. Shean had eight errors behind him, while those playing with Arthur turned in three misplays.

A feature catch of the game was contributed by Malady who speared one with his gloved hand, on a timely leap into the air.

Danielson was being canvassed Monday by young men who represented themselves as engaged in selling magazines, incidentally, as a means to garner votes in a high school scholarship contest being held in Danielson, which town at least one of the young men claimed to hail. With experiences of the past in mind, most Danielson boys who were solicited expressed themselves as preferring to place their orders with firms or persons with whom they are more familiar, so, in case anything goes wrong in the way of deliveries or otherwise, getting an adjustment will not be difficult.

Chief A. P. Woodward of the fire department has a grievance. It's about motorists speeding along ahead of the Captain Pat Engine company who at organization's big motor truck is on its way to the fire department. The special ambition of some motor car drivers to get in the way of the machine when it is out in answer to a call. Others try to race with it, and Chief Woodward wants to see that the fire department is not in the racing game. He believes, too, that motorists should refrain from rushing ahead with their cars, many of which get in the way of the big truck and in the process of which was narrowly averted in answering a recent alarm. At fires, too, motorists park their cars squarely in front of a hydrant, in violation of the law, or at points where the water is needed to work and then seem surprised because they are asked to move their cars. Chief Woodward would like such motorists to show some consideration for the department, as well as for their own safety.

The funeral of Mrs. Cyrus Arnold was held from her home at Hopkins Mills on Sunday afternoon with services at the South Foster church. Rev. Gilbert Culler of North Scituate officiating. Burial in the South Foster cemetery. The bearers were Fred Simmons, Walter Simmons, Fred M. Smith and Arthur Hopkins. A. P. Woodward was the funeral director. Mrs. Arnold was holder of a gold-headed cane purchased some years since by the Foster Old Home Day association to be held for life by Foster's oldest person. Mrs. Arnold, who was 95th year, had had the cane for some time past. There are three other persons in the town nearly as old as Mrs. Arnold and to the oldest of these the cane will go.

A representative of the Fresh Air movement by one of New York's great newspapers in the interest of the health, happiness and well being of hundreds of the poorer children of the great city is in Danielson this week making an effort to interest people here and in the surrounding places to agree to take one or more of these children for a period of two weeks sometime during the summer season. This is a wonderfully beautiful section of country in which there are many good and generous people, and it seems not too much to say that in all probability, numbers of homes will be opened to little strangers from the great metropolis. Only those who have had experience in inviting them for a fortnight's stay, know the joy of watching what might be described as the ecstasy of these little people from the scorching canons of New York's less wealthy sections as they come into one of nature's beauty spots, and of eastern Windham county affords in endless number and

PUTNAM

No matter what the campaign may bring forth in the way of candidates or controversies, it may be recalled that there isn't a possibility that Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, the republican nominee for president, will have a majority in this city. This city has no editor George L. Padgett of the Windham County Observer, democratic member of the Putnam common council.

It happens that Senator Harding and Editor Padgett are the character of long standing, and a score of years ago were both publishing newspapers in the little city of Marion, O., where today Senator Harding is still the owner of what is generally considered to be one of the finest daily papers to be found in the smaller cities of the United States.

Being competing publishers and on the opposite side of the political fence do not seem in any degree to affect the close personal friendship existing between Senator Harding and Mr. Padgett. The intimate relationship of a friendly nature served to give Editor Padgett a clear insight into the character of Senator Harding and Mr. Padgett will tell you today that the republican nominee is a prince of good fellows, honest, honorable, collected and a supremely good business man, admired and loved in his own home city, where the people know him best, a man with all the requisites required of one who would make a good president.

Editor Padgett recalled Monday the days when he was publishing the Marion Mirror and of his many pleasant hours with Senator Harding, their outings including a winter trip with their wives, to Ormond beach, Florida.

While The Bulletin representative was talking with Mr. Padgett about Senator Harding Monday morning, Dr. Edward Perry happened along and lent an ear to the conversation. He was given added interest in due time by recalling that he, the doctor, was at Amherst college with Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, the republican nominee for president. This was just over a quarter of a century ago. Dr. Perry recalls that the present governor of the Bay state was not much of a "mixer," as the college boys of today would say, and that the governor's rather retiring nature, but he was universally regarded in college as a young man of very fine ability, of very pleasing personality when one came to know him and one who today is remembered at the college before the time came for his graduation. At Amherst at the same time there was a group of students from this section. The number included, in addition to Dr. Perry, his brother, Attorney Robert Perry of New York; Attorney Ernest C. Morse of this city; Hiram Grant, formerly of this city and a graduate of Putnam High school; Robert T. Elliott, Pomfret; Charles Bird an ill-fated child of Woodstock, John H. Burnett and Burt York, both formerly of Putnam.

It is evident, then, that there is a very friendly interest here in Putnam in the republican standard bearer named by the Chicago convention.

Samuel Anderson from Norwich, manager of the Connecticut company's lines in this part of the state was a visitor in this city Monday. Mr. Anderson is well known in Putnam, where he made his headquarters while directing a few years ago, trolley operations in this territory. It was said here Monday that it was believed his visit may have had to do with the efforts city officials had been making to induce the trolley company to bury toward taking some action that will result in lowering the tracks through Grove street to connect with the new street car line on the roadway just put down by the highway department and U. S. C. & V. of Putnam.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie F. Meehan, wife of Frank Meehan, was held from her home in Pomfret Monday morning with services at Holy Trinity church, in that town. Rev. J. J. Ely being celebrant of the requiem high mass, which was attended by a congregation that included the Rev. Ignatius Kost, pastor of St. Mary's cemetery, the Rev. Ignatius Kost, who is the youngest son of the late Mrs. Meehan, who was present for some time. Mrs. Meehan leaves her husband and three children.

One more candidate for a term of 30 days was received from Putnam at the person of Ernest Weller, who in some look for the first time upon acres of green fields, flowering plants and shrubs and vantage points of the woods. A few cows in revelation to them, a miracle wrought for their special benefit. Few of them can tell a potato from a tomato. With the joy and freedom their experience invariably comes health, rosy cheeks and heightened vigor—and pleasant memories that linger always. Truly, those who wish to do something worthy while for unfortunate humanity, accept their wish for a change to do some great deed, while letting real opportunities go by, will find in the taking of these children the suggestion of the season.

The booming of the big sirens on the Goodyear Mill plant at Goodyear was distinctly heard in Danielson at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, the sound rolling over the intervening hills and valleys to spread the message that the new Goodyear plant at Loxley was under way and had turned out its first tire, a 35x3, the first ply of which was laid at 7:55 a. m., Pacific coast time, by P. W. Litchfield, vice president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and factory manager at the parent plant in Akron.

The telegram announcing the fact was received here at 1:15 p. m. (18:15 a. m. Pacific coast time). The telegram stated that the new factory for which ground was broken ten months ago, is now operating in all departments.

Special interest to Goodyear people is the sale of company stock—Goodyear Tire and Rubber—that has been going on at Goodyear for the past few days. The subscription has been particularly heavy among the operators of the company, it was stated Monday afternoon at the office, where figures that will be announced later were being compiled. Purchases made by Goodyear operators in this town. The time limit for the sale of the stock here expired Monday evening, but the Akron office had been wired for a two days' extension to permit completing the business in light of the booming village that is growing into a town that will soon rival some of the larger places in eastern Connecticut.

strange and unaccountable way became intoxicated on what qualified near-perfectly who smelled of a bottle (empty) taken from Weller's person at the time of his arrest declared (on the side) in court to have been real whiskey.

Weller, who is a German and lives at Mechanville, related that he came here to do some shopping in a shop to whom he gave a drink in the days before the U. S. was declared a competitor for honors long held by the great desert of Sahara and this old-time friend had presented him with a bottle of whiskey. Weller declared that he had not the slightest knowledge from whence the liquor came so there was nothing left for the court to do but assess him $20 and costs, amounting to something over $31, which Weller did not have on his person, so the court changed the penalty from a money consideration to an order for a stay at the jail, where there is overcrowding at present, incidentally, it may be mentioned that no more credit is being extended to drunks in the city court. The days of a dollar down and a dollar when you see me again have gone probably forever.

Many members of Putnam Judge of Elks, the relatives and friends joined Monday evening in the organization's annual observance of Flag day. The assembly room of the organization was resplendent with display of national colors and the audience, which overflowed at present, incidentally, it may be mentioned that no more credit is being extended to drunks in the city court. The days of a dollar down and a dollar when you see me again have gone probably forever.

Some of the coal that is coming into the territory for household use is bringing as high as $15.50 a ton, and dealers have stated that there is no way for them to be certain that this will be the top price for this kind of fuel during the present year.

Flag day exercises were featured in the public school June 15, Putnam on Monday. While the little people were being impressed with all that the day stands for, it was noted that the display of flags about the city was not as general as might have been the case, though there was a goodly number of flags displayed.

Friday of this week will bring commencement day at Woodstock academy. The address at the exercises arranged to be delivered by General Samuel L. Tillman, U. S. A. The diploma was presented by Admiral Francis N. Bolles, U. S. N.

Four boys were arrested Sunday by John Murray, railroad detective for trespassing on a railroad property. They said they had come from Worcester by automobile, and were going to try to get a freight train back. They were locked up the police station during the night, and Monday morning it was decided to inform the Worcester police of their case. The boys had been located, and that if their WAUGREAN As in the past years the aim of the company here has been to help its operatives to combat the high cost of living by delivering to them as near as possible, last year when ice in the surrounding towns was retailing at one dollar a hundred pounds, the operatives here were getting ice delivered for thirty-five cents a saving of six or five cents on each hundred pounds of ice bought. The saving on the ice alone amounted to quite a sum during the five months which require the use of ice. This year the ice in surrounding towns is selling for sixty cents, while here it is selling for forty cents to employees.
