

NIANTIC

The first quarterly conference was held Monday evening in the vestry of the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. W. H. Bath of Norwich, district superintendent, presided. Reports by the pastor, Rev. W. D. Woodward, Sunday school superintendent, Charles E. Watrous; Epworth League superintendent, Miss Anna Carlson; Junior League superintendent, Mrs. Ida Woodward and the treasurer, Mrs. Mrs. Jeanie A. Taylor, showed church matters progressing satisfactorily. Rev. Mr. Bath at the close of the business meeting gave a talk on the conference held during May at Des Moines, Iowa, to which he was a delegate from the New England Southern Conference. He gave an interesting account of the city, also spoke of new laws made by the general conference. The meeting held Monday evening was well attended.

GLASGO

R. L. spent the week end with their sister, Mrs. Fred Kies. The home gardens about the village are looking fine, the short hours of work in the mill giving their owners ample time for work in the gardens. Mrs. Miller of Hartford, Mrs. Phillips of Manchester and Mrs. Henry Davis and daughter Emily of Danielson visited at the Davis homestead during the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Dav's of Norwich were guests recently of Mrs. Davis' sister, Mrs. Ashley. The Wauregan company, anticipating the fuel need of its employees during the fall and winter months, prepares for them by having a supply of coal shipped in during the spring months and by purchasing large quantity of cordwood. During the summer and early fall the teams bring in this wood from the lots and put it into the company's woodyard at the mill, where it is sawed into stove lengths and drawn out to the employees as needed. Hot coal and wood are furnished as nearly at cost as is possible. By this method of supplying the people here the company was able to sell their operations coal last fall and winter at a very reasonable price. The company allows the operatives to pay for the coal and wood in small amounts when necessary. Wauregan Congregational church, Rev. William Fyling, pastor, Holy Communion at morning worship Sunday and sermon, The Message and the Life, Church school at 12. Young People's Own Meeting Thursday at 7:30. BRIEF STATE NEWS

Waterville.—The members of the W. W. S. club will leave Sunday for Ocean Beach. There they will spend two weeks vacation. South Manchester.—Beginning July 1, the swimming school will be organized into classes of a limited number, where instruction will be possible for both women and high school girls. New Haven.—The 17th annual meeting of the Queen's Daughters of New Haven was held June 31 at St. Joseph's convent, 311 Greene street. The report showed a successful year. New Hartford.—The petition of residents of New Hartford to compel Harry W. Walker, the ice baron, of Bridgeport, to continue to manufacture and distribute gas in that town, has been denied by the public utilities commission. Bridgeport.—Wednesday, July 14, was the date set for the picnic of the Chamber of Commerce. The program will begin with a luncheon at noon, followed by sports of all kinds, and rounded off with a sheep roast in the late afternoon. Waterbury.—Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Chase and family of Rose Hill left Thursday to spend the summer months at their home, Narragansett Pier. They were accompanied by Mrs. Charles P. Tatt, 33, and daughter. Bridgeport.—Offices for the federal board of vocational education were opened this week in the criminal common pleas court room in the county building for the benefit of disabled soldiers who desire to apply for vocational training. Waterbury.—Lawrence Aquitano was fined $7 and costs by Judge McGrath in the city court on a charge of distributing handbills in violation of the city ordinance. The handbills contained an appeal to unskilled workers out on strike "to show Mr. Goss that we are men and women and not children." Hartford.—Following her graduation with honors from the law school of the University of Pennsylvania, Miss Ethel Frances Weldon Donaghue has returned to Hartford to spend the summer with her mother, Mrs. Catherine Donaghue, of No. 135 Capitol avenue. Upon Miss Donaghue rests the distinction of having been president of her class for two consecutive years, an honor which, it is understood, no other woman has had in any other American college. At the graduation exercises it was announced that President Miss Donaghue had been awarded the Pemberton Morris prize for having attained "the highest standing for three years, in evidence, pliancy and practice." At 24 she is the only woman to have won a prize in the school. She is also the first woman to be admitted to the law books of the university, which hitherto has been to admit her sex. Miss Donaghue was a graduate from the South school in 1902, the Hartford Public High school in 1913, the Vassar college, 1917. Already, on account of her brilliant career as a law student, Miss Donaghue has been offered jobs in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, but she has not decided upon her future course, whether that she will enter the field to which her degree entitles her, after a summer rest. What Does This Mean? Fast bolshevik bribery funds, it is said, are being used in every great meeting, and many persons are asking to verify the report—for one reason or another.—Chicago News. As an eye opener, what's the matter with us?—New York.
