SHORE LINE SALE OF SHORE LINE PACKAGE

Receiver Robert W. Perkins of the Shore Line Electric Railway has effected a sale of the trackage of that portion of the road which the superior court gave him in Webster and Worcester for two weeks.

The purchase in the United States Railway and Equipment Co. of Newburgh, New York, which buys the property as junk and will speedily start to tear up and remove the rails, which will eliminate the last hope of the residents of this section of the state that they might some day have restored to them the trolley service which they have been without since the road stopped operating there when the employes struck in July of last year.

The sale involves $40,000 and has as one of its conditions that the purchaser taking the rails shall restore the roads and highways where the rails are removed. A time limit of Jan. 1, 1921 has been set for the completion of the contract, but it is anticipated that the work will be finished long before that time. It is understood that the purchaser has already found a customer for one lot of the rails and will sell the balance in lots as other customers are found.

The removal of the rails covered in the deal, all single track, except for a short distance in the city of New Haven. From New Haven to Ivoryton the

MISS SUZANNE GALLAUDET BEFORE WESTERLY POLICE

Miss Suzanne Gallaudet, whose father is Denison Gallaudet, formerly of Norwich, head of the Gallaudet Aircraft company, at East Greenwich, with residence in Westport, on the West side of the Stoney Brook road, was the operator of the touring car that crashed into the automobile of J. S. Porteous of Middletown, Conn., on the Watch Hill road, on Wednesday morning, being considered damaged to the Porteous car and injuring Mrs. Porteous and Mr. Quinn, the three other occupants of the Porteous car escaping injury. The fender of the automobile was twisted but no other damage to that car resulted.

Upon request of Police Chief Brown, Miss Gallaudet called at the police station following a report that she had been in the matter, had no intentions of seeking damages for any personal injuries, but expected reimbursement for repairs to her car. Miss Gallaudet declared she was not at fault for the collision, therefore would not pay any damages.

It was ascertained that while her car was in the shop, it was damaged to the extent of $2,950, she had no license to operate. She said she had no Connecticut license, but did have a special Rhode Island license. She chief wanted to take no action until after consultation with Mr. Gallaudet, as the young lady did not seem to appreciate the seriousness of the offense.

Miss Gallaudet will be arrested for operating an automobile without a license. It is probable the charge of reckless driving will not be made, as it is expected that Mr. Gallaudet will settle damages with Mr. Porteous.

Two other persons were injured in the accident and three were injured. Evans is now out on bonds to appear before the criminal term of the superior court on the charge of manslaughter.

POQUETANUCK COVE SPORTS DURING BATHING SUITS. People who are summering at the Poquetanuck cove and those who have visited this summer place are of the opinion that the more noted shore resorts have nothing on the cove for daring bathing. The sea is the one-piece suit, a la Kellerman, is a common sight and as for bare knees and short skirts they are fixtures on the beach. People who are staying at the cove resent the notoriety that the other beaches are getting this summer owing to the daring bathing suits while Poquetanuck is missing the limelight which it so well deserves.

IS NORWICH IN DANGER OF LOSING ITS TROLLEYS

Whether the desperate financial straits of the Connecticut trolley lines, as revealed Thursday at the hearing in Hartford before the public utilities commission when the company was asked for a seven-cent fare would apply to the New London division of the company, which operates the trolley lines in this end of the state, could not be told by local officials of the division Thursday night. Nor could they tell whether the seven-cent fare application was meant to apply here in case the public utilities commission granted it.

Superintendent Samuel Anderson said he had no information on the subject other than what he had seen in the papers as all these matters were handled at the New Haven offices of the company.

In a statement before the utilities commission, Judge Walter C. Neves, chairman of the road's board of federal trustees told the commissioners that the road had gone behind on operating expenses $87,000 in the six weeks from June 1 to July 15, and at that rate the cars could not possibly be kept running for more than two months longer, and probably not for six weeks more.

President Storms of the trolley company declared that they lost $50,000 in Bridgeport in June and $41,000 over the rest of the month.

Superintendent Anderson said he had no figures that would show whether the New London division was making its operating expenses or doing better than that. These were all kept at the New Haven office.

REVISED P. O. SCHEDULE ON FOREIGN MONEY ORDERS. The United States government has taken official notice of the decline in the value of foreign money and the likelihood that it would not soon return to its former purchasing power, in an announcement through the postal department of new conversion values to be effective next month.

Postmaster John P. Murphy was advised Thursday from Washington that because of the decided and long continued depreciation of the currency of certain European countries as compared with the United States dollar it is ordered that on and after Aug. 15, and until further notice, postmasters in issuing international money orders shall convert the money of the United States in accordance with newly revised schedules. The new schedules make the following conversion allowances:

Great Britain, 1 pound, $4; Netherlands, 1 florin, 25 cents; Sweden, 1 krona, 24 cents; Denmark, 1 krona, 20 cents; Norway, 1 krona, 20 cents; France, Belgium, 1 franc, $1 is rated at the value of 15.50 francs.

Depreciation in foreign currency has been noted by banks and business houses for many months, but the government through its postal conversions has continued to maintain the old standards until it became very evident that there was a likelihood of a protracted delay in returning to the former face values. The English pound was formerly rated at $4.87 by the government, but in business circles it has fluctuated between $3 and $4 during the last two or three years.

STATE NATIONAL GUARD NUMBERS ONLY 500 NOW. Connecticut has about 500 members of the National Guard, according to figures given out at the office of the adjutant general Thursday. The men are in the two cavalry troops, Troop A, New Haven and Troop B, of Hartford—and the field artillery battery at Branford. The battery has not yet been formally mustered into the National Guard, but the time it was inspected it was unofficially announced that the battery was satisfactory.

It is believed that the press of work at northern headquarters as a result of the examination of reserve officers for commissions has resulted in the delay of the report on the Branford unit. Captain William R. Denison, of Norwich, who serves with the Fifty-Sixth heavy artillery in which the coast artillery units of the old Connecticut National Guard were merged when the war broke out, now has a company of eighty-one men at Norwich ready to be inspected for the National Guard on next Tuesday.

The National Guard of the country is at present 128,000 men short of its authorized strength. New York state, which has 7,835 men has the largest enrollment of any state, but still has only about one-third of its authorized strength. It is increasing at the rate of about 100 men a month, according to figures issued at Washington, which means that it will take fourteen months to fill the ranks of the National Guard to its authorized strength. Only twenty-three states have over 500 National Guardsmen in service.

CALLS DR. BLACK TO SUBRONIC PLAGUE CONFERENCE. State Commissioner of Health Dr. John T. Black leaves Saturday for Galveston, Tex., to attend a conference on the plague situation at the telegraphic request of Surgeon General Cummings of the United States public health service. The plague which has been threatening the cities of the Atlantic seaboard has already invaded some of the southern ports, and the situation is becoming sufficiently serious to demand concerted action from all seaboard states. Connecticut has but one port, New London, where foreign vessels in any number enter. During the last few months many vessels have entered New London from Panama, South America and banana ports in Central America.
