Independent Order of Foresters, Court No. 1178, meets at 7. O. O. hall.

Woodmen of the World, Willimantic Camp, No. 25 meets in W. C. T. U. hall, Valley street.

Members of the Thomas Rose company of New London stopped in this city Saturday night for about two hours while awaiting the train that was to convey them to the Whaling City, and in the meantime were royally entertained by members of Engine company No. 1 of Willimantic.

The New Londoners were returning from Fall River, where they had attended a gathering of the volunteer firemen of the state, at which some 40 companies were represented.

They arrived in this city at 6 o'clock and were met at the New Haven station by Chief Wade E. Webster and were requested to spend the two hours between trains as guests of Engine company No. 1.

Thomas Rose company men expressed themselves as only too willing to do so, and suggested a short parade. Headed by the Ship and Engine company band of Groton, the New London firemen marched in line down Main street to the courthouse, counter-marched to Bank street, to the home of Engine company No. 1.

Upon arrival they were invited to the upper rooms where they were served a luncheon of sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts.

Following the lunch, Chief Webster of the Willimantic fire companies stated that it was a pleasure to have the New London firemen as guests.

Mayor E. Frank Morgan of New London responded, thanking the local firemen on behalf of the New London men, and stated that Willimantic firemen were invited to visit the New London fire stations any time they were in that city.

New London is planning a time for 1921 and the local fire fighters will so the forgotten on that date.

Other speakers for the New London guests were Deputy Chief John Rose and Captain M. J. Marlin.

The New Londoners marched down Main street to their train expressing themselves much pleased at their reception while in this city.

The continued case of Louis Girouard, charged with operating an automobile in the public service business without a proper license, came up in police court Saturday morning.

Girouard, through his counsel, Attorney William A. King, had previously entered a plea of not guilty.

The state was represented by Walter H. Briggs, Stokes Watson, Louis Jones, all public service men, and Chief Kilgour who made the arrest.

Girouard testified that he had taken a job to work on Labor day, when the arrest was made on that day.

Girouard drove his machine beneath the bridge on Railroad street where a party of thirty or forty were standing.

Briggs came in the crowd and asked Girouard if he had a license. Girouard answered that he did not belong with the Blue Line but would take time to that city.

He had seven in his car when he started off. The witness testified that he had just brought passengers to Willimantic in his automobile and some of his constructive solicitation as he went on the first automobile making the trip, so he placed them with Girouard.

He saw Girouard start up Railroad street then back down and unload.

Jones and Watson also told of seeing Girouard on Railroad street when he had passengers riding with him, but did not see him on the day in question.

Also seeing him make arrangements with Briggs for taking the passengers named.

Chief Kilgour told of stopping Girouard when he had a load of passengers in his car, Girouard then being about to turn into Main street from Railroad street.

When the chief asked Girouard if he had the proper license, Girouard backed into Railroad street and emptied his car of passengers.

Later he returned to Main street and picked them up again taking them to Hartford. Girouard had no defense to offer.

Judge Frank H. Foss was of the opinion that there was a case for the prosecution, and he ordered Girouard went to the place in question for the purpose of obtaining a load.

The estimated case of Alfred Melnik came up at the afternoon session of the court.

He was charged with assaulting Charles H. Snow on the evening of September 14th.

Attorney P. J. Danahy represented the accused. The witness, Charles H. Snow, the plaintiff, told of being in conversation with Carl Block, a neighbor, when he heard loud talking and shouting.

He found Mrs. Melnik being talking with the Misses Bianchetti over some matter concerning a dog belonging to Melnik.

Mrs. Melnik claimed the neighbors made trouble about Jack, he is calling me a liar. Mrs. Melnik, the dog, Snow stated that this was the case.

Mrs. Melnik then called Jack, Melnik came running out, she stopped him, asking him not to touch Snow.

Melnik and Snow fell to the ground. Snow, Alfred, then came out and running into Snow, Melnik made several lines knocking him to the ground.

On cross examination Snow admitted that he was on the ground he kicked back at Melnik.

Melnik, Snow, and Picknell testified that Melnik hit Snow on the head with a brick.

Attorney Danahy, on cross examination, established the fact that there was no fight between Melnik, Snow and Picknell.

Melnik and Snow agreed that the feeling was mutual. No arguments were made by the attorneys.

Judge Foss found the accused guilty and fined him twenty-five dollars and costs. Attorney Danahy appealed. Bonds of $100 were furnished by John T. Melnik.

Train Announcer Thomas Killourey, who also constable and dog warden of the town of Windham, received notice from Commissioner of Domestic Animals J. M. Whittlesey of Hartford, that his license had been increased to include the town of Andover.

The appointment is in effect until March 31, 1921. In sending the notification, Mr. Killourey's attention was called to the law clause making it necessary for the dog warden to make a diligent search for all roaming dogs, thus cutting down on the amount of damage they might do.

The Windham Republicans Club is planning to hold a rally some day this week, if possible, when the women of the city will be invited.

Prominent women speakers at the rally will be Mrs. William's appointments to standing committees of the club follow: Membership and publicity, Russell W. Potter, chairman; Lester H. Thomas, Higgins, Arthur E. Taylor, George A. Moot, Henry Desjardins, Plorinmond M. Normandin, Maurice S. Leonard, Charles Cole, William Haddad, Antonio Greco and Andrew W. Ogonzek.

Funeral services for James H. Daley were held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the parlors of Killouray Brothers.

The requiem high mass at St. Mary's church at South Coventry at ten o'clock, was sung by Rev. James McGinness.

As the body was borne into the church, the ladies sang "Softly and Tenderly" and the offertory "O Salutaris" was sung and for a waiting hymn "Some Sweet Day".

The singers were Misses Celia Day, Adeline Wallwood, Mrs. William D. Plaherty, William Wallwood, Dennis O'Brien and Martin Clark. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, South Coventry.

Mrs. Christina Swanson died Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Aaron Anderson, 155 Oak street.

She was born February 19, 1839. Surviving her are three daughters, Mrs. Nelson Peterson, Mrs. Andrew Anderson of this city and Mrs. Anna C. Carlson of Sweden.

Three sons, Leander Swanson of Willimantic and John and Anders G. Swanson of Sweden. There are several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

JEWETT CITY

Austin Harris was accidentally shot in the right hand with a shotgun Saturday morning at the home of his father, Mr. Brown.

He was in a canoe on Ashland river near Hopeville and was accompanied by William Duggan. His gun lay along the side of the boat and he attempted to take hold of it.

His hand slipped and the hammer tipped, possibly caught in branches which were in the boat.

He shot his right hand, a glancing blow in the fleshy side, tearing away part of the flesh. His body came near receiving the full charge, for the under-lying part of the shoulder was blown off.

"Red" is a plucky chap and he walked ashore, walked to a farm and luckily met a Jewett City man who took him to the hospital.

McLaughlin's office. Eight stitches were necessary and antitoxin was given to prevent tetanus.

WESTERLY

The steam fire engine of the Cyclone company has probably pumped its last stroke as a fire apparatus in the West-ter district. It is several years old, the steamer was in actual fire service, but it was always supposed to be ready for use in emergency.

Chief George Rieger recently made an examination of the boiler of this engine, and discovered what seemed to be a small crack in the steam dome.

An expert welder was engaged to make repairs for the crack, but the boiler had become almost as thin as a sheet of paper, and would probably have exploded even if the crack had not been discovered.

The boiler has been in use for about twenty-five years and is beyond repair. The apparatus could not be put back in operation at a cost of less than $1500 and Chief Rieger believes such expenditure would be a public waste.

The chief says that what the Westery fire department needs is a modern triple combination fire apparatus, that is a combined hose, and chemical apparatus, with pumps of high capacity, that could be utilized anywhere and under any circumstances.

There are five Westery cases, with two defendants to be heard by the grand jury at Kingston today (Monday) upon the charging of the superior court. Testimony will be taken for the state against Herbert S. Davis, of Mystic.

He is charged with the murder of Laura Sheldon Hunt by running over her with his automobile on the afternoon of Sept. 4, when on the Watch Hill road.

There are four cases of burglary against Russell Williams, one colored, charged with the breaking in and stealing in Westery Sept. 10. He is charged with entering and stealing from the home of George Rae, Lloyd Willard, Thomas Willard and Clarence W. Torland.

If indicted on these charges the breaking and entering the home of Robert Melnik will probably be added.

In addition the court is to consider 12 new actions at law, twenty new divorces, three complaints and three bills and petitions in equity.

The actions at law assigned for the opening day are: Jacques Wolf & Co. vs. Arcadia Print Works; Daniel Webster vs. Ernest F. Reuckert; Joseph D. Jerome vs. Arcadia Print Works; Sheelby A. Douglas vs. Malcolm Thompson; Charles Saunders vs. Malcolm Thompson; Westery Light and Power Company vs. Arcadia Print Works; Brewer & Co., Inc. vs. Arcadia Print Works; William H. Drake vs. James H. Greene et al.; George Pickering, Jr. vs. John G. Grier; Gulf Refining Company vs. Arcadia Print Works; Thurman E. Eldredge vs. Harold Doney; Henry W. McFarland vs. Theodor E. Sawyer; Joseph M. Dussault vs. Leonard B. Bilven, 2 cases; Maculata Iaconetta vs. Angelo M. Guarino; Angelo M. Guarino vs. Maculata Iaconetta; Antonio Catalano vs. Winthrop W. Barber; Mary B. Cappuccino vs. Angelo M. Guarino; Elita Ostman vs. Moley Silverstein.

Complaints whose assignment day is Sept. 20 are, as follows: State vs. Frank C. Booth, complainant vs. C. Peter Chapman, 2 cases; State vs. Thomas E. Brown, complainant vs. Joseph Salmen, 2 cases; State vs. Ida A. Mathewson et al. vs. Gladstone Spring Wa-vent lockjaw. He is a fine specimen of a sportsman and is a star basketball and football player.

He has been unfortunate in receiving several injuries, but comes up smiling each time. It will be two months before the hand will be healed.

The total women voters registered in the first district Saturday was 50 and in the second district 5. The number of men in the first district was 62, and in the second 7. Two years ago 116 women were made voters on the school question.

The total number of men voters in the town is 128 candidates. It will be two months before the hand will be healed.

Emily S., widow of Orson Campbell, died at her home in Lisbon Sunday morning. She was born in Reading, Vt., Dec. 19, 1823, the daughter of Annie and Joseph Sawyer, and was the youngest of six children.

She lived in Reading until her marriage with Orson Campbell, Aug. 20, 1849, at New Hartford. Her husband died in New City, N. Y., Aug. 23, 1902. For years her home was in Jewett City. She is survived by three sons, Fred S. and Emma E. Campbell of Lisbon and Oscar H. Campbell of Jewett City.

Anne Brewster Fanning chapter, D. A. R., met at the home of Mrs. F. L. Kannah Friday afternoon. Fourteen were present, the regent, Mrs. Kannah, presiding. Mrs. Fanning was the speaker, and a paper of special merit on the constitution was read by Miss Alice Brown, Mrs. E. P. Burleson assisted Mrs. Kannah in serving refreshments.

The class of 1921, Riverside grammar school, met Friday afternoon at the school and elected the following officers: President, Morton Brown; vice president, Doris Burr; secretary, Ethel Partridge; treasurer, Doris Johnson. The class colors chosen are purple and gold.

The class motto is Strive and Succeed. The number of applications for enrollment this year is greater than last year and every room is nearly filled.

WESTERLY

Thomas D'Andrea was in court on the charge of recklessly driving an automobile on Thursday afternoon, when on the Post road sufficient evidence to arrest was admitted by his attorney, John J. Dunn.

Town Solicitor Agard stated the driver by accident struck and injured a car operated by Rev. Mr. Briger, and the fault was entirely with D'Andrea and both cars were damaged.

The liquor mixture, which was taken by the federal authorities, Attorney D'Andrea stated that this is the first offense of the kind in the town since the incorporation, according to Attorney O'Connell the young man, said Mr. Dunn, is unfortunately not insured.

Mr. Dunn gave assurance that the loss involved in the deal is estimated at $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. It is stated that the policies of the new owners contemplate no radical changes either in the management of the property or in the treatment of the employees.

This sale includes all the mill properties, real estate, farm lands and buildings, houses and outbuildings, and all other interests in all quick assets owned by the B. E. & R. Knight, Incorporated, one of the largest cotton manufacturing concerns in the world.

The committee of arrangements will select the next place of meeting of the Narragansett Baptist association, which closed annual sessions at Narragansett, R. I., Saturday, Sept. 18. Rev. T. B. Bond was selected to preach the annual sermon, and Rev. Byron Urle Hatfield of the First Baptist church, Westery, was invited to preach.

Rev. Mr. Hatfield was appointed also to the committee on resolutions.

The term of the Rhode Island State College at Kingston will begin Tuesday morning, which will be the registration day. The number of applications for enrollment that has been received has far exceeded the capacity of the college, and many of the students will room in the village of Kingston.

The new agricultural and administration building will not be ready for occupancy this year. The building which is to be of granite, will house the department of agriculture and the administration offices. Horticultural hall, which was recently burned, is being rebuilt, although it will be ready for use before the building will be ready for use.

Loel Lacombs. Sylvester K. M. Robertson, of Warwick, a former member of the board, has been chosen clerk of the state shellfish commission, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Brayton A. Round.

Certain-Teed Roofing Costs Less to Lay

You will appreciate the low cost and convenience of laying Certain-Teed Roofing. Skilled labor is not required to lay it properly. You save much of the expense of hiring trained workmen and avoid delays because of a scarcity of such men.

But this is only one of the Certain-Teed economies. It also costs less to buy and less to maintain than any other type of good roofing.

In addition, Certain-Teed roofing is weather-proof, fire-retarding and spark-proof. It is guaranteed for five, ten or fifteen years, according to weight. Experience proves that it usually outlasts its guarantee by years of satisfactory service.

See your dealer about Certain-Teed Roofing. If he can't fill your entire order from stock, he can get what you want quickly from a nearby Certain-Teed distributing center.
