DR. SCANLON TESTIFIES MRS. KENYON SAID SHE MEANT TO KILL HERSELF

That Mrs. Mabel Kenyon of Stonington at first said Dr. Herbert Teltow had shot himself and that she also said she had gone to Dr. Teltow's house to kill herself were points brought out Friday in the testimony of Dr. M. H. Scanlon in the superior court in the trial of Mrs. Kenyon on the charge of shooting Dr. Teltow on the morning of June 11th last at Dr. Teltow's home in Stonington.
Mrs. Kenyon stood the ordeal of an all-day session of court well Friday. She sat with her counsel, with her husband and one of her sons nearby.
When Judge George E. Hinman took his seat on the bench to resume trial of the case Friday morning, Civil Engineer George E. Pitcher was called to the stand for further cross examination by Attorney Rathbun and Dunn, counsel for Mrs. Kenyon. He was on the stand for over half an hour.
Describes the Wounds.
Dr. William H. Gray, medical examiner for the town of Stonington, who conducted the autopsy, testified that Dr. Teltow, followed Mr. Pitcher on the stand. Testifying about the autopsy, which was performed at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July of the tragedy, Dr. Gray said that Dr. Scanlon, coroner Franklin H. Brown, Dr. Payne, Dr. Hilliard and the undertaker, who were present. The witness was shown the clothing that had been worn by Dr. Teltow, consisting of a light gray suit with negligee shirt and underclothing. The negligee shirt and the upper part of the combination suit were blood-stained.
Major Hull showed the witness the coat where the bullet hole in the sleeve was pointed out.
On Dr. Teltow's right arm about six inches above the tip of the elbow, entering on the outside of the arm and passing through the arm, was a bullet wound, Dr. Gray testified. The bullet struck the tenth rib, entering the abdominal cavity. It pierced the right lobe of the liver, struck the small intestine, pierced the great omentum and peritoneum. No place was found where the bullet came out of the body, nor was the bullet found. Death was caused by the gunshot wound with internal hemorrhage as the secondary cause.
When Dr. Gray first saw Dr. Teltow's body at the Teltow house, the body lay on the floor where the door came against his leg as the door was opened and there was a pillow under the head.
On cross examination by Attorney Rathbun, Dr. Gray said he first heard of the death of Dr. Teltow by a telephone message about noon from Dr. Phillips. He went to the house shortly afterward accompanied by Dr. Hilliard. He stayed about twenty minutes, saw nothing unusual about the condition of the room, no evidence of any struggle, and could not recall that he moved any of the pieces of furniture. From the Teltow house he went to the Kenyon house where he saw Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon and her son, Norman Church. From there he went back with Dr. Hilliard to the Teltow house where Dr. Scanlon then was. Dr. Scanlon called his attention to a bullet that had been found and to the bullet hole in the chair and hit the radiator, Dr. Gray said.
Two Bullets Are Exhibits.
The bullets were marked exhibits 5 and 6.
To Attorney Rathbun, Dr. Gray said that he could not tell what was put on the death certificate, which the doctor made out and could not remember that gunshot wound was not mentioned on the certificate.
The attorney spent nearly half an hour in closely questioning Dr. Gray about the autopsy, where the hemorrhage came from and the organs of the body that were injured, whether the autopsy had been complete, and whether it might have been possible for Dr. Gray to have died of heart trouble or hemorrhage of the brain before he was shot.
On re-direct examination by State Attorney Hull, Dr. Gray stated that there were no injuries to Dr. Teltow's head and the pillow under the head that the autopsy was sufficient to determine the cause of Dr. Teltow's death.
When Coroner Took Statement.
Mrs. Viola M. Burdick, residing on Mechanic street, Pawcatuck, Stonington, about three-eighths of a mile from Dr. Teltow's house, testified that she was present when Coroner Brown came to the Pawcatuck lookout to take a statement from Mrs. Kenyon. The coroner told Mrs. Kenyon, said Mrs. Kenyon that it was optional with Mrs. Kenyon to make a statement but if she made one Burdick would be used against her. Mrs. Burdick remained in another room while the coroner took Mrs. Kenyon's statement. After the statement had been taken, Mrs. Burdick was called back into the room where Mrs. Kenyon was and Mrs. Kenyon seemed weak. Attorney B. H. Hewitt went into the room while the statement was being taken, said Mrs. Burdick.
On cross examination, Mrs. Burdick said that Mrs. Kenyon was very nervous, understood what was said to her and understood what she answered. She did not recall that she saw Mrs. Kenyon state that the witness thought Mrs. Kenyon did not appreciate much of anything. When the coroner told Mrs. Kenyon who he was and what she might do about a statement, she said she understood, according to the witness.

Afternoon Session.

After the noon recess, State Attorney Hull called to the stand Robert M. Carr, 28 Washington street, Pawcatuck, an assistant employed by Undertaker Gavit of Stonington, who testified that the body of Dr. Teltow from the Teltow home about 1 o'clock on the afternoon of June 11th was taken to the rooms of Dr. Scanlon was there at the time. The witness saw the chair with the hole through the back standing to the left of the door.
Mr. Carr identified the chair in court as being the one which he saw in Dr. Teltow's room.
The body lay on the floor, the witness said, with the head towards West Broad street and the feet towards the street, when they prevented opening the door wide.
On cross examination by Attorney Dunn, the witness said the chair was standing near the radiator. He could not remember whether Dr. Teltow had a collar and necktie on, but the body was clothed.
Mrs. Kenyon Showed Where Dr. Teltow Was.
Dr. M. H. Scanlon of Westerly testified he received telephone messages about 10:40 on June 11 from Mrs. Hilliard that Dr. Teltow had been shot and asking him to come right over. Upon reaching the Teltow house, Dr. Scanlon found Mrs. Hilliard just inside the front door. Mrs. Kenyon on the second or third step near the radiator. Dr. Scanlon asked "Where is he?" Mrs. Kenyon answered "Upstairs" and went up ahead of the doctor to

County Doctors Endorse Anti-Mosquito Campaign

At its semi-annual session, held at the locker house in New London on Thursday, the New London County Medical Association set the mark of its approval on the effort which is being made by Dr. Scanlon to eliminate the mosquito menace to the county. The subject was presented by Dr. W. E. Britton of New Haven, state secretary of the association. Dr. Britton, who, after mentioning the diseases known to be transmitted by insects, laid upon the mosquito the sole blame for the malaria which has existed in Connecticut, he said, ever since the Civil war, probably brought from the army camps and prisons. In the years since 1864, it has been responsible for 1507 deaths in this state. There is no means, he added, of computing the number of cases of the disease, but the economic loss to the state, through loss of labor force and efficiency is certainly enormous.
The menace of malaria alone is a sufficient condemnation of the mosquito, and will continue acute as long as immigrants from the fever-infested countries of Europe continue to come here. Our only protection is to get rid of the mosquito. Dr. Britton cited cases in which this has produced definite results, notably that of Greenwich, where, according to information which has come to his office there were 300 cases of malaria in 1912. Effective measures were taken to eliminate the mosquito, and the result that the following year the number of cases was reduced to 200, and the next year to 26. Dr. Britton showed what work has been done along the shore line in reducing mosquito-breeding areas, but said that only a beginning has been made. He commended the work of the state secretary, Dr. W. E. Britton, and the members of the New London County Medical Association, assembled at their semi-annual meeting.
Everett G. Hill of Hartford, secretary of the association, followed with a brief appeal to the medical association to help in the fight to the state and practicality of really getting rid of the mosquito. The following resolution, presented by Dr. A. C. Freeman of Norwich, secretary of the association, was discussed and unanimously passed:
"Resolved, That the secretary be instructed to acquire the proper state authorities with this action."

PUNAM TRADE SCHOOL PREPARES FOR STUDENTS

The trade school of Punam has made careful preparations for the increased enrollment of work that is being done in the fall months. The various courses have been gone over and where necessary revised, co-ordinating academic subjects with practical work, thereby giving the student the necessary training to fit him for actual industrial conditions.
One of the best equipped departments of the school is the textile. Careful attention is given each student. He is taught the underlying principles of cotton manufacturing, including desizing, yarn production, spinning, weaving, finishing, and so on. Mathematics necessarily form a considerable portion of this course. A small amount of machine shop practice is included. As a basis for academic study, practical work is done on orders filling commercial requirements. This gives the student a objective training.
The carpentry department is engaged at the present time in building a locker and shower bath house at the Country club. The boys are also doing considerable drafting work in the shop. Architectural engineering and mathematics constitute about one-quarter of the course.
The electrical department is very com-

Not Self-Inflicted Wound.

Dr. Scanlon described the wounds that were disclosed by the autopsy and the great amount of clotted blood which filled the abdomen. There were no injuries to the brain, nor evidence of any cerebral paralysis such as would have been seen if Dr. Teltow had had a hemorrhage of the brain. The bullet wound was necessarily fatal, said Dr. Scanlon, and was the only cause of death. It was also, he testified, impossible for Dr. Teltow to have inflicted the wound upon himself.
Cross Examines Dr. Scanlon.
Taking up the cross examination Attorney Rathbun questioned Dr. Scanlon whether it would have been possible for Dr. Teltow to reach out with his right hand holding the revolver. Dr. Scanlon said "No."
Dr. Scanlon denied that he had taken special interest in the case and that within a week he had said depending on the state of Connecticut was going to bring him to convict Mrs. Kenyon.
Major Hull challenged Attorney Rathbun to produce the name of any person to whom Dr. Scanlon might have said this. Attorney Rathbun gave the name of Chris Ferrara, a Westerly jitney driver. Dr. Scanlon said he did not believe he had talked with Ferrara about the case.
To a question from Attorney Rathbun, Dr. Scanlon said he had been acting at the time at the house as he thought any citizen ought to who thought a crime had been committed and he was trying to protect Mrs. Kenyon who told him she was

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given By One Who Had It
In the spring of 1922 I was attacked by muscular and inflammatory rheumatism. It lasted for over three years. I tried remedies after remedies and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a cure in every case. I was given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case. I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to you. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long looked-for remedy, send me your name, your address, and the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I don't want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied with it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't forget to write me.

ing to kill herself.
Dr. Scanlon also said that when Mrs. Kenyon went upstairs with him in Dr. Teltow's house she told him she came over to kill herself, but Dr. Teltow said, "No, let me shoot you," and he shot himself.
Dr. Scanlon said he had concluded almost immediately upon going into Dr. Teltow's room that everything was not right and he ought to get somebody there with authority and he directed that nobody be allowed in the room until the medical examiner arrived.
Attorney Rathbun was still conducting a searching cross examination when court adjourned at 5 o'clock last Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

FRANKLIN DAIRY FARMERS FINDING HELP SCARCE

Problems facing the farmers of Franklin were discussed at a recent meeting held in that town under the auspices of the New London County Farm Bureau. The meeting was informal and was held more for the purpose of discovering what plans could be made for the coming year. From a survey at the meeting it was found that dairying was the chief crop with poultry, fruit and cash crops following. The meeting was held in the town and the state for boys wishing to take regular all day trade courses.

POETRY

FORGOTTEN.

Nary a visitor in the ward this week—
As they're tired of us now.
When we were sad and alone,
And they needed us to go across
To stop the L-boat on our shores
And cross the line across the river.
Then every last blasted chump among us
Was a "hero" and they couldn't do enough.
Now—
Well, the war is over, as they say
(It looks to me like I wasn't finished yet).
And they're sick of all
The whole langed business,
So are we!
We're sick of this "ere hospital,
We're sick of this "ere grub,
We never want to see another doctor
or a nurse,
And they never want to see another
"ere wounded chump—
"ere we are!
This bloody ward me here he'd get
Much left to decorate his corpse,
And he's blind, too; the Hoche
Shot out one eye for sure.
The doctors thought they'd save the other one—
But yesterday they took the bandage off
And he couldn't see a goddamned thing.
It was a sport. He never said a word
But every one in the ward
(I've seen 'em all)
And they'd all been there
I wish that I could hike out to a shady spot and "root my fevered brow," as they say
But I can't. You see, my
"ere bitch summa" gon' on to
"ere next sorry stumma of a
"ere chump."—

OTHER TIMES AND MANNERS.

We used to make the eagle scream
With sentiment sublime;
We used to buy five cent ice cream
All through the summertime;
We used to see the night birds a day,
And maybe nine or ten.
We used to try to save our pay
But let it waste in the bank,
We used to hold in favor slight
The "dude" in soft repose;
We used to think it genteel
To see a lady's house.
We used to repress a word
Whose origin was "are";
And say it should not be heard,
We used to feel distress;
Pam's favorites we held apart
From ordinary care;
We used to be about their Art
And not their home affairs.
No doubt "whatever it is right"
We must "uplift" to a height
That meant something.
We've bravely availed; and yet
As distant days we view
We find that we do not regret
For things we used to do.
