

WESTERLY

No more interest could possibly be demonstrated in a presidential election than was shown in the nomination for state senator and for representative from the First district, from the time the polls opened at two o'clock in the close at eight o'clock, Friday. Under the new republican caucus rules, where contests for nomination arise, the nominations must be by ballot, two days after the caucus date. The contested nominations were for senator, with Abraham P. Dutton, selected to oppose Senator Maurice W. Flynn, who was recommended by the town committee. No charges of a political or personal nature were preferred against Senator Flynn, yet Friday's slogan was: "Anything to defeat Flynn." That was the main issue of the caucus and carried to the adjourned session at the polls.

The other contest was the nomination of representative for the First district, the candidates being Dr. Thomas E. Robinson, Joseph F. Murphy, Francis G. Haswell and Michael McCarthy.

There was no contest for nomination of representative from the Second district. Representative Samuel H. Davis being opposed, receiving a nomination at the caucus.

Weatherwise Friday was like unto that traditional rare day in June, a regular ladies' day, the feminine electors turned out in force to cast their ballots for the first time in Westerly. Nearly half the voting population is composed of women, but the vote of Friday did not show any party strength, as all the contestants were of the same political party. The total voting strength of Westerly is 2,428 and with 1,541 in the First and 1,887 in the Second district. Of these 1,024 are property and 1,404 registry voters.

At Friday's nomination caucus, it was evident that the women had been warned to be at the polling place in the town hall early, and they were there in force when the polls were opened at two o'clock and in balloting session. This polling for nominations served as an excellent rehearsal for the new voters for the regular election.

Chairman Eugene B. Pendleton called the caucus to order and on motion of Samuel H. Davis, it was voted that the ballot be taken by districts. Eugene B. Pendleton as chairman, and Lewis Weston clerk of the First district, and Ira R. Crainall and John Dunn of the Second district. In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Edward Regueci acted as clerk.

Edwin Barber was the first man to vote and Jane Brown the first woman, in the First district, and that distinction went to James F. Kennedy and Mary Pasco in the Second district. In both instances the men took the lead. In the first hour the women outnumbered the men four to one, and during the succeeding five hours they held their own.

The polls closed at 8 o'clock, and the counting began. The result of the ballot follows:

For Senator—
 Abraham P. Dutton 1173
 Maurice W. Flynn 1914
 For Representative—First District—
 Joseph F. Murphy 403
 Thomas E. Robinson 259
 Francis G. Haswell 178
 Michael McCarthy 102
 William E. Sullivan, a sailor of the New London navy, was in town on his automobile Thursday out the traffic signal at High and Canal street. He was held up by an officer and was found to be minus an operator's license, so was arrested.

rested. In the Third District court, Friday, before Judge Oliver H. Williams, he pleaded nolo to the charge of operating an automobile without having an operator's license in his possession. After his arrest his license was sent him here. He was fined $2 and costs.

William Andrews, of New London, created a disturbance in a Main street dance hall and was ejected. He was subsequently arrested, charged with being intoxicated, pleaded guilty, and was discharged upon payment of costs, $2.80.

William Proix, of White Rock, pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication and was fined $2 and costs of $2.80.

Rev. Frank H. Decker, of Providence, a former pastor of Pawcatuck Congregational church, will talk on the subject of The League of Nations, Sunday afternoon in Stillman hall, at 2 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Decker, a staunch republican hereofore has openly declared in favor of the league, and has taken the stump in advocacy of that feature of the political campaign.

Henry De Coppel, 78, retired banker, of New York city, for more than fifty years a summer resident of Narragansett Pier, died Thursday, at his beautiful villa next to the Imperial hotel, corner of Central and Mathewson streets.

Mr. De Coppel retired from active business several years ago. He has been in failing health for the past year and in the spring was brought to the pier in a private car, accompanied by nurses.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Theakston De Coppel, president of Richmond town council, and two daughters, Misses Beatrice and Gertrude De Coppel.

Bernard J. Christie, the real active democrat of the town, who is meeting in his efforts to have party organization in Westerly, declared Friday, that he would gladly step aside for some democrat who could bring about more satisfactory party progress. He says there are men in Westerly, more than 500, who are at heart democrats, but who vote the republican ticket as a matter of policy or business interest, or both.

Mr. Christie says that there are not more than 250 true democratic men in the whole town. He would make no estimate on the probable increase by reason of women becoming electors. He avowed that of the political parties in the town were more evenly divided there would be no such thing as a special party caucus rule, and no occasion for holding mock elections, such as that of Friday to determine republican party nominees. "The thing," he added, "will be repeated in the nomination for town officers. In the end it may help the cause of democracy."

Local Laocetes. The Holy Name Society of St. Michael's parish, will parade at Norwich with the societies of New London county Sunday. The Westerly band will accompany the local society. The trip will be made in seven trolley cars leaving here at 12:15.

Allan W. Cooper, organist of the Second Congregational church, New London, will give a public recital in the First Baptist church next Tuesday evening. He will be assisted by Willard Kelgwin, tenor, of Mystic.

Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, D.D., pastor of Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church, will preach in the Methodist church Sunday morning.

Rev. Samuel M. Cathcart will conduct baptismal service in the Clarkville chapel Sunday evening.

Postmaster Thomas F. Lenihan is on his vacation.

Mrs. C. H. Peck of Essex was a visitor in town Monday.

Miss Margaret Eadie and Miss Helen Eadie are spending ten days in Sherbrooke and Montreal, Canada.

There is no advertising medium in Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.
