

Steadman Outpoints Hammering Howie

'Steady' Steadman of Bridgeport outpointed Hammering Howie of Woonsocket in twelve rounds Tuesday evening at the Casino A. C. boxing exhibition at the Olympic hall before a crowd that was much smaller than usual.

In the semi-final bout Danny Doyle of New London and Terry O'Connor fought a fast eight round draw. O'Connor had the better of the first two rounds while Doyle in the second knocked Doyle for a count of eight, but Doyle, although a trifle groggy, finished out the round and in the next two rounds came back strong and by aggressive fighting took these rounds by large margins.

The opening round of the bout was all Steadman, who took the lead and put Howie on the defensive. Steadman landed several times during the round while Howie was unable to land.

The second and third rounds were much the same with the exception that Howie started his ring acrobatics and shimmying about the ring not giving Steadman a chance to get his feet set. Howie landed a few blows to the head and body but could make no impression in the Bridgeport lead.

The fourth round went to Steadman by a good margin and in the fifth round Steadman knocked Howie to his knees and in the sixth Howie landed a hard punch on the Woonsocket boy. Howie landed only three times in this round.

In the sixth and seventh rounds Steadman began to show a good margin. In the seventh Steadman started the blood from Howie's mouth with a wicked left that landed square on Howie's nose.

In the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds Howie showed more aggressiveness than in the other preceding seven and mixed it up with right in the corners and landed how for blow. These rounds were even.

The eleventh and twelfth were Steadman's by a good margin. Referee Frank Robinson kept the boys moving and in the twelfth the crowd was disappointed and the exhibition was worthy of a better name. Steadman's Jack Williams and Fred Marshall have been the cause of bringing some good boys to Norwich and have been to considerable extent the cause of the local fans' good shows and they deserve a great deal of credit and better attention.

SISTER BERTHA ESTABLISHED NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 12.—Establishment of a new world's record of 2:02 3/4 for the three-year-old pacing record in a race against time by Sister Bertha in a race against time preceding the afternoon program and a reduction of the record for three-year-old pacing from 2:03 3/4 to 2:02 3/4 was the feature of today's Grand Circuit card.

The three-year-old record book record was set in the Tennessee in which Frisco June scored a victory by taking the last two heats in fast time after having finished last in the first mile. She was driven by W. W. Fleming.

Peter Manning, the favorite, took the Castleton Cup for 2:07 trotters in the second heat, but was unable to finish a close second in all three miles. The contest developed in the Tennessee was considered by hundreds of horsemen here from all parts of the world to be the best ever paced by three-year-old horses.

Millie Irwin and Mighell scored easy victories in the 2:08 trot and second division of the 2:12 trot respectively. The first division of the 2:12 was raced Monday.

The Fleming Brothers, W. W. R. and Vic, drove the winners in three of the four events.

MAN O'WAR VICTORIOUS IN RACE WITH SIR BARTON

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 12.—The thoroughbred championship of the continent rests tonight on the American side of the border. Man O'War, the greatest three year old of the year, galloped home with the equine honors.

The race was over a course of a mile and a half. The time was 2:03 1/2, more than a full second faster than the old Canadian record for the distance. The race was over a course of a mile and a half. The time was 2:03 1/2, more than a full second faster than the old Canadian record for the distance.

The time, 2:03 flat, was more than a second slower than the record of both horses. Sir Barton has a mark of 2:01 4/5, which later was tied by Man O'War. The slow time was partly due to the fact that the victor was never in danger from the time he took the lead at the first sixteenth pole.

INDIANS WON FINAL GAME AND WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 12.—Baseball champion of the world, The Cleveland American league club won that supreme prize this afternoon when the Indians defeated the Brooklyn Nationals in the seventh and deciding game of the 1920 series by a score of 3 to 0.

The shunt victory was chiefly engineered by Stanley Coveleskie, the spitball hurler of the local team, who has proved to be a pitcher of remarkable skill and ability during the series. Backed by an air-tight defense on the part of his team mates at the critical moments of the game, the Shamokin, Pa., coal miner, led the Robins down with five hits. Only two Brooklyn players reached second base during the nine sessions at bat and only five of the invaders were left on the bases.

Coveleskie's feat in winning three of the five games necessary to clinch the championship for Cleveland, will go down as one of the outstanding features of world's series history and one of the most prominent and praiseworthy factors in a struggle which has furnished more startling incidents than any similar series in years. The Brooklyn batters accumulated only two runs off the mottled stanzas of Coveleskie's seven innings in which he off-acted on the hurling mound. He let the Robins down with one run in the first game at Brooklyn on October 5, allowed them a second tally on Saturday and shut them out today. It is doubtful if a more masterly exhibition of pitching has been flashed before the fans in any series since 1905, when Christy Mathewson, then at the zenith of his twirling career with the New York Giants, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics in three games.

Great acrobatics were the credit accorded Coveleskie for his remarkable feat in coming back after two days of rest and pitching his best game of the series, the general offensive and defensive of the other members of the Cleveland club cannot be dimmed by the individual feats of the pitcher. The Indians, as a team, grew more impressive as the series progressed and their feat in winning four straight games from Brooklyn after the Indians' initial front start stamps the club as one of the most successful and enthusiastic in the history of the game.

In shutting out the National leaguers in the final clash this afternoon the Indians, led by Manager Trip Speaker, rose to the top of the world's series. The complete confidence of the club backers and fans to their ability to prove their right to wear the baseball crown of the world is shown by the fact that they came in on the grass on a full sprint and scooped up Smith's boulder which had cleared Grimes' head by several feet and whirled it with a whip of the ball to Konecny for the out.

Cleveland put across the first run of the game in the fourth inning. After E. Smith had grounded out, Gardner beat out a hit past Kilduff and went to third on a hit and run play when W. Johnston singled to right. Sewell fled out and Johnston followed with a delayed steal. The ball was whirled by Gardner's quick return the ball went wild and Gardner was out.

The Indians annexed their next tally in the fifth inning. Coveleskie's half of the fifth inning by striking out, but by Jameson came through with a scratch infield hit. Wambagans fled out and Jameson stole second. Speaker followed with a hard drive against the newly erected stand in right center field and Jameson crossed the plate.

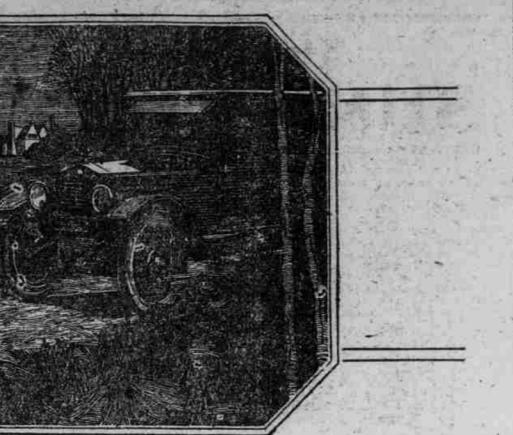

The final run of the series came in the sixth inning. O'Neill started the inning with a double to left center, but the plucky little backstop was run down when Coveleskie grounded to Grimes. Coveleskie, however, managed to take second on O'Neill's hit when Jameson drove the ball to right field for two bases.

It had been planned to send Rube Marquard against the Indians in an attempt to check the winning streak of Speaker's men, but owing to the court action of this morning, in which the exhibition ticket ordinance, and fined $1 and cost, Manager Robinson switched to Grimes in a last forlorn hope.

Analysis of the pitching records in the final world's series game indicates that the superior control of Coveleskie was responsible for his victory today. Just as was in the previous two games when the Cleveland hurler kept putting the ball over the plate and Brooklyn batters were forced to hit his first offerings.

Coveleskie pitched only 30 times in the nine innings which he pitched. He was the Brooklyn twirler, were forced to throw 125 times. Only 21 of Coveleskie's offerings were called balls, 25 were strikes, 8 four strikes and 9 fouls. He retired 12 men on flies and 16 sent out easy grounders. Five hits were made by Brooklyn batters in the nine innings, only four in the fourth inning.

The two Brooklyn pitchers sent over more strikes than Coveleskie but they also threw more balls. Together in the nine innings they pitched 125 balls, 84 strikes, 14 four strikes, 7 fouls, but out

For the Cool Days— an Essex Sedan

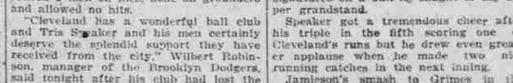

THE season when the Essex Sedan will be most enjoyed and appreciated is at hand. Its protection and comfort are genuine necessities for the growing class of automobile owners who rely altogether on motor transit to and from their business affairs.

Commodious and luxurious, it combines the riding comfort of the large costly car, with the advantages of economy and easy handling, exclusive to light cars.

Plenty of surplus power makes the Essex Sedan accelerate quickly, and gives it easy dominance in the hills. That performance ability is especially prized by owners. For in the case of the Essex it removes the objections long held against enclosed bodies on light cars, that they have insufficient power for the additional weight, which results in sluggish performance.

11 men on flies, 10 on rollers and allowed 7 hits. Grimes' record for seven innings was 47 balls, 21 strikes, 12 foul strikes, 4 ground, 9 hit out of flies and 10 on ground, 9 hits and 7 hits. Mammau threw 4 balls, 4 strikes, 2 foul strikes, 3 fouls, 2 men on flies, none on grounders and allowed no hits.

'The owners of the Yankees aren't negotiating with me, and I'm not negotiating with them,' he said. 'Reports that I am going to change teams are foolish and untrue. I expect to be right back in the National league fight next season, piloting Brooklyn to another pennant.'

According to said article which was signed by Mr. Loughran, manager of the Mooseup baseball team, the Ashland club has been in the news for a long time, and are afraid to play, etc. In justice to the supporters of our team I feel that an explanation of the public is in order.

We had arranged a series with Mooseup and did play the first game at Mooseup as scheduled. We received the guarantee as agreed upon, and the second game was to have been played at Ashland park for a like guarantee Oct. 10. A few days previous to that date the Mooseup management notified me that they could not bring the club to Jewett City for the same amount of money which he had given me, and stated that unless the guarantee was increased considerably, the series was off.

Figuring that as it is customary to exchange dates in a series of this kind at a like guarantee and also figuring that Mooseup was no more of an attraction to me than my club was to them, I refused to increase the amount that had been agreed upon and let the matter drop.

That Mooseup has a strong club cannot be denied, but they were lucky to beat us 2-1 in the game which was played in the city of Norwich. We met and this money question is evidently a stall, and an easy way of calling off the series, the newspaper article being a blind to pass the buck to Ashland.

Mooseup has a faculty of organizing in the fall of each season, gathering a bunch of all-stars when the picking is good, and of playing a few 'get-rich-quick' games with teams that have had to struggle through the entire season, taking the bitter with the sweet in order to make a reputation for themselves. The Mooseup crowd will have to go further than Jewett City to pull their pants down.

Ashland is not afraid to play anyone. We met all comers and have offered to play all teams in this section with a reputation this season. We have not insisted on playing all our games at home as our record shows nearly as many

Ashland-Mooseup Series Has Been Called Off The management and followers of the Ashland baseball club have been a target for much criticism and even ridicule, because of an article which appeared in the Norwich Bulletin a few days since.
