Four cases were heard in the police court Thursday morning. John Dumbinski of North Windham, charged with assault on his wife, Nellie, entered a plea of guilty, but claimed he had good cause for striking her as she had been continually nagging him about another woman. Mrs. Dumbinski appeared at court, her eye still showing the effects of her encounter with her husband. Mrs. Dumbinski stated that the woman in the case resided in Willimantic but had been a visitor at her home on many occasions.

local manufacturing plants as this is largely a textile manufacturing city. Fire that broke out at three o'clock Thursday morning in the third story of the Chronicle building, threatened to destroy the entire building with its contents. Quick work on the part of the Willimantic firemen, however, kept the blaze confined to the upper stories of the building and away from the paper stored in the rear rooms and the fire extinguished after damage estimated at about $10,000 had been done. The fire broke out in the room where metal is heated for the linotype machines. The fire spread to the room above. The fire was not caused by sparks from a fire in the oven of the metal heating stove, but by a match that fell on a bench at the opposite side of the room gave rise to the belief that rats in chewing the matches had set them afire and the blaze resulted.

The alarm was sent in from box 42 at the corner of Main and Church street and every piece of apparatus in the city responded. Four lines of hose were laid out with two ladders on the building from the Church street side and two more from the rear of the building. The fire was checked and confined to the one quickly spread to the room above. The fire was not caused by sparks from a fire in the oven of the metal heating stove, but by a match that fell on a bench at the opposite side of the room gave rise to the belief that rats in chewing the matches had set them afire and the blaze resulted.

As soon as the crowd arrived at the fire, the firemen began to work on the files and equipment from the building, storing them in the office of Elmer M. Young, directly across the street. Volcanoes also entered the second story of the building and covered the linotype machines with heavy paper to prevent destruction by water. The fact that the blaze was kept from the rooms in the rear of the plant was due to the fact that the blaze had been made and machinery cleaned up the Chronicle's was able to turn out its edition as usual.

The damage to the building and contents was mostly by water, several inches of water from the third story coming down through the ceiling and saturating the rooms below. Some twenty tons of newspaper paper stored in the rooms in the rear of the plant were damaged to some extent but it is estimated that the loss can be used with the loss of part of the paper.

The store owned by Frank Gallina & Co. located on the ground floor of the building was soaked by water but was untouched by the flames.

Lieut. James J. Lee of this city, who is actively engaged in campaigning for democratic candidates for national office, in Winham court, a member of the Veterans' Cox-Roosevelt club, received a communication from James M. Cox, governor of Ohio and democratic nominee for president, Tuesday, the letter coming from the headquarters of the democratic national committee at New York. The letter reads as follows:

I have been told by our national headquarters that you are a devoted man serving in the vital interests of strategic countries who are doing especially meritorious work for the great cause to which you are devoting your life. I am proud to have you in the ranks of the muddied battlefield in France.

You are a man already marked in your community. You are a veteran soldier who has seen the best of your country in the hour of national need. Therefore you have both the right and privilege of telling your neighbors what you fought for - I myself am doing the best, as I understand, to interpret and make real your ideals.

Among those ideals was the thought, crystallized in determination, to fight a war which should result in a permanent peace of the great conflict into which we were drawn by inescapable duties toward peace. You who fought over there, and who are now here, should co-operate in full measure to keep faith with our dead.

Cordially and appreciatively yours,
JAMES M. COX

The alumnae of St. Joseph's hospital gave their second annual dance Thursday evening at the state armory on Pleasant street and realized a good sum to be used for the purchase of linen for the nurses' home. During the dance a sale of cake, candy and ice cream by ladies of the alumnae added much to the sum realized. The ladies in charge of the dance and sale of goods were as follows: Miss Mae Keeler, chairman; Miss Alice Logan, Miss Nora Grody, Mrs. Ella Gillis, Mrs. Owen O'Neill, Miss Mary, Corran, and Miss Frances Kingsolver. The fine quality of goods received for sale came from the many friends of the organization and from those wishing to express their appreciation for services rendered by the nurses at the hospital.

A meeting of the YP Veterans' association of Willimantic was held Thursday night in their rooms at the state armory with President James J. Lee presiding. Plans for the Armistice night dance were discussed and all arrangements made.

The men's club of the First Congregational church held a meeting Thursday evening in the church house, a fine luncheon being served at 6:30 o'clock by the ladies of the church. Following the supper a political discussion was held, members stating their views on the situation of the parties in the coming election.

The auto truck of Hook and Ladder company No. 1 came to grief while making the run to the fire when the braking on the drive shaft failed to hold the truck instead of turning into Church street continued down Main as far as the railroad crossing and had to be towed back to the fire station for repairs. The accident to the auto truck is similar to that which put the truck out of commission while making the run to the fire at the property of Arthur E. Siles of Windham road about a week ago. On that occasion the truck got as far as the foot of Jilson Hill and there it went bad. The truck was not needed at the fire, however, the smaller trucks supplying the hose and implements needed.

Today (Friday) Windham High will meet the eleven from Westerly on the football field in the city where the last named high school is located. Windham and Westerly have always been bitter rivals and in most contests have been evenly matched. Coach Donohue has been giving his men a workout this week and they are in fine shape for the game. The eleven battled Norwich Free Academy to a 4 to 8 tie at Recreation park last Saturday and showed they had some goods. With a little more training they should go through the season and win a majority of their games.

Three local young men, Arthur Casey, Timothy Sullivan and Harry Noel, were somewhat bruised early Tuesday morning when the automobile in which they were passengers turned over after striking a horse on the state highway about a mile southwest of the railroad station at Lebanon. The three young men, accompanied by Walter Caron, Florimond Normandin and Thure Thornberg, also of this city, were returning to this city from a dance that had been held at Grand Hall, Lebanon, Wednesday night. In making a turn in the highway Arthur Casey, who was driving the car, suddenly saw a horse standing directly in front of the automobile, and he tried to turn out to avoid hitting the animal. The horse, becoming frightened, ran into the car and was knocked down, getting a broken leg in the crash. The car, running west to one side and shot up the bank at the roadside, turned over and spilled its occupants. Noel was found pinned under the automobile, which was a Studebaker touring car, and was extracted only after the car had been lifted from him. The car caught fire but was quickly put out.

Aside from Noel, who was suffering from a badly fractured right leg, Arthur Casey had a bad cut on the head and Timothy Sullivan had severe bruises about the body. The other three had only slight cuts. Dr. C. A. Jenkins treated the injured men at St. Joseph's hospital, but all were able to go to their homes.

A wrecking car was sent out to the scene of the accident to bring in the damaged car, but upon arrival nothing was left of the Studebaker but a mass of ruins, fire having broken out after the occupants had left the scene and completely destroyed the car.

Tonight (Friday) Senator Frank R. Brandegee, Congressman Richard P. Freeman and Everett J. Lake, candidate for governor, will speak at the republican rally to be held at the town hall at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Windham Republican club. Prior to the rally the American band is to give a concert and short street parade.

The Cox and Roosevelt club have elected the following as their officers: President, John McKenna; vice president, George Pelquin, Thomas A. Shea, John Martowski and Frank P. Lombardo; secretary, Albert J. Piche; treasurer, Frank M. Lincoln; finance committee, James P. Murrain, John H. Pickett, Arthur Eastcott, Michael A. Sullivan and Pierre J. Larrabee. The club was organized on Tuesday evening of this week following the democratic caucus.

A show for the whole family. Don't forget the dates. Come one, come all.

BREED THEATRE.
For its feature attraction today and tomorrow the Breed will present Clara Kimball Young in a magnificent new production, "The Forbidden Woman." This is the highest quality of picture entertainment. It is a feast for the eye in regal settings and production details; and a beautiful love story of two continents brilliantly enacted by Clara Kimball Young and a superb cast, which includes such noted players as Mr. Vonway Tearle, Kathryn Adams, Winter Hall and Master Stanton Williams.

Charlie Chaplin will be seen in "The Cure," a Chaplin classic and the Pathé News will complete the bill for today and Saturday. Four shows Saturday, at 1:30, 3, 6:15 and 8:15.

The Great Shadow, a Timely Drama of Today, Starting Tuesday Evening.
Nothing could be more timely than a picture which shows the growth of unrest, the danger of bolshevism as an influence making for disintegration between capital and labor, and the power of capital and labor working in harmony to bring prosperity out of chaos and ruin.

The story is dramatic, and its working out on the screen is one of the most compelling of thrills and tense moments. The dominating figure is the form of a big superbly played by a young actress of the English-speaking stage, Tyrone Power, a well qualified both physically and otherwise to depict such a character. His work is distinguished by restraint, forcefulness and magnetism.

Miss Dorothy Bernard, leading woman of "The Great Shadow" is a capable actress who has appeared on the speaking stage and screen in many prominent parts. Her last appearance on the screen was in "Little Women." She is a beautiful girl, and well qualified for the part she portrays.

PROF. TIRRELL TO EXPLAIN "MECHANICS OF VOTING"
At the Community House on Tuesday, the 19th, at 8 p. m. Henry A. Tirrell of the Academy will address the Women's Guild of the United Church on the "Mechanics of Voting." All are invited whether members or attendants of the United Church. The meeting is an open one and it is hoped that all of those who are privileged to vote in the coming election, especially those to whom the franchise has recently been extended and those who have just reached their majority will take advantage of this opportunity to hear a non-partisan talk on how to register one's vote. The object of the meeting is not to attempt to show anyone for whom they should vote, but how to vote. Men and women of all shades of political thought will be made welcome. An opportunity will be given to ask questions of the speaker at the close of the meeting. While he makes no guarantee that he can answer them all it is believed that the opportunity to show anyone for whom they should vote will be appreciated and helpful. This meeting on next Tuesday evening is the first meeting of the reorganized woman's federation of the United Church and a cordial welcome will be extended to all men or women of this community.

A diplomat is a man with an axe to grind who gets another man to turn the grindstone and makes him believe that he is being entertained.
