COMPRESSED AIR PIPE LINE FOR GAS

Charles W. Tazart, recently appointed superintendent of the Norwich Gas and Electric company, in speaking at the weekly noonday luncheon of the Norwich Rotary club on Wednesday at the Wauregan house, complimented the city of Norwich on its gas and electric department saying that the electric plant in this city was second to none in the country for its size.

PORT TERRY PRESENTS EDUCATION IN ARMY

The families and friends of the 130,000 enlisted men of the army as well as the societies and organizations which are engaged in Americanization and educational work will be interested in a two-reel motion picture film, which has just been prepared by the War Department, showing the work at the Recruit Educational Center at Camp Upton, New York.

This film as available will be distributed for exhibition purposes to recruiting offices throughout the country.

The Americanization work which is being performed by the army at its recruit educational centers is one of the greatest advances that has recently been made and this picture shows the recruit at work and play.

The scenes show the classes in the various grades—the teaching of English and elementary mathematics—supervised with a number of views of the superb recreational activities of the new soldier.

When it is realized that one out of every four men drafted into the army during the world war was unable to intelligently read the daily newspaper, the value to the country of the army's educational work can be better appreciated.

That over 3,400,000 men, citizens of our country, who pride themselves upon their educational advantages, could be classified as illiterate is astounding, but had the entire manpower of the nation been called the number as classified would have increased in all probability in proportion.

The army through its schools today, is bringing education, elementary or advanced, to 130,000 men and the films to be exhibited show the elementary school work that is being done at the recruit educational centers where non-English speaking and illiterate recruits are given their preliminary education.

An excellent automatic course is being given at Port Terry, New York.

A great number of the University of Minnesota, Mr. Rubielevich, is the instructor.

He is assisted by able practical automobile men, and a most successful year is looked forward to in recreational activities are being pushed to the limit and the morale of the post already shows great improvement. As a result of the above opportunities and advantages offered many recruits are expected in the near future.

SENATOR KNOX EXPRESSES ADMIRATION FOR BRANDEGEE

United States Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, who served in the cabinets of Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft, writing to President Frederick M. Smith of the Henry & Wright Manufacturing company of Hartford, said that Senator Frank B. Brandegee's record of the past two years, for zealous patriotism and unselfish devotion to the institutions he was sworn to uphold, has challenged the notice and commanded the admiration of men and women who love liberty and independence everywhere.

The following is a copy of the letter: Dear Mr. Smith: In reply to your letter of the 20th instant, requesting me to give you an unbiased opinion concerning the fitness of Senator Frank B. Brandegee for reelection by the people of Connecticut to the United States senate, as justified by his record during the past 15 years.

There is no man in the senate of the United States today for whom his colleague on both sides of the chamber entertain warmer affection or higher respect than I do. It was my privilege to have known Senator Brandegee in the course of his public life, and to have seen him in the discharge of his duties as a legislator, as a speaker, as a statesman, and as a citizen.

From the date of his entrance into the senate, Senator Brandegee took rank with its soundest lawyers, skillful parliamentarians and clear-headed statesmen. His record of the past two years, for zealous patriotism and unselfish devotion to the institutions he was sworn to uphold, has challenged the notice and commanded the admiration of men and women who love liberty and independence everywhere.

Senator Brandegee has refused to bend the knee to "uncontrolled power" or to be influenced by the blandishments of those who were to be profited by his exercise.

There are spots on the sun, and there have been times in Senator Brandegee's career when we have not all agreed with him; but, take him day in and day out, he has no colleague whose record for usefulness and intelligent grasp of the nation's affairs exceeds his own.

As a type, I have always liked to think he portrayed the candor, integrity and modesty of his great constituency—the virtuous and intelligent citizenry of the nation—adjusted without rancor, and where honest, intelligent and loyal service is appreciated and rewarded.

It is impossible for me to think otherwise than that Senator Brandegee will triumph over the malice and representation seeking his defeat, and my deepest regret is that I could not come to Connecticut and give my testimony more in detail as to the senator's worth. It should indeed have been a labor of warm affection and profound respect.

Sincerely yours, PHILANDER C. KNOX.
