MUST FINISH NELSON CASE TODAY

The trial of the Nelson case must be finished today (Friday), Judge Gardner decreed today the attorneys in the superior court, but that the case will be adjourned court at 12:30 for the day to allow one of the jurors to attend a funeral.

In order to give as much time as possible for the continuation of the trial today, Judge Gardner directed that court will come in at 10 o'clock on Friday, usual, thus opening court at 9:30 instead of 10 o'clock.

The morning of Thursday was occupied with evidence from witnesses for the defense in the trial of Miss Maryon Nelson on the charges of embezzlement of $102 from Samuel Greens, proprietor of a woman's apparel store in New London.

When court came on Thursday morning Miss Nelson was recalled to the stand for cross examination by the attorney for the defense, but she did not testify.

Miss Peggy Doyle, bookkeeper at the smart shop, was called and gave testimony that while there was money in the shop she made out following a second visit of an inspector to the store last April.

Under cross-examination Miss Ahera admitted that she had seen Miss Nelson had gone to see Mr. Greens about why she had been discharged. She said that Mr. Greens had the impression that because of the Nelson case she had been discharged.

Emma Phillips, clerk at the National Bank of Commerce, gave testimony briefly about Miss Nelson's account at the bank while there was money in it.

Lillian G. Emerson of Lowell, Mass., a witness for the defense, testified that during the Civil war when he was about 17 years old his father who was captain of Co. K, 21st Mass. Volunteers, returned to his home in Worcester on a ten day's leave of absence and took with him a small trunk.

Mr. Denney was married in Worcester to Miss Emma Kelly and lived in the city until his father's death. Then he and his mother moved to New London, and resided in that city about a year when he moved to Norwich.

Samuel H. Sheldon, 55, of Central Village, died at his home at 159 Thursday morning of broncho-pneumonia. He was a veteran of the Civil war and a highly respected citizen of Plainfield where he lived for the greater part of his life. He died five years ago.

Mr. Andrew Hogan, widow of Andrew Hogan, for 55 years a resident of Norwich, died at her home at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Delos Thow at 22 Hickory street following a long illness. She was the mother of Mrs. John Fogarty.

Besides her daughter she is survived by two sons, John Hogan of Hartford and Eugene Hogan of Brooklyn, N. Y. There is a nephew, Ray J. C. Fogarty of Guilford. She also leaves several grandchildren.

John Bown, formerly of Norwich, died on Thursday at St. Vincent's hospital in New York after a two week's illness with pneumonia. Mr. Bown was born in Ireland 45 years ago. He was married to Catherine Bown. He came to this country when 3 years of age and resided in Norwich, Conn. 10 years when he went to New York to live. When in Norwich he was employed in the U. S. Fishining Company plant at Greenfield.

He was unmarried and is survived by four brothers, Daniel of New York, Jeremiah of Norwich, John of Norwich, three sisters, Mrs. Jeremiah Connors of Whiteville, Mass., Mrs. John Sullivan of Tanton, Mass., and Mrs. John McGreehey of Boston. Another sister, Mrs. Michael Haggerty died about 14 years ago.

Henry B. Latham, 79, died at the home of Arthur E. Shedd in Preston on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock following an illness of about three weeks. Mr. Latham has been in poor health for several months.

He was born in Lyndard but the greater part of his life has been spent in Norwich. He was married to Miss Buntice Hewitt of North Stonington about 55 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Latham had three children. Their wedding anniversary about five years ago, Mr. Latham died about four years ago. Mr. Latham left North Stonington about 19 years ago and has since then made his home in Norwich Town with the exception of the past few months when he has resided with Mr. Shedd in Preston.

He is survived by a son, Charles H. Latham, of Griswold, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services for Wilfred Bissonette were held Thursday morning from the home of his brother, Elmer Bissonette at 59 Franklin street with relatives and friends from Baltic, Northfield, Vt., and Taftville, attending. The services at St. Mary's church were conducted by Rev. William H. Kennedy and Henry J. LaFontaine was at the organ and sang the hymns. The choir consisted of the following: The bearers were Simos Therrien, Dana Semino, Charles Thibault, Charles Berger, Oreste and John R. Caron. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery where Rev. F. A. Kennedy read a committal service.

Wedding. Lino-Velente, Peter Lino of 138 North Main street and Miss Amanda Velente of 27 North Main street both natives of Greece, were united in marriage here on Monday by Rev. A. P. Purkiss, the religious pastor of the Central Baptist church.

This is the last wedding performed here by Rev. Mr. Purkiss as he left Tuesday for Dorchester, a suburb of Pittsburgh where he is to enter the pastorate of the Mount Lebanon Baptist church.

WANTS WOMEN PRISONERS

The preliminary report of the state board of charities for the fiscal years 1919 and 1920 has just been presented to Governor Lusk for transmittal by him to the general assembly. The report contains the following recommendations:

1. That the women prisoners at the Connecticut state farm be removed to the latter institution in properly equipped to care for them.

2. That sufficient appropriation be granted to the state farm for women to enable it to fulfill in more nearly adequate manner the purpose for which it was established.

3. That the Connecticut state school for boys be authorized to employ a sufficient number of agents to provide care, supervision and placement for the boys released from the school on parole.

4. That the Connecticut school for boys be removed to a suburban or rural location.

5. That the state board of charities be authorized to employ at least 25 agents of the public health nurse type to investigate homes and make application for homes to board children and to supervise the care of such children.

6. That an adequate appropriation be made to establish the proposed state institution for the care of diseased and incurable persons for whom no treatment is available in existing institutions, and for the poor from such towns as have no such institutions adequately equipped to care for them properly.

The report shows that there are in the state for the care of delinquent, defective and dependent persons 123 institutions, almost all of which come within the statutory supervision of the board. Approximately 57 of these institutions receive financial aid from the state.

The development of the state farm for women at Nautilus is reported as slow on account of the comparatively small appropriations granted to it so far by the legislature of 1917 and 1918. Notwithstanding these handicaps, the institution gives evidence of much good work accomplished in its efforts to regenerate the physically and morally and to arouse in them an interest in useful work.

Norwich Hospital Work. At the Norwich state hospital work has been well advanced upon the new psychopathic building for which appropriations were made in 1915 and 1917, and the new sanatorium building for tubercular patients is expected to be ready for use this winter.

Child Welfare Department. In reference to the work of the board's child welfare department in home care and child-placing for wards of the county temporary homes, the report makes a strong appeal that the present number of the supervisors in this department be increased to 10. Such an increase is necessary if any effective work is to be accomplished for the 1,100 children in the county homes and the 1,400 wards of homes who are living out with relatives or in foster-homes.

State School at Mansfield. The state school for the feeble-minded at Mansfield shows an increase in the daily average number of pupils present from 418 in 1919 to 599 in 1920. The report states that the average number of pupils present in the state school for the feeble-minded in 1920 was 610.6 for the Mansfield school and that a certain program of hygiene results maintained at Mansfield until there shall be total accommodations for at least 1,200 persons.
