PASSENGER FARES IN IOWA Washington, Jan. 24.—State passenger fares in Iowa must be raised to the same level as those prevailing in interstate commerce, the interstate commerce commission ruled today.

The commission said that the Iowa case was similar in many respects to the New York and Wisconsin cases on which similar rulings were made. The fares involved, which were to be raised on or before March 1, include a 20 per cent increase in passenger fares and a 50 per cent increase in Pullman rates.

Bliss Costs Money. An east end young man was calling on his adorable the other evening and it seemed to him that her parents permitted her to remain in a shop in an unconscionable hour, and no place but the parlor suited the young man. The result was that much of the evening had already been wasted.

"Yes, dear, that's a penny." "Well, maybe you'll be kind enough to tell me where there is a shop in which they sell anything for a penny." This very scornfully. And happiness was evidently not to be so easily bought.—Columbus Dispatch.

Gained 60 Pounds In a Few Weeks

ough was getting the best of him but he got rid of it quickly

"I had a chronic cough for a long time, in fact, it was getting the best of me. I could not find anything that would do me any good. A friend recommended Emulsion. The third bottle cured the cough completely, made my head and feet feel like a new man. Before taking your Emulsion I was down to 125 pounds and now I weigh 185 pounds. It doesn't seem possible that three bottles of Emulsion would cause a man to gain 60 pounds, but it is a fact."—William Gilton, R. F. D. No. 1, Chesley, Tenn.

COMPLAINTS LIGHTING SERVICE

General complaints of the service that is rendered to the citizens of Norwich by the municipally owned gas and electric plant have come to the Norwich Chamber of Commerce and are to be taken notice of through a committee which is a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors has authorized President Charles F. Wells to appoint. Announcement of the members of the committee is expected within a few days.

Criticism of the city's gas and electric plant are made that the price charged for both gas and electricity are too high and a municipally-owned plant is urged. There is special complaint too about the service that is rendered by the gas department of the plant in that the pressure is maintained at times so variable as to make the use of the city gas close to dangerous. There is also much complaint of the fact that comes from the gas.

The investigation, the Chamber of Commerce directors are bearing in mind that the Norwich Gas & Electric department labors under antiquated laws made possible by legislative action.

Local friends of Peter McIntyre, a well known horse man, have learned of his death at the American hotel, Lewiston, Maine. Mr. McIntyre, who had been in ill health for some time, succumbed to a complication of diseases on Monday afternoon, Jan. 22, at the age of 67.

His funeral was held Tuesday and the body was placed in the receiving vault at Auburn, Maine, and later the body will be laid to rest beside that of his wife at Newport, Me. His wish was to be buried beside his wife.

Mr. McIntyre was known to all followers of the light harness game as one of the cleverest developers of young racing material in his day.

He was about 64 years of age and was born in New York state. He came to his city home in 1911 and from that time until 1925 he followed the track. He was trained on the old Norwich track and it was on this track around that he received an injury that crippled him for life.

Mr. McIntyre's business interests were forced to give up racing. He went to Maine where he bought a farm and for years was a guide in the Maine woods.

Mr. McIntyre's family included a son, Mr. Fred McIntyre, who is now in the city, and a daughter, Mrs. M. J. McIntyre, who is now in the city. He was the last of his family.

SELF-DENIAL DAY TO AID SUFFERING ARMENIANS Today is self-denial day when as a result of sacrifice contributions may be made for the suffering Armenians. Near East money is being collected at the following places, from now through Thursday:

Miss Louise Peterson, Ring's market, announced at the same time that she has a public market under the name of the Norwich Public Market is to be opened about the middle of March in the big Thayer building store with meat, fish, fruit and vegetables, bakery, grocery, butter and candy and other departments. The entire store will be taken up by the market as the formerly announced idea of having stalls has been abandoned. The Public Market will be operated along the line of the Hartford and Providence public markets with a cold storage system running through all corners. There will be 8,000 square feet of floor space.

Mr. Ring will be manager of the Norwich Public Market. It was just a year ago Monday that Ring's market took the lease of the store it is occupying in the Thayer building and the past twelve months have witnessed a very successful business experience for the market with a constantly increasing business and enlarging list of customers for the progressive business management.

NIANTIC RIVER BRIDGE OPENED FOR TRAFFIC The Niantic river bridge over the Niantic river was opened Monday for traffic and will remain in operation for vehicular and foot traffic, although it is not yet finished and ready to be turned over to the state by the contractors. The request of the selectmen for the highway commissioners last week that the work on the bridge be hastened and the bridge thrown open for use had its effect, for the bridge was opened Monday morning and will remain open except during the time when motors are being installed for operation of the turn table, and during the test and inspection of the same.

The Niantic river bridge was started three years ago and a job was believed to take about six to eight months for completion is not done yet. All kinds of delays occurred during the past months in transporting sand and cement, and other delays, so that the bridge did not begin to assume shape until about a year ago.

Except for the passage of barges of coal for the Niantic Manufacturing company of Flanders, it is unlikely that the bridge will have to be opened, as most of the river's cargo is handled with it room to spare. The state highway commission will build up the road between the bridge and the mainland at the Niantic river bridge, a common level from the town line to the east end of the bridge. This will bring the highway almost to the level of the New Haven road tracks.

No plans have been made for a public celebration when the bridge is formally opened to traffic, but the selectmen of Niantic will try to make the selection of Westford and arrange for a party in May or June, making a holiday with special ceremonies.

VANADIUM PLANT AT GROTON SUFFERS BY FIRE

Fire of unknown origin did damage estimated at several thousand dollars to the Vanadium Metal Company plant in Groton early Monday evening. George H. Lowry, superintendent of the plant, said Monday night that he believes the insurance carried will cover the loss.

The fire was discovered about 7:45 o'clock Monday evening by the night watchman, T. P. Perry, who pulled in Box 134. The fire was in the pattern room at one end of the building. The Pioneer Engine Company of Groton was first on the scene and was followed by the Niagara of New London and the Komonomo also of New London.

The firemen fought the blaze for over an hour and a half before it was under control. The Niagara pumped water from the Thames river. At one time the fire threatened to spread to the plant of the New London Ship and Engine Company adjoining.

The north half of the metal plant was practically gutted. The building was erected in 1911 and was a brick and steel structure. The plant which employed about twenty men was engaged in manufacturing metal products for the New London Ship and Engine Company.

It is not known how the fire started as there was no fire in the part of the building where the blaze broke out.
