What is Going On Tonight Natchaug lodge No. 25, Knights of Pythias meets at 897 Main street.

With all honors befitting a soldier who gave his life for his country, the body of Private Arthur Hornimidas Dion, of Company L, 102nd Infantry, 26th Division, was laid to rest Sunday afternoon in Willimantic cemetery. Funeral services for Private Dion, who died December 28, 1918, at Base Hospital No. 34, Rancocas, Hants Marie, France, were held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of his parents, Antonio and Rosa Bobarge, Dion of No. 28 High street. From the house the body was conveyed to St. Mary's church, with a military escort. Members of the Willimantic YD Veterans' Association, men of the 26th Division, formed the escort. At St. Mary's church services were conducted in French and English by Rev. Fathers Ludovic Paradis, John E. Clark, Charles J. Kelley and James J. Tyler. Tributes to Private Dion were many. During the service special music was rendered by St. Mary's choir, assisted by Arthur Desbarnaud, Organist.

Following the service at the church the military escort formed again and headed by Wheeler's American band the funeral cortege moved to the Willimantic cemetery where committal services were read by Fathers Ludovic U. Paradis and James J. Tyler, assisted by Fathers Otto S. Beaumais, John E. Clark and Charles J. Kelley. As the body was laid to rest tape were sounded by William Gerry and a squad of YD Veterans fired three volleys over the grave of their comrade. The military service was in charge of Captain Dr. W. P. SO WEAK SO NERVOUS

How Miserable This Woman Was Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toombsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time, was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and could not do my regular work. My trouble was deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. P. Phillips, Toombsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates both husband and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous dependency, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter proves that no other remedy is so successful as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

attention and remained so until the cortege had passed from view. There was large attendance at the services, many coming from cities other than Willimantic. Among those who attended from out of town were Lieutenant Howard P. Mullins, of Brooklyn, N. Y., recently of Headquarters Company, Fifth Division. Lieutenant Mullins was with Private Dion at the last and before Private Dion's death promised to come to this city to tell the family how the brave comrade had met his death. When the body of Private Dion reached this country from France the promise to the "buddy" who had gone "west," was fulfilled.

The week-end passed quietly for the police and firemen, no arrests being made and no serious fires. At a recent meeting of A. C. Tyler Auxiliary, No. 14, held at the state armory on Pleasant street, the following were appointed delegates to the convention to be held in Waterbury June 3 and 4: Pose Paulhus, alternate, Ellen Lynch; Rachel Gallagher; alternate, Jane Ash-ton; Caroline Paulhus, alternate, Gertrude Jackson; Egan Paulhus; alternate, Ellen Lynch; Marion McCarthy; alternate, Nellie Cronin; Waddy Hoey, alternate, Katherine Joyce; Margaret Connor, alternate, Ellen Lynch. The color guard of the auxiliary is to be put on a drill at the convention and under the direction of Rose Paulhus the team is practicing for the work. A delegate has been appointed to assist the camp comrades in decorating graves on Memorial Day.

Manufacturing conditions in this city, except in a few instances, remain about the same as for several months past. The American Thread Company plant is operating some departments on a three-day week but this is said to affect but few of its employes. The outlook for the present is not very bright. The Quindick-Windham manufacturing plant, employing about 450 operatives is working only one week schedule. The Holland Silk Manufacturing Company with 185 employees is working full time, 48 hours per week. The Windham Silk Company beginning today working on a four-day week schedule. The plant will operate on the first four days of the week. The H. K. & W. A. Washburn Company with 250 operatives is operating 53 hours per week. The Rosine Velvet Co. with 250 operatives continues to run on full time, 48 hours a week. The Chaffee Manufacturing Company, and the Willimantic branch of the second Mill company are operating on full time. The Vanderman Poultry Company with 75 employees works but three days per week. The C. S. Box Company, which it is help and is running with night shifts.

Four cases were heard by Judge Frank H. Foss in the police court Saturday morning. Louis Stierlich of Lafayette was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a registration card had his case continued to Tuesday morning. Arthur D. Bourne 20, pleaded not guilty to operating his motorcycle without a driver's license. Probation Officer Elmer J. Young was appointed guardian ad litem. When stopped by the officer, Bourne's license was in his raincoat pocket and the raincoat was in the sidewalk. He forgot that the license was there and upon discovering it later reported the matter to the police. A fine of three dollars and costs was imposed, the fine being remitted. Bourne paid the costs of $1.15. James Foley, a familiar figure in court, was charged with being a common drunkard. Friday night after being locked up Friday took off his coat, shoes and socks, and started to build a bonfire, telling the police he was cold. He pleaded guilty and was given ninety days in jail. About a year ago he was in jail for a similar offense and has been in jail for vagrancy since that time.

In the continued case of Mrs. Eliza Palmer of Windham Center, charged with violating a scarf fever quarantine, the case was continued to Tuesday. Attorney P. J. Danahy, who explained the situation by stating that one of his clients' children was subject to periodical attacks of scarlet fever, and believing the boy was having another of these troubles, thought herself to be within her rights in leaving the house. The court stated that the importance of violating quarantine should be impressed and imposed a fine of five dollars and costs amounting to $10.75 which was paid.

The Salvation Army drive for $3,000, which they started last week, is to be continued by the local representatives of that organization. Thus far $200 has been raised. Adjutant Daisy Whipple and Captain Mary Colburn are doing the work of the organization in this city. It is coming in slow but it is expected that the people of Willimantic will remember the work of the Salvation Army, ladies while the boys were overseas. Windham has always met her obligations and when the Salvation Army drive is over there is no doubt that the quota of $3,000 will be reached.

Fredrick A. Durbine, one of Windham's native sons, now a general director in Vineland, N. J., has been elected commissioner in that borough. He will be in full charge of public works there.

The Willimantic Women's club is to hold its meeting Tuesday, May 17th at the Congregational church house at which time Mrs. Louise D. Baker of New York, national director of production for the American Red Cross, will speak. The public has been invited to hear Mrs. Baker.

Arthur Squires and Thomas Kelley, of South Coventry, were injured late Friday night when the motorcycle on which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole.

WESTERLY

A crowd of over 800 turned out Sunday afternoon at the first baseball game of the season and saw the Westerly Knights of Columbus team defeated by Hope Valley, 7 to 6.

Sherman, formerly of the Hartford club of the Connecticut league, did the writing for Hope Valley, and he was the master of the situation at all times, holding the locals to six scattered hits, striking out three, and not allowing a run. The game was pitched for the Kaceys, also served good ball, striking out 11 of the visitors. Although ten safe singles were made from his delivery, the game would have been lower if perfect support had been accorded him.

The score by innings: Westerly, 1 0 0 0 2 1 3 0—10 2 3 Kaceys, 7 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—7 1 6 Batteries—Hope Valley, Sherman and Langworthy; Kaceys, Kiernan and Sullivan. Umpire, Murphy.

The 5th annual fair of the Westerly Veterans' association closed Saturday evening with the largest crowd attendance ever assembled in the town hall. The various booths did a rushing business, and dancing proved to be especially popular. Music furnished by Mulligan orchestra.

The guests of the evening were the East Greenwich fire company and the Narragansett Steam Fire Engine company of Peace Dale. Preceding the opening of activities in the town hall, a street parade was held, led by Stennington fire and drum corps.

A class of 46 children, 30 boys and 16 girls, received their general education at 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church Sunday morning. The boys wore blue suits each wearing a white ribbon tied on the left arm, and the girls were dressed in white, with blue ribbons. The mass was celebrated by Rev. J. J. Keane, and his sermon was based on the text, "Suffer the Little Children to Come Unto Me, and Forbid Them Not, for of Such is the Kingdom of Heaven," from the gospel of St. Mark, 10th chapter, 14th verse.

STONINGTON

The Daughters of Isabella held a special meeting Sunday afternoon. Mrs. W. Congdon, substitute for the council president, presided at the session in borough hall. The candidates received the degrees conferred by the grand lodge of Westerly. Nina Council, K. of C., entertained the Daughters at their home on Main street. Sandwiches, coffee and other refreshments were served.

The Stonington Independents and the New London A. A. of New London, played here Sunday. Stonington won, 5 to 3.

The records of the town of Stonington which have been preserved about 20 years, or since the incorporation of the town in 1666, are in three large attics in the town clerk's office in the borough. The records are in excellent condition, as are also the records of the probate court and the assessors of taxes, all in the custody of Judge Elias B. Hinkley who has guarded these records for the town for many years. When the records are in excellent condition, the most faithful manner. The town clerk's office has for many years been located in a two-story frame building, and just before the war it was burned and replaced by a brick building. It is now adequate to care for the valuable records which are in the custody of the town clerk.

It is the desire of every citizen to have a fireproof building with modern fireproof vaults instead of ordinary steel safes to safeguard these valuable records. One of these safes has painted on the front a fine picture of the old Wadsworth house that stood in what is now known as Wadsworth square. This picture was painted by the late Mrs. John A. Burnham of Boston, Samuel D. Babcock of New York, and Courland P. Phelps of New York. When the building was raised many years ago the picture was given to the borough of Stonington for use as a public park with the stipulation that it should be so preserved forever and the picture of the picture portion of the land be set aside for a building for a circulating library and reading room. This building was erected and endowed by the late Erskine Phelps, a native of Stonington, who resided in Chicago.

Elias B. Hinkley, who has presided in the town probate court and cared for the tax records, has been town clerk for the town of Stonington for the past 30 years. All who have to visit the town clerk's office find him a most helpful advisor.

The promoters, Clifford Pendleton and Hartford, going to New York, who have been here in the interests of the Stonington freight line which is to be started as soon as the boat arrived report pledges of good patronage from Myrtle, Westerly and Westerly business concerns. Soundings of the depth of water were made Friday by the men in charge of the water at Oscar P. Pendleton's dock, where the steamers will take on and discharge their cargo.

Saturday being so rainy, the game between the Stonington High school and Norwich Free Academy team was postponed. At the Friday afternoon card party given at the Community House, twenty-three handsome potted geraniums were distributed to the bidders and raised $200 at the 25 cents. The net proceeds, about $46, are to go to Community hall.

A dance and social was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Wheeler, North road, Friday evening, when about 200 assembled. Music was furnished by North Stonington players on banjo and violin and square dancing was enjoyed. The social was given for the benefit of Stonington grange. Ice cream and cake was served.

REOLO BUILDS STRENGTH AND ENERGY

Are You Worn Out and Tired at the End of the Day?

To feel weary without having earned it by hard work throws the mind into disorder and confusion.

Too Weary to be Efficient

A hundred people describing their weary condition would each tell it differently. One can't think, another can't sleep, the next feels weak, others are irritable, moody, depressed, apprehensive, as the case may be. Most of these symptoms are the result of a depleted system. Reolo, one of the greatest reconstructive agencies ever devised for defective conditions, intensifies the activity of the vital processes, provokes increased blood circulation, contributes to the defense of the system against depletion and consequent exhaustion and in many other ways arouses the functional processes to make you feel that something has spark you thought was about to go out. No amount of description can adequately convey the difference between the feeling of lack of nerve and the feeling of Reolo. It is to sleep at the switch or stand still when the order is to go ahead. If you would really like to get acquainted with your real self get a 100 box of Reolo today. Your druggist can tell you about the wonderful results from Reolo that he has witnessed.
