CHILD KILLED BY AUTO IN THAMESVILLE

DRIVER SENT TO CRIME COURT

Matilda Burszycki, 3 1/2 years old, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Burszycki, of 235 West Thames street, was run over and instantly killed about 3:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon on West Thames street, opposite the corner of Dunham street, by an automobile driven by Everett A. Buckland, 21, of South Windsor, this state.

Mr. Buckland is to appear in the police court here this (Monday) morning to answer charges of reckless driving. According to some of the witnesses who were interviewed by the police after the accident, the Buckland car was traveling at speed which was looked upon as unsafe in approaching the corner of an intersecting street and this charge was entered against him.

D. J. Twomey after investigating the case. According to Mr. Buckland's account of the accident, he was driving his car towards Norwich and as he came near the corner of Dunham street, saw a little girl standing on the sidewalk to his right. He suddenly jumped off the curb into the street and started to track the child across the street in the path of his machine. He swung his car sharply to the left to avoid her but the front part of the machine hit and knocked her down and the wheel crushed her head.

He brought his car to a stop within 20 or 25 feet, he thought, and when he put sight of the body of the child, it lay by the front wheel of the car, the feet protruding over the east rail and the head in the middle of the road between the rails.

Mr. Buckland and Carl W. Buckland, of Perry, N. J., who was one of the party in the South Windsor car, rushed to a nearby house from which they telephoned a doctor. The police also were notified at the same time. Captain Twomey sent Officers J. J. O'Neill and Barney Keenan to the place as quickly as possible. Dr. J. W. Callahan and Medical Examiner C. C. Glidewell also reached the scene of the accident soon after it had happened. Dr. Glidewell is the undertaker. Huronian permission to take charge of the body of the child.

Officer O'Neill had Mr. Buckland drive his automobile to police headquarters where a preliminary investigation and examination of witnesses was made by Captain Twomey. Medical Examiner Glidewell, Coroner J. J. Desmond and Automobile Inspector George E. Bradford, of Norwich, were present.

Mr. Buckland was much affected by the unfortunate affair. With him in the car were his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Buckland, Miss Gladys Faehrer, and Everett Buckland, Jr.

A crash with an automobile driven by Samuel Ounparik of Uxbridge, immediately after the accident, the child was only avoided by Mr. Ounparik's quick driving. He was coming south on the right hand side of West Thames street when Mr. Buckland made the sudden switch to the left to try to avoid hitting the child. This brought the Buckland car almost dead ahead of the Ounparik car, with no room to turn to the right, so that Mr. Ounparik suddenly swung to his left and circled around the Buckland car. The right forward mudguard of the two cars just escaped hooking into each other by a fraction of an inch.

It was learned that the little girl and her mother had left their home with Mrs. Eline Toyonik, and Mrs. Anna Kenott, who each had a child with her, and had come to the corner of Dunham street to wait for the car for Uxbridge. The mother of the little girl was standing at the Dunham street crossing the street from where the little girl was when she started across to go to her mother. Mr. Burszycki, who keeps a garage at 235 West Thames street, had gone to Greenville and heard of the fatal accident after reaching there.

Matilda would have been 4 years old on September 12th.

REPORTS TO FARM BUREAU

ON CLOVER SEED TESTS

Professor J. S. Owens of Storrs college is recently sent to the New London County Farm Bureau office information on clover seed which should prove of value to the farmers of this country, says a statement issued Saturday at the Farm Bureau office in the Shanon building here.

The test of the clover seed is very noticeable in a number of fields that were sowed down that the clover started well last fall but that this spring there is hardly a clover plant to be seen in those fields.

Professor Owens states that some tests will be made at the college on clover seed samples taken in this state. Any farmer who has been sowing clover seed some clover seed left over are at liberty to call on the county agent to take a sample of this seed and have it tested at the college.

Many times the county agent and college specialist in Farm Crops are asked to explain what has happened to some farmer's clover field. Says Prof. Owens, after seed started in this country each year, the clover seed has been sown in sweet vernal and red top have taken the place of the clover. There will always be some mortalities in starting clover, but the only real cause of the loss is the importation of seed from southern Europe. During the past several months from 100,000 to 200,000 bushels of this seed have been imported into this country from India, Agricultural Experiment Station has just given us a report on a comparison of clover seed secured from several sources.

The test of pink and native seed of two lots of seed from Italy and native seed from Indiana, Ohio and South and North Dakota, sown on separate plots in wheat fields, has been made. The results show that a good stand was secured with the native seed and native seed, and their condition was much alike when winter set in. However, by the last week of April the Italian clover had died out completely, while the clover from native seed showed no winter-killing whatever, and was in splendid condition. Indiana farmers are also having experience which further prove the experimental results.

Imported clover seed is just as uncertain for Connecticut as for Indiana, and the experience of Connecticut farmers who have tried it in this country, and the other red showing Luther Burbank and his most wonderful development in flowers, fruits and vegetables.
