NORWICH BULLETIN WILLIMANTIC OFFICE Telephone 105 23 Church St.

What is Going On Tonight Obshetuck lodge, No. 14, L. O. O. F., meets at 8:37 Main street.

The weekly meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club was held Wednesday noon and was opened in the usual form with the singing of "America." Following the report of Secretary Charles W. Hill, George W. Hickey, of the entertainment committee stated that plans for the ladies' night or a Rotary picnic to be held some time in the latter part of the month were under consideration but nothing definite would be decided until all members could attend. It was announced that Maurice Leonard would have charge of the meeting to be held Tuesday, June 22, at noon. Almo J. Martineau will give a five minute talk. James B. Fullerton spoke of notice received from Mrs. Samuel Anderson, of the Connecticut company, stating that people in Willimantic who were anxious to keep the trolley service would do well to attend the meeting at the court house in Norwich Friday noon when the matter would be brought before the public utilities commission. If action taken is favorable to the trolley, it would mean better service on all lines including South Coventry-Willimantic line. A representative of that company was to present the company's side of the question before the Rotarians at the meeting, but no one had arrived.

The meeting was turned over to James F. Bath, chairman of the entertainment for the day, and he introduced F. W. W. Hill of Norwich, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., as the speaker. Mr. Hill's subject was "Vital Problems of the Day." Mr. Hill said in substance: If I were to name the Rotary club, give it any name other than the fitting one it now enjoys, I would call it "The Golden Order of Optimists." The way of the Christian, and the enjoyment he gets from its meetings makes Rotary the only organization anywhere so worthy of the name. There are no men better qualified to solve the problems of today, than the Rotarians. What are some of the problems? The first problem is the problem of the freemason. When we speak of freemasons we mean those who come to our shores, some of whom are of doubtful repute. These immigrants form into three groups. The first group welcome our civilization, quickly grasp our ideals, and to them we owe a great debt. The second group are those who are slow to grasp, to assimilate our ideals. They are ready to learn but it is hard, and with these we must be patient, for they will make good citizens. The third and worst group are those we want to beware of. When they leave their home countries they carry nothing but law or order. They resent authority, and they carry nothing for the idea of our country. This is a sore spot in our lives. We must see to it that in some way they are soothed out, we owe it to ourselves, our neighbors, and our country to take care that this element is greatly lessened in number and put out of existence.

The second big problem to be solved is the so-called Capital and Labor question, known as the Labor Problem. I believe that the workman should be paid a honest day's pay for an honest day's work. Labor should consider also that the man has put his capital into any business should receive a proper amount of earnings in return on that capital. A man who has been in eighteen countries to study this problem returns to America with the statement that the only solution is "The Golden Rule in Business." There has been wide practice in many shops that I know of and it has meant success for both labor and employer.

The third problem is the problem of the boy. One reason I was glad when Rotary came to Norwich was because I knew it was interested in boys. I believe that Rotary is tackling one of the most important problems of the day. Boys get discouraged, and how quick they are to feel good toward the man who shows interest in their welfare. Rotary has tackled this problem and the most important of all, the problem of the boy. Mr. Hill was given a fitting vote of thanks by the Rotarians for his interest in being willing to come to the local club and deliver his fine Rotary talk. The meeting adjourned at 1:30 o'clock.

Long before bullets were ever thought of as an ideal messenger of death, the idea of working evil on an enemy was extensively practiced by the Ojibwa Indian. He would make a small wooden image of the one whose destruction he sought, and then pierce its head or heart with a needle. He was positive in his belief that the object of his hate would be similarly affected. However, to make certain, he would burn the puppet to the accompaniment of magical words.
