GREENVILLE MAJORITY TAKES CONTROL OF WATER BOARD

At the organization meeting of the water board Thursday evening, with four of the five members attending, Hugh Blackledge was elected president, displacing Reuben S. Bartlett, who has been president. The four members of the board present were Mr. Blackledge, Edward Crooks and Patrick F. Bray, all residents of the Greenville section of the city, and Mr. Bartlett, who is a West Side man. Arthur E. Story, the fifth member of the board, was absent from the meeting.

Charles W. Burton was re-elected supervisor, Lewis R. Church, re-elected as cashier, Miss Mabelle E. Maloney bookkeeper, and James W. Semple inspector. Ewald R. von Hornig was elected auditor.

It is intimated in some quarters that the change of president is the result of Mr. Bartlett's opposition to a proposal made soon after Mr. Burton was elected to increase his salary from $1,800 to $2,000, and to other salary raises that were proposed at that time.

The question of raising the inspector's salary was brought up again at the meeting Thursday night. It is stated, but has been deferred for a time.

Mr. Bartlett, it is understood, has also aroused opposition in the board by his advocacy of economy in operating expenses in the coming months through dispensing with some of the three or four foremen who are drawing salaries of $1,750. The cost of operating the plant now, it is claimed, is not enough to call for the services of so many foremen.

PAIDMENTS FOR RECEIVER AND SHORE LINE COUNSEL

At the short calendar session of the superior court here Friday morning an order was passed that Receiver R. W. Perkins be paid $5,000 by the Shore Line Electric Railway company for services rendered for six months and that Attorneys Edward Day and C. B. Whittlesey be paid $2,500 each. The receiver was allowed to pay interest on bonds of the Groton and Stonington Railway company.

A bond of $75 was ordered in the case of Jennings vs. the city of Norwich. Receiver Perkins was allowed to transfer certain property to the city of Groton and Stonington Traction company to the Shore Line Electric Railway company.

In the case of Rose Mansfield of Stonington vs. O'Neill of Groton judgment was entered for $2,563.90 and costs of $72.33 for money loaned.

A number of matters were postponed and the others disposed of as follows: Clarence M. Shay vs. Niantic Menhaden Oil & Guano Co., receiver's application for permission to issue receiver's certificates to be secured by first lien on assets, granted; Balfour & Co. vs. J. London, pleadings ordered in three weeks; Delich vs. Taduzna Kosciolowski society, pleadings in two weeks; Kempton vs. Lillian N. Barron, pleadings in two weeks; Eastern tribe of Pequot Indians, annual account of Charles L. Stewart, overseer, judge took the papers; Lillian N. Barron vs. Thomas J. Moore, second order of notice, granted; D. Francesca et al. vs. Amantia, admr., et al., that the receiver be authorized to continue the business of the defendant Specialty company for four months from July 11, 1921, granted.

The railroads have co-operated with the national headquarters at Little Rock, Arkansas, and have made substantial reductions from all points of the country.

For their meritorious gallantry the Third Division earned the title given by the government of France, of "Marne Division." The Third Division which fought at Chateau-Thierry, lost more than three thousand three hundred killed in action or died of wounds, including wounded, the casualties were more than sixteen thousand killed, wounded and missing.

Jitney Drivers Press Claims For Licenses

The public utilities commission, C. C. Ewell presiding, met in session at the council chamber in the court house building Friday at noon for a hearing on the applications of four public service drivers, one to operate between Union square and the fair grounds, and four to operate between Norwich and Willimantic.

The hearing was held in compliance with a state law enacted by the general assembly at its late session.

John George of Norwich asked for permission to operate his public service car between Union square and the fair grounds. After hearing the matter Commissioner Ewell stated that he doubted this particular case, under the state jitney laws, but that the matter would be taken under consideration.

Attorney Day, counsel for the connection, followed by the application of Corporation Counsel Edwin W. Higgins of this city, opposed granting the application if the route covered would be the same as that covered by the ordinance of the city of Norwich.

The applications for permission to operate between Norwich and Willimantic were then taken up and Commissioner Ewell spoke for three of the drivers.

Commissioner Ewell questioned him regarding distance, speed, etc., and as to the route covered by the trolley cars. Mr. Griggs stated that the charge to Willimantic has been one dollar.

PLAUT-CADDEN CO. TAKES OVER FORAN FURNITURE STORE

Friday there was consummated one of the most important commercial deals of the year in this city. The Plaut-Cadden company of this city bought all the stock of Foran & Son of New London, and took over the business of the store where it is located. This stock includes only the undamaged furniture of the firm not touched in their recent fire, which had been stored in their shipping warehouse, one in the rear of Bank street, New London, together with the good will of the store.

Foran & Son are recognized throughout New England as being the leading dealers and contractors in the various lines of furniture, rugs, household furnishings and shipping supplies, having a reputation for handling only high grade merchandise and doing a very extensive business.

In acquiring this important enterprise the Plaut-Cadden Company are placed in a position to derive great benefit for its Norwich store as well as the new concern in New London getting the benefit of the Plaut-Cadden connection. It immediately becomes evident that the buying power for both of these two important concerns becomes greatly enhanced and consequently the large and varied assortment of goods which are bound to derive a great deal of benefit. It is the purpose of the Plaut-Cadden Company to put the New London organization on an absolutely up-to-date basis.

The new immense building on Bank street in New London, in the most up-to-date condition to facilitate suitable handling of furniture, rugs, household furnishings and other merchandise, at once. An organization will be maintained in New London even during the preparations for the opening of the great new store.

A store such as the Plaut-Cadden Company will maintain will be well received by the New London public who are already acquainted with the very satisfactory trading opportunities that the enterprise affords.

Immediate arrangements are being made to give the New London people access to the trading facilities that this enterprise affords. It is the result of 15 years of merchandising experience affords.

FOUR WIVES AND ONE HUSBAND GET DIVORCES

Five divorces which were on the uncontested list were granted by Judge Gardner Greene here in the superior court Friday.

Eva Parisaus Marcarselle of Griswold obtained divorce from Camille L. Marcarselle of Plainfield, whom she married March 25, 1913. She charged that he deserted her May 1, 1916. She was given the custody of an eight-year old daughter.

CLOTH THEFT CASES TO BE IN THE CITY COURT

The continued cases against several Norwich men and one woman accused of being in the chain of thefts of cloth from the mills in this vicinity and from freight trains will come up in the city court here this Saturday morning.

State's Attorney Hadlai A. Hull of New London is to be here to be associated with Prosecuting Attorney Lee Roy Robbins in handling the cases in the city court.

Friday night County Investigator W. E. Jackson, Special Officer Malinowski, Railroad Detectives Lewis and Rocona were here and went with Officer John Dombrowski to Thomsville where they arrested Michael Macuta in connection with the cloth thefts.

During Friday night also the local police brought in Mrs. Mags Lapouch of Greenville, who was arrested about a month ago and whose case is to come up this morning. It was understood that she was making preparations to leave the city and it was believed that she might leave before court time. She had been allowed her liberty after her arrest upon her own recognizance to appear in court at her small child's funeral to take care of her. Her husband has never been caught, having fled from the city as soon as he heard that the first of the alleged stolen goods had been located by the police.
