FIGHT OVER IRISH QUESTION AT THE A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

Discussion Was at Its Height When President Gompers Adjourned the Convention Until Today—Federation Goes on Record As Favoring Total Exclusion of All Orientals—Seamen's Union Commended For Refusing to Submit to the Alleged "Open Shop" Policy of the Shipping Board

Denver, June 21.—A bitter rhetorical fight over the Irish question was precipitated on the floor of the convention of the American Federation of Labor late today and was at its height when President Samuel Gompers adjourned the convention until tomorrow.

The debate started when the resolutions committee reported a substitute for the four resolutions introduced by Irish sympathizers. The substitute ignored the effort to initiate a boycott against British manufacturers and imports. The committee's report disposed of the Irish question by asking the convention to reaffirm its sympathy for the Irish cause, by urging recognition of the Irish republic and by urging trial and punishment for British army men guilty of atrocities in Ireland.

No sooner had the committee's report been read when Cornelius Foley, delegate from the Barbers' Union, took the floor, reading a telegram from Harry Boland, secretary to Eamonn De Valera, protesting against the Irish republic.

"The organization (American Federation of Labor) is looked on to do something for Ireland. We want the boycott nothing," he said.

Christian M. Madsen of the Chicago Federation of Labor then moved to amend the committee's report by adding a clause calling for a boycott by American labor against the British and other British companies as long as the British government maintains "its barbarous and destructive policy in Ireland."

A point of order was raised that this amendment could not be introduced because it was part of resolutions already rejected by the committee. President Gompers sustained the point of order and adjourned the convention until tomorrow.

The resolution reported by the committee was virtually identical with one submitted by the First Assistant Union leaders, headed by Peter Brady of New York, except that some of the more drastic phrases were omitted. The committee also struck out a paragraph demanding that President Harding recommend to congress take necessary steps to demand from Great Britain the defaulted interest and the loan due the United States and now used in part "to promote the brutal campaign in Ireland."

The resolution reaffirmed the action of the general convention in supporting the Irish people in their struggle for freedom and for recognition of the Irish republic; instructed federation executive officers and asked all national and international unions to urge the administration officials at Washington and all members of congress immediately to pass legislation recognizing the Irish republic; provided for the sending of a special communication to the British premier, his cabinet and members of parliament, a protest against the "campaign of violence in Ireland," instructed federation officers to take up with trade unions of Great Britain her colonies and dominions a proposal to inaugurate a campaign for the trial and punishment of members of the British regular and auxiliary forces guilty of atrocities in Ireland in a manner similar to that in which German officers now are being tried and punished for violation of the rules of warfare in France and Belgium.

The labor union for contribution equally to production and therefore are equally entitled to the profits of industry was the doctrine advocated by Glenn E. Plumb of Chicago, author of the Plumb plan for railroad nationalization, in an address before the convention.

Angell, who will be inaugurated tomorrow as president of Yale university.

"The university as they found it, was such hardly more than in name, but under President Hadley's leadership, it has become a recognized force in the educational life of the nation," the resolution says.
