

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

The long period of dry weather that marked the month of June was broken by a real soaking rain storm that came out of the northeast and continued during Thursday after starting on Wednesday evening with a series of thunder showers.

Southward from the Franklin street crossing the main line track of the New Haven road has been reconstructed. Quantities of gravel that have been used have covered the ties, giving the road bed a peculiar appearance.

In connection with plans to build a state road easterly from a point two miles east of the borough to Little Rest, attention is called to the fact that the old stage coach route came down past what is the Old Furnace, over Christian hill and thence through Franklin street to Main and on to Brooklyn and Hartford. Two of the taverns that lined this route and provided resting places for travelers still stand within the borough limits, one on Christian hill, at the junction of Broad and Franklin streets, one on the corner of Franklin street near the junction of Franklin and Water streets.

Fox hunters are getting information at first hand and reports from others tend to indicate that the best fall and winter season is going to furnish some good sport in this territory. Some foxes are quite numerous and recently as many as three of them have been seen on one of the much traveled highways of the town and others in nearby territory.

Coroner Arthur G. Hill has made the following appointments as medical examiners in Windham county: Killiney, Dr. George M. Burroughs of Danielson; Brookline, Dr. A. H. Tanner; Plainfield, Dr. J. H. C. Dyer; Canterbury, Dr. W. Adams of Moscow; Putnam, Dr. E. A. Morrill; Thompson, Dr. C. C. Dyer; Pomfret, Dr. S. B. Deane; Ashford and Eastford, Dr. Frank B. Converse; Waterbury, Dr. Charles H. Hammen; Dr. Louis E. Mason of Williamstown; Woodstock, Dr. E. B. Pike.

The town court will give attention on Saturday to an assault case that comes out of East Killiney and which has been of very general interest in that community. A church season allées in a complaint that he was set upon and robbed.

A new building on the Davis property, next to the Burrows property, on Railroad square, will run through to Water street. Excavations that are being made will eventually cut away an embankment and bring the property to be built upon down to the present street level. One old dwelling that has stood upon its present location for a period varying from 75 to 100 years will disappear in connection with the changes and improvements that are contemplated.

PUTNAM

Nelson Lown, Grove street, and John Moss, South Main street, are spending this week in Juniper Point, Me., where Mrs. Lown and Mrs. Moss are visiting Mrs. Moss' mother, Mrs. John W. Russell at the Russell summer home.

Leon T. Wilson and family, Sunnyside, left Putnam Thursday morning for Pleasant View, R. I., where they are to spend a few days.

M. Gould Beard who was the guest over Wednesday night of his aunt and Uncle, Miss Emma J. Kinney and Elbert Kinney at Center street, left Putnam Thursday afternoon for Derby where he will be the guest for a day with his grandfather. He enters the University of Michigan on Tuesday.

Miss Annie Haskell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Haskell, is spending two weeks with relatives in New York City.

Miss Edith Geeson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Geeson, street, is spending the summer with her parents. She is a graduate of the department of home economics of Lasalle seminary.

Because of rain the putting contest for the ladies of the Putnam club Thursday afternoon was postponed until next Thursday. Mrs. Arthur S. MacDonald who was to have been in charge this week will make the arrangements for the match next Thursday.

George E. Shaw who attended the meeting of the New England Jewelers' Guild Association at Pittsfield, Mass., won the prize for the lowest net score. He was presented a blood stone seal ring.

Dr. Harold Foster of New York, who spends his summer in Putnam, will hold a clinic in July at the Day-Kimball hospital for the removal of tonsils and adenoids. Dr. Foster has given his services similarly in past years.

Judge Reed, as state referee, has filed a report recommending a divorce for Mrs. Annie Forswick of Manchester from Frederick L. Forswick. Mr. and Mrs. Forswick were married in Putnam on February 23, 1918. Judge Reed had heard the case Monday in Hartford. Forswick was charged with adultery, and a letter was introduced into the proceedings in which he admitted that he was the father of a child born to a Manchester woman. Judge Reed also recommends that Mrs. Forswick be allowed to resume her maiden name of Cairns.

As yet the Putnam police have not discovered the identity of the three men who on Saturday night were seen to break a glass in a display frame in front of the Victory theatre. A resident of a nearby house saw the act, but before

Bar Harbor are now being run through here every night as the northward rush of travel to Maine summer resorts reaches its height. The heaviest travel northward of the entire summer season is looked for at the holiday period that is just ahead.

The end of the month that opens today will bring the end of the fiscal year of the town of Killiney. While the annual reports will be awaited with interest, taxpayers are chiefly concerned with the hope that readjustments in prices and costs that have been going on for more than a year will permit of fixing at least a slightly lower tax rate during the coming fiscal year.

"We are going to Jersey to see Dempsey Win" read a placard on a Massachusetts automobile, loaded with sports fans, that hummed through Danielson on Thursday. As an observer remarked, "It's great to be so certain of the future."

At the Methodist church in Attawapung Thursday afternoon at 11 o'clock, Miss Margaret Caffery of that place and Harold L. Collins of Hopkinton, R. I., were united in marriage. Miss Caffery during the school year that recently closed was a teacher at the Green Hill school in the town of Plainfield.

Notwithstanding the many efforts made by the railroad company to prevent persons crossing the tracks of the road through the town of Putnam, and though a great effort has been made in an effort to stop the practice, which has been checked in very material degree, there are a few who still persist in violating the restrictions.

Dealers say that sales of fireworks have not been brisk of late but they expect a rush of buying in these lines today and tomorrow. Many youngsters have been engaged at various odd jobs this week in an effort to get funds to put into a noisy demonstration of the Fourth.

Up to Thursday afternoon no word had come through from Hartford as to the decision of the public utilities commissioners on the matter of granting permits for the operation of bus lines in competition with the trolley road. Attorneys representing the buses, say they have no knowledge as to when the decision may be expected.

Jury commissioners of Windham county are to meet at Putnam within the next few days to draw jurors for the year beginning September 1. The names of 120 Killiney men are on the local list. Charles S. Hyde of Brooklyn is a member of the jury commission for this county.

Very few persons from towns in this county have not been brick bats during the Dempsey-Carpenter match at Jersey City Saturday afternoon. There is much interest, however, in the outcome of the affair.

The supply company of the 18th artillery will drill as usual on Tuesday evening of next week. Under the new regulations companies of the national guard in Connecticut must have at least 48 drills a year. In the past it was the rule to suspend drilling during the summer months, but this is no longer permitted. Captain Armstrong has plans for having the company spend some time on the company range south of the borough. Target practice cannot be undertaken as yet, as the company has not been outfitted with rifles, though there is plenty of ammunition at the state armory here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burrows are occupying their cottage, The Only One, at Oakland beach, for the summer season. Mr. Burrows returning here each week-end to give attention to business affairs.

Today brings the opening of the bass fishing season and numbers of followers of the sport have planned to be out trying their luck.

Adolph C. Gaspard of Lowell was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Thursday.

State Officer Howard E. Elliott left here Thursday for Hartford, from where he will motor to Jersey City to see the Dempsey-Carpenter match.

The postoffice will be open only holiday hours on Monday, the Fourth, and there will be the usual restricted delivery service. No money order or postal savings business is to be transacted. The first ripe tomatoes grown out of doors this season in this territory have been displayed.

The police could be notified the trio had run up Main street.

Arvid M. Westling and Gertrude A. Thiel, both of Westfield, Mass., were married Tuesday by Attorney Archibald Macdonald, Jr., acting as justice of the peace. The groom, who has his birthplace as Sweden, is an artist.

A copy of a wedding certificate returned Thursday to Town Clerk David Flagg from Norwich shows that on May 27 Charles F. Donahue and Susie Simmons, both of Putnam were married in Norwich by Rev. Charles E. Sandford.

The reinstatement on Thursday made it necessary to postpone the picnic of St. Philip's church which was planned for Roseland park, Woodstock. Joseph B. Blair, the new operator at the Victory theatre, taking the place of Donald Brown who left last week because of the illness of his wife in Providence.

The public utilities commission will hold a hearing at Elliott's railroad station Saturday concerning the proposal of the New Haven road to eliminate this stop except as a flag station.

All indications point to the fact that Putnam will have a safe and sane Fourth celebration next Monday. Only three permits to sell fireworks and explosives have been issued by Mayor A. J. W. Marcy, and these dealers report that business is unusually light. The Fourth will be the first under the new ordinance that regulated the celebration of the holiday, which was passed by the city council last July following the outbreaks on a Fourth last year in which various kinds of hoodlums were rampant. The new ordinance prohibits the use of firecrackers over three inches in length and one-half inch in diameter. Toy pistols of any kind are prohibited but torpedoes over three-quarters of an inch in diameter are under the ban.

Capital John Bulger stated Thursday that every man on the police force will be on duty during the holiday, and that the new ordinance, particularly those relating to blank cartridges, will be vigorously enforced. The captain is determined that the scenes of last year shall not be re-enacted.

Plans for private parties and picnics have been made. At the country club there will be a golf match, the morning followed by a buffet lunch at the club house at noon. In the afternoon there will be a putting contest with mixed foursomes on the links. The Nightingale team, which has been playing two games scheduled with the New Bedford team. Both will be played on the Putnam grounds. The Sunday school picnic of the Methodist church will be held at Green's grove in a picnic basket lunch at noon. The Baptist church will hold its picnic at Roseland lake. No municipal celebration of any kind has been planned in connection with the holiday, and ball games, dances and golf matches at Putnam will not lack for entertainment.

Funeral services of David Edmond Clark, 85, who died Sunday at his home in Putnam, will be held at 11 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. John T. Soudard, pastor of the Putnam Baptist church, of which Mr. Clark was a member, officiating. Burial was in Grove cemetery. Mr. Clark has been a trustee of this cemetery for more than 20 years. The bearers were members of the Baptist church, Clarence Fierstone, Leonard Windham, Carl W. Durfee and Moses L. Aldrich.

Louise R. Griggs, 89 widow of Theodore Griggs, died Thursday morning at her home in Eastford. She had been in poor health for some time.

James P. Jackson, 27, an ex-service man of Pomfret, died at his home there Wednesday night. He was 49 years of age. Word was received in Putnam Thursday morning of the death in Providence on Wednesday of Mrs. Donald G. Brown, wife of Donald G. Brown of Putnam. Mrs. Brown whose home was in Westerly, was married last September and for some time made her home here.

Beginning early Wednesday night and continuing until Friday morning, a rain came down in torrents in Putnam, while farmers, who have been hoping for storms to water the crops, and anglers, who wished to see the connection between unqualified delight in commenting upon the rain Thursday morning, Frank L. Davis, agent of the Farmers' Association, and familiar with agricultural matters throughout Windham county, said that the storm undoubtedly would do much good throughout this part of the state.

A man answering the description of Arthur Burgess, or Bulger, wanted by the state police in connection with the murder at South Norwalk on June 7 of Joseph Parsons, was held by the authorities at Putnam police station Wednesday night. The man who gave his name as Fred Minor, and has age as 49, was taken into custody late Thursday afternoon by State Policeman Howard Elliott who notified him as he was riding on the Danielson-Putnam highway, near the Grove street cemetery. Elliott took the man to Putnam police headquarters, and then notified the office of the state police in Hartford. Minor told Elliott and Captain Blair that he is an itinerant weaver. According to his story he has been in Yantic, employed in a mill there. He went to Yantic from New York. His story was straight and he gave a good account of his whereabouts during the past few weeks, which convinced the officers that this was not the man for whom the police of the entire state are on the lookout. Minor was allowed to go Thursday morning.

Dr. G. P. Perley, Dr. George McClellan, Henry Joy, Gardner Summer, Woodstock, John Stromberg of Abington, John Buell of Abington and W. H. Darrow, fruit specialist from Connecticut Agricultural College, Storr, accompanied Frank L. Davis, agent of the County Farmers Association on a trip to Rhode Island Wednesday at which time visits were made at the fruit farms of Thomas and Nicholas Windsor, Greenfield, and the Farmers' Exchange at Providence visited.

William S. Johnson, Church street, who passes his winters at Tampa, Florida, has returned to his home here. Mr. Johnson is always enthusiastic about the southland as a winter resort, but he likes to get back to Connecticut for the summer months.
