DANIELSON

Spague (otherwise Harry, in Connecticut) Memnik furnished the interest at Tuesday morning's session of the town court. Harry had been driving his silver while he was intoxicated, and such practice is extensively frowned upon by the courts these days.

Asked if he had money to pay a fine Harry frankly admitted that he had, adding brokenly that he hoped they would leave him enough to buy a little gas. Harry's whole attitude underwent an abrupt and decided change from blubbering to responsibility, however, when the court informed him that the assessment would be a $10 fine for having been intoxicated and $100 fine, with costs, for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, a total charge of $112.45.

Harry just crumpled up at that and said that he was not possessed of that much coin of the realm, whereupon Judge Woodard told him he would have to go to jail, whereupon Harry said he thought he could get the money, which he did eventually, and then sadly wended his way to the garage where his silver had been impounded.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Crowell and Herbert J. Bassett are to leave today for California. Mr. and Mrs. Crowell are residents of North Sterling. It is likely that the tourists will be absent from Danielson until spring.

More prosecutions were promised Tuesday of persons who transgressing the quarantine regulations for dogs. The quarantine is to be rigidly enforced in Danielson and some court actions are promised because some have elected to disobey.

It was finally decided on Tuesday to make an important change in the route of the new state highway through Danielson and South Killingly. Under this change the present highway will be abandoned at a point near what is known as the Burquit cottage and the new state highway will follow a route across a big open field in the rear of the Meadow Brook Inn and rejoin the present route near the residence of Edward Hall at the foot of the Dig hill leading into South Killingly.

William Bennett, who was manager here for the S. N. E. T. company nearly a score of years ago, was a visitor in Danielson, Tuesday, accompanied by his son, William, a medical student at Tufts college. The senior Mr. Bennett is remembered as the live wire manager of the Danielson league basketball team that swept all before it in the days when professional basketball was engrossing the attention of all of the towns here.

Selectman Leon Walker of the town of Thompson said Tuesday that he has received several applications from responsible persons who would like to adopt the child which is still at the Kimball home where it was taken after it was found abandoned by the roadside and where it will remain, it now appears, until after the courts dispose of the case against the mother. The circumstances surrounding the abandonment of the child have created widespread sympathy for the little tot, and he is assured of a good home with some of the applicants for his care no matter what becomes of the inhuman mother who abandoned him.

According to a report on the accident received by Sergeant George Laird, the Smith car was proceeding with the motorcycle trailing when Smith slowed down to pass another car standing beside the highway while a tire was being changed. Smith told the police that he tried to stop, but this did not prevent the Senay machine, which was close behind, from becoming involved in a rear end collision with the motorcycle which was being swerved in order to avoid such a happening. The motorcycle and its sidecar were tipped over.

In winning the honors for the day Mr. Wheaton made one round of the course in 42 and one round in 39, both regarded as remarkably good scores.

Alphonse Bouteier, former chief of the fire department, chucked Tuesday morning as he recalled how on the preceding day he had kidnapped two full grown people—a bride and groom by the way—and then them down to Danielson in a light motor truck that he had nicely curtained in so as to escape observation by the police, who did not get an inkling of what was going on.

Mr. Bouteier says, until the dark deed, committed in broad daylight, had been fully accomplished. The kidnapping stunt was pulled off in the Providence street section of the city and as a matter of fact was evidently regarded as an experience highly favorable to them by those who were kidnapped and saved from the designs of relatives and friends who had planned a merry bazing for them.
