DANIELSON

A decision favorable to Mrs. May Killian, of Elmville, have been handed down by Judge Malbie of the superior court in the cases of Peter Holden and Jack Hazzard vs. May Killian and in the case of May Killian vs. Peter Holden.

These cases were tried in Williamstown on the 22nd of October. The testimony of Mrs. Killian was given on the 22nd of October, 1918, before the court. The testimony of Peter Holden was given on the 23rd of October, 1918, before the court.

James Killian of Worcester, son of Mrs. Killian, son of Mrs. Killian, was driving the Killian car, while Holden was in charge of the other machine. Mr. Holden is engaged in business in Danielson.

Excerpts from Judge Malbie's decision in passing upon the cases are as follows: The evidence in these cases fairly preponderates, I think, in favor of the Killian car. Of the two eye witnesses aside from the parties, I attach little weight to the testimony of J. Holden. While I think that of Gaultier is wholly honest in intent, it bears to be indications of constructive imagination; for instance, his field of vision in the direction from which the Holden car was coming was extremely limited by the building on the corner, yet he attempts to tell in some measure the course of the Holden car before the accident, and to describe the accident itself, for him to have seen it must have occurred, as, in fact, he says he did, almost at the very corner, and the course of the Holden car was as Holden claims it was. I do not see how the car could have been at the spot where there is substantial agreement they finally were. And I attach considerable weight to Killian's testimony as to the track, even upon the spoken testimony, the balance favoring the Killian car.

And, instead of the position of the car after the accident corroborating Holden, I think it corroborates Killian. The only claim wholly made by Mrs. Killian is the cost of repairing the car and the loss of its use, and, as to the latter, no evidence was offered. This would fix her actual damage at $155, with interest from the date of the accident to a total of $172.22. She asks to have these damages doubled or trebled; but I am doubtful whether Holden was under the influence of liquor, and I cannot find that he was wantonly or so grossly negligent as to make it just to give enhanced damages.

Another invitation recommended by Postmaster General Will H. Hays likely will be tried out at the Danielson post-office—the installation of a public agency telephone in the lobby. Postmaster Raymond Allen, following his superior's suggestion, has already taken the matter up with the telephone company.

Another new line of effort to be introduced here in connection with the postal service will be the making of a "post office" for missing mail. It is explained that it is the desire of Mr. Hays that the machinery of the postal department be made available to those who are searching for missing mail. It is explained that it is the desire of Mr. Hays that the machinery of the postal department be made available to those who are searching for missing mail.

East Killian's Monday morning was within the ice belt where so much recent damage was caused by a sleety northeast storm. Up in that corner of the town, high on the hills, ice covered everything and it was only with difficulty that many who got to their work during the early morning hours. Trees and brush were laden with ice that they drooped over and hung low down over the highways.

Telephone service in the Danielson division was not interrupted by the storm. The Ladies Aid society of the Brooklyn Congregational church is to present the Pilgrim pageant at the Westfield Congregational church on Friday evening. A Red Cross bazaar will be held in town hall December 5, instead of December 3.—adv.

William C. Howard of Portland, Me., was a visitor with friends in Danielson Monday. Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Witter were in Providence Monday on a business trip. State Officers Howard A. Elliott of Hartford was in Danielson Monday on business. Miss Ruth Francis returned to Cushing Academy at Northampton, Mass., Monday after spending the holiday recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Francis.

Members of the Benevolent society of the Congregational church have an all day meeting planned for Friday to make arrangements for Christmas plans. Two dogs were killed at the week end by motorists hitting the high spots along the new state highway between Brooklyn and Hampton.

PUTNAM

All the territory north and northwest of this city was reached in ice Monday morning as the result of one of the worst storms of the kind experienced at this season in many years.

Worcester and Webster were cut off from communication by telephone with this city and with all points in eastern Connecticut as the result of poles and wires going down under the load of ice and snow clinging to them, or as the result of limbs falling from trees and breaking down the wire system.

Right here in the territory of the Putnam division of the S. N. E. T. company the ice storm played havoc with the telephone service, breaking poles and wires, while trees and limbs falling or bending under the weight of ice did more damage to the telephone lines. Additional "trouble" men from points as far south as Norwich and New London were called into the Putnam territory in an effort to hurriedly straighten out the tangle, which was worst in this immediate vicinity in Pomfret, the Woodstocks and Thompson.

While Putnam was getting stuck during the hours of Sunday night, a rise in temperature resulted in the streets and walks being freed from ice Monday morning, but only four or five miles outside the city to the north and northwest the weather continued to include sleet blown in on the wings of a northeast storm.

Automobiles that arrived in Putnam from Worcester during the forenoon hours of Monday were covered with snow, and the drivers declared that the storm in the Massachusetts city was one of the worst on record for late November.

Nearly 450 telephone subscribers were reported as having been cut out of service in the Putnam division, which includes Pomfret, Woodstock and Thompson, by the ice storm. Between Worcester and Boston great steel towers carrying high tension lines snapped and broke up under the load of ice frozen to them. Motorists who went into territory anywhere to the north of Putnam soon found themselves facing trying conditions, in some cases chains did not prevent cars from sliding about on highways that were as smooth as glass. Limbs were down and blocking highways at other points.

The Connecticut company, having bucked the ice all night long in order to save their line from being broken, were rewarded Monday morning by being able to keep their cars running regularly and on time right through to North Groves-ordale, and there was no delay in service until the noon hour, when broken limbs that came down at Mechanusville interfered with the service for a few minutes and threw the cars off schedule time.

While the effort to keep the line open was being made during the late hours of Sunday night and early Monday morning the car crews had a time of it. With two trolley poles up the cars managed to scrape enough ice off the overhead wires to allow of operation, but so much power was required that the interiors of the cars were left in darkness. At times the overhead wires were covered with approximately one-half inch coating of ice. During the forenoon hours of Monday the roofs of the cars were covered with a deep with sleet and ice falling from the overhead wires.

Comparatively few motoring accidents were reported as the result of the storm. The great majority of the cars adopted the wise policy of staying to their garages as quickly as possible and leaving their machines there. Those who found it necessary to stay out during Sunday night operated with extreme caution. Some Massachusetts automobile parties abandoned efforts to get to their home towns Sunday night and remained in this city.

A minor accident here involved the crashing of a motor car head-on against the west side of the New Haven road station, the car sliding up over the station walk and into the side of the building when the brakes failed to stop the machine on the icy going. The headlights of the machine were broken and other damage done to the forward end of the car.

Out on the Chepachet route to Providence from this city the highway was a glare of ice for miles between the Connecticut-Rhode Island line and Chepachet and trees were bent down under the coating of ice so as to make car operation extra hazardous. One Rhode Island car that came through brought a driver who said the trip was one of the worst in his experience.

While this city was comparatively free from ice during Monday, the ice-covered territory extended as far west as Hampton and on the east to East Killingly, another of the points that was hard hit.

There is interest here in the following item that appeared in a Hartford paper: Recently for one of the officers, Charles C. Buell, Harvard quarterback of Hartford, and W. N. Mistry of Memphis, Tenn., Yale fullback, have been chumming around together in Hartford in the role of host and guest. One of the figures in Harvard's victory over Yale, entertained Mistry over Thanksgiving. Both prepared for college at Pomfret school, where each was a member of the football team. One of the figures in Yale, while the other selected Harvard, but they have always kept in close touch with each other and maintained their chummy friendship.

A Ford touring car owned and operated by Julian White over on Sunday night in Thompson, just over the line from Putnam, injuring Mrs. White so that she had to be removed to the Day Kimball hospital. Other passengers in the car were reported as being uninjured. The top of the machine was broken and the car otherwise damaged in the accident.

J. M. Whittlesey, dairy commissioner, is to be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the William County Farmers' association in this city Friday next. Commissioner Whittlesey's presence is expected to largely increase the attendance at this meeting, which will be representative of the county.

Sessions of the grading schools of the city were resumed Monday morning after the Thanksgiving recess which began last Wednesday afternoon. Latest figures show that Kimball hospital deficiency fund are given as $7,253. The amount set for the fund is $10,000. Freight trains that came into this city from the north during Monday were covered with snow and sleet, showing how much more severe the weather was 20 miles away than in this city.

Mrs. George E. Dresser has presented a food truck to the Day Kimball hospital and the gift is greatly appreciated by those in charge of the institution. Miss Lucille Beaudryard has returned to Pawtucket, where she is attending school, after spending a vacation period with her relatives in this city.

Secretary I. H. Healey of the state board of agriculture has been in Chicago attending a national meeting of commissioners and secretaries of agriculture from many states in this union. Monday, Dec. 5, brings the biennial city election, and the polls will be opened at 6:30 a. m. in the municipal building. Christmas trees, toys, games and many other suggestions of the holiday season that is just ahead are now on display to be seen in Putnam's show windows.

Putnam High school will open its basketball season by playing its first league game of Dec. 13 with Woodstock academy in this city. The T. H. S. schedule of games for the basketball season is practically filled. Rev. Richard LaRue Swain of Bridgeport is giving a series of lectures evenings this week at the Baptist church in this city, the first of these lectures given on Sunday evening.

A camera club has been formed at the high school, and arrangements are made each month for the best snapshots taken by members of the club. At automobile accessory stores in this city Monday the big demand was for tire chains and extra sets of tires. The mill at Bethel has been shut down for several weeks and most of the help are employed elsewhere.

For the man who has set his mark at $5,000 to $10,000 a year who isn't necessarily out of a job but is looking for a bigger, more independent job. I have a sales executive position in exclusive Connecticut territory. The man who can qualify must show evidence of sales experience, know how to cooperate fully with modern sales and advertising methods, realize the value of service to dealer and consumer and be able to finance a service station and initial quantity of product.

Grant of Riverport, R. I., have been visiting Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cornell, and his family. Thomas Kennedy of Boston, a former resident here, visited local friends Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. John Trainor of Providence spent Thanksgiving with their son, Harold Trainor, and his family. Mrs. George Fortin and daughter Arlene have returned from the Backus hospital, Norwich, where the latter underwent a minor operation. Mrs. Carrie Carr, who has made her home at her uncle's, William Simmons', for the past year, will go to Providence to keep house for her sons, George and Harold Carr, who formerly attended high school here. Mr. and Mrs. Simmons leave Thursday for Norwich to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. John E. Vaughn, and her family. Mr. and Mrs. L. Howard Cross attended the funeral of a relative in Williamstown Friday. Miss Mildred Jenkins has been at her home in Salem, Mass., for a few days. Rev. Mary Macomber, pastor of the Congregational church, appreciated the thoughtfulness of the church people who sent her a basket of fruit as a Thanksgiving remembrance.

GIRLS Before that auto ride protect your skin from sunburn or windburn with a liberal supply of that ever-popular beautifier, Derwillo, immediately, on returning, cleanse the skin with Liska cold cream, and it will feel so comfortable as if you had remained at home. Just try them and you will be astonished at the wonderful results they give. Your skin will be as soft as velvet and your complexion as beautiful as a rose. Remember, it's Derwillo and Liska cold cream. There are some counterfeits, but no real substitutes. Get what you ask for or take nothing, then you won't be disappointed. Miss Ida Pintarelli Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples "Pimples broke out all over my face and kept getting worse. They were hard and red and scaled over, and itched and burned a great deal. My face was terribly disfigured, and I could not sleep. I tried different remedies without success. I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and found great relief, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Ida Pintarelli, 20 Simmons St., Providence, R. I., Jan. 12, 1921. Keep your skin clear by using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for every-day toilet purposes and Cuticura Talcum to powder and perfume. Bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Before bathing, touch pimples and itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment, dry and dust lightly with Cuticura Talcum, a powder of fascinating fragrance.
