

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Joseph William Warren, 77, was found dead lying outside the door of his barn in the Maebuck district early Wednesday morning.

Indications are that Mr. Warren lay near the door of the barn from probably 6 or 8 o'clock Tuesday night until shortly after daylight Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Warren was under the impression when Mr. Warren did not arrive home at about the usual time he was to be expected that he might possibly have been delayed at a blacksmith shop awaiting the shoeing of his horse.

trip. The storm had disabled the telephone line, so Mrs. Warren was unable to ascertain by this method as to whether Mr. Warren had remained in Danielson.

She did not hear his team as he drove in, nor was he aware that he lay near the barn with his horse standing near by throughout the night.

Mr. Warren was one of Killingly's oldest citizens. He was born in Gloucester, R. I., a son of Lester R. and Elizabeth (Arnold) Warren. For 25 years he was a school teacher in Killingly and many men and women now grown to manhood remember him as their instructor at the Killingly Center school.

He had lived for years on the place in the Maebuck district of the town, about three miles from Danielson, where his death occurred.

He was married to Mrs. John Bateson of Wauregan. The late Dr. M. S. Warren, who practiced dentistry in Danielson, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren.

Plans being made of the siren of the borough's fire alarm telegraph system Wednesday afternoon again brings to mind the hazard that Danielson is accepting in relying wholly on one siren for sounding fire alarms.

Chief Engineer A. E. Woodard has called attention to on numerous occasions in the past.

The siren in use is located on the Main street plant of the Connecticut Mills company, a plant that is closed at present and where only a light head of steam is kept on the boilers.

Failure of the siren to properly sound an alarm means in effect that the entire fire alarm telegraph system of the borough would be rendered impotent, and this might mean a disastrous fire loss that otherwise might not have occurred.

Numerous citizens believe that an auxiliary siren should be installed by the borough, these citizens favoring a plan that has been advocated for some time past. The plan is for the borough to purchase a compressed air plant and siren to be installed at the central fire station.

In case the steam siren fails to properly sound a signal, as was the case Tuesday when a no-school number was to be blown, the other siren could be depended upon to do the work.

Installing an auxiliary plant would cost, it is estimated, from $2,000 to $2,500, but the additional protection obtained would be well worth making the investment, in the minds of citizens who have considered the matter.

Under the auspices of the Danielson Girls' club an interesting play, "The Chinese Lantern," was presented Wednesday evening at the Orpheum theatre.

The cast included Miss Lucile Caron, Mrs. Mary Barnett, Mrs. L. S. Ingalls, Mrs. J. H. Milligan and Miss L. S. Ingalls.

HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE TEN YEARS. Don't give up hope if you are suffering from backache, rheumatism, stiff swollen joints, always tired feeling, pain in groin and muscles or other symptoms of kidney trouble.

St. Andrew's day was observed Wednesday at St. Alban's church with a special service to the women's organization.

Getting in touch with East Killingly subscribers of the telephone company continued to be something of a problem during Wednesday, for the storm damage was so extensive in that section of the town that repair men were severely handicapped during the day.

Washouts were reported during Wednesday along the line of the new highway to Littleton. These were due to the severity of Tuesday's storm, in which great quantities of water fell hereabouts.

In the vicinity of South Killingly there is considerable havoc caused by the storm. Included in wires that are down are two used exclusively for carrying stock market reports between the Wall street district in New York and Boston brokerage offices.

Fifteen cable men who are making their headquarters at the Meadow Brook inn near South Killingly while engaged in their work have been for months past, on underground cable work, were called to do aerial work in restoring lines knocked down by the storm and on Wednesday were scattered over country in the northern part of the county, and near Westport and near Hampton.

Between South Killingly and Scituate, R. I., the highway is strewn with torn-up trees and limbs and brush. Two men who journeyed over the route early Wednesday morning en route to Scituate had to practically cut their way through at various points, so blocked was the highway.

The funeral of Irene Lannaville, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lannaville, was held at their home in Attawaugan Wednesday morning with services at St. Joseph's church in Dayville.

Walter Dixon, father of Dr. Henry L. Dixon of Broad street, is to leave for Florida for the winter months.

For two days past Pomfret, Woodstock and Thompson, excepting in some sections, have been in darkness excepting as light has been supplied by lamps, lanterns and candles.

Along the state highway leading from South to North Woodstock, trees are carried down under the weight of ice that days will be required to clear away the debris.

Attention was called Wednesday to the fact that Woodstock, Pomfret and Thompson would not have been cut off from electric lighting service by the ice storm and the fact that followed were it not for the gale that trees with limbs overhanging the lines of the Putnam Light and Power company had not snapped off and broken the wires.

The moral of this is that had the trees been cut off from electric lighting service by the ice storm and the fact that followed were it not for the gale that trees with limbs overhanging the lines of the Putnam Light and Power company had not snapped off and broken the wires.

Watch for the Lucky Day In thanking the public for the generosity shown us in our recent sale, we have decided to extend the sale over the holidays, in order to give you a chance to do your Christmas shopping at our exceedingly low prices. During the month of December, we are going to have a Lucky Day—that is any one making a purchase in our store on that day will be given a cash refund of half the money they spent on that particular day in our store. Watch the papers closely at the end of the month in order to see which was the Lucky Day. Do not forget to watch closely for our big Christmas surprise. Ladies' Coats are still lower.

stated that the tops had broken off in many cases, leaving only the trunks standing. It appears that some areas in Woodstock were harder hit than others, the properties of high points of land getting the worst of the storm. Judge Clarence H. Child said that the worst of the damage to the trees occurred between 5 and 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The trees had previously been heavily coated with ice and gave way under the pressure of a gale that at times blew with a velocity of 50 miles an hour.

Along the Putnam division of the Connecticut company, all the difficulties placed in the way of operation of cars by the storm period had been overcome Wednesday without the loss of a trip. Only one tree fell across the lines of the company, this near Mechanville, and the ice was not allowed to encumber the overhead because of the constant operation of cars, day and night.

Acceptance placed in various business places about the city again direct attention to the fact that the Salvation Army has made its plans for supplying Christmas cheer in the homes of needy of the city and that the generous people who always like to participate in the good work of the Salvation Army now have their opportunity to drop in change and give the movement a start. If the army does all it would like to do this Christmas time, the giving must be liberal.

On the eve of the biennial city election, which comes Monday next, there is little general talk about politics in this city. The results of the election are already being discussed as it is realized now that the voting cannot in any material way change the make-up of the common council as it is forecasted almost to a certainty by the caucus nominations.

One of the institutions cut off from electric lighting service is the Pomfret school, Pomfret, where approximately 120 boys are studying this year. Antiquated lighting devices have been brought into use until the service can be restored.

Drivers on rural routes out of this city have had their troubles in endeavoring to cover their usual territory and bring mail to patrons throughout the county. Mud, fallen trees, broken poles and wire entanglements have made some of the areas covered seem like No Man's Land.
