

SHE IS "FULL OF PEP" THEY SAY

She is Good-Looking and Gay and is Always Ready for a Good Time

Why is a girl popular? Look around and see what a good time the good-looking ones have all the time. Men seek them out and ask them to parties, dances, and entertainments. And notice that it is not the doll-faced type that men like most, but the red-blooded girl with "pep" and happy good nature. Any girl who is tired and languid and has a poor complexion and dull eyes can improve her condition and be far happier if she will simply take Guide's Pepto-Manganol until she has put her blood into good condition. Red blood means full of life and full of life usually means happiness.

PIGEONS FROZEN TO WIRES IN STORM AT PORTLAND

A former Norwich woman writes The Bulletin of the following unusual sight at which confronted Portland, Me., people on Commercial street, Portland, the morning after a recent ice storm: "Three or four hundred pigeons which frequent Commercial street in the vicinity of Central Ward, Portland, and pick their living in the street and along the wharf searched for the night as usual wires and in other advantageous places. The next morning they were unable to move for the style of the storm which fastened Portland that night, led the birds to their perches. Their feet were held fast in ice and ice had formed on their tail feathers so that there was general confusion among the pigeon family in the morning. Their predicament attracted the attention of passers by and set folks at work in their behalf. Fred L. Werman, employed on Central Ward, cared for over a hundred of the unfortunate pigeons. He was busy for over an hour sorting them away in boxes and harness where they might chew out and recover from the predicament to which the storm placed them."

AT DAVIS THEATRE

The average person would hardly believe that to perform on the stage the same as a group-up person, but this is practically what has been accomplished in the Kiddie Kabaret, the headline act at the Davis theatre for the last half of the week. The 12 kiddies in the act are thoroughly trained and are as accomplished actors as many of their grown-up brothers and sisters. The little troupe of two of whom are less than 4 years old, sing, dance and carry on a dialogue that would do credit to an act that had been on the stage for years before they were born. The two little ones are sweet and pretty and do their act with evident enjoyment and with a naturalness that strongly appeals and wins their way from the others on the bill. Clifton and Rodella have one of the most sensational hand balancing acts that has ever appeared here. Their feats of strength are remarkable and many of the hardest stunts are done with such ease that they appear simple, but in reality it has taken long years of constant practice to arrive at the point of perfection. Plesano and Bingham present a clever dialect act which introduces a number of new comedy lines and antics. Taken as a whole, the bill is a good clean and entertaining program. Get out with Esie Ferguson in Sacred and Profane Love. There is a news weekly and a comedy film on the program.

COMMUNITY ADVERTISING

The report of the community advertising committee was made by the chairman, Richard E. Lewis, who said that the committee is considering various methods for advertising Norwich both at home and abroad. The committee is now considering getting out a folder containing facts concerning the city and public interest with pictures of the interesting points in Norwich. The committee is also considering the possibility of advertising Norwich at the railroad station, on which would be indicated the population, the various manufactured products and other interesting facts about the city. The folder would be of three or four large billboards on as many of the leading highways into Norwich is also being considered. Of course the folder will be sent to all the things cannot be done in one year, but the committee will not doubt recommend to the board of directors the erection of one or two billboards in the city in connection to the printing of a large number of these booklets for circulation. It is felt by the committee that the upper grades of the city should be advertised in the same way, might compete for prizes for the best essays concerning Norwich. This is believed to be one of the best means for interesting the child in his own city. The committee would welcome any suggestions or criticisms.

STREET LIGHTING

James E. McCormick, chairman of the street lighting committee, spoke of the report of the committee, saying that it would shortly submit a report on the white way. There is a large sentiment in favor of a white way and there seems to be a large number of our people who are in favor of either through lack of interest or the expense incurred. The committee hopes that the members of the chamber will be interested enough at least to seriously consider the matter which will be mailed them and vote according to their wishes. In that way some of the members of the membership relative to the prevailing sentiment either for or against the white way.

TRANSPORTATION

The endeavors of the transportation committee were ably expressed by Russell Clapp, chairman of the committee, who said that the transportation committee is now studying a traffic bill, which better transportation facilities for Norwich, particularly as it pertains to passenger service. The number of trains now running is a minimum, and this has been brought about through the economy here practiced by the railroads, and the fact that the railroads are now owned motor vehicles for transportation. Railroads are run on the same business basis as other business interests. They should be run on a business basis, and not as a public utility. AT DAVIS THEATRE

The average person would hardly believe that to perform on the stage the same as a group-up person, but this is practically what has been accomplished in the Kiddie Kabaret, the headline act at the Davis theatre for the last half of the week. The 12 kiddies in the act are thoroughly trained and are as accomplished actors as many of their grown-up brothers and sisters. The little troupe of two of whom are less than 4 years old, sing, dance and carry on a dialogue that would do credit to an act that had been on the stage for years before they were born. The two little ones are sweet and pretty and do their act with evident enjoyment and with a naturalness that strongly appeals and wins their way from the others on the bill. Clifton and Rodella have one of the most sensational hand balancing acts that has ever appeared here. Their feats of strength are remarkable and many of the hardest stunts are done with such ease that they appear simple, but in reality it has taken long years of constant practice to arrive at the point of perfection. Plesano and Bingham present a clever dialect act which introduces a number of new comedy lines and antics. Taken as a whole, the bill is a good clean and entertaining program. Get out with Esie Ferguson in Sacred and Profane Love. There is a news weekly and a comedy film on the program.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEMBERS DISCUSS VARIETY OF CIVIC INTERESTS

The open meeting of the Norwich chamber of commerce held on Friday evening was as spirited and bustling over with enthusiasm as any meeting ever held by this body and the keynote of co-operation was sounded by Rev. Alexander H. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church, on what the chamber of commerce means to the community.

COMMUNITY ADVERTISING

The report of the community advertising committee was made by the chairman, Richard E. Lewis, who said that the committee is considering various methods for advertising Norwich both at home and abroad. The committee is now considering getting out a folder containing facts concerning the city and public interest with pictures of the interesting points in Norwich. The committee is also considering the possibility of advertising Norwich at the railroad station, on which would be indicated the population, the various manufactured products and other interesting facts about the city. The folder would be of three or four large billboards on as many of the leading highways into Norwich is also being considered. Of course the folder will be sent to all the things cannot be done in one year, but the committee will not doubt recommend to the board of directors the erection of one or two billboards in the city in connection to the printing of a large number of these booklets for circulation. It is felt by the committee that the upper grades of the city should be advertised in the same way, might compete for prizes for the best essays concerning Norwich. This is believed to be one of the best means for interesting the child in his own city. The committee would welcome any suggestions or criticisms.

STREET LIGHTING

James E. McCormick, chairman of the street lighting committee, spoke of the report of the committee, saying that it would shortly submit a report on the white way. There is a large sentiment in favor of a white way and there seems to be a large number of our people who are in favor of either through lack of interest or the expense incurred. The committee hopes that the members of the chamber will be interested enough at least to seriously consider the matter which will be mailed them and vote according to their wishes. In that way some of the members of the membership relative to the prevailing sentiment either for or against the white way.

TRANSPORTATION

The endeavors of the transportation committee were ably expressed by Russell Clapp, chairman of the committee, who said that the transportation committee is now studying a traffic bill, which better transportation facilities for Norwich, particularly as it pertains to passenger service. The number of trains now running is a minimum, and this has been brought about through the economy here practiced by the railroads, and the fact that the railroads are now owned motor vehicles for transportation. Railroads are run on the same business basis as other business interests. They should be run on a business basis, and not as a public utility.
