

INFLUENZA AND WEAK BLOOD

Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan—It Builds Rich, Red Blood

No matter how well you usually are, if temporarily you're run down, you're a target for the influenza.

Contagion always comes from people first. Whether they realize it or not, their blood is thin and under-energized.

Take a good tonic at this time of danger—some well-known builder of red, vigorous blood, like Pepto-Mangan.

Pepto-Mangan is sold by druggists in either liquid or tablet form. There is no difference in medicinal value.

Ask for Gude's Pepto-Mangan and get the genuine in the package. (Advertisement)

IN MIDST OF FESTIVE EVENING JEWS PLAN EUROPEAN RELIEF

The organization meeting for the work in Norwich followed the speeches made in the ball room.

Reference was made by the speakers to the presence in the ball room of several persons, who knew from personal experience the terrible conditions in Poland. These were Mrs. Cecyl Pank and Miss Helen Pank, mother and sister of Alex Pank of this city, and Miss Miriam Salk, who are here from Poland on a visit.

The ball was the first big social event held by the Norwich B'nai B'rith lodge since its organization a few months ago and was a pronounced success. Among the 150 couples present were about 50 members from Fraternity lodge of New London.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Elkin Smith, Mrs. Harry Solomon, Mrs. A. W. Silverstein, Mrs. William Trachtenberg, Mrs. Leo Olevson, Mrs. Frank E. Aoki, Mrs. Samuel Goldberg, Miss Rose Goldberg, Miss Ethel Goldberg, Miss Minnie Greenberger, Mrs. A. Curland, Mrs. J. S. Tenness, Mrs. Lillian Silverberg, Mrs. Max Schwartz, Mrs. Herman Seara, Mrs. Joseph Lahn, Mrs. J. Wechsler, Mrs. Minnie Sussman, Miss Jean Lowenberger.

The arrangement committee, which carried out the event so successfully was Leo Olevson, Harry Tishoff, David Trachtenberg, Aaron Gordon, Simon Mandel, W. Silverberg and Joseph Lahn. Rowland's orchestra played a popular program for the dancing from 8:30 to long past midnight.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stetler, Washington, D. C.; Miss Lillian Silverberg, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Ethel Goldberg, Washington, D. C.; Miss Jean Brill, Newark, N. J.; Miss Josephine Frank, New York City; Mrs. Frances Becker, New York City; Mrs. Blume Stein, Providence, R. I.; Mrs. Rene Herman, Danvers, Mass.; Miss Lillian Battalini, Hartford, Miss Rose Sakoleky, New York; Miss Mildred Schlossberg, Jersey City; Mrs. Louis Kliger, Bridgeport; Miss Rose Levine, Jersey City; Mrs. S. ESSAY PRIZE WINNERS WRITE CHELSEA BANK The winners of the first, second and third prizes awarded recently in the essay contest conducted by the Chelsea Savings bank have sent letters of acknowledgment to the bank officials.

Hannah Lindvall of North Groton, winner of the first prize, says in her letter: "When I received the bank book that you sent me yesterday, my heart thumped with joy. I never expected to win the prize as there were so many contestants."

When I showed this to my teacher she was greatly pleased to see that one of her students could win "first prize." I assure you that I will try to save every cent that I receive and will be sure to make use of those deposit slips which you enclosed in your recent letter.

The letter of acknowledgment written by the second prize winner, Dorothy G. Gerstevue, of No. 25 Lincoln avenue, this city, is as follows: "I was much delighted to know that I had won the second prize. In my paper there were many contestants so I thought I would have a very poor chance. The first I knew anything about it one of my girl friends called me up by telephone and told me that I had won. I told her I didn't know what she meant. After she explained I rushed for the newspaper and read it to the family."

"Thank you very much and I shall try to save every penny I can to make my bank book grow."

Earl Carpenter of Canterbury, who won the third prize, says in his letter: "I wish to thank you for thinking that my composition was the third best. I was very happy when I came home from school and found that my composition had won the third prize."

My mother told me a joke on me. When I came home, she asked her if there was anything in the paper about it. She said "yes" so I immediately took the paper and read it. As quick as I saw my name I called my mother and my bank book came. She laughed and gave me my letter. Then I opened it and saw the bank book. You bet I was glad. I hope to add a lot to it this year."

She made her home since then with her son, George, who drives her. She leaves also two other sons, Victor and Charles of East Lyme.

Holla Hyde Palmer. Holla Hyde Palmer, a life long resident of Preston, died Monday evening following an illness of three days at his home on Garfield avenue. Mr. Palmer has been in poor health since Christmas but his condition was not considered serious until he developed pneumonia a few days ago.

He was born in Preston 73 years ago, the son of the late Charles and Lucy Hyde Palmer. All his life with the exception of the past few months has been spent on the Palmer homestead where the Palmer family has resided for the past 128 years. The Palmer homestead is one of the old landmarks on the Preston city road and only last November did the place pass out of the hands of the Palmer family. Mr. Palmer conducted a dairy farm for many years.

He had one son, Lydia Emma Davis of Preston who survives him. Mr. Palmer was interested in civic affairs and had served several terms as selectman of the town of Preston and also represented the town in the legislature from the year 1911-12. He was one of the oldest members of the Preston City Congregational church and for many years had been a devoted member of the Methodist church of the Preston City grade and for seven years served as its pastor.

Besides his wife he leaves one son, Frank H. Palmer, of Greenfield and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Newman of Boston and Mrs. Emily Bonis of Garfield avenue. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Martha Palmer of Preston. A daughter, Clara, died many years ago.

Mrs. Joseph Gladys Crandall. Mrs. Alice S. Crandall died last Friday at the home of her son, J. Howard Crandall, Orchard avenue, Wakefield, R. I.

She was the widow of Joseph Clark Crandall, who represented the town of Lebanon in the Connecticut state legislature in 1830, and who served on various commissions in that state.

She was the daughter of the late Benjamin and Sally Hazard, Carpenters, born 33 years ago, on Great Island, so called, near Point Judith, South Kingstown, R. I. Early in life she joined the Baptist church. She was married to Joseph Clark Crandall, son of Deacon Clark Crandall of Ferryville, but lived in the town of Lebanon, Conn., many years. Mrs. Crandall was a member of a temperance society, and a staunch advocate of prohibition for some 50 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Crandall celebrated their golden wedding in March, 1902. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Anthony B. Bliss of Providence; four brothers, Winton R. Carpenter of Ferryville, Edwin K. Carpenter of Westerly and George A. Bliss of Johnston, R. I.; and three sons, Benjamin Clark Crandall and George Crandall of Pasadena, and Howard Crandall of Wakefield. She leaves 14 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Thomas B. Beetham. Mrs. Nellie Dening Beetham, wife of Thomas B. Beetham, died about 8 o'clock Monday evening at her home at 100 West Main street, following a long illness with complications of heart trouble. She had been in poor health for a number of months.

She was born in New Britain 54 years ago, but most of her life has been spent at Wauwesset Hill and in the vicinity. She was married twice, her first husband being Webster Benjamin and her second husband Thomas Beetham, whom she married in 1905. She was a member of Trinity Episcopal church for many years.

Besides her husband, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Edward S. Stevens of this city, and one son, Theodore Beetham. There are two grandchildren. She also leaves a step-sister, Mrs. Fred Hewitt, of New Britain.

GEN. NEL OSPINA ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COLOMBIA Bogotá, Colombia, Feb. 13.—(By the A. P.)—General Pedro Nel Ospina was chosen president of the republic of Colombia in the elections held yesterday. He held a majority of 50,000 votes over the liberal candidate, General Benigno Herrera. General Ospina, 62, had 259,000 votes against 209,000 for Herrera. Ospina ran on the conservative ticket.

The conservative party had the backing of the authorities now in power, the police, the army and the clergy.

The presidential election in Colombia has attracted much interest throughout Latin America, being considered as representing a step forward in democratic methods in that country. Since 1855, when the conservative party went into power, the liberal party had abstained from participating in presidential elections, claiming that it lacked guarantees.

Mrs. Mary J. Murphy Ring, wife of David W. Ring, died shortly after 2 o'clock Monday morning in this city, following an illness of about eight days. Mrs. Ring made her home in Plainfield, N. J., but was in Norwich, Conn., on March 25, 1868, and came to this country when a young woman. Most of her life has been spent in Boston, Norwich and Plainfield. On November 11, 1909, she was married in Boston to David W. Ring of this city, and came to live in Norwich. She is survived by her husband with three sons and a daughter, Walter R. Ring, a student in Plainfield High school; George and Herbert E. Ring, of Norwich; and Miss Lillian T. Ring, a student nurse at St. Joseph's hospital in Willimantic.

Charles L. Daniels. Charles L. Daniels died Sunday afternoon at his residence, 424 Williams street, in London in his 64th year. Mr. Daniels was born in Waterford, but resided in New London for many years. He was employed by the late W. H. Perry for a long time and after Mr. Perry's death he was employed by the Perry Ice Co. About five years ago, as the result of falling health, Mr. Daniels bought a place in Groton with the intention of trying farming in the hope that the outdoor life would benefit him. He did not improve and moved back to New London last August. For the past three months he had been growing worse rapidly. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Josephine A. Daniels, a son, Leon C. Daniels and a son by adoption, George A. Daniels. The cause of death was heart disease.

Mrs. Silas E. Barrows. Mrs. Joanna L. Whipple Barrows, widow of Silas E. Barrows, died Monday morning at her home in Regent street, New London. She was born in Waterford, but spent most of her life in New London. A few years ago she had a serious illness but had recovered and was able to be about the house on Sunday. She became seriously ill during the night and passed away at 7 o'clock Monday morning. She is survived by three sons, Assessor Frederick C. Barrows, Rowland B. and Benjamin E. Barrows, and one daughter, Miss Ella Barrows. Her husband died 22 years ago Saturday.

Mrs. Nelson Maynard. Mrs. Mary E. Maynard, widow of Nelson Maynard, died Monday morning at her home in East Lyme after an illness of a few days. She had been in poor health for about six years but only since last Thursday was her illness considered serious. She was in her eightieth year, but spent most of her long life in East Lyme. Her husband, who was a farmer, died four weeks ago and

JOSEPH FINE & CO.

115 Main Street, Norwich

It's the story of a local professional man. Short, stocky—a true "stubb"—always wore tailored-to-measure clothes before. Came to try us out. "You advertise to fit any figure, how about mine?" He bought two suits here that day. Could hardly believe his own eyes. A perfect fit. No time lost in trying—no disliking the materials after being made up. Literally—see all figures.

Hartford—William Holmovich listed his land on Farmington avenue in Hartford in 1920 at $5,000. The assessor valued it up to $10,000. From this boost the owner appealed, first to the board of relief without relief and then to the superior court which finds the valuation $14,000 or nearly twice what the owner listed it for.

Fairfield—This town has city ambitions, at least so far as firemen and police are concerned. There is to be a special town meeting on Feb. 20 for the purpose of deciding about creating those departments. Fairfield is growing rapidly. It advanced from 6,100 in 1910 to 11,400 in 1920, and the additions to the school children indicate another gain of 1,000 since the census count.

New Haven.—The following appeared recently in the Yale News: "The 1924 discipline committee regrets to announce that, due to an infringement of the rules of the honor system, it has been compelled to inflict a punishment of three weeks' suspension on a member of the sophomore class. It is peculiarly unfortunate that such a violation should have occurred at the time of the mid-year examinations."

Wanted.—The Knights of Columbus building committee of Winchester county voted at a recent special meeting to purchase the Main street property generally known as the Moore property, situated between Cambridge and Chestnut streets, for a site for their new clubhouse. The purchase price is $14,000. The owners expect to build a large clubhouse with gymnasium and basketball floor on the vacant lot east of the dwelling.
