

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Another official demonstration that Killington has not reached the stage of absolute bono dryness was furnished Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Chas. M. Ayer and State Police Officers Arthur W. Williams and Howard A. Elliott, when they seized 5 1/2 barrels of cider at the place of James Brown, near Riller's, and brought away 30 bottles of home brewed cider...

The raids are the first that have been made in Killington in a number of weeks and were up considerable interest in the community which they took place.

Miss Rachel, to Dr. Reynolds, Dr. McManey of Crowsville, Mich. No date has been set for the marriage. Miss Preston is a graduate of Killington High school and Wellesley college, also a graduate of the training school for nurses at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore. Miss Preston spent a summer, two years ago, as a member of a nursing unit at Dr. Genesee's mission in Labrador. Dr. McManey is a practicing physician.

The following communication received here by members of Danielson people will be of interest not only to the stockholders of the Connecticut Mills company, but as well to hundreds of other residents of the town of Killington: To the Honorable First and Second Preferred Stock in the Connecticut Mills Company:

Dear Sirs: In response to the recent circular letter from this committee, regarding representing more than a majority of the outstanding first preferred shares were received by the secretary. The proxies were voted for the election of the following named directors: James H. Butler, Laurence P. Dodge, J. Freeman Rice, Charles W. Wolcott, Daniel Weeks, B. J. Caldwell, Howard S. Davis, W. K. Vanston, Oswald Thayer, John J. McKean, Garrard Comly, Harry L. Burges.

A sub-committee of the directors was appointed to investigate the condition of the company and to report its recommendations at an early date. A preferred stockholders protective agreement, dated January 1, 1922, has been signed under which The Merchants National Bank of Boston has been appointed trustee and the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Company of Hartford, Conn., has been appointed registrar.

The committee deems it important that a deposit of first and second preferred shares should not be made under the protective agreement, in order that its operation may be strengthened and it may be known to represent a large majority of the said shares, which will enable the committee to protect your interests in such negotiations as may be necessary relating to the business of the company and the existing agreement with the creditors committee.

You are therefore urged to deposit your shares at once duly endorsed in blank for transfer and accompanied by the necessary internal revenue stamps and Massachusetts transfer stamps (amounting in all to 4 cents a share) with The Merchants National Bank of Boston, 38 State Street, Boston, Mass., or with the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Company, its agent in the city of Hartford, Conn.

Transferable certificates of deposit in customary form will be delivered to you in exchange for your shares. Copies of the protective agreement may be obtained from the depository or its agent. B. E. Hagg, sheep specialist of the Connecticut Agricultural College, is to give a demonstration of docking and castrating lambs at the farm of W. P. Spaulding, Hampton, today at 10 o'clock.

Every sheep breeder should make a practice of docking all lambs and castrating all male lambs not used for breeding purposes. There is nothing which indicates modern methods of raising lambs more clearly than the docking and castrating of the lambs. Wether lambs will dress a much higher percentage carcass which will be of higher quality than will ram lambs. Sometimes it is not possible to dock lambs early in the season and if the lambs are left entire they will soon acquire a nuisance later in the season.

Castration is a simple operation: while the lamb is two to three weeks old if the proper age. It may successfully be done at a later age. If cleanliness and care are used, very few fatalities occur. Very often when lambs are docked they become infected with maggots if they should come to rest during bad weather. Many long-tailed ewes are lost as a result. Often long-tailed ewes are barren because of the tail docking. This adds much to the attractiveness of the flock.

All interested in sheep are privileged to be present at this demonstration, and will find it time profitably spent. Write to his home in Central Village for the week-end, Edward J. Gallagher, formerly with the Farnsworth-Plimney company, now of Windsor Locks, was invited to attend a special meeting of the Central Fire company, with which he was identified for a long time. Mr. Gallagher was due for a surprise in that he might be presented a good watch bearing the inscription of Edward J. Gallagher, former with the Farnsworth-Plimney company, now of Windsor Locks, was invited to attend a special meeting of the Central Fire company, with which he was identified for a long time.

The following communication is of interest to dog owners: To the Dog Owners of Connecticut: At this time of the year, while the owners of dogs are registering same for the coming year, the commissioner on domestic animals wishes to call attention to the necessity of the eradication of rabies in the state.

PUTNAM

Putnam is to have a new business block by early fall. The plans that have been laid up by a writ of attachment are to be carried into effect at once, as a satisfactory arrangement to have the attachment removed have been consummated. The owners are Louis Wolfe and S. Kaminsky, two Putnam business men. The site of the new building is at the corner of Main street and the street already the excavation is nearly completed. The plans drawn by E. M. Corbin of Putnam call for a two-story brick structure with three stories on the ground floor and six floors on the second floor. It is understood that Mr. Kaminsky will occupy one of the stores and that Mr. Wolfe will occupy one of the offices. The contract to erect the building has been let to a Worcester concern and calls for completing the building in four months after the foundation is ready. Work upon the foundation is to begin at once so that the block should be ready for occupancy about the first of October at the latest. There is a dearth of empty stores and offices in Putnam and the new block will open a new way for other business enterprises to locate here. Business is slowly moving northward on Main street, which was formerly Elm street and was some years ago an exclusive residential section. This will be the farthest north business block on Main street and it is diagonally across the street from the Victory theater.

The chemical truck was called out at half past eight o'clock, Saturday morning, for a chimney fire in the wooden building on Main street owned by the Hopkins estate and occupied by Duvert's Fabric shop. Miss Rivard's millinery shop and McGuire's vulcanizing shop on the ground floor and tenements in the upper story were not distinguished with chemicals, without damage.

Matelem M. Willet left Saturday morning to spend the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Helen Willet, at the Uxbridge, Mass. home.

J. Harry Mann has bought the property Grove street across from Wilkinson street owned by Ernest B. Kent. The Mann family will occupy the down-stairs apartment and Miss Mary Johnson will continue to occupy the upper rent.

There were special observances of Easter Sunday in all the churches in this city. At the Congregational church there was a Sunrise prayer service. Judge E. M. Warner made the address taking for his text, "The Glory of Christ: Immortality." (John 17:24-26). There was special music at the regular morning service at 10.30. At St. Mary's church there were the usual masses and a special musical program at the 8.15 and 10.30 high masses. There was no vespers service but at 7.30 there was a service with sermon marking the opening of a week's mission for the women of the dangerous situation which prevails here.

As a special city meeting the polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. today (Monday) and the voters will have their third chance to cast their ballots in favor or against an appropriation of $7,500 for the purchase of a motor driven hook and ladder truck as additional equipment for the fire department. Twice the proposition has been voted down but it is believed that there has been an awakening to the dangerous situation which prevails here.

As the department is now handicapped it is that starts upon a roof or in a second or third story has things all its own way for a period of time that is important to fire fighters. Through courtesy of the fire department, the city will have a fire alarm in the city. A man will be on duty at this spot night and day to watch them. A small fee will probably be charged but when the safety of one's property is considered the fee will appear a very small item. The chamber of commerce realizes that in order to attract business to Putnam provision must be made for those coming to the city to leave their vehicles without trouble and with safety and it is to this end that the chamber of commerce has taken action.

Next Friday evening is Parents' Night at Putnam High school. The parents are invited to be at eight o'clock. Parents' night has become an annual custom at the school, the program for the most part being furnished by the pupils. In its invitation to the parents and public, Principal Show states that this year the program begins later to afford a better opportunity for people to get to the school in time for the evening. The program this year is most attractive. Through courtesy of Charles E. Dean there will be a demonstration of the wireless telephone with amplifier. There will be solos by school pupils; a brief presentation of memorial pictures of James Harrison and Kathryn Farrell, whose deaths greatly saddened the school this year; also music by the high school orchestra and singing by the musical clubs. The program will close with a supper at 10 o'clock.

Word was received in Putnam, Friday afternoon of the death in New Haven of Herman Edmond. Mr. Edmond's wife was Miss Annie Hammond, daughter of Mrs. William Hammond of Hartford and a niece of George A. Hammond of Putnam. She is a graduate of the Putnam high school. Mr. Edmond was for some time after marriage a member of the faculty of Storrs Agricultural college. Besides his wife two children survive.

Mrs. Mary Burt has returned from a weeks visit with her daughter, Mrs. George Newell of Washington, R. I. Michael J. Duffie and Hector Lueder of Hartford, were at home over the holiday, the guests of relatives.

John Macdonald and family of Hartford were known as rabies a disease, which under the past system of control could not be eradicated. It is the most logical, scientific method of eradication and absolute control of this deadly malady. The harmless nature of dogs vaccinated at moderate cost of vaccination, one treatment only being necessary, should appeal to all as a cooperative measure to stamp out rabies. Show every dog owner comply with the request to have his dog vaccinated each year for a period of two years, there is no doubt but that rabies could cease to exist in Connecticut and the human family and the canine race would be measurable as a health and safety problem.

Therefore I trust that you will take the matter up at once with your local veterinarian, and should he not be familiar with the cost and manner of treating with the vaccine serum, he will receive instructions by communicating with this office.

HOWARD A. ELLIOTT, Chief Special Deputy. George Jordan of Providence spent Easter Sunday with relatives in Daniel. Mr. and Mrs. John Reese of Norwich were guests of relatives here over Sunday.

Beautiful weather Sunday brought unusually large congregations to the church services and is brilliant display of new garments and millinery. Miss Kathleen Burns of Hartford spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thompson of New York were Easter Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cannon, at Washington, D. C.

WESTERLY

At the Rebekah assembly of Rhode Island and Independent Order of Odd Fellows Thursday, Mrs. Mary G. Bamford of Westerly was elected vice president for 1922.

In the third district court here three units were entered Friday as follows: Empler Cream Separator Co. vs. C. Palmer Chapman, Barber and Reynolds vs. Catherine B. Bates and Calvin Davis vs. Wilbert A. Clarke. The case of William E. Quinn vs. Barber and Reynolds was defaulted and passed for proof of claim by agreement of counsel the case of the state vs. Frank Jackson was continued one week for trial.

The several churches of Westerly observed Easter Day in a fitting manner, the chorus in many of them being assisted by musicians of note. The special services and music brought out large crowds. The missions and gospel meetings also did their share to make the programs for the day impressive and fitting.

The baseball season has opened and bids fair to see some fast twirling. The Westerly High school team does not intend to remain the background and the fans will have to have a good team to beat it.

The employees of the American Velvet company of Stonington are starting a team this season. There is sure to be some good games and each team is trying for the goal.

STONINGTON

The Easter programs in the churches were well rendered. Special sermons were preached to the large number who attended. The churches were decorated with plants and flowers.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Northrup Saturday evening for Miss Rose D'Amico, who has recently returned from New London. Eight young women friends pleasantly entertained the guests with a dinner, merrily with games and music. Cake, cookies, salted peanuts, ice cream and punch were served.

JEWETT CITY

The churches were filled Easter Sunday by congregations who enjoyed the musical programs and floral decorations and listened attentively to the Easter sermons. Rose Hill, Hyacinths, carnations, spotted plants, ferns and palms were used in all the churches, and in most cases were sent to the sick and shut-ins. The special music was finely rendered by the church choirs.
