FARM LIFE DROVE HENRY FORD TO AUTOS

New York, April 25.—Life on a farm drove Henry Ford into making automobiles.

Mr. Ford says so himself in an article which he calls "My Life and Work," written by himself in McClure's Magazine for May, with the collaboration of Samuel Crother, author and editor.

And Mr. Ford still feels the same way about farming. Not that he has anything against farmers, he points out, but there is "too much hard labor on farms." Because he was born on a farm and knew without question just what farming means, Mr. Ford invented an automobile with which he hoped, first, to lighten the farmer's task, and second, to aid people without a lot of money in their search for enjoyment and business relief.

That is a nutshell is what Mr. Ford's article gives as the reason for the Ford car. Incidentally it is the reason for his interest in farm tractors and for a lot of other things which have happened since Detroit.

The automobile, however, barely escaped being a watch. Mr. Ford had a desire to do fine-mechanical work and his ideas naturally turned to watches. But Mr. Ford had 300 watches and knew what made the wheels go around in every one of them. It was then he thought of the possibility of making a watch for 20 cents a year and he began to work on it. He started in the business but refrained when he figured out that watches were not a necessity and so would not be sold.

Just how I reached that surprising conclusion is difficult to state, new," he observes.

But a combination of the farm and the watch, and the eight when he was only 12 of a road engine was too much for anything. In Mr. Ford's future. He started to consider the possibility of machines and after glancing at flat engine, studying it, watching the changes, reading and thinking, Mr. Ford branched out into the automotive industry.

Of course, says Mr. Ford, the horseless carriage was a common idea. He had it, as did several other inventors. But Mr. Ford had a design, and he had the best means for moving his car, and he set about making a machine to operate by steam. He built one, and it ran. But it had defects, lots of them. He very carefully points out most of them. When he found he couldn't work out his difficulties to his satisfaction, he turned to gasoline—and so was born the Ford.

It was in 1898 that I began to work on a double cylinder engine," he writes. "Because it was quite impractical to consider the single cylinder for transportation."

Shortly after that the farm was left behind definitely and completely when Mr. Ford went to Detroit as an engineer and

TAX DODGERS LOCATED BY ANONYMOUS TIPS

Anonymous "tips" received by mail at the office of United States Internal Revenue Collector Robert O. Eaton have resulted in the collection of over $10,000 from people who concealed their incomes to evade the federal tax.

Scarcely a week passes that does not find an unsigned letter or note in the collector's personal mail, directing his attention to some person suspected by the writer of having dodged his tax. Investigation of these "tips" usually reveals that the writer is a neighbor of the dodger and is in a position to know where there has been an evasion. These anonymous letters have been more frequent this year than ever before, and the increase is attributed to the fact that federal tax dodging reached its height last year and the continued dodging by some has increased the number of conscientious taxpayers who resent the continued evasion by some of their share of the tax burden.

Most of the anonymous letters appear to come from women and the majority appear to be well-founded. By the aid of one such note, the collector's office during the past week discovered that a man who had just sold property valued at $4,000 had failed to acknowledge that his income was sufficient to make him liable to the tax.

About a score of the field deputies have been brought into the Hartford office to scrutinize returns showing incomes less than $5,000 to determine whether unreasonable deductions have been made.

KING SAYS HE ASSIGNED HIS STOCK TO SPERRY

In the suit brought in the superior court against John T. King, of Bridgeport, and A. William Sperry of New Haven, by Charles B. Butts, of Norwich, as shareholders' agent, Frank W. Hamilton, executor of New London, and James R. Linsley of New London, in which a receivership is asked for the Bridgeport and Danbury Electric Railway Co. and that King or Sperry be ordered and required to pay up King's subscription to 1998 shares of stock in the company, amounting to $199,800, the defendant, King, has made answer through his attorneys admitting that he has not paid his stock subscription of March 25, 1920, but says he assigned the stock to Sperry on Oct. 15, 1920. At no time since then has King ever acted or assumed to act as a shareholder, but Sperry has exercised the voting right as holder of the 1998 shares of stock. At the time of the assignment, King alleges the company owed no debts, nor had it undertaken any enterprise wherein its credit was pledged or any obligation incurred.

Girls, Don't Wash Your Face

Use Liska cold cream instead (you have never used anything like it) just try it once, and you will never be without it. Soap and water has a tendency to dry the skin rough, and does not cleanse the skin as thoroughly as Liska cold cream. To prove it, make this test: Wash your face with soap and water, dry thoroughly, then apply Liska cold cream, massage it well into the skin, then wipe off the superfluous cream with a soft white cloth, examine the skin, and see how much dirt has accumulated thereon. Liska cold cream cleanses, softens and beautifies the skin. For sunburns or a dusty auto trip there is nothing like it. It's fine after shaving, too. Let hubby or brother try it. Just compare Liska cold cream with any other you have ever used, and you will need no further argument to convince you that it's the best. It's put up in tubes, the only sanitary way. Try it tonight. You will be delighted. At toilet counters, everywhere, including Lee & Osgood's.

UNANIMOUS FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING

The New London Manufacturers association at a meeting held Monday night, unanimously went on record as adopting the summer schedule of daylight saving in the various plants of its members beginning Sunday, April 30, at 2 p. m. The association members further voted to advance their clocks one hour and to so continue until the Sunday of Sept. 24 at 2 a. m.

Some of the manufacturers present stated that at the request of their employees they took a poll of all the employees of the plants in which there was an unanimous vote on the part of the men for the adoption of daylight saving without a single dissenting voice.

Other concerns, organizations, groups and activities that have so far registered their vote in favor of daylight saving are the post office and its employees, the banks of the city, the school board for all the schools of the city, the Rotary club for the professional men, the chamber of commerce for the tradesmen and retail stores, Supt. Cooper for the trolley system, Supt. Regan for the steam railroads and for the New England Navigation Co., the eight baseball teams representing the shop and factory workers and hundreds of individuals, clerks and professional men.

It is anticipated that the municipal building and the various city departments will also fall in line for the adoption of daylight saving and begin their day's work on Monday, May 1, an hour earlier during the summer schedule.

It is believed that in a very short time the federated churches of the city will go on summer daylight saving schedule to conform with the daylight saving schedule obtaining throughout the city.

From reports obtainable it now appears that with Bridgeport, New Haven, Hartford, Waterbury, New London and all the principal terminals between New York and Boston going on daylight saving and with daylight saving obtaining throughout the entire state of Massachusetts, throughout the states of Rhode Island, New York city and all the principal communities in Connecticut, that daylight saving will be more generally observed this year than at any time heretofore.

It is now understood that Groton, Mystic, Stonington, Westerly and other neighboring towns will also adopt the daylight saving schedule beginning Sunday morning 2 a. m. April 30, 1922.

JUDGE WALLER DECIDES ADOPTION WAS LEGAL

A decision dismissing the habeas corpus writ of Mrs. Helen Senyk of Norwich against Mr. and Mrs. Carl Russell of New Street, New London, to regain possession of Anton Kurstelan, alias Anton Pitroczky, 12 years old, was rendered by Judge Waller in the court of common pleas. In his decision Judge Waller finds that the Russell family legally adopted the child while it was a foundling.

A hearing on the writ was given by Judge Waller in New London last Wednesday afternoon when it developed that Mrs. Senyk left Anton and two other minor children in the custody of three boarders at her home while she went to New Bedford to be married a second time in October, 1922, and that she never reclaimed the boy. A short time after Mrs. Senyk left the child, the Russell's learned that a boy was sought for him and they adopted him.

Judge Waller, in taking the matter under advisement for a week, stated that the only question involved was whether the child was a foundling at the time of its adoption and whether the adoption was legal.

Don't take advantage of your friends or your digestion if you wish to keep them.
