PUTNAM Whether or not two men who made a visit to the store of Leon Bonnevill in one of the residential sections of the city were real prohibition enforcement officials or impostors posing as such with some ulterior motive in view was a matter that was interesting Capt. Reim Delage Friday. Mr. Bonnevill says the men came to his place Thursday afternoon and asked to be served with ice cream. Having eaten this they inquired if they might inspect the refrigerator and were told that they were at liberty to do so. Then followed a more or less close inspection of the store and the arousing of a suspicion in the mind of Mr. Bonnevill that they were prohibition enforcement officers.

A telegram received here Friday morning announced the safe return to her owner in Hollywood, Cal., of the Boston terrier, Sadie Louise, who was sent east to this city for breeding during the past month. On the trip east the little dog fared well and arrived here in good condition and Friday's telegram indicates the same good luck on the return trip. The little visitor from the Pacific coast was bred to Hagerly's King, one of the blue ribbon winners in the kennel of Mrs. George E. Drexler of this city and owner of some of the finest Boston terriers in the world. The interesting information comes from Berlin to friends in this city that teach teachers who would command $1800 to $2,000 a year in the schools of this country are working in Germany today for the equivalent of 25 cents per day in United States money. Miss Lena Borshauer, formerly a teacher in Putnam High school, now resident in the German capital, is naturally interested in the school system over there and has learned that the compensation for teachers of the $2,000 class in this country is as pitifully small as herein noted, and they are excellent teachers. Here, then, is one evidence of what the war has meant to Germany. At their home at 32 Farrars street on Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand N. Andrews observed the silver anniversary of their wedding and received the felicitations of many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews were married June 2, 1897, at the Congregational church parsonage in Pomfret. Mrs. Andrews had been a resident of Pomfret while her husband lived in Woodstock. After their marriage the couple lived in Pomfret, Norwood, Mass., Providence

STRAND-SUNDAY NIGHT ONLY. The Starcat, alias the Singing Kid, breezed into Three Pines singing songs of bloody murder. Anyone would have thought he was "bad" from the wicked way he sung them around. But Sheriff Bill Garfield became his friend on first sight. One day he said: "Listen, son, you ain't half as bad as you sound. In fact I don't figure you out as 'bad' a man at all. Who gave you the idea you was 'bad'? The kid looked at the ponies and said nothing; whereupon the sheriff proceeded: "To be perfectly frank, I imagine as how you thought some woman was wonderful and she turned out all rotten." "You know too darned much!" shouted the kid, hitting the ponies a lick that made them wake up somewhere else. But the kid took all pretty calmly when it was calm at all, and when it wasn't—he was a "beastard." Hoot Gibson is the star of The Starcat. The Universal attraction at the Strand theatre Sunday evening, Larry Simon in Passing the Buck and Episode No. 7 of The Whirlwind completes the bill. BROADWAY TODAY. More than 220,000 feet of film were exposed during the making of Foolish Wives, the million dollar picture which will be shown for the last time today. It would take 54 hours, or almost three days and three nights, to show the length of film at the rate of speed to which moving picture patrons are accustomed. Therefore, Universal has trimmed the picture, using only the best parts of it to 10,000 feet, which shows about two hours. It took Erich von Stroheim and his company exactly 12 months to photograph the picture. Cutting and editing it to the desired length took an additional six months. Don't miss it! At 1.30, 6 and 8.15. Moving Pictures, The Crimes, at Y. M. C. A., Sunday. The management of the local Y. M. C. A. has secured the interesting moving pictures, The Crimes, for the coming Sunday at 5 p. m., daylight time. In addition to the showing of the pictures, there will be given a brief talk, and this will be followed by a social period during which light refreshments will be served. All men and boys, 14 and over, are cordially invited. Next Week at United Congregational Church. All women of the parish are invited to attend the annual meeting of the Eastern Connecticut Branch, Woman's Board of Missions, to be held at Park church, Norwich, Wednesday, June 7, with sessions at 10:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. (daylight time). There will be annual reports, the election of officers and addresses by Miss Laura W. Ward, of Chicago and Miss Mabel Emerson, secretary of the American Board, Basket luncheon. A Mid-week worship, Thursday evening, 7.45, at which time Mr. Abbott will speak. Broadway, Sunday Night Only. Edith Storey in The Greater Profit, is the feature attraction at the Broadway for Sunday night only. Summary of the story is as follows: Girl of the underworld is arrested during one of her shoplifting exploits. Saved from punishment by wealthy social reformer, who takes girl into his home and places her in position in the Fair-Prizes Bureau, which is investigating profiteering conditions. Hero young captain just returned from overseas. Accused of a misunderstanding, dismissed from service and in despair, returns to old life, first robbing safe of benefactress. In the end girl is redeemed. A comedy and a news complete the bill. FITCHVILLE The various ministers during the special meetings of the Fitchville Baptist church have brought strong messages to the people. Friday evening the Rev. Chester H. Howe of New London, preached. His topic was The Church Christ Can Use. On Sunday there will be services as follows: 11 a. m., standard time, communion service, sermon by pastor, W. D. Hetherington, subject, The First Day After the Resurrection, 12.15 noon, song service, 1.30 p. m., song service with sermon by the pastor, topic, Christ

COLUMBIA Mr. and Mrs. George F. Taylor and son, of Willimantic, were callers upon Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Avery on Monday evening at their cottage on Green. The first ball game of the season in town this year was played on the Green between a club from Andover and the Columbia team, resulting in a score of 7 to 5 in favor of Columbia. Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Avery of East Hartford, who spent the week end and Memorial day at their cottage in town, returned to their home on Tuesday afternoon. Frank Russell of the Travelers Insurance Company, Hartford, a friend of Randall Porter, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Porter over the holidays. The funeral services for Mrs. Mabel Hunt, who was fatally injured on Thursday last when the automobile in which she was traveling to Norwich, was struck by a freight train at Williams Crossing and who died from her injuries in St. Joseph's hospital on Sunday, at 2 p. m. were held in Columbia Congregational church on Wednesday at 2 p. m. The services were conducted by the Rev. Harry S. McCready, pastor of the Congregational church in Willimantic. In the absence of Rev. T. Newton Owen, who is still in the hospital recovering from the injuries he received in the accident, a large number of relatives and friends from New London, East Hampton and other places were present at the funeral, filling the church. There were many beautiful floral emblems and sheaves contributed which entirely covered the casket, also the pulpit and rostrum. Rev. D. W. C. Willoughby, a professor in The Kennedy School Missions, will have charge of the services and preach in the Columbia Congregational church on Sunday morning, because of the illness of the pastor, Rev. T. Newton Owen. Mrs. Clayton E. Hunt, was suddenly called to the home of her parents in Providence on Thursday, her father, Elmon Goff being dangerously ill. If some men fail to get their just deserts they have cause for rejoicing.
