MAKES GOOD AT CAMP DEVENS

At the citizens' military training camp at Camp Devens, where 3,000 students, representing all the New England states are receiving instructions in military activities during August today (Friday) is President of the camp, Clinton Aterbury, having designated day for each of the New England states, each governor has been invited to visit Camp Devens on the date assigned to his state, to review and address the troops.

It is expected parents, relatives and friends from each state attend in large numbers. On these special days, there is a splendid opportunity of showing to those interested in the military training camp what has been achieved. In every possible way visitors will be cordially received and made comfortable, also necessary information will be given for their convenience. Proceeding and after the review there will be various kinds of athletic, competitive drill or mass calisthenics.

The C. M. T. C. this year includes three courses, red, white and blue, all groups to work in a unit. For the first ten days, the camp was divided into nine battalions, all receiving the same kind of instructions, whereas in previous years the fundamentals common to all branches of the service. Later, there were four battalions of infantry, two battalions of field artillery, one squadron of cavalry, and one mixed battalion of engineers, engineer company and two signal companies in the various branches of the service.

Colonel George Williams is the camp commander. On Friday important features among this democratic organization of young manhood from all walks of life is discipline. To accomplish this, the students who are there for one summer are divided into companies, and each company is given a name, and each company is given a name, and each company is given a name.

WELCOME THUNDER SHOWER

The hot spell which has held Norwich in its grip for the past week was broken Thursday evening when a thunder shower came from the west.

The fall of rain was slight but there was a desire of wind following the shower which was gratefully received by the sweltering public.

The heat of the current week by coincidence is similar to that of the week in 1872. For several days then the mercury hovered around 90 or better and the nights, according to the files of the Bureau, were described as "Turkish bath nights." However, on Thursday evening of the week there was a thunder shower and slight rain that for a spell brought light winds and a slightly cooler atmosphere.

SECRET OF A GOOD DISPOSITION

A woman who carefully safeguards her health benefits her disposition. She will be happy and attractive to all. The secret is unobtainable in pills, sweet women who are unhappy because they are held back from usefulness by troubles so common among them. Frivolous and nervousness rapidly destroy good dispositions. Slightly all-worn-out women cannot make happy homes.

Lyle's Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a safeguard of women's health. This is clearly proven by the many letters we are continually publishing in the paper from women who have been restored to health and happiness by its use after years of suffering. Why don't you try it?

MONMOUTH MEN BADLY INJURED WHEN AIR COMPRESSOR EXPLODES

Highway between Unweaville and Palmetown, had blowout in one of the tires on his automobile and he took it to the repair shop to be fixed.

Spencer and Manville were watching the operation when the compressor exploded, both men receiving the force of the explosion in their left legs. The injured men were in terrible pain and Dr. M. E. Fox who was called to attend to them removed to the Backus hospital for treatment.

Mr. Spencer's injury is a compound fracture and Mr. Manville suffered a compound fracture of the femur. Both men will be disabled for some time.

JACK ROSE STARTS CHAIN OF POST ROAD ROTISSERIE

Norwich people, especially those who recall a member of a local baseball team of past years, later very much in the world's eye, will be interested in the following from the Newwalk Hour:

The 16-acre Bates-Ridge tract, on the border lines between Norwich and Darby, which was sold last spring by Judge John Keogh to Jack Rose, will be devoted to a new and somewhat novel business venture with the opening of what is called a Rotisserie, the first place of the kind in Connecticut. The tract, which has a frontage of over half a mile on the Post road, will be cut up into farms of about an acre each and the land sold only to those who are interested in raising poultry.

HOME AFTER TOUR THROUGH NOVA SCOTIA

Mr. and Mrs. J. Dana Colt, Mrs. Harold Shearer, (Winifred Wells) of New York, and Mrs. Roger Holt, have returned home after a two weeks' automobile tour through Nova Scotia. The local party left Boston for Yarmouth and with guides enjoyed "four days' camping" on the Tusket river. After breaking camp, passing through Liverpool, Annapolis, Digby and other places of interest until they returned to Yarmouth, where they boarded the boat for London.

While in Nova Scotia the party landed several good catches of trout, and Mr. Ely cast for salmon in the Tusket river, but although several good fish were caught, they were not taken home. The party took along a complete outfit and missed but two nights in the open of the 15 nights of the trip, these two occasions being due to heavy rains which made camping impossible. Aside from the two rainy days.

GROTON IRON WORKS

Trustee T. LeRoy Harwood of the unkept estate of the Groton Iron Works has issued the following circular letter to some 1,500 creditors asking them to give them information as to the present status of the estate: Bankrupt Estate of the Groton Iron Works.

New London, Conn., July 5, 1922.

To the Creditors of the Groton Iron Works:

During the past two weeks we have negotiated with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., with a view to making a temporary rental of a part of the property for car repair work. We finally agreed on a plan which will give the railroad company the use of the blacksmith shop, the carpenter shop and the machine shop with the heavy equipment contained therein at a rental of $2,500 a month payable in advance. All the small tools in these buildings have been put away in the storeroom.

We have completed the inventory of the property and have a list of the machinery, tools and other equipment which we admit are covered by the mortgages and a separate list of tools and equipment which are not under the mortgages. Some of the small perishable supplies have been sold for a few hundred dollars. Later on we propose to dispose of an additional amount of personal property under permission of the court.

A force of about 25 auditors representing the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, or Department of Justice, has been working here for the past six months. This is being done to present a complete "check count", issued by the District of Columbia and approved by Judge Thomas of the United States District Court, under whose jurisdiction we are.

We understand that this work is solely in connection with the criminal case against C. W. Morse, et al. and that no information will be taken which could be used in defending the civil suit, which we have against the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation. Apparently this auditing effort will be in the office for some months longer but it is agreed that we are entitled to any information which they may secure which may be of value to the trustees of the estate.

The mortgage of approximately $90,000 which the estate of Jennie F. Morse, et al. holds against the property of the Groton Iron Works and which mortgage was subject to a first mortgage of $30,000 and accumulated taxes of about $18,000 was foreclosed in June at a public sale. The property brought less than $30,000 and was bought in by Jennie F. Morse to protect her mortgage. Inasmuch as there was no equity in the property for this estate no effort was made by the trustees to prevent foreclosure against the Nonan's property. The advantage of the trustee being the end of expenses for watchman, etc.

We are endeavoring with a small force to get our records into shape for the civil suit. It is possible that the trustee is co-operating with the officials of the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, in maintaining the property.

In July Judge Thomas of the United States District Court ordered the estate to appear in the suit brought by the United States against the Virginia Shipbuilding Co. and the Groton Iron Works. It is believed, however, that a determination of the amount due under the contracts. This suit is pending in Virginia and it is expected will come up for trial in October.

The United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation has proceeded in foreclosure of its mortgages through the superior court of the State of Connecticut. An executor is being made to have this matter set forth in the United States court in the interest of the creditors. This effort has not yet met with the approval of the shipping board officials or attorneys. The trustee for the trust is as possible the trustee is co-operating with the officials of the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, in maintaining the property.

The trustee has filed a counter-claim in this foreclosure action alleging breach of construction contract on the part of the United States Shipping Board. Generally the allegations set forth in the suit commenced by the Groton Iron Works against the trust Corporation are now pending in the federal court.

There are approximately 1,500 creditors and this circular letter is intended to answer questions which have arisen.

The advantage of the trustee being the end of expenses for watchman, etc.

We are endeavoring with a small force to get our records into shape for the civil suit. It is possible that the trustee is co-operating with the officials of the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, in maintaining the property.

In July Judge Thomas of the United States District Court ordered the estate to appear in the suit brought by the United States against the Virginia Shipbuilding Co. and the Groton Iron Works. It is believed, however, that a determination of the amount due under the contracts. This suit is pending in Virginia and it is expected will come up for trial in October.

The United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation has proceeded in foreclosure of its mortgages through the superior court of the State of Connecticut. An executor is being made to have this matter set forth in the United States court in the interest of the creditors. This effort has not yet met with the approval of the shipping board officials or attorneys. The trustee for the trust is as possible the trustee is co-operating with the officials of the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, in maintaining the property.

The trustee has filed a counter-claim in this foreclosure action alleging breach of construction contract on the part of the United States Shipping Board. Generally the allegations set forth in the suit commenced by the Groton Iron Works against the trust Corporation are now pending in the federal court.

There are approximately 1,500 creditors and this circular letter is intended to answer questions which have arisen.

GROTON IRON WORKS

Trustee T. LeRoy Harwood of the unkept estate of the Groton Iron Works has issued the following circular letter to some 1,500 creditors asking them to give them information as to the present status of the estate: Bankrupt Estate of the Groton Iron Works.

New London, Conn., July 5, 1922.

To the Creditors of the Groton Iron Works:

During the past two weeks we have negotiated with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., with a view to making a temporary rental of a part of the property for car repair work. We finally agreed on a plan which will give the railroad company the use of the blacksmith shop, the carpenter shop and the machine shop with the heavy equipment contained therein at a rental of $2,500 a month payable in advance. All the small tools in these buildings have been put away in the storeroom.

We have completed the inventory of the property and have a list of the machinery, tools and other equipment which we admit are covered by the mortgages and a separate list of tools and equipment which are not under the mortgages. Some of the small perishable supplies have been sold for a few hundred dollars. Later on we propose to dispose of an additional amount of personal property under permission of the court.

A force of about 25 auditors representing the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, or Department of Justice, has been working here for the past six months. This is being done to present a complete "check count", issued by the District of Columbia and approved by Judge Thomas of the United States District Court, under whose jurisdiction we are.

We understand that this work is solely in connection with the criminal case against C. W. Morse, et al. and that no information will be taken which could be used in defending the civil suit, which we have against the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation. Apparently this auditing effort will be in the office for some months longer but it is agreed that we are entitled to any information which they may secure which may be of value to the trustees of the estate.

The mortgage of approximately $90,000 which the estate of Jennie F. Morse, et al. holds against the property of the Groton Iron Works and which mortgage was subject to a first mortgage of $30,000 and accumulated taxes of about $18,000 was foreclosed in June at a public sale. The property brought less than $30,000 and was bought in by Jennie F. Morse to protect her mortgage. Inasmuch as there was no equity in the property for this estate no effort was made by the trustees to prevent foreclosure against the Nonan's property. The advantage of the trustee being the end of expenses for watchman, etc.
