BUCKET BRIGADE AND NORWICH FIREMEN COVE UGOSVILLE HOUSE

The house on the former Hubbard estate at Ucosville was considerably damaged by fire Monday afternoon. During the afternoon a fire had been built in the fireplace, and it thought that sparks set the roof on fire. The occupants of the house discovered the fire and the Norwich fire department was called on for aid.

Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft secured permission from Fire Commissioner Anson R. Grover to send Squad A to the scene. While awaiting the arrival of the Norwich firemen a bucket brigade was formed by neighbors and this served to hold the flames in check.

The crew on the squad wagon extinguished the fire with chemical after a quarter of an hour's hard work. The flames were beginning to spread when the firemen arrived and the house was threatened with destruction. It is understood that the loss will be in the neighborhood of $500, fully covered by insurance.

The property was formerly owned by the late Charles L. Hubbard. It is now a part of the estate of the late Walter E. Phipps. The house is of frame construction with shingle roof.

APPOINTS EDWARD J. HICKEY HARTFORD COUNTY DETECTIVE

Edward J. Hickey of Hartford, for several years an agent of the department of justice, has been appointed Hartford county detective, by Judge Haines of the superior court, on application and recommendation of State Attorney Hugh M. Brown, Judge Haines fixed Mr. Hickey's salary at $2,500 a year, payable monthly. The appointment becomes effective October 1.

Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft secured permission from Fire Commissioner Anson R. Grover to send Squad A to the scene. While awaiting the arrival of the Norwich firemen a bucket brigade was formed by neighbors and this served to hold the flames in check.

Mr. Hickey has been in investigation work for six or seven years. He did his previous work in the Hartford office of the naval intelligence bureau and also for State Attorney Hadial Hall of that county. He later came to the bureau of investigation of the federal department of justice in Hartford and gained considerable reputation as a detective. After the department of justice depleted its personnel in Connecticut, Mr. Hickey went to the state police as a special investigator and has been active for that department and also handled some of State's Attorney Brown's work.

The colored man was fined $15 and sent to prison for another month in the stomach, a Norwich man was fined $14.50 for intoxication and another Norwich man was put on probation until January 1 to keep peace at his home and stop drinking. Another Norwich man was fined $1 and costs for operating a car without registration. He paid $12.02.

OBITUARY

Alton H. Pearson Monday afternoon, Walton Hardin Pearson, 54, only child of Francis B. and the late A. Walton Pearson, of 45 Pearl street, died after a few days' illness, although he had been in impaired health for fully a year.

Mr. Pearson was a native of Willimantic but had been a resident of Norwich since early childhood. He was a descendant of John Pearson, who was associated with the manufacturing development of Norwich, about 1843.

His mother was Miss Frances Elizabeth Winsor, of a prominent, Brooklyn, Conn. family.

Mr. Pearson was educated in the Norwich schools and took up the electrical business being an efficient and thorough worker, who showed exceptional skill. He was well read and well informed and could converse interestingly on a wide range of subjects.

Following the death Feb. 16, 1929, of his father, A. Walton Pearson, for over 41 years associated with The Bulletin as a reporter, he continued the cultivation of the flowers which were always his father's delight and was most generous in his distribution of these blossoms. He was quiet in his tastes and was and only those friends who knew him best were aware of his keen sense of humor and his well stored mind. He was popular with his associate workers, while those by whom he was employed had confidence that whatever he set himself to do would be completed with skill and painstaking care. The news of his death Monday called forth many expressions of sincere sympathy for his mother, in her deep sorrow and sudden bereavement.

Henry D. Nichols, 65, secretary of the Musicians Protective Union of New Haven, died last Friday at a Norwich institution where he had been a patient for more than six months. He was born in England and was unmarried. His funeral services were conducted in New Haven and burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

Louis Philippe Roath

Following an illness of two days with pneumonia, Louis Philippe Roath, a well known resident of the city, died Monday morning at 11:15 o'clock at his home, 22 Warren street. Mr. Roath was seized with illness Saturday at 5:15 o'clock and failed to rally.

Mr. Roath, who was named by an aunt who was an admirer of the French "citizen king," was born December 25, 1853, in this city. His birthplace was near the bank of the Shelton river, near what is now called North Main street. His education was received in the public schools of Norwich which he attended until 1870. That year he left school and became a fireman on the old Norwich Worcester railroad, on which his old brothers were employed. After 15 months' service as a fireman he was promoted to locomotive engineer, and in September, 1892, at the age of 38, he became engineer of the passenger train continuing in that capacity until 1898, when he left the railroad service, after over 40 years of faithful work. He has since lived a retired life.

January 21, 1887, Mr. Roath was united in marriage with Miss Laura E. Swaine in Worcester. Two sons were born to the union, Clarence P. Roath of Norwich and Walter Roath of New Athens, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Roath made their home for some years on Roath street, in which their home stood until he came to him from his father, having been in the family for several generations. In politics Mr. Roath was a democrat. He never sought public office, although he served one term in the court of common council. Fraternally he was affiliated with Montacute lodge, P. and A. M. of Worcester, and with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He was a member of Trinity Episcopal church parish.

Announcement was made Monday that Mr. Roath was the donor of the $25,000 laboratory fund to the William W. Backus hospital of this city. At the time Mr. Roath made the gift he expressly stated that he did not want any public announcement made as to who gave the sum but that at his death it was to be made a fund in memory of his wife. It was his inherent modesty that made him give the amount in this way. This is due to a great extent to many of the deeds of kindness that he carried out during his long and useful life. His death Norwich loses one of its most prominent citizens and one that will long be remembered.

Surviving Mr. Roath are his two sons, Walter of New Athens, L. Clarence P. Roath of this city, three nieces, Mrs. Martin E. Jensen, Mrs. C. Boyce Rose and Miss Matilda B. Crandall, all of Norwich, and two nephews, Henry P. Parker of Norwich and Gerard L. Parker of Brookline, Mass. There are also three grandchildren.

DEALERS AND MAYORS TO DISCUSS COAL SITUATION

The state fuel distribution commission has called a statewide conference of wholesale and retail coal dealers to discuss anthracite price control in Connecticut for Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the capitol in Hartford. A similar conference of mayors and representatives of designated towns will be held on Friday at the same hour. State Administrator Russell will outline the plans of the commission for anthracite distribution to the various communities and will probably announce the appointment of local administrators for each community represented at the conference. The main purpose of the conference is, however, to obtain definite assurance regarding prices for anthracite.

Practically three-fourths of the anthracite dealers reports which were requested last week have been received by the commission at the capitol. Monday was the designated date which was set for the reports to be sent in and a further note will be mailed to the coal dealers. No attempt to total and classify the returns has as yet been attempted, but the reports will be used as a basis for distribution to the individual dealers as soon as shipments in any quantity begin to enter the state.

The list of prices per ton of anthracite at the mines as fixed by the large operating companies is as follows:

Table with columns: Company, Grade, Price per ton. Includes entries for W. L. & W., Williams and Peters, Leigh & Wilkes, etc.

GRAGAN AND THOMPSON IN NEW LONDON CITY COUNCIL

Thomas Gragan and Clarence W. Thompson, both anti-administration candidates, were elected to the city council at New London Monday at the second election for councilmen. The first election two weeks ago gave a majority to only two of the candidates for the four vacancies on the council and the special election Monday was necessary.

Those selected at the first election were John R. Murray and Malcolm J. Scott. Mrs. Annie C. Fenner and William D. Harris, the defeated candidates, were supported by the Good Government club.

HARVARD OVERTAXED BY HEAVY ENROLLMENT

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 25.—Several hundred new sons of John Harvard were walking the streets of Cambridge tonight, temporarily homeless, losers in the scramble for non-campus accommodations on Harvard's 25th opening day. Still other hundreds were thrown on the hospitality of friends for shelter, it was said, tonight, at the university.

The rush of students for enrollment at Harvard was expected to break all records, it was said, the attendance this year being estimated at $300 in college and graduate schools. The drawing for dormitory accommodations at Harvard's 25th opening day was expected to break all records, it was said, the attendance this year being estimated at $300 in college and graduate schools. The drawing for dormitory accommodations at Harvard's 25th opening day was expected to break all records, it was said, the attendance this year being estimated at $300 in college and graduate schools.

Oldest among the students enrolled today was Colonel George Lyon, Jr. of Omaha, Nebraska, who is 72. Colonel Lyon was graduated at Harvard in the class of '81, and went west immediately after leaving college. Now he has returned for graduate studies as long as he "intends to study as long as I live," he said today.

Another Harvard recruit who attracted considerable attention today was Robby Jones, a 19-year-old sports champion, and nationally known for his skill on the links. Jones entered as a junior, having already attained a southern college for two years.

Official returns at the entrance of Harvard college, announced tonight, show a first day enrollment of 2710 students, which sets a new record for the institution. The previous high figure was 2520 in 1921.

The division of students was given as follows: Seniors, 436; Juniors, 648; sophomores, 738; freshmen, 837 and out of course, 52.

STATE POLITICAL CONVENTIONS IN NEW YORK THIS WEEK

New York, Sept. 25.—With two state political conventions in New York this week—the first since Governor Miller dealt the death blow to the old direct primary system—political leaders of the city today began packing up their machines in preparation to heading off to where they will be reassembled immediately.

The republicans meet Wednesday in Albany, and it is regarded as certain that Governor Miller will be renominated and that Senator William M. Calder, of Brooklyn, will also be re-named. Local leaders are not going up the river with a gubernatorial machine. They are content to concentrate on the minor places on the ticket.

On Thursday, however, the democrats are expected to produce a real clash in Syracuse. Out of the resulting week-end preparations to heading off to where they will be reassembled immediately.

Most local leaders were willing to predict, however, that the ticket would be chosen to head the ticket. It will be William R. Hearst or former Governor Alfred E. Smith, or Mayor Hyman.

A peculiar situation has developed concerning the senatorial fight. As it stands now, Smith, beaten for governor might be named for senator, or the same thing might happen for Hearst. But in general, the leaders of the Supreme Court Justice Wagner, John H. McCooey of Brooklyn and others, believe Mayor Lunn will win the nomination.

WAS NO AUDIENCE FOR ANTI-PROHIBITION MEETING

Waterbury, Sept. 25.—An anti-prohibition meeting which had been called for yesterday afternoon in a local theatre with John S. Bolin and Patrick F. O'Meara of New Haven among the proposed speakers had to be called off for lack of an audience of size. There were only about fifty persons on hand.

BRIEF STATE NEWS

East Haddam.—The chief and waiters at Hotel Riverside have concluded their dispute for the week.

Hartford.—Considerable speculation is being exercised as to the identity of two men who roam the streets at an early hour in the morning, both being dressed in women's clothes, the two masquerading as females for some purpose unknown.

Hartford.—A mock trial at which the case was that of the Connecticut Junior Republic against Nathan Jacobson, defendant, charged with illegal use of tobacco was the scheduled attraction for the Monday afternoon luncheon of the Rotary club at the Hotel Bond. The programme was arranged by the "insurance representatives."

All the World as Work.

In 1911 the white population of the Union of South Africa was 1,274,321. Ten years later it had grown to 1,521,442. The colored population in 1921 was 5,404,350.

Steel Plant in India.

Plans are already well under way for the erection of a large capacity iron and steel works and rolling mill in India. The plans call for the use of the most modern improvements and labor-saving devices. Iron ore of high quality, suitable fluxes, and excellent coking coal occur close together, and in large quantities. This condition, in connection with the low-priced labor available in India, should contribute to the production of the steel at a remarkably low figure.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.
