

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Announcement was made Friday morning of an important real estate transaction in which the Charles H. Keach property at the corner of Cottage and High streets, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Frank X. Dubrule of Broad street. The new owners are to take possession at once. The Keach dwelling is one of the most attractive and finely located in the Cottage street section of Danielson.

Pupils in the School street grammar school and in the West Side school are striding out onto the highway along which every self-made man and woman has traveled in their quest for wealth. Pennies, nickels and dimes are now being slipped into money saving machines that have just been installed at these schools by the Danielson Trust company and Brooklyn Savings bank and the amount deposited during this, the first week of the saving campaign for school children, is surprising.

So enthusiastically have the young people taken to the opportunity afforded them to save their money that it has been necessary for the representatives of the banks to empty some of the slots within an hour of the opening. The aggregate amount saved is quite considerable.

The machines that are interesting the children are clever devices. They are made after the style of a gum machine and for the coin put in a saving stamp is issued and the stamps in turn are placed onto cards which, when filled, are turned into the banks and an account opened.

Clifford H. Starkweather of the trust company was pleased Friday over the manner in which the children have taken to the innovation and especially delighted because the practice of thrift is being instilled in so many youthful minds. Who will doubt that some of the pennies now being saved at the schools mentioned will not prove the foundation of some great fortune to be accumulated through the years.

Similar money saving machines are to be installed in other schools hereabouts within the next week, and there is no doubt in the minds of the bank officials that they will hold as much appeal for pupils in these schools as in the schools here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kennedy frankly admitted Friday morning that a visitation they received Thursday evening from members of the Roundabout Whist club was one of the thorough surprises for them in years.

It was the 24th anniversary of their wedding and they had received numerous remembrances from friends during the day, but not an inkling came to them of preparations of the club members to visit them in the evening. They were not quite prepared to find so many of their friends on hand when they answered a ring at the door, but quickly changed the situation and welcomed their guests for what proved to be an unusually happy evening.

The guests brought chicken salad, rolls, ice cream and other good things, including a wedding cake. What was played during the evening, Mrs. Kennedy rounding out her program by winning first honors for the ladies, while first honors for the men went to John A. Gilbert. The honors were a bride and groom cleverly made of candy and the handiwork of Mrs. Ethel Hale.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy were presented by their guests with a $5 gold piece. Danielson lovers of baseball will be at Putnam tomorrow (Sunday) for the final game of the year. Bill Martin's Danielson team has an engagement there with the Nightingale-Morse team that will wind up the series that now stands one and one. Cold weather this week has not chilled the ardor of the hundreds of fans that have been following this series very closely and are anxious to be present when the final toss comes.

At the home of Mrs. James Perkins on Maple street Friday afternoon a life funeral service for Mrs. Lucy Durice Perkins of Willimantic were conducted by Rev. Albert Jopson, pastor of St. Alban's church. Numbers of relatives and friends attended the service. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements. The bearers were C. A. Caspell, Frank P. Fenton, W. P. Perkins, S. O. Thomas, Floyd Sweet, and Fred Jones. Mr. Fenton sang during the service.

The Clark home, a historic hostelry standing at the four corners in West Woodstock for years, was conducted by the late William G. Clark, who lived to be 102 years old, has been sold by Elmer J. Corritt to Mrs. Amelia Noonan of Worcester. For years the hotel was popular

Every stable on Furnace street will be closed, the remaining horses kept there having been disposed of and the livery business discontinued. In the pasting of this business one may note the ascendancy of the automobile over the horse as a means of transportation on pleasure and short business trips. A quarter of a century ago the Kennedy stable included approximately 30 fine livery horses and a decade prior to that, William S. Brown, who built the stable, had about as many horses engaged in similar work. These horses were kept busy all of the time and many were the perovs when they were over-tired from serving the many calls made upon them. In those days the man that wanted a rig for Sunday had to get his order in not later than mid-week, and even then he was not always certain that there would be a horse available for him. But times have changed. Within the past decade the multiplication of public services and the demand for the service of livery horses and the development of state roads and year around automobile has finally entirely driven them out of competition. There is not a livery stable proper in Danielson now, where there were several large ones a score of years ago.

Only sales stables remain here and these must not be depended upon for horse hire should one desire the services of a rig for some purpose not suited to the use of an automobile. Suspension of the Kennedy livery stable in no way affects the other business enterprises carried on at the property. Only the stable has been discontinued. Friday evening a party of her friends gathered at the home of Mrs. George Wilson, North street, for the twelfth anniversary of a miscellaneous shower given her just prior to her marriage. Of the girls who were in attendance twelve years ago, all were present, with one exception, on Friday evening. Social diversions occupied the evening and refreshments were served. Mrs. Wilson received a number of gifts.

At a whist given in the W. R. C. rooms Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Clara Nadeau won first honors and consolation honors went to Mrs. A. E. Withington.

Mrs. Edwin H. Keach of Broad street had the members of the Ladies' Sewing society of St. Alban's church at her home for a meeting Friday afternoon. There is local interest in the fact that the Connecticut Aggies football team plays Trinity this (Saturday) afternoon.

Mrs. Atley Hopkins has been a recent visitor in Providence. Only a little more than a week remains for filing lists of taxable property with the assessors of the town of Killingly.

Mrs. George I. Eaton of Riverview had members of the Woman's Missionary society of the Baptist church at her home for a meeting Friday afternoon. Cards were received here Friday from Mr. and Mrs. Leonard P. Morrison, who have been spending a part of their honeymoon in Montreal. From that city they will motor to Toronto and Niagara Falls, returning through New York state and over the Mohawk trail.

Falling Leaves will be the subject of the address at the vesper services at the Congregational church Sunday afternoon.

High school students and former students had a delightful evening at the junior social at the high school on Friday evening. Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Greene are on a three weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Boston and vicinity. At Goodyear Mrs. William Hunter has been elected president of the Parents-Teachers association. Friday morning brought a freezing temperature for the second time this fall. The mercury was down to 30 degrees in many places about the borough. Rev. E. M. Salisbury of Griswold will hold a religious service at the home of William Warren in the Valley district Sunday afternoon.

PUTNAM

Dr. Harry W. Sharpe and Captain of Police Remi Delage have been summoned to appear in the U. S. district court at Boston Monday as witnesses for the government in the case of the two soldiers whom it is alleged, took part in the kidnaping of William Sharpe. While the young man was dancing on the pavilion at Alexander's lake an automobile drove up and from it stepped the young man's wife and daughter and two men in uniform. They induced Sharpe to enter the automobile, threatening anyone who might try to prevent it, and drove away. The party headed towards Providence, where Mrs. Sharpe, a much older person than her husband, lives. Telephone wires were kept busy and as a result Captain Delage and Dr. Sharpe started out in pursuit of the kidnaping party. The party was overtaken just over the Rhode Island line, where their car was found disabled beside the road. The automobile party did not take kindly to turning the young man over to his father, and not until Captain Delage fired a shot in the air from his revolver did they become subdued. The young man was brought home. Following this the wife appeared at length in print, telling of the father's act in taking her husband from her. Army officers became aware of the affair and the two soldiers were placed under arrest.

Since the attempt to get the young man which at the time considerably stirred up this town, where the family has lived for years, he has lived here at the home of his parents and nothing further has been heard about the matter, and thoughts of it had nearly disappeared until now, when the summoning of the two Putnam men to appear in court has again become the subject of conversation on the streets and in the homes of Putnam people. As far as known, no action has been taken against the wife, but there have been rumors of divorce proceedings on both sides.

Young Sharpe went to Providence to attend a business school. He got a job in the city and it was while looking in the home of the woman he married that the wedding took place. There has been an element of mystery and conjecture about this strange case which has furnished a subject of much discussion in this city.

Mrs. N. Waldo Kennedy of Eastford will sail next Wednesday for her old home in England, where she will spend the Christmas holidays, returning some time in January. It is many years since Mrs. Kennedy has been home. Her husband and son will remain in Eastford until she returns, when they may go south for the remainder of the winter.

W. S. Johnson of Church street has returned to Florida for the winter. E. L. Davis of Walnut street is also planning to go to the Peninsular State within a week. Mr. Davis will make the trip by automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Daigle of Hartford, recently returned from their wedding trip to Bermuda, are the guests of Mr. Daigle's mother on Smith street.

The method of keeping homes warm is under general discussion during this cold spell. Wood, coal and oil are the only available means of getting up steam except in a few instances where a lucky householder filled his bin with anthracite very early in the spring.

A three-stroke alarm clock struck 11 Friday morning gave the new motor-driven truck and ladies' truck its initial run on business. The truck arrived some weeks ago and had been given a number of tests before it was officially accepted, but Friday morning it responded to its first trial. None of the other pieces of apparatus, as the fire in the chimney was put out with a chemical tank.

Frank Hart, agent of the American Railway Express at Stafford, is visiting friends in Putnam. He was formerly with the company in this city and was promoted from the office here to become agent at Stafford Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Cortland D. Arnold will leave this (Saturday) morning for Phoenix, Ariz., to visit an uncle of Mr. Arnold, who has frequently visited in Putnam. They will be gone several weeks.

A return made to the town clerk's office shows that Oct. 16th Nathaniel P. Gibbs, a police officer of New Bedford, Mass. and Mettine Tripp of the same place were married by A. S. Macdonald, J. P.

Thursday evening in its wigwag on Pomfret street Wapquoasset tribe of Red Men fittingly observed the fourth anniversary of its institution. The council was held early and the sachem, Henry Hurdman, was on the stump. A fine supper was served at 7:30 o'clock, and then followed a social session during which there was an entertaining program presented. There were several oratorical selections, Mr. Shadow, Miss Estelle Delle, and Miss Florida Auger gave a recitation, Mr. Shadow, Miss Estelle Hurdman entertained with a Highland fling, and a short talk on the aims and objects of the order was given by the sachem. Deputy Great Sachem John P. Lehr of Hartford was the honorary guest of the evening, and he addressed the tribesmen on the welfare of the tribe and the degree of Pocahontas. Dancing followed until a late hour.

After the election is over the Putnam Chamber of Commerce plans to hold its first general fall meeting. A luncheon is being talked of. State Tax Commissioner Blodgett has been selected as one of the speakers of the vying. No date has as yet been decided upon but the meeting will be held early next month.
