DANIELSON

At the annual meeting of Mirial Lodge, No. 15, A. F. and A. M. Burdette C. Hopkins was elected worshipping master for the ensuing year.

Newly elected officers of McGreor Women's Relief corps are: President, Mrs. Edith L. Jordan; senior vice president, Mrs. Flora E. Kennedy; junior vice president, Mrs. Lucy E. Grover; Killingly High school's basketball squad is now engaged in daily practice and approximately 20 candidates are out for the team, which will have some of last year's championship organization as a nucleus.

Reports from W. Irving Billard state that he is now resting comfortably at his Beacon street home in Boston.

This week's Christmas sale by the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Congregational church was highly successful and netted $100.

In a very interesting historical review incident to the recent destruction by fire of the Whitestone mill at East Killingly, Judge James N. Tucker of that place makes mention of the fact that it was in 1823—nearly 100 years ago—that Captain Asa Alexander built a small mill near what is now the site of the destroyed Whitestone. This early mill was known as the Sacramento and also was destroyed by fire in 1855.

Basketball will be included among the activities of the service battery, 192nd Field artillery, during the winter season and next week baskets will be put in place so that practice may be undertaken. A pool tournament, also is being started among the battery members.

Reductions recently announced on school children tickets by the Connecticut company will be effective on the local lines, and will bring about a considerable saving for the many young people who use the service each day in going to or coming from school.

It is not separate yourself from any money in answering advertisements of so-called civil service schools that offer to fit you over night to take and pass examinations for railway mail clerks.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock funeral service for John E. Ames were conducted by Rev. C. C. Tibbets, pastor of the Methodist church. Burial was in Westfield cemetery.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hammett on Broad street Thursday afternoon at 2:30 funeral services for George M. Wood who died in New Rochelle were conducted by Rev. J. W. Hoick of the Baptist church.

Chief John MacFarland called attention Thursday to the fact that an increasing number of motorists are again in a careless period relative to maintaining headlight tail lights on their machines.

Edward Ray of Elmville is numbered among the students who have won a place on the honor roll in the College of Business Administration at Boston University, where 10,000 students are enrolled this year and where winning an honor place is exceedingly difficult.

The second preferred stock of the Connecticut Mills company has been sought this week by purchasers willing to pay $50 a share. The par value is $100. This is the issue that was held in the past spring to be practically without value.

While in Providence during the gale of Wednesday, Irving W. Davis saw a fire rope stretched along the sidewalk near the Rhode Island Hospital Trust building as an aid to those who did not care to be swept off their feet by the unseasonably rush of wind. Danielson business men are anticipating the first rush of the Christmas buying season on Saturday, which is barely two weeks ahead of the holiday. Stocks are ready to go as usual, those who buy early will get the best selections.

William Neely Mallory, captain of the Yale varsity football team for 1921; that was his record, Thursday for students at Pomfret school where "Memphis Bill" prepared for college and where he first gave evidence of the wonderful playing ability that has vented in a coveted distinction. Mallory was unanimously elected captain of next year's eleven at the annual football dinner at New Haven Tuesday.

It so happens that Mallory in his days at Pomfret school was a warm friend of Charles Euel, the Hartford boy who is this fall retiring as captain of the Hartford varsity squad, and their friendship has continued during the three years that Mallory has been at Yale. Mallory is 21 years old, weighs 175 pounds and is 5 feet 10 inches tall. He has been fullback on the Yale team the past two years and is rated as one of the best defensive backs who ever played at Yale.

After having been so critically ill for more than a week that his life had been despaired of, James B. Tatem, Sr., resident here for many years and long a prominent citizen of the city, died at his home Thursday morning. Mr. Tatem had not been in bed for several days, but his condition did not cause anxiety until a recent date.

Mr. Tatem was born in Phenix, R. I., April 15, 1856, a son of Rev. Henry and Abby M. (Kings) Tatem. His father was a Universalist clergyman and the family one of the oldest in Rhode Island.

In early life Mr. Tatem began to learn the business of shoemaking and as early as 1870 was engaged in this occupation. Eventually he went to Southbridge to follow his trade and from that Massachusetts town he came to Pomfret, where shoemaking was an important industry prior to the Civil war. After years Mr. Tatem became interested in the wood-working business and in 1887 he started in Pomfret following this line of work during all of the active years of his life and building up an industry that has continued to thrive and to produce goods that have an enviable name in the trade.

In 1887 a wood-working plant that he had established in Eastford was destroyed by fire. This plant was rebuilt. In 1897, Mr. Tatem having located in Pomfret the preceding year, he decided to operate with two establishments and started a plant at West Thompson supplementing the one in which he had been doing business in Eastford so many years.

Some years ago the West Thompson location was abandoned for the present plant on George street, this city. Today the Eastford plant operates as the J. M. Tatem Handle company, the proprietor being John M. Tatem, a son, while the Pomfret plant is known as the J. B. Tatem & Son Handle Manufacturing plant. The concerns turn out hockey sticks, golf sticks and other sporting equipment among the numberless items made in their plants.

Mr. Tatem was twice married. In Woodstock Oct. 18, 1878, Mr. Tatem was first united in marriage with Miss Mary Katherine Allen, who died Jan. 12, 1883. Two children born of this marriage are John Melvin Tatem of Eastford, one of that town's best known citizens, and Henry Allen Tatem, who is engaged in the wood-working business in Winston, N. C.

For his second wife, also a Woodstock resident, Mr. Tatem married on Jan. 1, 1873, Angie Sarah Kenyon, who survives him, with one son, James H. Tatem, Jr., of this city. Mr. Harrison, who was governor of the state, was a daughter, Mary Edith Tatem, born of Mr. Tatem's second marriage, died a number of years ago.

Though Mr. Tatem was never especially active in politics, his abilities were recognized by his fellow townsmen when he was a resident of Woodstock and in 1878 he was elected to the legislature from that town, serving during the session on important committees. He was again elected as senator from the old sixteenth senatorial district. For several years he was dairy commissioner of Connecticut, first appointed to this position by Governor Henry B. Harrison, who was governor from 1885 to 1887, and being reappointed by Governor Phineas C. Lounsbury, who served from 1887 to 1887. Mr. Tatem was always a staunch republican.

Mr. Tatem was a regular attendant of the Congregational church and liberal in its support. Formerly he was identified with the Royal Arcturion.

During the years of his residence in Pomfret he at one time was president of the Pomfret Light and Power company, had been a director and vice president of the Pomfret Water company, whose properties eventually were taken over by the city and he also was first president of the Pomfret Fair association and actively supervised the construction of buildings at the fair grounds, which were located south of the city on what is now known as Park street.

This territory will benefit, as will other sections served by the corporation, through the reduced rates that have been announced on school children's transportation books by the Connecticut company. The rates are in some cases less than half the regular fare and in others approximately half. The reduced rate will be especially beneficial to Trade school students who come here from towns to the south.

At a meeting of members of the Pomfret Country club to be held this (Friday) evening in Red Men's hall, the most important subject that is to be taken up for consideration is the proposal that the club purchase the property to the south of the city where its clubhouse and golf links are located. A plan under which the purchase may be brought about will be brought to the attention of the meeting this evening and explained in detail.

Frederick S. Camp, director of elementary education for the state board of education, recently made an inspection of the public schools of this city and expressed himself as well pleased with their standing and efficiency. This rating is very pleasing to those who are directing the educational activities of this town. It was also announced here on Thursday that Jesse B. Davis, state director of secondary education and a periodical visitor to the high school here, has been appointed to deliver a series of lectures at next year's summer school at Harvard university.

Only nine arrests were made in Pomfret during the month of November, the police report shows. Three of those arrested were in court for having been intoxicated.

NERVOUS, RUN-DOWN WOMAN.

Got Thin and Irritable. Took Wincarnis—now well.

"I was in a dreadfully run-down condition, terribly nervous and irritable. I lost flesh, and had no appetite. I had taken almost everything that was recommended to me, but could obtain no relief. In fact, I was getting worse."

A lady friend who had used Wincarnis for a similar case recommended it to me. It simply acted like magic. It is really astonishing how quickly it made me well again. Just a few doses brought back my appetite. My nervousness disappeared. I began to put on flesh again, and in a short time I was entirely well. I am certainly glad to recommend Wincarnis to all who are in a run-down, nervous condition."
