TWO FIRE CALLS FOR NORWICH DEPT

Two fires made calls for the Norwich fire department Monday, the first at 8:15 in the morning and the second at 11:30 in the afternoon.

The first was for a chimney fire in the Bronson rooming house in Durkee lane, which had probably been smoldering all night, in the opinion of Chief H. L. Stanton. The call came to the fire station by messenger and men were sent with a tank of chemical to take care of it. Later developments when two floors were chopped open to get at the blaze caused for much concern and the lines of hose were laid but only one used. The firemen also used 40 gallons of chemical. Two rooms in the house were damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars but the damage to furnishings was small. The building is owned by the Sunlight Building Co.

Employees of the newspaper staff of the Bulletin smelled smoke at various times during Sunday night and early Monday morning but were not able to detect where it came from.

At 8:00 and Cotton Co. Fire, which probably started from a breaker, called the department in the afternoon about 2 o'clock on a call which got to the factory of American Gauge and Cotton Co., 65 Otis street. The fire was on the first floor of the building. A line of hose was laid and the blaze was quickly extinguished with little damage.

POSTPONED HEARING IN NEW LONDON BUILDING CASE
A hearing which was scheduled to take place before Attorney Hibberd E. Norman of Norwich, as a committee of the superior court in New London Monday morning No. 5, United States vs. William W. Williams, contractor, against Duca, and others on the amount and priority of mortgages and liens on the Highland apartments in Granite street, New London, erected by George Duca and Augustino DiNoto of Los Angeles, former contractors, was postponed until next Monday.

The postponement followed a conference of meeting last week between counsel for creditors who informed the committee that developments had arisen which made it advisable to continue the hearing. Attorney Norman continued the hearing at next Monday when a further continuance will be granted should it be deemed necessary.

Rev. Francis H. Rose who with his family is passing a few weeks at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Rose of Wauwacoh hill, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church, Sunday morning.

Robert Beetham of Wauwacoh hill butchered two pigs Saturday afternoon, which when dressed weighed 304 pounds. There was only a slight difference in the weight of each, one having tipped the scales at a few pounds less than 400, while the other went over that mark by a few pounds.

By invitation of Mr. Beetham a company of his friends from Greenville and vicinity, went to his farm on the day mentioned, each having lent a helping hand in dressing the pigs, which were just eleven months and 23 days old. Mr. Beetham who had offered two prizes for guessing on the weight of the pigs, was the lucky winner, he having guessed 756 pounds, a difference of only nine pounds from the correct weight. Four others placed the weight at 750 pounds. Mr. Beetham's daughter, Miss Grace Beetham, passed around slips of paper, on which the figures were written each unknown to the other, until the numbers were compared. Those present who entered into the guessing contest with Mr. Beetham were Frank, Herbert, Henry, Charles and Frederick Prodd and Charles Fendleton.

At 7 o'clock Mrs. Beetham served a delicious chicken supper with all the fixings, being assisted by her daughters, Grace, Alice and Dorothy Beetham. During the evening Charles Prodd sang a solo.

Previous to the address there will be a short discussion by the league on the Duty of the United States in the Eastern Crisis.

CONNECTICUT WOOL SUIT IS PRESENT POSSIBILITY

A suit made of pure Connecticut wool! The thought will strike the average citizen as a flight of fancy in this day and age, though there is no basis in fact for that attitude. Approximately 25,000 pounds of raw, Nutmeg state wool have been manufactured into 6,000 yards of cloth and 600 bed blankets. If you happen to see one of these lucky divided skirts, you may wonder how the native suitings, for there are some 250 distributors scattered throughout the state, most of whom are the farmers who raised and sheared the sheep. Somewhere in the neighborhood of 8,000 sheep of the Nutmeg state live their heavy growth of wool in the shearing process, yet most folks had no idea that the wool of their own state is being used for the making of many of all of New England.

In discussing the wool situation from a Connecticut standpoint, Frederick S. Chapman of Old Saybrook, vice president of the local Sheep Breeders' association, imported the above statistics and intimated during the course of his conversation that the sheep raising industry within the state was due for some change, for the interests must be taken as a criterion, there will be ample co-operation on the part of the farmers in taking advantage of the situation.

Under the direction of the Connecticut Sheep Breeders' association, upwards of 250 farmers pooled their wool and the entire bulk, amounting to 28,000 pounds, was consigned to the Q. Smith, officer of the guard, Ivan Olson; trustee, J. A. Hagberg; adjutant, Milo H. Waters; quartermaster, C. N. Burdick.

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell was elected an honorary member of the camp and was initiated during the session Monday night.

POETRY

THE COMPOST OF THE STARS.
When I am overwhelmed by petty care
And things of earth loom large, and
Look to be
Of moment how it soothes and comforts me
To step into the night and feel the air
Of heaven fan my cheek; and, best of all,
Gaze up into those all-enriched seas
Where swim the stately planets; such
As these
Make mortal life seem light and temporal.

I miss on what of life may yet remain
These spaces knowing naught of time
Untroubled of dramas played in life
Most stark,
And lyrics by archangels grandly sung.

I grow familiar with the solar zones
And comprehend the words of mystic birth;
Ringed Saturn, Mars, whose orbit
I see the orbit of the earth;
And Jupiter, the giant with his crown
Then, gazing with the compassable night
Rebuked by vast uncharted space,
I'm glad that I am here,
My trouble merged in wonder and in love,
—Richard Burton.

A CERTAIN YOUNG LADY
There's a certain young lady
Who's just in her heyday
And full of all mischief, I mean
So teasing! So pleasing!
Capricious! Delicious!
And you know very well whom I mean!

With an eye dark as night,
Yet than morning more bright,
Was ever a black eye so keen?
It is he who shall win her!
With a beam of intelligence,
And you know very well whom I mean!

With a steady step—such as
You'd expect in a duchess—
And a smile to revive one again!
With a mighty proud air,
That says "touch me who dare!"
And you know very well whom I mean!

With a toss of the head
That strikes one quite dead,
But a smile to revive one again!
The smile so appalling,
The smile so entrancing!
And you know very well whom I mean!

Confound her! de'il take her!
—The best of times is a smooth time,
But god bless her! God bless her!
—New York Sun.

Heaven help the adorer
Who happens to bore her,
The lover who wakens her spleen;
But too-blest for a sinner
Is he who shall win her!
And you know very well whom I mean.
—Washington Irving.
