

Indiana State Sentinel.

INDIANAPOLIS, DECEMBER 22, 1849.
Our Terms.
The following will be the permanent terms of the Weekly Indiana State Sentinel.

Washington, Dec. 18.
Senate was engaged in arranging standing committees, and when it got through, it adjourned until tomorrow.

House.
Father Mathew appeared on the floor and a resolution was passed giving him a seat in the bar. He also visited the Senate and was introduced to the Vice President and members.

House.
Several resolutions and propositions of no particular interest, followed by storm, confusion, fun, and folly.

Death of Wm. Quarles, Esq.
It is with great pain, that we record the decease of WILLIAM QUARLES, Esq., one of the most distinguished lawyers of this city, who died on Thursday night last, at the residence of his relative, ROBERT L. WALPOLE, Esq.

REGULARS.—One Wednesday night last, the burglars were busy in our city. We learn of only two places where they were successful, though we hear rumors of other attempts.

The Message of Gen. Lane to the Oregon legislative assembly, attracts the attention of the press every where, as we anticipated it would. About one in ten note the fact that it was first published in the Indiana State Sentinel.

Our neighbor of the State Journal thinks we should abuse Mr. Brown, for fear he may beat our junior for Congress again. This is just the reason why we think we should not abuse Mr. Brown.

A certain good old deacon's hat blew off and led him a long chase after it through the street. At length the deacon became exhausted in the race, and pulled up against a post by the sidewalk.

Our neighbor of the State Journal thinks we should abuse Mr. Brown, for fear he may beat our junior for Congress again. This is just the reason why we think we should not abuse Mr. Brown.

A CARD.

Gentlemen—Enclosed is a card which I published in the Union in relation to the late contest for Speaker. It speaks for itself. I ask you to publish it, with the speech of Mr. Wilnot. It explains the circumstances under which I was voted for as Speaker. I declared to the free-soil men that if elected, I would appoint committees on the Judiciary, the District of Columbia, and on Territories, composed of able and impartial members from both the North and the South, who would act fairly and not stifle the public voice, by refusing to report upon the important questions of slavery that might be presented.

Mr. Wilnot's remarks will explain my vote.
Mr. WILNOT said that he had had a conversation with the gentleman from Indiana, (Mr. Brown,) of which, with the permission of gentlemen, he would state the substance. He (Mr. W.) expressed to that gentleman the conviction, which he honestly entertained, that the public voice, in respect to the great question which now agitated this country, would be better served by the free-soil men of this House, all that he, and those who were associated with him, asked, or desired, was a fair opportunity to give expression to the great public sentiment of the people of the country.

HOUSE.—Several resolutions and propositions of no particular interest, followed by storm, confusion, fun, and folly.
