SPECIAL TO THE RECORD-UNION.

SAN FRANCISCO WORKINGMEN.

The Democratic Wing Urged to Keep Away from the Sand Lot.

PASSENGERS FROM THE EAST BY RAIL.

Accidental Death of a Young Hunter in Napa County.

CALIFORNIA.

Democratic Wing of the W. P. C. The Freeholders' Charter.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9th.—The State Central Committee of the Democratic wing of the W. P. C. met this evening and effected a temporary organization by choosing J. H. Gray temporary President, D. J. Gordon was appointed Secretary pro tem, and Eugene Hoy, J. P. Nonnam and F. M. Clough were appointed a Committee on Permanent Organization to report on Sunday next. A resolution was adopted requesting all persons in sympathy with the W. P. C. to refrain from any act tending to reflect discredit on the party. This was aimed at the occurrence of last Sunday at the sand lots. With regard to the probability of a violent collision at the next Sunday's sand lot meeting, the committee advised all their adherents to abstain themselves, and allow the Greenbackers to have the sand lot to themselves. The following were appointed a committee to draft an address to the people: F. M. Clough, E. J. Gallagher, J. F. Nonnam, Denis Geary, William Kenne, John A. Barbour and James Walsh.

The Executive Committee of the Real Estate Protective Association held a long meeting this afternoon and decided to favor the adoption of the freeholders' charter, believing that while not just what it should be, it was better to adopt it than to hazard repeated expensive elections, resulting perhaps in some worse instrument. It is understood they are backed up in their resolution by the Taxpayers' Union.

A Sad Affair—A Young Man Accidentally

NAPA, July 9th.—Edward Stanley, only son of Judge Stanley, was fatally shot in Pope valley yesterday afternoon while out hunting. The rifle he was carrying was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through his liver and intestines. He lived one hour and three-quarters, and was conscious up to within ten minutes of his death. His father, a lawyer in San Francisco, was telegraphed for, and is expected to arrive to-day.

Arrested for Libel.

WATSONVILLE, July 9th.—William H. Wheeler was arrested here to-day on a charge of libel, and is now out on bail. He is the editor of the Watsonville Transcript.

AN ECONOMIC MOVEMENT.

VIRGINIA, July 9th.—Savage is about to commence building a canal across the State. It will be done in the Cholera-Norcross-Savage drift toward the Savage incline on the 2,400-foot level, on the 2,300-foot level and in the incline, and will save $15,000 per month now expended for pumping.

Missing Sheriff Returned.

CARSON, July 9th.—Hill, the levying Sheriff of Ormsby county, returned to-night. He makes no explanation of his conduct.

Reno "Gazette" Sued for Libel.

RENO, July 9th.—James H. Kinkead has sued the Reno Gazette for $15,000 damages for publishing the speeches made at a meeting of creditors of the Reno Savings Bank Tuesday evening, and the facts in connection with the failure. Kinkead was manager of the bank.

Doane, Wyoming; Miss Temple, Oakland; Miss Grace Snow, Iowa; Mrs. H. Paulsen, New York city; Master Louise Paulsen, New York city; Robert Dunc, Chicago; 45 emigrants, including 24 males, to arrive in Sacramento July 11th.

ARIZONA.

TUCSON, July 9th.—The census of Tucson shows the population to be within a fraction of 7,000 inhabitants. Pima county will foot up about 24,000, being an increase of about 21,000 in ten years.

The track of the Southern Pacific Railroad is now laid seven miles east of Benson. The Western Union Telegraph line is within seven miles of Tombstone. Rains have fallen daily in the southern mining districts during this month.

The average degree of heat during the middle of the day for the past week was 92°. The tide of travel to Arizona is again setting in. Many are coming overland from Leadville, Col.

OREGON.

Items from Portland.

PORTLAND, July 9th.—The weather is cool and cloudy. A slight shower fell last night. A man named Eric Kiskila was drowned yesterday at the West Coast Packing Company's works near Astoria. He was tackling his boat, and being struck on the breast by the swinging boom, was knocked overboard. The night was intensely dark and a strong breeze blowing at the time. All efforts to save the unfortunate man proved unavailing. His body has not been recovered.

A fire broke out last night at Independence, Clatsop county, at 11 o'clock. It originated in the back part of Lines' furniture store, and is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, as no fire had been in the building for over a week. It burned Erow's steam planing and sash factory; loss, $4,000; no insurance. D. J. Whiteaker's building; loss, $800; no insurance. M. M. Lines' furniture store and building, $3,500; insured for $1,500 in the Commercial Union. Miss Jennie M. Allen, millinery, $1,200; insured for $700 in the Commercial Union. T. J. Fryer's building, $400; insured for $200. H. Hirschberg's dwelling and contents, $10,000; no insurance. Several others lost by moving goods, mostly covered by insurance.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Another Murderer Captured.

Point Townsend, July 8th.—Indian Agent Willoughby has succeeded in the capture of the third murderer of the Indian boy recently killed at Neah Bay. He is a Nitic Indian, and is now in jail in Victoria.

The following is a play upon letters as well as words, by one of the G. A. R.:

The solution of the G. A. R. FIELD or at home Will stick to the Republican nominees.

The Denver and Rio Grande now runs to Malta, Col.

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

Englers are making times lively in Tucson, A. T.

Good hay is now selling at $40 per ton in Denver, Col.

At the Gold Hill (Nev.) barbecue 2,500 persons sat down to the tables.

The contract for the Mono county Courthouse has been awarded for $23,750.

The census shows the population of San Jose to be 12,472, an increase of 1,059 in 1879.

The San Antonio falls, Calaveras county, are said to be 150 feet in perpendicular height.

A ledge of black marble is reported to have been discovered in the upper Skagit valley. The ledge is about one and a half miles from San Juan, in the peak called Annie's Castle, and has been traced for two miles. It is said to be very extensive.

The final payment of $1,900,000 on the Horn Silver mine of Utah was recently made in New York city, making the total amount for this bonus $3,900,000. This sum has been shared equally between Messrs. Campbell, Cullen, Bryan and Ryan, who purchased the mine for $25,000 originally.

The Nevada City Transcript speaking of the general course of the recent mining developments of Snow Point, says such strikes are common in that country, and winds up as follows: To sum the whole matter up in a nut-shell, this section has more and better mines for legitimate operators than any other part of the world.

The Homestake Company, D. K. H. and has about $500,000 invested in the mines here, for sixteen months past, paid a monthly dividend of $20,000, making an aggregate of $480,000 already paid upon an investment of only about $20,000 more than that; and out of its surplus fund the company is building another 120-stamp mill, which will enable it to increase its dividends to $50,000 a month.

It would appear that mining was done cheaply under favorable conditions in distant Arizona. A Tucson correspondent of the Arizona Daily Star writes: At Ogilby station, 15 miles from Tucson, is a quartz mine. The ore is mined in the mountains, three miles away, for 75 cents per ton, hauled to the railroad by 12-mule teams for $1 per ton, and taken to a rich Englishman by rail, for 50 cents more. So it costs $2 25 per ton to get ore from the mine to the mill, which there produces $30 to the ton, thus paying a very good profit.

ART MATTERS.

AVENUE OF MEISSNER.—The illustration of a painter, Meissner, is the hero of numerous anecdotes, some of them, we apprehend, more entertaining than authentic. Here is one of the latest: Meissner decidedly refuses to be patronized.

It is related that a rich Englishman came to him one day and offered him $1,000 if he would paint his portrait and agree to finish it in a fortnight. "If you fail," he added, "I shall deduct $5 a day until you have delivered it. I shall give you another $1,000 if you do not deliver it in the time." "But I won't insist on the deduction if you'll agree not to detain me very long." "Detain you?" echoed the artist. "I won't detain you another second. There is the door. Go!" "What—what's the matter?" inquired John Bull. "What is all this row about?"

It means that you have mistaken your man. You think you are exclusively an animal painter. I paint horses and dogs, but curs never."

ART EMBROIDERY.—A writer in the London Quaker takes a retrospective glance at the revival in England, within the past few years, of the almost lost art of decorative needlework as applied to secular purposes. He shows how greatly it has added to the commercial industry of that country, and how it has been the means not only of furnishing elegant amusements to thousands of gentlemen, but also of profitable occupation to a still larger number of needy women who have found by it a means of livelihood. In the United States, while we have followed the fashions set by our British sisters, we have often improved on our models. The value of the services rendered by the various decorative art societies throughout the country, in furnishing competent instructors and finding a market for the work of pupils, cannot be easily overestimated.

NEW BLINDS.—A blind largely used in Holland and Belgium is beginning to find favor in England, and probably will soon make its way to this country. It hangs closely to the window, is made of muslin, with large medals on pattern work on lace inserted in the middle. To the bottom of the blind is generally attached a small border, which can also be continued on the two sides. The great advantage claimed for this blind is that although it does not exclude the light, but rather subdues it, it completely shuts out the view in the room from the gaze of the outer world. It can be made to roll up either from the top or bottom. The bottom method is preferable, owing to the lesser strain on the muslin.

FURNISHING.—A serious source of discord in a room is a want of balance or consistency; silk curtains and wicker furniture coverings; a rare mahogany cabinet flanked by two chairs, and a table of the early Victorian era; and in ornaments, Bohemian glass mixed up with old Venetian. There must be an equality maintained throughout. No mahogany in a room, a certain key, and if allowed to fall out of it for the sake of variety, should speedily return into its normal channel.

HOUSE DECORATION.—That purity of style which insists on every article, even to the time-worn and fire-irons in a room, having the same points of family likeness, is a dull, narrow, ungenial thing, and those who advocate it fail to recognize the broad principles underlying all true art whatsoever. Art is not a matter of custom itself to see clearly when and where to introduce furniture or trinkets of a different order into a room already furnished in a certain style.

MUSEUMS.—The American museums are to be congratulated on the appointment of Gaston L. Fenardant and Henry de Morgan by the French Government as its agents in this country, to facilitate, in connection with their scientific expeditions and effect exchanges of anthropological specimens. Both gentlemen are learned archeologists, and are the pioneers of their profession in the United States.—[Art Amateur.]

ADRIEN MARIE.—Hardly any French painter of to-day has won in a short time such popularity as a delineator of the simple phases of home life as has the subject of our sketch. Adrien Marie is not yet 32 years old, but he already bids fair to become for France what Millais is for England—the painter of babies par excellence.

LAMPS.—Circular and hexagonal hinged lamps, with bright, brass frames, hinged bottoms and leaded glass or bull's-eye, in the early English style, have a large sale.

There are funeral ministers, gentlemen who carry around with them an air of professional solemnity; they carry it even in their hat bands and pocket handkerchiefs, and look continually as if gently laid out in their coffins. There was a minister of this sort called on to marry a young couple. He stretched out his hands and unconsciously began the burial service. "Sir," spoke up the young man, "we came to be wedded, not buried!" To which the gentleman of the cloth responded, "It will be many years before you'll wish you'd been buried."

MINING NOTES.

Five hundred miners are employed at the new camp, Tyler, in North Park.

A new mining district has been organized on Green creek, eight miles from Bridgeport, Mono county.

The Chollar mine on the Comstock is to have hydraulic pumps which will handle 1,600 gallons per minute; the present pumps 900. Total 2,500 gallons. Present influx of water, 1,750 gallons per minute.

A ledge of black marble is reported to have been discovered in the upper Skagit valley. The ledge is about one and a half miles from San Juan, in the peak called Annie's Castle, and has been traced for two miles. It is said to be very extensive.

The final payment of $1,900,000 on the Horn Silver mine of Utah was recently made in New York city, making the total amount for this bonus $3,900,000. This sum has been shared equally between Messrs. Campbell, Cullen, Bryan and Ryan, who purchased the mine for $25,000 originally.
