TRUTH & FRAUD! WE HEREBY GIVE NOTICE

ONCE UPON A TIME, "TRUTH" AND "FRAUD" LAID DOWN TO SLEEP, AND WHILE "TRUTH" SLEPT, "FRAUD" STOLE AND DRESSED HIMSELF IN "TRUTH'S" CLOTHES; THEREFORE, "TRUTH" HAS GONE NAKED EVER SINCE!

WEBSTER, THE GREAT LEXICOGRAPHER, defines "TRUTH," as conformity to "Reality or Fact;" "Exactness;" "Honesty;" "An Established Principle." The opposite of this is "FRAUD," signifying "Deception;" "Deceit;" "Trick;" "Breach of Trust." TRUTH and FRAUD travel side by side, and it is ever the aim of FRAUD to present the semblance of TRUTH.

The half of the Business Advertisements of to-day are nothing more than well-dressed Frauds, written for the purpose of Deception, Deceit, Trick, and a Breach of that Trust that was placed in these Advertising Houses by the people, and we hereby warn the people against all such Advertising, and most earnestly advise the public to sift the matter to the very core.

If a house advertises BLACK SILK, at $1 25, worth $2 25—go to that house, and if you find they have not got the article, write "Deception" against that house, and travel to the next; and, if after inspection, you find you have been misled, shut right down on that house, and write "Deceit" on it. And on to the next; try them all thoroughly, sift them, weigh them in the balance, and if they are found wanting, write down "Trick," and give up trading at those houses at once and for ever—they have committed a "Breach of Trust," and filled Mr. Webster's Bill of Fraud to the letter.

Now, then, for a Test Case:

HALE BROS. SATURDAY NIGHTS, PAY DAYS

"CRITERION" GENUINE BLACK FRENCH CASHMERE, MEASURING 46 INCHES WIDE, FOR 75 cents per yard. WORTH AT LEAST $1 15.

We wish the public to see it, inspect it thoroughly, measure the width, and pronounce judgment. We are anxious that the crucible shall be applied to the CRITERION. Make the ordeal as stringent as you please, and our record will be all the brighter. The CASHMERE is only one item in our varied and extensive stock. Each Department is plethoric with perfect goods, and at the Lowest Prices. Our Firm is aware that its prices are an enigma to the Trade generally, although we have explained it more than once. Yet, "Having eyes to see, they see not; and ears to hear, they hear not, neither do they understand." The fact is, they are troubled with a moral obliquity of vision; they won't see. The Combination want their old prices, and it may be said of these houses: "Ephraim is joined to his idols, let him alone." As for our house, we are determined to serve the people, advance with the people—the times demand it; not without our "Mead of Pottage," for we will not sell without remuneration, but our great forte is to spread that profit equitably all around. We find the system works healthily. We have Five Houses on the Coast; therefore it has been well tried, and works like a charm.

In conclusion, let us say one word of consolation to the Combination: We, HALE BROS., do frankly look over all your little mean tricks. We forgive you for saying that "Our House was fit only for the Poorest of the Poor." The poor are trying it everyday, and they find it pays them. We forgive you for the threatening letter, "for you know not what you do."

"INVINCIBLE IGNORANCE" IS A TERRIBLE THING TO CONTENT AGAINST; BUT IT OPENS A DOOR FOR YOUR ESCAPE.

But, in justice to ourselves, let us remind you that the firm of HALE BROS. will take no back-water; that we will not "Down" under any of your threats, and that your Combination may thank their particular Providence that they had merciful opponents to contend with.

TO THE PUBLIC: We are contemplating extensive alterations in our premises. Our Immense Combinations from the East about to arrive, and our fast increasing business, demand more space. Due notice will be given of the alteration.

Heartily thanking you for your support, we remain, very truly yours,

HALE BROS. "Criterion," No. 812 K street, Sacramento.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY

Visit to the Fair Grounds at Petaluma. ENTHUSIASM OF THE PEOPLE. Brief Remarks by the President and Others—Races.

Petaluma, September 10th.—President Hayes left San Francisco at 9:20 for Petaluma, on the steamer San Rafael. He was accompanied by General Sherman, Secretary Ramsey and his son. He explained that the ladies of his party were so much fatigued after the excitement and exercises of yesterday that they could not attend. Governor Perkins and General McComb were in the party. On reaching the steamer the President was greeted by I. G. Wickersham, E. S. Lippitt and A. E. Overton of Petaluma, and was escorted on board. Four staterooms, elegantly furnished and decorated with flowers, were placed at the disposal of the party. The President, however, preferred to stand on the after deck, viewing the scenery and conversing with those who were introduced to him. At San Quentin the elegant Director's car of the North Pacific Coast Railroad, which also owns the steamer, was waiting to receive the guests. At the train moved off the President stood on the rear platform and waved his hat to an enthusiastic assemblage, which cheered vociferously. The party was transferred at the junction to a special train of the S. F. and N. P. R. R., a palace car being set apart for the use of the President and his friends. Groups of San Rafael people cheered the President and General Sherman as they left the station. The President again took his place on the rear platform, and removed his hat to every one who saluted him on the road. On his way he spoke of his agreeable surprise in the appearance of the country. From what he was told he expected to find everything brown and covered with dust, while in reality he viewed a rich yellow covering the ground. The train proceeded to Petaluma, where the reception here is under the auspices of the Directors of the Marin and Sonoma District Agricultural Fair.

A large crowd was assembled at the station. F. W. Shattuck delivered a neat address of welcome in behalf of the Directors of the fair. He spoke of the pride Californians have in their State and the people of Sonoma and Marin counties have in their district, saying that if the Garden of Eden was not located here it ought to have been. President Hayes replied simply by thanking the committee for the welcome, and said he would now proceed to enter the Garden of Eden. Carriages were in waiting, and, preceded by a band of the Hewston Guard, St. Patrick Cadets, and the Swiss Society, paraded through the principal streets into the fair grounds. The streets were thronged with people, who cheered as they echoed the Presidential carriage passed. There was a handsome display of hunting along the line. A salute of 21 guns was fired, and the bells of the town rang out a welcome. All Petaluma and all the neighboring country were represented at the grounds. The grand stand was crowded, and there was a large number of people seated in carriages, and throngs of men stood around. The parade of stock was started immediately at the arrival of the party at the grand stand. When he reached the top of the stairs there was a general clapping of hands.

REMARKS OF THE PRESIDENT. When the stock parade was concluded, J. McM. Shafter, a Director of the Association, in a brief address, introduced the President. In reply, President Hayes, who was greeted with cheers, spoke in substance as follows: "Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: I am very much obliged to the President of the Agricultural Society and to the Association for the opportunity of enjoying this event with you. I am, perhaps, very familiar with agricultural fairs. I cannot claim to be a farmer, as perhaps is the Secretary of War [great laughter]—for he is almost everything [applause]—but I have an experience in attending agricultural fairs. From the first time I held a public position I considered I could not spend the time more usefully than by adding something by my presence to the events as these. The farmers, in all time, are the great workers, and will be in all time to come. We have manufactures and mining, but at last humanity has to arise refreshed from the earth. Even to-day the profits of agriculture in the country very largely more largely than any other interest, contribute to the stored property in which the whole country is now relying. I shall have to make a little qualification to do this as it is common for the East to believe that the mining industry is not altogether as prosperous as in former years, but that the permanent industry is agriculture. The capitalist and the skilled labor are enjoying a degree of prosperity never surpassed in any country, or any age, I am glad to be here to enjoy the agricultural fair, if I can for a few moments contribute to its interest. As I came along on the cars I began to think over, as many people do, when they are to make an extemporaneous speech, what I should say to you. Now, I intend to do what very often I do not do to my dear friends, my gentlemanly friends of the press, and what many of the interesting and entertaining corps of gentlemen connected with newspapers attempt to do in their own way, as I sometimes do with them. An interview [laughter] is a conversation. Now, I don't know which way to face. It is one of the questions to face everybody. So I will look where the Secretary of War would look—where most of the ladies are. [Laughter and cheer.] And I intend to do the same, a stranger comes to your town or your country, or even to your home, you say: 'Well, I wonder what he thinks of us.' This interview shall give my views of California. How philosophical and valuable they may be, you may judge when I tell you I came into California a long time ago. It may be 40 or 45 years ago. I don't remember the exact date. [Laughter.] I came to California in a different way from that in which the 49ers came. But they have not much reason to boast of their way of getting here. General Sherman says he came in a ship around the Horn. I came into San Francisco in a steamship, and not very far from the Horn. [Laughter.] I did not have much to do with the Horn, though."

Secretary Ramsey quaintly interrupted the President, saying he supposed he would be charged with that too. The President, resuming, said: "I think the Secretary of War did. [Great laughter.] First, after passing the peaks of the Sierra, I came by steamboat into California across Lake Tahoe, at my destination of 6,200 feet. If there is a more beautiful view of scenery in the world than Lake Tahoe I would be glad to visit it. I began with a good impression of California. When Gen. Sherman and I first talked of this trip we thought of coming when the green hills were in their glory, and the flowers were in bloom, but last spring, at the end of the short session of Congress, there was a special session, and I could not come. I was told when we determined to visit California in the fall that the country would be looking like a desert, dried up and covered with dust. Where's that desert? Where's that desolation? Look at this prospect! This is California! It is at its worst. I am told. The yellow of these beautiful hills tell of a harvest and of grass trees scattered over the hills. They look like apple trees. [Laughter.] There is a more abundant shade in comparison to the height of the tree than in the East. They are one-sided, too, showing that a wind has blown into them as it were, and hence courage and health and vigor, and intellect to the people. [Great applause.] We are greatly pleased with California. I would like to talk of San Francisco, but I may not think so well of it after awhile as I did last evening. The people of this country are united with the nation, and the stability of the Government may continue, and that for all time it may be the home of every age and every clime." [Tremendous applause and cheering.]

Secretary Ramsey was introduced, and addressed the audience. He referred joyfully to the little pleasantries the President had used toward him in his remarks. He said: "Why should I not? I like the ladies. My mother was a lady, and is in my wife, and so is my daughter. Now, I will tell you the whole secret of the President's talking about me as he did. I am the only man in this party that does not come from Ohio. [Great laughter.] While we have been here, ladies and gentlemen have come up and said: 'Mr. President, I am from Ohio.' The Secretary delivered an excellent address of some length. General Sherman delivered a few remarks, and was followed by Governor Perkins. The party then went to the Pavilion to inspect the display there.

RACES. Soon after the first race was called, being a purse for three-year-olds, but of the four entries only two came to the post—Carmalita and Rosette, the latter largely the favorite in the pools; and she justifying the estimates by winning in two straight heats, 1:47 and 1:47. The other entries were lamed or sore from the previous races, which accounts for the meagerness of the starters. There was a good deal of speculation elicited by the racing race. In the first pools which were sold last evening Washington was the choice of the better part of the race, ultimately changed, Nimrod having the first place, and on the track he was still more the favorite, bringing more than $100,000. Washington retained the lead throughout the mile, winning by two lengths over Nimrod in 2:30. Dido and Tracy distanced. Dido paced very fast after the first half mile, and fourth heats were feet again, and she could not get inside of the flag. In the second heat Nimrod broke away from the carriage on the track, and Washington opened something of a gap; but the favorite, by steady work, reduced the lead and succeeded in winning the heat in 2:30. The third and fourth heats were very similar, Nimrod taking the lead at the commencement and retaining it with apparent ease to the end of each heat. The time was 2:31 and 2:30.

There is a great deal of interest taken in the free-for-all race to come off to-morrow between Alford and Brigham, Steacie and Bateman. All the horses are here, and are reported to be doing well. Brigadier was moved up, and down the stretch in the presence of the visitors, and was greatly admired by them for fine action and speed.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 10th.—The President and party visited the Mechanics' Fair this evening, arriving at the Pavilion about half past 9. In anticipation of the occasion the building was packed, probably not less than 15,000 persons being present. The President was met at the door by a committee of the Institute and escorted about the building, although owing to the press of people it was impossible to take more of a particular feature of the exhibition. The President and General Sherman exhibited themselves for a few moments in the south gallery, and were warmly greeted, but did not address the audience on account of fatigue. After taking a general view of the exhibition the party retired.

COAST NEWS CLIPPINGS. The fire in the foothills south of the Yuba, about Selby Flat and Mooney's ranch, has been raging for five or six days despite the labors of a force of men battling with it. A witness of the destruction caused says the flames have, in streaks, run over 600 or 800 acres of land, destroying much fine timber. [Bear River News, September 4th.]

A disastrous fire occurred at Chinese Camp last Saturday which destroyed the barns of Michael Wilson and James Morris, and the lumber yard, wheelwright and blacksmith shops of Louis Egling. The total amount destroyed is not known, but Egling suffers a total loss with an insurance of $3,800. The fire originated about 1 o'clock p. m. on the roof of Wilson's barn. Cause unknown. [Sonoma Democrat, September 10th.]

We mentioned a few days since that Hon. H. C. Wilson was quite ill at his home on Thomas creek. His affliction, as we learn from the Toscan, is a large carbuncle on the back of his neck. We have been informed that it is as great as the dimensions of an ordinary dinner-plate, and that it has been lanced seventeen times. It is said that he suffers very much, and that the carbuncle is on the spinal column, where it is a general lympho-far. [Red Bull People's Cause.]

Public opinion in Oakland seems to be somewhat exercised in consequence of compulsory vaccination of the children in the public schools. The Board of Health passed a resolution requiring parents to have their children vaccinated. They also appointed three physicians, Posey, Legler and Brown to vaccinate the children attending the public schools. Parents, however, in some instances, became indignant, and assert that if it is necessary that their children shall be vaccinated they prefer to have it done themselves.

The Victoria (B. C.) Colonist says that a landslide of unusual magnitude occurred near Cook's ferry about three weeks since. A huge mass of Shawanika mountain was suddenly observed to be moving, and without a moment's warning thousands of tons of earth and rock were precipitated into the channel of Thompson river. Not only was the course of the river impeded, but a large portion of the flat on the opposite side was covered by the slide. Numbers of fish were washed out, and the Indians of the vicinity were for some time employed in saving and drying them. There is more railroad talk. This time it is from the Sacramento valley to the Big Meadows. Several of the gentlemen connected with the Sierra Flume and Lumber Company, recently in the Big Meadows, reported that they contemplated the building of a narrow-gauge to their timber, and further into Plumas if the business would warrant it. They say that the available good timber has been cut away on the western slope, and that they must have rail communication with their Plumas timber lands or quit the business. They have been bilked with too many railroad propositions to take any more stock in any "new jigger," and want to see the work commence in dead earnest before we shall have any faith in any operation of the kind. We have built two or three lines of railroad—and want to see something tangible in the future. There is no doubt but that this very enterprise would be a much better paying one than many of the new roads now building in Nevada and Utah. The timber in the neighborhood of the Big Meadows is practically inexhaustible, and a finer growth never stood on the earth. In addition to that, if the road were extended to or through the central part of the county, a large amount of business would be done. [Plumas National.]

I CONSIDER HAMMER'S Casaca Sagrada. Bitters a superior medicine. JOHN CLEAVE, Sacramento.
