In dressing our Dry Goods Window last, we displayed a piece of our 50 cent BLACK SATIN; the result is that there is but little of it left.

In our last announcement, we mentioned a LADIES' LINEN DUSTER for $1. We have also quite a nice Duster made of Poplin - price the same.

OUR GLOVE DEPARTMENT is showing quite a good LISLE THREAD GLOVE for Ladies, in Two Buttons, at 10 cents a pair.

KILT SUITS FOR CHILDREN are becoming more and more popular. We show quite a variety for $2 25. We have a tasteful KILT, in one piece, made of Imitation Mole-skin, in colors that do not soil easily.

WIRE HAIR BRUSHES - If you have never used them, try one; they have merit. Our last purchase permits us to sell a good one for 35 cents.

NOTION COUNTER.

We keep OSTRICH FEATHER DUSTERS. The industrious Housewife will be pleased to learn that she can get a fair article for 25 cents.

THE "BERNHARDT" COLLAR, for Ladies; quite stylish. It is made of Victoria Lace, trimmed all round with Lace, and is much in demand. We keep a fair article for 20 cents; better ones at higher prices, some with Cuffs to match.

THE SHOE that is rapidly taking the place of the Copper-toe, so much worn by children, is the SOLAR-TIP. The Copper-toe has proven objectionable, the copper often corroding, which is likely to reduce it to a green-blue color. The SOLAR-TIP, being made of Solid Sole Leather, wears equally well, presents a neater appearance, and costs no more.

We are selling a real good quality, sizes 4 to 7, in BUTTON SHOES, at $1 15. So good a quality has not yet been sold at so low a price.

We have but a few left of those LADIES' WHITE SATIN SUITS, for 50 cents each. LADIES' SUIT DEPARTMENT.

Peckham said he did not want any explanation, but Bangs (Bradley's counsel) said the witness had a right to explain, and the Chairman so ruled.

Bradley then continued. He did not promise to vote for Dewey, but it was understood by Sessions that I was to vote for Dewey, and it was for that reason he gave me the money.

Peckham - Haven't you told us just now that you did promise so to vote before you did vote for Dewey?

Witness - It was understood that I was to vote for Dewey. From the fact of my paying me $2,000 it was understood that I was to vote for Dewey, and the reason is the fact of my taking the money. After receiving the money I went to the Delavan House to see Speaker Sharpe. (Witness related his interview with Sharpe, already told.)

Affairs at Albany - Further Balloting - The Bribery Investigation.

ALBANY, June 13th. - Following is the result of the vote on a successor to Conkling to-day: Wheeler 16, Conkling 24, Jacobs 26, Cornell 8, Rogers 12, Lapham 6, Tremaine 4, Folger 3, Bradley 2.

Following is the vote on a successor to Platt: Deane 30, Cornell 8, Kernan 27, Folger 3, Platt 21, Crowley 3, Lapham 21. No choice.

In the bribery investigation to-day Bradley took the stand. He had voted first for White and Cornell, later for Conkling and Platt; had talked with Sessions, but had given him no great change of many of his constituents were friendly to Platt and Conkling.

Cornell-examined - Was an oil dealer of which were: He boarded at the Inebriate Asylum at Binghamton eight months; had been engaged in several lawsuits about business; that the Leg. Railroad Company produced a paper signed by him, giving a right of way to the company, which he had told his partner he had not signed.

Witness said he was frequently at the rooms of Platt and Crowley during the canvass last January for Senator until he made up his mind which he would support; had talked frequently with Sessions, who urged him to vote for Dewey or Rogers. Witness gave him a long answer, and Sessions knew he would not vote for Dewey under any circumstances, or for any one but a stalwart. Sessions made no offer of money in January, and in this canvass knew witness would support Conkling and Platt. Subsequently witness went to understand that he was still a stalwart; did not vote for Conkling and Platt on the first ballot, because some of his constituents were opposed to them.

Peckham questioned witness as to who were at the stalwart conference held at the Delavan House, saying his object was to show a conspiracy.

The stalwart counsel objected, and the question was temporarily postponed.

Sessions asked that witness' constituency would be satisfied with Dewey, and said Rogers or Cornell would be elected, but Dewey probably not. Witness replied that he would not leave Conkling and Platt.

Witness voted the first time for Sharpe and Cornell, but on Friday, when their friends showed a falling off, their friends spoke to witness and changed to them. He had final charge witness had voted for A. D. Whitehead and Fenlon. The day after witness voted for Conkling and Platt, when the Sessions and Sessions, on his return, advised him to vote for a half-breed. He was advised to support Dewey, but he was evening at the Delavan House. Witness always refused.

The question was allowed as to who were present at the stalwart meeting.

Bradley said ten or eleven members of the Assembly were present, and nobody else. The conference lasted an hour. Witness met Sessions, who commenced telling him that his constituents objected to Conkling and Platt, and he had better change.

Witness said he would not change, but he would take me if I said yes. He then said he could get $1,000 to put in my pocket if I would vote for Dewey. I said no, and started to leave him. He then said they had been paying $2,000 on a contract, and he then said he would go up stairs (in the Delavan House) and see what was the best they could do. I told him I would not vote for Dewey. I tried to get away from him, and told him my name. I walked off about six feet, and he followed me up. He did not have hold of me, but he had his hand up to the side of his mouth, endeavoring to talk confidentially. I would not then talk money, because I did not want to sell my vote, and I did not want to expose him. I had made up my mind then that I would not take any money unless I took it to make my exposure. I had thought of taking money for the purpose of exposure ever since it had been generally understood that money was being used. I made up my mind to take the money and expose it. I did not want to take the money, but he told him so - that I would not take the money. I told him when he went up stairs to see Rogers, which had approximately the same better not go. I have not said this before. You have brought it to my mind. I was not very graphic in saying this to him. I did not tell him I would expose him, because it was a great study in my mind whether I ought to expose him or not.

Peckham (Sessions' counsel) - Why didn't you take the $1,000 then, and expose him with that?

Witness - Because at that time I didn't want to expose him. I hadn't made up my mind then.

Peckham - Why, then, was you so reluctant about telling Sessions that you didn't want to take the money? Because you didn't want to expose him?

Witness - Because he was a Senator. It was not a pleasant thing to do. At the time we got in the room I locked the door, and the interview with me. I went to his room, because he asked me to call there for him. When I went to the room I locked the door and asked him to take a seat. Sessions told me: "It is going to be a good thing - all five of us voting for the same man. I have done well for you. I have now $2,000. I have not up to this time said a word as to how I would vote, and the last time I spoke to him, when he said I would vote with you, he brought the money and counted it out on his knee. He then handed the money to me. He said nothing, but bowed my head, to indicate that I assented. I think I said 'yes' when he said it would be a good thing - our voting together. I asked him before I got the money who I should vote for, and he said Chanany M. Dewey. I assented to it. I said I would vote for him before I would vote for Dewey. Feeling that from the province is not deriving any witness answered in his first examination that he thought he did not promise to vote for Dewey, when he said that he swore to that at that time.

Witness answered that he did, and commenced to explain. He did not want any explanation, but Bangs (Bradley's counsel) said the witness had a right to explain, and the Chairman so ruled.

Bradley then continued. He did not promise to vote for Dewey, but it was understood by Sessions that I was to vote for Dewey, and it was for that reason he gave me the money.

shel Payne's room. Conkling was in the room and a number of other persons. Did not have any talk with Conkling or Platt on that day.

Smith (of counsel for Sessions) - Whenever you went to the room of Marshal Payne, was it to attend a conference to further the election of ex-Senator Conkling?

Witness - Why, yes; that was perhaps the object.

Smith - Was anything ever said or done there to get votes?

Witness - No, sir.

Smith - Did you ever hear of the use of money in this question?

Witness - Yes, sir; it was common talk that the half-bred was using money.

Smith - Have you any personal knowledge of bribery in the Legislature besides the one with which you are connected?

Witness - No, sir.

Smith - Did you ever hear of any cases of legislative bribery before this one?
