

ATONEMENT.

and laid upon a table. Scales and other appliances to determine the weight and other phenomena of the different parts of the body were placed about on tables. The operations of the three surgeons engaged in the autopsy were watched with the greatest interest by the other medical gentlemen, who crowded about the table. After the examination the eyes and brain were removed, to be inspected. Dr. A. B. Candler found the left eye completely suffused with blood, and both eyes were so inflamed that no opinion could be formed of their condition or extension. Then the body was cut open and a thorough examination made, with a view to determine all the physiological facts that could be of interest in connection with the case. The brain was found to be in a normal condition, and weighed forty-nine ounces. The heart weighed a little over nine ounces, and was in a healthy condition, as were the other internal organs.

Dr. McWilliams, the first physician to leave the room where the autopsy was held, said there was nothing so far as he could see, about the brain that was abnormal. Its weight, according to Dr. McWilliams, was 4 1/2 ounces. The general view was in a perfect condition. At 3:15 the autopsy adjourned until evening.

The physicians are disinclined to go into details in regard to the result reached thus far. Dr. Hartigan, left the jail soon after 4 o'clock, taking with him Guitau's brain.

Dr. Golling, who has maintained that Guitau was insane, when asked what the result of the autopsy was, said: "I have nothing to say now."

Another physician remarked, "We all know nothing. A physician replied, "So the uneducated non-expert public thought at the time of the autopsy."

All the physicians agreed that there were lymphatic in the brain and a hardening of the ganglia. None of them care to express a positive opinion until after the examination has been completed.

Dr. Bliss said there were many points showing good health, mental and physical development.

Dr. Hartigan, who has the custody of Guitau's brain, took it to the Army Medical Museum, where, in a room set apart for photographic purposes, a number of photographs that would be admitted to continue the study. All the directions of operations were given to Dr. Lamb. It had been the intention of the surgeons to begin by making plaster casts of the brain, with a view to permanent preservation in the form of its configuration and external characteristics, but the casts were found so soft and yielding as to render this impracticable. A resort, therefore, was had to photography.

On account of the lateness of the hour and the dull and overcast sky, the preparations were necessarily hurried; but the picture of the brain on a number of plates, such as that used in upholstering, disposing it in the form in which it had been during life, a number of negatives were taken from various points of view with more or less successful results. The anatomical examination was then resumed. This examination, which included a careful microscopic study of the tissues and structural characteristics of the organ, will certainly not be finished before to-morrow afternoon, and may occupy several days.

The surgeons and physicians participating in the autopsy have pledged themselves not to make public, in the meantime, any individual conclusions they may arrive at, in order that the official report when made may have full weight and value as representing the conclusions of all the examining physicians.

WASHINGTON, June 30th.—The results of the autopsy, so far as can be learned to-night, are as follows: After surveying the body externally, the surgeons proceeded to lay open the brain cavity and thorax and examine the organs therein. The brain was found to weigh 494 ounces, a little more than the weight of average human beings, was well formed and presented no external evidence of disease or lesion. The lungs and heart were in a normal condition. There was a slight ruffling of the aorta in the vicinity of the heart. The neck was not diseased or fractured, as the surgeons at first supposed, but there was a rupture of the sternocleidomastoid muscle on both sides, as well as of the thyroid membrane. It follows, therefore, that death resulted from suffocation, not dislocation of the spinal vertebrae. A partial examination was made of the abdominal viscera, but was not completed at the time the autopsy was suspended. The spleen was found to be considerably enlarged, its weight being fifteen ounces—more than twice that of an ordinary spleen. The other abdominal organs, as far as examined, presented no unusual features.

The report of the surgeons making the autopsy will probably not be ready for publication to-morrow Wednesday.

A Crank Overboard. WASHINGTON, June 30th.—At 11:30 this morning a man appeared in front of the jail, stripped of his coat and vest and declared that he had come down to save Guitau. Four policemen grabbed him in a trice and hustled him off to the nearest station-house.

The Assassin's Brother. WASHINGTON, June 30th.—Just before noon John W. Guitau said to a representative of the Associated Press that he felt cheerful, so far as his brother was concerned, believing it far better for him to die than live. He said that no one felt keener anguish than he himself that the crime had been committed which plunged the nation in grief. He believed, however, that his brother would show himself to be a brave man, and from his own standpoint would vindicate his idea of patriotism. "His life is a wreck, and worthless," said John, "and I think this is the most fitting end to his checkered and insane career." He believed that his brother died happy, and owing to his demoralized condition before going into the next world, he thought his brother happier in death than in life under the circumstances, and if he (John) could he would not ask to have him revived.

John was in the same mood after the execution. "I believe he was insane," said he. "I predicted just what would happen—that he would go bravely to the gallows. The trial was a farce, and to-day an insane man was executed. Whether insane before God I do not know, still I believe that if he was to be again tried he would not be convicted. It was not a question for a jury."

Miscellaneous. WASHINGTON, June 30th.—At a quarter past 3 the military guard on duty at the jail were loudly cheered as they marched away.

Very soon after the hanging, Dr. Hicks and John W. Guitau made a thorough examination of the cell occupied by Guitau. Dr. Hicks took possession of his books and other effects of the deceased. A great many of those at the jail visited the cell to see the place where Guitau passed his last days.

As a disposition was shown on the part of some present to secure mementoes of the occasion at any cost, the jail officers took the rope from the gallows and created it as soon as the nose was removed from the dead man's neck.

Dr. Hicks said, when asked about the burial, that he did not want to say where the body would be interred. The funeral takes place to-morrow, and will be as private as possible.

Outside of Washington. TRENTON, N. J., June 30th.—A salute was fired here to-day upon the announcement that Guitau had been hanged.

LONDON, June 30th.—The Times, commenting on the execution of Guitau, considers his behavior until the last shred of hope had disappeared inconsistent. It says he was not so overcome at the prospect of certain death as to forget his theatrical acts. He was not ashamed to declare that he died a Christian and patriot. Guitau's place in the dark calendar will be by the side of Felton and Ravallin.

The Felling on this Coast. NORTH SAN JUAN, June 30th.—A dispatch stating that Guitau had been hanged to-day, was received here with profound satisfaction by everybody.

AUBURN, June 30th.—Yesterday afternoon a gallows was erected on the plaza, for the purpose of hanging Guitau in effigy. As the time for the mock execution approached, the courage of the instigators of the affair left them, and it remained for the boys of the town to carry on the performance. At 1 o'clock M., to-day, San Francisco time, the dummy was hung, and after being suspended some little time was taken down, placed in a cheap coffin, and paraded to the music of a couple of drums, at the head of a procession of about forty boys of all ages, around the streets. The coffin was finally deposited in Music Hall, and the youths dispersed.

Petaluma, June 30th.—The news of the execution of the assassin of President Garfield was received at ten minutes past 10 A. M., twenty-three minutes after the execution. The general expression of feeling is one of great satisfaction. Fears had been expressed by many for several days past that the criminal would be taken at the last moment, and betwixt were on the issue. A feeling of great relief is expressed by all that the penalty has been paid for the terrible crime.

At the great public sale of the after-mentioned sales of 100 tons No. 2 November, 31st, and 1,000 do, $1 63 1/2 cts.

Two weeks business has been unusually active, though operations have been largely of a speculative character. The market has generally shown a downward tendency, and present values are below those of the corresponding month of the year. For instance, a spot lot of 100 tons No. 1 red sold at 11 1/2 cts. on the 15th inst. at 11 1/2 cts. on the 15th inst. and is now at 11 1/2 cts. on the 15th inst. A small lot of 20 tons on the wharf at 10 1/2 cts. on the 15th inst. is now at 10 1/2 cts. on the 15th inst. A lot of 100 tons was recorded at $1 21. In No. 2 descriptions the sales included 300 tons August, $1 14 1/2 cts. for 100 tons, $1 13 1/2 cts. for 100 tons, and 100 tons of Chevalier were offered at $1 75, without finding buyers. For deliveries up to standard, in October, $1 50 were asked for No. 1. Old Evening Standard, and is not likely that a bid of $2 will be made for this quality. No. 2, which is a cheap grade was made for September of No. 1 quality at $1 31 1/2 cts.

The spot market appears to be dropping off, while holders are anxious to sell. It was no easy task to-day to work off a lot of 100 tons on the wharf at $1 14 1/2 cts. The appearance would indicate this to be a full figure. The speculative trade is not very active. Offerings are not large, but holders would like to realize at about $2 25 for No. 1, and $1 75 for No. 2, which is a cheap grade. Receipts for the past two weeks have been comparatively few. It will probably be a couple of months before new crop offerings will be made. The market is generally quiet at $1 24 1/2 cts. for No. 1, and $1 12 1/2 cts. for No. 2.
