LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

MADE A CONFESSION.—George Williams, who was arrested by Deputy Sheriff P. Rice, the diligent watchman at the freight depot, Thursday evening, on suspicion of his having maliciously turned a switch in the railroad yard, was judiciously "pumped" at the station-house last evening by freight agent C. A. Stevens and other officers, and finally confessed that he did turn the switch.

PEISONS EN ROUTE.—Sheriff Stewart, of Sierra county, passed through the city yesterday, conveying to the State Prison at San Quentin Louis Stultz and Allen Phillips, who are to serve terms of life imprisonment for the murder of Joan Derwacker, in Sierra Valley, last December.

HOW HE SUCCEEDED.—The Evening Mail of Stockton, in a resume of matters at Camp Stoneman, has the following: "The Stockton Guard boys were great favorites, under Sergeant Tom Johnson especially being irresistible with their medals, which were adorned with medals, all honorably won. It might as well be stated here how the Sergeant came to be covered with medals, Captain Stevens of one of the Sacramento companies has acquired by inheritance or deeds of bravery or skill, a solid front of medals, and when he moved about the camp like Hector of old, respondent in flashing medals, the Stockton boys grew envious. It was then that all the medals belonging to both the Stockton companies were placed on the shoulders of the war-scarred breast. The effect was grand. Stevens did not come on that side of the camp any more, his glory was eclipsed; another instance of what combination can effect."

POLICE COURT.—In the Police Court yesterday the case of M. L. Hammer, accused by Frank Rogers, a piano-tuner, of publishing a libelous card concerning him, was dismissed on motion of the prosecution, and a large number of ladies and gentlemen for whom subpoenas had been issued, summoning them to appear as witnesses, were relieved. ... Madame Twigg's case of disturbing the peace, went over until September 20. ... W. J. Patterson was examined on a charge of grand larceny in cutting out a pocket from the clothing of L. F. Funk and stealing a sum of money, and discharged, the evidence not being sufficiently strong to warrant his being held to answer. ... The case of Mary Ryan, for disturbing the peace, was continued until this morning. ... Charles Ray was convicted of disturbing the peace, and will receive sentence to-day. ... Thomas Harris, case of vagrancy was set for trial September 15th.

MILITARY NOTES.

A Review of the Recent Encampment at Santa Cruz.

The great event of the year—the encampment—is now settling down to its regular routine of weekly drills. It will be well if Captains of companies will calmly look over the events of the past couple of weeks and find out in what particulars of military knowledge their companies are most deficient, and make notes for future use. In the history of the First Artillery there never has been a time when companies have been commanded by such competent Captains as at the present. This is a matter for congratulation, as it is the most important post in the National Guard. Generals, Colonels and other officers are necessary in large bodies, but the hardest work falls on the Captains, and upon them devolves the duty of drilling their men week after week, of making the drills interesting, so that the attendance will be regular and full, of keeping constantly before their men the principle that it is a high duty they owe the State, etc., and all this is done outside of business hours, and without any recompense, or the hope of any.

The encampment has been of great value to all. The men were worked harder than at any previous gathering of the kind. There was not the slightest trouble in the camp (even Chaplain Rice and Surgeon Welch were the best of friends, after the latter was sooted in the surt by the former), nor was there a single case of intoxication noticed. The improvement in marching and wheeling in column of companies was very noticeable at the close of the week, and was a source of pride to the officers, and men, and the very best of feeling prevails towards the officers and men of the regiment throughout the district. Major Hubbard, of our own brigade, made himself a general favorite. He is soldierly in his bearing, looks after the comfort of his men, understands his business, and does not interfere with the rights of his subordinates. Major Hellborn also was invaluable, and Captains Houghton and Sheehan were excellent aids to General Garvey. Captain Rapp, of Company C, Nevada City, had the right of the line, and maintained it with credit to himself, his company and the regiment. He was ably assisted by Lieutenants Nibel and Sinks, two very conscientious officers. Captain Cook, Company B, next in rank, held the left of the line. He is a very cool and able leader, and his tactical coaching in a drill, and when a superior officer orders him to duty, is prompt and willing; but that superior, whoever he may be, should be careful that he understands his business, because the Captain will not stand any nonsense. Captain Stevens, Company A, has raised himself immensely in the estimation of his company and brother officers. He held his men down to business, and proved himself a competent officer. He is a man that, in a fight, would be followed to "shoot," and he would not be the last man in, either. This company had the colors in its charge, and it would go hard with any company or regiment if it should be foolishly enough to attempt their capture.

At the close of the sham battle, when the final charge was made by the First Infantry according to programme, there was a circle of glistening bayonets drawn around the colors, and if A was hard pressed G was kept in his defense. Captain Wellington, E, came in line between C and A, and is on the high road to become a very efficient officer. He was constantly on the look-out for the comfort of his men, devising ways and means for their amusement, instructing them, seeing that they were not imposed upon, and when concern for the honor of the regiment and the good of the force, his advice was invaluable. His company was sent out to skirmish for the provisional regiment, and for some time was kept in the line. Captain Wellington, finally ordered by the Colonel, it took about five minutes to get him to understand what was wanted. He was as excited as if it was a genuine fight, but when he finally understood he and his men were wanted to aid his regiment at a rally, it was a sight worth witnessing to see his boys put out for the beleaguered command. Some of the lookers-on affirm that the Captain outran the Colonel's horse in getting back. Captain Caster, of Company F, Woodland, a good officer and thorough gentleman, was out on picket, and gave the first notice to his regiment that the enemy was in sight. He commenced a rattling fire on the First Infantry and battery, and his blood being up, positively would not give way until he was assured that Company A was coming in to relieve him. When he saw his company advance, he retired to rest his panting company behind the regimental line. Captain Hall, of Company G, the youngest Captain in the city, is a hard study of tactics, will probably wind up a military career with the honor of wearing a star, but he has sense enough to know that the National Guard is at present constituted, two hours are more than enough. He has a very orderly body of men, and it will not be his fault if they are imposed upon. He looks after the smallest details, and in a drill, however small, is surprisingly well for the short practice he has had. He is liked by everybody, and is a hard worker.

Lieutenant-Colonel Guthrie and Major McKee were continually in camp attending to business, and we do not believe there was a more efficient set of staff officers in the city than those of the First Artillery. Almost any of them could be called upon for military duty and would be found competent. When Adjutant Neary was called upon to relieve his brother, Powers took his place with credit to himself, and when he was engaged in other duties, Lieutenants Rivett and Plant could supply the deficiency. Quartermaster Wright and Quartermaster Sergeant Hughes worked hard with the tents and baggage, and we have not heard of a case where baggage came to its assistance, and we believe if in fact every man attended to the duties set for him to do, faithfully and well.

The week's drills have been beneficial, as before stated, and the sham battle, which at a first thought would appear useless, is a school of great importance. It teaches men and officers to keep cool, which in itself is very necessary in real action. We have no hesitation in saying that participation in a sham battle a few times would enable all to see how necessary it is to preserve unbroken lines, to give the commands coolly, to keep an eye on the movements of the opposing force, if in sight, in order to checkmate any move upon their part to turn their flank, and to observe other points. Of course in actual battle, when troops are at such close quarters as they were on the 22d at Camp Stoneman, and plenty of ammunition on hand, there would not be a grease spot on either side unless the fighting was terribly wild, and as a matter of fact the Third Infantry would have been annihilated by actual Colonel Neary's regiment before it could have got to the foot of the hill (Tripe) hill near Lehe's quarters, as he had a stronger force and a clear sweep at the enemy from summit to base. This was the most picturesque part of the battle, several lines of skirmishers being out and the scene clear to all. It would have fared hardly with the First Artillery, because the opposing force was so much larger and supported by a battery. The taking of that battery from the First Regiment was the tamiest affair ever witnessed. There were no more than a dozen men in the line, the retaking was more realistic of a battle, as there was a lively dash made for it, and the First Artillery made some show to capture it, and assist it, and we believe if the battery had been in the charge of Company B's boys the regiment would not have allowed it to go back, even at the risk of breaking the programme. This last encampment has done more to bring the First Artillery into notice than any previous one, as by comparison with others it was found to be better posted in all the tactical evolutions that any regiment in camp, and this is the verdict of all who witnessed the drills of the various battalions; and it is a fact, as has been shown to much better advantage in numbers of drill if the guard duties had not been so heavy. It was a noticeable fact that none of the attacking force at the sham fight had their colors out. This perhaps was fortunate for the "dandy" Fifth, as it was better to lose a guidon than the regimental colors. At one time during the fight this latter was in such a position that the right wing of the First Artillery was fir-

BRIEF NOTES.

The Kate Castleton troupe went to Auburn yesterday from Woodland. Nothing has been heard of A. Vandenberg, who has escaped from the chain-gang. Thirty-eight carloads of beef cattle will arrive from Nevada to-day, en route for San Francisco. Two carloads of wine have been shipped from the Eagle winery in this city within the last few days to New York. License Collector Dolan will start out next Monday on a tour of the county, to collect licenses for the present quarter. The Athletic Baseball Club will go to Franklin to-morrow, and play a return game with the Independents of that place. Four carloads of whalebone are en route from San Francisco for New Bedford. Pretty soon the whaling ships will be sent overland. A concert and dance will be given by J. P. Melchior at Richmond Grove to-morrow afternoon and evening. Admission twenty-five cents, ladies free. Rev. H. C. Benson, D. D., Presiding Elder of the Eagle Winery, will occupy the pulpit of the Central M. E. Church in this city to-morrow evening. These arrests were made by District P. Hawkins, by officer Farrell, for disturbing the peace, W. J. Patterson, by officers Franks and Ash, for vagrancy.

Turner Hall has recently received extensive improvements to its interior, the walls having been papered, the ceiling frescoed and an elastic dancing floor put in. While the electric lamp at the intersection of Third and J streets was being lowered, the rope broke and the lamp fell with a crash, wrecking the stand. Daniel Gardner, with his portable steam wood-sawing machine, cut for Dr. W. A. Briggs two cords of four-foot second growth oak wood, each stick into four pieces, in the short time of fifty-eight minutes. A farewell entertainment and autograph quilt social will be given at the Central M. E. Church next Tuesday evening, in honor of the retiring pastor, Rev. C. McKelvey. There will be a social, dancing, literary and literary exercises, and an address by Mr. McKelvey. Fish Commissioner Dibble returned yesterday morning from the new Hat Creek fishing reports, every day he is progressing in a manner "simply admirable," and that the hatchery, which is unexcelled by any, will be ready for work in a few days. Two men who came through from New York by the emigrant train yesterday had in charge the noted bulldog Napoleon Jack, "champion of the United States." It is said to be the best bulldog in San Francisco, where, it is said, he is to be engaged in a $2,000 fight with a canine owned at the Bay city.

Yesterday's emigrant train had among its passengers the famous middle-aged Chinaman, en route from Havana for China. He was accompanied by his wife, a white woman, and his little child, about a year old. The Chinaman is a tall, white child, seemed very bright, and attracted much attention. The Supreme Court has rendered a decision affirming the judgment of the Superior Court of the county in the case of Mrs. F. F. Mauldin vs. Co. & Clark, relative to the possession of a piece of property on the north bank of the American River. The decision is in favor of plaintiff. Frank Fricker, who was arrested by officer Sullivan for burglarizing the room of Gus Reypurg in this city nearly two years ago, was released from custody yesterday. Reypurg declining to prosecute, Fricker, white child, seemed very bright, and attracted much attention.

Reypurg declining to prosecute, Fricker, white child, seemed very bright, and attracted much attention.

A press dispatch received from New York yesterday says: "The first bale of California hops of this season was received by Lillienfeld Brothers yesterday. It attracted much attention at the auction. The sample was considered by experts superior in quality to the first bales received here during the last three or four years. It was grown by R. J. Merkley, of Sacramento."

Corporal W. Westlake, of Company F, of Woodland, was affected mentally by the heat and excitement of the trip to Camp Stoneman, and was taken to a hospital. He was severely injured in a fall from a tree after him, and it is feared that he is laid up at the Bay City with a severe fever.

George D. Gardner recently purchased the old steamer Neptune, and has moored her near the mouth of the American river. Recently much damage has been done to her by mischievous persons, and yesterday Mr. Gardner swore out a warrant in Justice Peck Court for the arrest of John Dale, Richard Roe or any other man who could be proven to have taken part in the damaging acts, and the warrant was placed in the hands of the Sheriff.

An exhibition of tight-wire walking and feats of agility upon the trapeze, suspended from a wire extended across Third street, near K, was given by a traveling performer yesterday. The performance was witnessed by a collection taken up. He introduced a number of children in the evening, but the contributions were too small, and he took down his wire and departed.

The highest temperature along the Pacific slope yesterday by the Signal service reports were for Olynth, 87; Spokane Falls, 79; Fort Canby, 64; Portland, 90; Roseburg, 88; Cape Mendocino, 61; Red Bluff, 94; Sacramento, 91; San Francisco, 80; Keno, 97; St. Louis, 89; Los Angeles, 81; San Diego, 75. Temperature set at Omaha at noon yesterday was for Salt Lake City, 80; Cheyenne, 58; Denver, 80; Omaha, 69; and Yankton, D. T., 61.

The steamer San Joaquin No. 3 came down the river with the large Grand Island, loaded with grain, about 3:30 p. m. Monday night. The steamer was about three feet of water in the draw, the large stock fast while trying to pass through, and remained there about an hour, causing delay in the morning. With the assistance of the steamer Governor Dana, she got through. Later in the evening the large steamer Varuna had a similar experience in the draw, and was aground there for half an hour.

Both sides feel confident of winning, and it is expected that the contest will be close.

Santa Barbara is soon to have a steam laundry.

IMMIGRATION MATTERS.

Dr. Latham, Secretary of the Northern California Immigration Association, had a very busy day yesterday, attending to applications concerning lands that may be obtained by settlers. Mr. Meyers, representing ten German families recently from Germany, and now on their way out from the East, was obtaining further facts relative to the Colony de Cronstadt, recently organized by Hon. T. G. Phelps, four miles from Moore's Station, on the former Northern Railroad. Mr. Phelps has divided the land into tracts of ten or fifteen acres, and there are already about thirty families—all German—settled there. The purchasers of the land secure also a water right from the Forbestown ditch, and as the soil is excellent, plenty of wood and building material, and the location within sight of the church spires of Marysville, the settlers are much pleased with it. Some months ago Herman Faulk, Central Pacific Railroad agent to Germany, was in this city for information concerning the Cronstadt Colony, stating that he had received frequent inquiries concerning it. The Doctor returned a full description of the Cronstadt Colony, stating that a great many families are getting ready to leave the old country and settle in the new colony, and will leave as soon as their crops are harvested this fall.

The levels of three Iowa families also called upon the Doctor yesterday, and subsequently left for Shasta county, to see land in the neighborhood of Cottonwood and Anderson. They were interested in agricultural men of the class that makes good citizens. Three men from Sonoma county also called, to get hints relative to land in Tehama and Shasta counties, having determined that they could not find land in Sonoma county, as land there they had been rated at from $100 to $250 per acre. Two gentlemen from Ohio, representing five families, were in this city, en route to land in El Dorado county. They had been looking over the southern portion of the State, but did not satisfy them. Dr. Latham has received numerous letters from new settlers from Iowa, etc., requesting that documents be sent, giving facts and figures as to northern California. The writer states that this section of the State is the best country for settlement that a large movement will be made toward it this fall. In fact the indications are that the southern portion of the State is being settled more rapidly than the northern. Among the letters received was one from Ohio, in the interest of a company of men who had been prospecting a wood-land on the co-operative principle, carrying on the work with their own labor. They are desirous of coming to California with their families, and are anxious to have their minds settled in Tehama county. Dr. Latham recommended them to apply to General N. P. Chipman, of Red Bluff, for the information they desired.

Who Does It Belong To? Since the encampment at Camp Stoneman there has been considerable speculation as to who was to receive the money appropriated by the State for the camp expenses. Yesterday the following demand was filed with the Controller:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF MILITARY AUDITOR, SACRAMENTO, AUGUST 28, 1885. The claim of Board of Location and Organization National Guard of California, expenses of encampment held at Santa Cruz from August 16th to August 23d, for the sum of $20,000, is hereby credited and approved, and a check for the amount of $20,000 is hereby issued in payment of the same. GEORGE STONEMAN, Governor and Commander-in-Chief, President. GEORGE B. COSBY, Adjutant-General, Secretary. Attached to the above was the following:

State of California to Board of Location and Organization National Guard of California, and the National Guard of California, in the sum of $20,000, is hereby credited and approved, and a check for the amount of $20,000 is hereby issued in payment of the same. GEORGE STONEMAN, Governor and Commander-in-Chief, President. GEORGE B. COSBY, Adjutant-General, Secretary. Attached to the above was the following:

The Controller refused to draw the warrant, and referred the reporter to the following law, which he claimed covered the case: "Every regiment, or battalion, or unattached company that annually assembles for drill, or for any other purpose, for less than seven days, shall receive from the State, to defray the expenses of said encampment, a sum equal to $125 per day for each officer, and $75 per day for each man in such camp; provided, that the aggregate of such allowance shall not for any one encampment exceed the amount of $400 per company. When the companies of a regiment, or battalion are not located at the same place, such companies shall receive, in addition to above allowance, over four feet of water, as the place of assembly. Said sums shall be credited, allowed and paid as other allowances to the National Guard are paid."

Another such case of Code says: "The amount so audited and paid must be paid to the commanding officers of such companies for the use thereof." It is understood that the Colonels of the different regiments have filed their demands, and if the same are approved by the Board of Examiners they will be recognized by the Controller.

TRIAL TRIP.—The Fish Commissioners' steam launch, Governor Stoneman, made a trial trip last evening that was in every way successful. She steamed from her moorings on the Washington side of the river, three miles up the stream, and returned. She is a neat craft, minds her helm well, and is pronounced by all who have seen her a trim vessel. Captain Foster occupied the position of pilot; John Rock, the builder, acted as co-pilot; Cunningham as mate, and Fish Commissioner Buckingham was chief of the commissary department. A large number of gentlemen were passengers, among whom were several members of the press. The Stoneman was built for a police patrol boat on the lower Sacramento and bays, but as she carries over four feet of water she hardly goes into service this season, as the river at the Yolo bridge is only three feet deep, and it will be impossible for her to go down stream until a rise of water.

EXECUTIVE PARBONS.—Yesterday Governor Stoneman issued pardons as follows: To Patrick Clancy, who was sentenced by the District Court of Alameda county in 1871, on a charge of murder in the second degree, to fifteen years imprisonment in San Quentin. It was issued upon the recommendation of the Board of Prison Directors, or their agents, on the ground that he acted in self-defense; that there was a reasonable doubt as to his guilt, and also that he was 70 years of age. Charles Bradley, convicted of burglary in San Francisco in November, 1882, and sentenced to seven years, was also commuted three years, upon the recommendation of the Board of Prison Directors.

CAUTION HIM.—A day or two ago a thief entered the office of Dr. Southworth, dentist, on the pretense of having his teeth fixed, and, being told to wait a while, watched his opportunity and stole about $12 worth of gold, used for filling, and then left. Officers Eider and Kent have arrested the fellow, who is named J. H. Demarest. Some of the gold was found in his pockets when he was arrested, having escaped from Clancy in a sack, which was kept, and the remainder will be recovered from a place where he sold it. He admits having stolen property from other persons, but is somewhat confused in his statements, having evidently been on a big spree.

FISHES.—About 11 o'clock Thursday night a bright light as of a burning building was observed south of the city. It is reported to have been caused by the burning of a building used as a Chinese opium den in the vicinity of Third and Y streets. The building was destroyed by a fire which was sounded from box 13, at Second and N streets. It was occasioned by a quantity of sawdust and rubbish near the boiler in the room of the Jones Box, which had become ignited. Little damage was done.

The polished Chesterfield aptly said: "A well dressed person is a continual letter of introduction." The literature of Clothing is rich in similar allusions by poets, statesmen and courtiers, who in all ages have delighted to pay honor to the cause of careful dressing. The point is well taken.
