LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Excursions and Immigration Work.
When the Northern California Immigration Association, with headquarters at Sacramento, was formed, almost the first work of the Secretary was to induce the railroads and excursion companies to commence running excursions from the East to this city. There were various obstacles in the way, but in the nature of railroad complications, that could not be overcome. These complications were removed last winter, and the Secretary again had considerable correspondence with the Central and Union Pacific officials about the matter, and they seemed favorable to some effective arrangement, but the cut-rate war intervened, and then the Grand Army Encampment, so that up to a few days ago nothing had been effected. While the Convention was in session in Los Angeles the Secretary visited that section and obtained the statistics of the excursion companies, and a good deal of information. Upon his return he again wrote to the railway officials, and now has received a letter from the Union Pacific, which is a promise that the matter will be arranged if possible, and at an early day. These excursion companies have their offices in some of the large Eastern cities, from which their agents go into the country towns, and by judicious advertisement of the sunny heat and beautiful scenery, and the winter climate of the section to which they run, they are enabled to organize excursions of 200 excursionists. The Atlantic is the only one of the roads which has been doing this business. That road has an arrangement with four companies that each bring an excursion to Los Angeles every month. In that way the southern section is advertised and booked. Last year the excursion companies brought a thousand people a month there. If that, or even one-half that, can be done here, our boom will be started. There will be a considerable immigration to-day between the agents of the transcontinental lines and the Secretary, and it is to be hoped that an arrangement will be made at a particular hour, and as a consequence, some of the features of the "hokey-jockey" game were omitted to save time and space.

Hokey-Pokey in Court.
The cases of H. A. Hornell, John Marsh, J. W. Maxwell, George Logan and George W. Wood, charged with violation of the gaming law, were called in the Police Court yesterday for examination. Something of sensation was created by the fact that the defendant, at the outset, that he had received information to the effect that somebody in authority had notified the parties defendant that an arrest would be made at a particular hour; and as a consequence, some of the features of the "hokey-jockey" game were omitted to save time and space. The Court said it was its purpose, in view of these circumstances, to question the witness on this point. W. A. Anderson, counsel for the defense, said the Court must surely have been misinformed. The investigation of a matter of this kind might be a matter of some importance to the defendants, but the Court said it would not.

A Narrow Escape.
Captain William Galt, an employe at the railroad shops, yesterday met with an accident which came near "laying him out" for good. The Captain was opening one of the doors of a coal car at the coal yard when it came off and was crowded down upon him, and he was badly hurt. When taken off from under the debris the Captain looked like a veritable oiled man, being entirely covered with coal dust. His face, shoulders and breast were badly bruised, and he received several severe scalp wounds, which necessitated his being taken to the railroad hospital. He said, as the doctors were putting stitches in his scalp, "Don't let a little thing like this bother you doctor. I expect to see a lot of this business when I get into Mexico with my Sacramento haul."

THE WATER WORKS.—The death of A. S. Woods has made a vacancy in the office of Clerk of the Water Works, and there are a number of applicants for the place. Those now said to be on the anxious seat are George W. Jackson, Robert H. Chapman, Norman Nichols, John T. Stafford, Joseph Haskel and Wm. Davis. The salary of the office is $125 per month, and a bond of $2000 must be given by the successful bidder. It is not an office that can be called a sinecure by any means, because if the Clerk has his full duty to perform, he has to deputize all they want to do to collect the water rates.

ABANDONED IN COURT.—In the Superior Court yesterday, before Judge Van Fleet, Milton McWhorter pleaded guilty to the charge of robbing Thomas G. Robinson. The information against H. G. Hays was found to be defective, and the District Attorney was allowed to perjure himself. Miller and Thomas Traylor, who pleaded to rob one Wagner not long ago, pleaded not guilty, as did Hall McQueen, "a character of the highest order," who was appointed to defend Miller and Traylor.

POLICE COURT.—In the Police Court yesterday these cases were disposed of: H. A. Hornell and four others, gaming; continued till to-day; Louis Verheyden, battery; sentence suspended; Mike Morris, drunk; deposit forfeited; James Gilday, exposure of person; and Peter Dealy and Joseph Agant, disturbing the peace; continued till to-day.

BASEBALL.—There will doubtless be great interest manifested in the baseball game to-morrow between the Atlas and Greenhood & Morans. Since Sweeney entered the box for the Atlas they have not lost a game, and if you can stand of their adversaries to-morrow it will be pretty conclusive evidence that no club in the State can get away with them.

POLLED CATTLE.—There will be on exhibition for sale during the State Fair, a number of choice, imported and home-bred Galloway cattle, the property of the Leonard Bros., of Missouri. George L. Gooding, the representative of these gentlemen, can be found at the Golden Eagle Hotel, where also catalogues may be obtained.

THE STATE FAIR.

It Opens at the Pavilion on Monday.
The thirty-third State Fair, held under the auspices of the State Agricultural Society, will commence on Monday next, on Thursday 9th, at the Pavilion, and on Saturday next, September 13th, at the Park, and will close on Saturday, September 18th.

The annual exhibitions of this society are said to be equal to those of any other State in the Union. And why should they not be? California has earned the reputation of being the greatest agricultural and horticultural State in the Union, and extending over the entire State, the enterprise within herself, carries her through so many degrees of latitude that she has a variety of crops, and her soil is so fertile and warm plains of the south. Her coast range, a series of low hills, with the Sierra Nevada, with their snow-capped peaks, encompassing the entire State, and the Josquin and Sacramento, the most fertile soil in the world. Here are raised to perfection the fruits of every climate.

Here the swine and cattle herds fatten, and here is found a country in every way better adapted to the rearing of the pig and the horse than the once famous blue-grass sections of Kentucky. With its wealthy, prosperous and rapidly growing State at its back, the fair has an excellent field for its operations. All the advantages and others of equal importance not mentioned, is it any wonder that the annual exhibition has become so popular, and so well attended and so handsomely supported by the State Government? Here we have a grand and special stand sufficient to seat thousands of people, from which the exhibitors can be seen, and the entire race-course, but a panoramic view of great beauty is spread out before the eyes of the spectators. The fair is held at El Dorado county and the long range of the Sierra Nevada Mountains in the rear, piercing the heavens with their crests of eternal snow.

At the Park are hundreds of cattle stalls, pens for swine and sheep, coops for poultry and stables for horses.

The exposition building, at Fifteenth and N streets, is the finest building of its character in the United States—large and commodious, and of a most substantial structure, it is a credit to the State.

The space in the Pavilion has been nearly all taken by exhibitors, and already a large number have arranged their exhibits. The enterprising farmer, the ambitious agriculturist, the live and active merchant, are all represented. Men who believe in improving their land, and their stock, and their soil, and their credit, but one of the very best kinds of advertising, and the most successful in this world, the one who mounts to the top of the ladder, is not the one who hides his light behind a bushel, but he who, by his perseverance, keeps himself, his wares and his inventions before the people.

It is a noticeable fact, that this season more San Francisco exhibitors have remarked, at the outset, that he had received information to the effect that somebody in authority had notified the parties defendant that an arrest would be made at a particular hour; and as a consequence, some of the features of the "hokey-jockey" game were omitted to save time and space.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS.
The department in which the ladies take the most interest, is that of the Pavilion, where the Secretary yesterday stated that all the space was spoken for. Here will be exhibited textile fabrics, needle work, etc. Already many of the exhibitors have their exhibits, and additional ones are fast coming in. In this department farmers and manufacturers will have an opportunity of viewing, in full operation, all kinds of machinery, from an improved sack-holder to a complete steam engine.

The First Artillery Band will furnish music at Park and Pavilion, and promise rare selections.

The California Museum Association has selected a large space, where the works of the School of Design will be exhibited. Here will be shown the results of the opening display at the Pavilion on Thursday, September 9th, and on Thursday, September 13th, the California Museum Association will be in full operation.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, 14th and 15th, there will be a grand pig-pen-shooting contest, in which all the crack shots of the State will participate. The affair will be managed by the California Museum Association, and the prize will be $500.

On Friday, the 10th, and Friday, the 17th, the ladies' tournaments, which all ways attracts great crowds—will be held. The stock parades will be held at 9 A. M. on the following days, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st.

MILITARY NOTES.

National Guard Matters—Some Timely Suggestions.
Judging from the action taken at the meeting of the National Guard Officers' Association of California, held in San Francisco August 30th, there is a spirit abroad among the rank and file of the State forces which will insist upon a proper recognition of the services given to the State by officers and men—at least to the extent of being enabled to decently clothe themselves, so that in addition to the time given for the State they will not have to go down into their pockets and furnish money for clothing, accoutrements, etc., from their private funds.

The Association proposes to ask that the force be increased from forty to fifty companies, the additional money to be received from the State. To further ask that the sum of $50,000 be appropriated toward the purchase of uniforms and equipments. This would give about $1,000 to each company only. To have a bill passed by the next Legislature authorizing the construction of barracks after the matter is submitted to a vote of the people of the State at the next general election, and in addition to carry out that appropriations are made to see to it that the provisions of the law as at present constituted in reference to annual campaigns, etc., all the advantages and others of equal importance not mentioned, is it any wonder that the annual exhibition has become so popular, and so well attended and so handsomely supported by the State Government?

It is intended that every company in the State will be equally benefited by the proposed legislation, and that the people of the State will appreciate the service of the National Guard by such legislation would put renewed life into the State.

There will be a number of the city companies at the army next Wednesday evening, September 13th, Major McKee in command. There will be no less than 500 men, and the regimental band will be engaged at the Pavilion. Orders for the September shoot have not yet been issued. There is some talk of the city companies going in a body to Bannock's Slough to hold the target practice there some day after the State Fair terminates. The matter will probably be discussed by the officers at the monthly meeting to be held next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the headquarters of the First Artillery, 11th and N streets.

Young Men's Christian Association, 11th and N streets, between K and L—Meeting Monday evening, September 13th, at 8 o'clock. Address by Rev. J. M. Baugher. All young men invited.

Who do not attend to their duties, and as Captain Hall has the reputation of being very exact, there probably will not be found so many excuses as usual. Captain Cook and Lieutenant Carroll of company, and the other members of the company, who may be reported by the commanders of companies. There is a determination abroad to attend the regular weekly drills.

It is said that the Washington jungle fairly bristles with tiger.
The burning of E. Pierce's barn night before last caused a loss to the owner of some $1,400.
The rooms in Chief Dillman's hotel are being put in order for the reception of State Fair visitors.

W. A. Galt has filed his bond as Notary Public, in the sum of $5,000, with Lee Stanley and W. H. Fassett as sureties.
The streets last night presented an unusually animated appearance, and the date of the near approach of the fair, probably, the woman-beater, has been continued until Tuesday next in the Police Court.

The horse alleged to have been stolen from Devine, the procer, was yesterday found in the alley in the rear of his owner's residence.
Peter Schumacher, who claims to be the middle-weight champion of Rome-Roman wrestler of the coast, offered to wrestle M. Cannon in public or private.

A Chinaman had his shoulder dislocated by being thrown from a wagon yesterday at Second and J streets.
It is reported that four shotgun experts went out on the other day and bagged 200 quail. The probability of this being a cypher caught up while the story was going in its rounds.

During the fair, there will be served at the Young Men's Christian Association, a first-class lunch and supper daily (Sunday excepted), by the ladies of the various churches.
Yesterday afternoon's train from the south collided with the wagon of a farmer named R. Brown, a short distance beyond Stockton, who tried to cross the bridge over the tracks. Brown was injured so severely that he died shortly afterward.

The Free Library, which has been closed for the past two weeks, will reopen the following day at 10 o'clock. The library has become due while the library was closed must be returned on or before September 7th. Fines will be charged after that date.

The highest and lowest Signal Service temperature yesterday was 87° and 59°. The wind was from the north, and the weather clear prevailing. A storm at noon was occupying the attention of the web-footed residents of Washington Territory and northern and central California.
Persons living in the vicinity of Fifth and D streets complain of one Regan, who, they say, gets drunk frequently and abuses his family in a shameless manner. At the same time making a noise that disturbs the whole neighborhood. Officers Sullivan and McCracken went there yesterday, but could not find him.

An Important Event.
Our present Millinery Opening proving an event of more than usual interest, because the number of new things to see is unusually large, and because we have apparently been most fortunate in selecting only such styles as are of real value. Several heavy invoices of Eastern novelties intended for the opening day—Thursday—did not reach here until yesterday, and we shall, therefore, continue the display to-day. As we have said a number of times before, opening days are especially for seeing, and we hope no one will stay away because not ready to buy.

Those who visit the Millinery Rooms will also find much of interest in the Cloak and Jacket Departments adjoining. We have not received our full stock of these goods as yet. Nevertheless the present collection is of goodly size and undoubted merit.
