LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Yesterday's Baseball Games.

At the Snowflake Park yesterday afternoon a game was played between the Atlas and Snowflakes, an attempt being made to make the game nearly even by Messinger, of the Atlas, acting as catcher for the Snowflakes, while Geo. McLaughlin, for the junior club, caught for the Atlas, and the box was occupied for the latter by Robertson, Fisher and Fisher. McLaughlin, pitcher of the Snowflakes, came up for the Bay Saturday evening not knowing that the Pioneer-Alta game for yesterday had been postponed, and to pass the time he played first base for the Snowflakes. The grounds were muddy in places and heavy in others, and during a portion of the game there was a light fall of rain. The players being unable to keep their feet under control, involuntarily went through all sorts of funny motions, and those indulged in slides who never slid before, and the experts in that line introduced them in the most reckless manner, without regard to whether they were near bases or not. Of course, errors were numerous, and after awhile the players, the Atlas especially, went in for a picnic of fun, and not only had a good time themselves but kept the spectators laughing. As regards ball-playing it was not much of a game—though there were several fine plays made—by the Atlas, and they were heavy for their opponents. The latter managed to keep close up, however, and were only beaten one run.

THE MAYOR RE-ELECTED.

Mayor Bartlett was introduced by the Chairman, and as he stepped forward to the footlights was greeted with applause. He then stepped through the line of the recesses of his inside coat pocket a ponderous roll of manuscript, and started in by reading: "It is my honor and pleasure to announce to you that I have been re-elected Mayor of the City of Sacramento, California, for the term beginning on the 1st day of January, 1886, and ending on the 31st day of December, 1887. I am proud to say that I have the honor to be re-elected by a large majority of the voters of the City of Sacramento, California. I am confident that I shall be able to discharge my duties as Mayor to the satisfaction of the people of the City of Sacramento, California. I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant, H. W. Bartlett, Mayor of the City of Sacramento, California."

THE CITRUS FAIR.

The Executive Board of the Central California Citrus Fair Association held another meeting at the Board of Trade rooms on Saturday, Mr. Gallatin presiding. The subject of arranging for and holding the second citrus fair in Sacramento was considered at length, and much enthusiasm manifested. The time for holding it was after full discussion, placed upon the third week in December, commencing Monday, the 13th, and closing the Saturday following. It will be remembered that the first citrus fair was opened here on the 11th of January last, and the orange crop was being taken this fact into consideration, and the present condition of the maturing citrus fruits, it was believed that the middle of December would afford the best exhibition of the fruit. Dr. Latham stated that he had received letters from the Union Pacific Railway and those of the Citrus Fair Association, Burlington and Quincy road, urging that the citrus exhibits be transferred to Chicago at the close of the fair in this city. The consideration of the proposition was postponed till a future meeting.

A DEADLY FOE.

The Grass Valley Union records the following exploit of Dr. H. H. Briggs, for many years a resident of Sacramento, and well known to sportsmen throughout the State. Incidentally it may be remarked that the Grass Valley whisky returned to the city was locked up in the hands of H. Briggs, Secretary of the State Sportsman's Association, was one of the guests of the Grass Valley Sportsman Club, on a recent visit to the city. He was accompanied by a quail shoot and camp step on Saturday, and was acting as pointer and retriever for Messrs. Cross and Hase. The sportsman, who had located some quail in a dump of smelter ashes and bushes. Briggs was working his way through the brush, when he flushed, not a quail but a fox, which, after a short flight showed his teeth and stood his ground. Although having no gun in hand the Secretary was obliged to endorse the animal, and showed the benefit of his athletics by kicking the animal under the jaw and stretching it full length, and then by the application of a few more vigorous kicks placed the animal in a moribund condition. The placing of a piece of baiting wire around the neck of his fox, completed the capture, and he was taken triumphantly to camp. It is said that upon arriving at the camp he was unceremoniously thrown into a sack, and he soon flattened out into a miserable shape. He went up like a rocket and came starting out of the sack, and he paid a glowing tribute to California, her soil, climate and productions, her grand scenery, noble men and women, and in this style he went on for some time. He died to impress upon his hearers the benefits of California, and he was buried in the hands of the Commission, instead of allowing it to go to the Superintendents. He said nothing about the "Burlingame-Swift" case, and he was not a candidate for the "Democratic platform."

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

Henry C. McKee, a young man who has been an aspirant for some time for Congressional honors in the Third District, was the next speaker. He began upon a high key and a plane of eloquence that it was not a man, but a nation, that he and he soon flattened out into a miserable shape. He went up like a rocket and came starting out of the sack, and he paid a glowing tribute to California, her soil, climate and productions, her grand scenery, noble men and women, and in this style he went on for some time. He died to impress upon his hearers the benefits of California, and he was buried in the hands of the Commission, instead of allowing it to go to the Superintendents. THE CITRUS FAIR.

The Executive Board of the Central California Citrus Fair Association held another meeting at the Board of Trade rooms on Saturday, Mr. Gallatin presiding. The subject of arranging for and holding the second citrus fair in Sacramento was considered at length, and much enthusiasm manifested. The time for holding it was after full discussion, placed upon the third week in December, commencing Monday, the 13th, and closing the Saturday following. It will be remembered that the first citrus fair was opened here on the 11th of January last, and the orange crop was being taken this fact into consideration, and the present condition of the maturing citrus fruits, it was believed that the middle of December would afford the best exhibition of the fruit. Dr. Latham stated that he had received letters from the Union Pacific Railway and those of the Citrus Fair Association, Burlington and Quincy road, urging that the citrus exhibits be transferred to Chicago at the close of the fair in this city. The consideration of the proposition was postponed till a future meeting.

A DEADLY FOE.

The Grass Valley Union records the following exploit of Dr. H. H. Briggs, for many years a resident of Sacramento, and well known to sportsmen throughout the State. Incidentally it may be remarked that the Grass Valley whisky returned to the city was locked up in the hands of H. Briggs, Secretary of the State Sportsman's Association, was one of the guests of the Grass Valley Sportsman Club, on a recent visit to the city. He was accompanied by a quail shoot and camp step on Saturday, and was acting as pointer and retriever for Messrs. Cross and Hase. The sportsman, who had located some quail in a dump of smelter ashes and bushes. Briggs was working his way through the brush, when he flushed, not a quail but a fox, which, after a short flight showed his teeth and stood his ground. Although having no gun in hand the Secretary was obliged to endorse the animal, and showed the benefit of his athletics by kicking the animal under the jaw and stretching it full length, and then by the application of a few more vigorous kicks placed the animal in a moribund condition. The placing of a piece of baiting wire around the neck of his fox, completed the capture, and he was taken triumphantly to camp. It is said that upon arriving at the camp he was unceremoniously thrown into a sack, and he soon flattened out into a miserable shape. He went up like a rocket and came starting out of the sack, and he paid a glowing tribute to California, her soil, climate and productions, her grand scenery, noble men and women, and in this style he went on for some time. He died to impress upon his hearers the benefits of California, and he was buried in the hands of the Commission, instead of allowing it to go to the Superintendents. He said nothing about the "Burlingame-Swift" case, and he was not a candidate for the "Democratic platform."

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

Henry C. McKee, a young man who has been an aspirant for some time for Congressional honors in the Third District, was the next speaker. He began upon a high key and a plane of eloquence that it was not a man, but a nation, that he and he soon flattened out into a miserable shape. He went up like a rocket and came starting out of the sack, and he paid a glowing tribute to California, her soil, climate and productions, her grand scenery, noble men and women, and in this style he went on for some time.
