GOING FOR THE CHIEF.

The House Commission Charge Inquired of the degree of local interest awakened by the Fire Department imbroglio was quickened last more a day or two since, by public intimations or charges that Chief Engineer Sullivan had abused his trust by lining his pockets at the expense of the city; in short, that he has been dishonest. If the charges are true, he ought to speedily resign Sullivan to prison and his name to oblivion; if they are groundless, common justice demands that he should be cleared of the charge of the proof of his innocence. One of the gravest, if not the principal, statement made of dishonesty by that officer was that he had speculated in fire insurance bonds for the city—that is, had received a commission or share, and pocketed it, and thus they had been charged more for losses than was just and right. The Record-Union yesterday investigated that matter, and developed these facts from official records and files.

The Paid Fire Department of Sacramento did not receive the $1,000,000 of rubber hose in fifty-foot lengths. The books show the order of the presentation of the bill for approval and payment. The price is billed at $1.15 per foot, the aggregate being $1,150,000. The purchase was made by the city with the California State Bank of this city, was the agency through which the Fire Commission made payment, and the records in that bank show that a draft was drawn on San Francisco for the amount—$1,150,000—in favor of the manufacturing company's account there, and having been paid, the usual return of the bank's draft has been made to it. In addition, there is on file in the department a copy of this receipt.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 1, 1927. Received from city of Sacramento eleven hundred and fifty dollars, in full account Fire Department.

After the foregoing evidence of the transaction had been found and examined yesterday, Chief Engineer Sullivan was met with the following letter in his hand. He stated that it came to him unsolicited and unexpected, though he was conscious that no one could truthfully say he had received a single cent or any promise of payment for any fire insurance, or that he had defrauded the city of Sacramento of a farthing. It will be observed that the letter is from the agent of the California State and Rubber Manufacturing Company already referred to.

The facts as to this business are thus exhausted, and from the letter to Sullivan, given above, it appears that the agent of the California State and Rubber Manufacturing Company had been visited by the Mayor there, and indignantly deny that there was any share or speculation in the transaction, and that the Mayor's statement to the contrary is a lie.

A Pastor's Reception.
The Ladies' Social Union gave a formal reception in the parlors of the Sixth-street M. E. Church last evening to their new pastor, the Rev. A. T. Newhall, and his wife. The ladies of this church are famous for giving successful entertainments, and that of last evening was no exception. In the course of his remarks, he paid a high tribute to his predecessor, with whom he was well acquainted, and referred to the many excellent traits of character possessed by Mr. Dille. He referred to many incidents of a camping trip to the Yosemite, which he had taken with the ladies, which were amusing and interesting. His remarks were appropriate and well received. He closed by returning thanks to the ladies' union for the kind reception, both for himself and Mrs. Newhall.

The remainder of the programme consisted of a song by the quartet, reading by Miss Nannie Waterhouse and an instrumental solo by Miss Mamie Barrett.

At the conclusion of the programme all present were introduced to the host and his wife, after which refreshments were served.

SACRAMENTO BUMB.

How Able-Bodied Men, Adverse to Work, Eke Out an Existence.
To be found upon the streets, when there is such a demand for labor on every hand. There is one thing noticeable, however; those who are begging in the streets for "ten cents to procure a cup of coffee," are "ten cents" army of "bummers" who have been discharged from the army, whose highest ambition is to get outside of Sacramento and sleep in a back alley.

Their faces have become familiar to do labor of any kind for years, and they are solely dependent upon charity of those who, in many instances, are their inferiors in bodily strength. They sit around bar-rooms, drink whenever they can "ring in" on a crowd, and live by pickings from the free-lunch tables. There are others who occupy a seat in the office of the hotel or the bar attached to the office, monopolize all the daily papers, and take an active part in all political discussions. They are generally regarded as "Colonel" or "Judge," and a stranger who is introduced to them is surprised at the fluency of their tongues, and imagine, for a short time at least, that they have met the acquaintance of "the lion of the town." If this individual happens to fall in with a few politicians he will average a dozen drinks a day. The town is well supplied with this "bum of respectability."

Along about election day, the only honest penny he makes during the year is when he sells his "influence" in that bank show that a draft was drawn on San Francisco for the amount—$1,150,000—in favor of the manufacturing company's account there, and having been paid, the usual return of the bank's draft has been made to it. In addition, there is on file in the department a copy of this receipt.

Yesterday afternoon the front axle of a back truck at Fourth and K streets, and the vehicle came down quite suddenly. A lady who was inside was thrown out of the carriage, but she was not hurt. The accident occurred, otherwise it might have done so in 50 running days. When asked if he had not traveled on the railroad a portion of the distance, he said "No, I was ferried across the Missouri river and the balance of the way was traveled on my steamer."

Divorce proceedings are about as frequent in this city as are the issuance of marriage licenses. The minister joins them together, but the courts keep them asunder. Judge Armstrong yesterday legally separated two people who not long since were united in love and cherish each other, but who have since found that the much-talked-of marriage is a delusion, and that they are not Nellie Flanigan and G. H. and Constance Hoover.

Monday Surveyor O'Farrell will begin the survey of Coward & Porter's street railway in the town of Woodland. The material to be used in the survey will be running from the depot to the Byrns Hotel. THE BLANKET WE THINK BEST OF. In order to draw attention to our Five-dollar Gray Blankets, we expect to-day to dress a show-window with nothing else but them.

These Blankets are of California make, fine, soft and smooth; good size and extra heavy. They are made of fine gray stock, and are commonly known as All-wool Blankets, although in reality they contain about 8 per cent cotton. This is nothing against them, as the cotton gives the blanket body and prevents shrinkage.

Now that blanket-buying time is at hand, we believe these goods, on account of quality and price, will attract attention.
