A BRUTAL AFFAIR.

Heartless Act of an Opium-Debauched Husband.

SANTA ROSA, February 23d.—The most ghastly affair that ever transpired in this city came to light to-day. S. A. Wells, a carpenter, who is said to be addicted to the opium habit, has been living with his wife on Davis street for several months past. Last Sunday morning between 2 and 5 o'clock his wife gave birth to a child without the attendance of a physician. Wells called in a lady neighbor, the mother of a family, and requested her to act as midwife in a physician. Wells replied in a contemptuous manner that he had no faith in physicians and undertook to perform the duties of midwife himself. Shortly after the birth the child was reported dead. Wells wrapped a few yards of blanket in a hole in his back-yard, and buried it. Last night the news of the fiendish work reached the ears of the officers, and to-day Wells was notified to remove the remains outside the city limits.

It is a matter of speculation as to whether the child was strangled or strangled to death, but it is likely Wells will be prosecuted.

MORE BRIGANDAGE.

Another Railroad Train Robbed in the Arizona Wilds.

TUCSON, February 23d.—Last night at 2:30 o'clock the west-bound train was stopped by two armed, masked men as the train was leaving Stein's Pass Station, one and a half miles from the station. The engineer, Harper, under the muzzle of their guns, to stop the train.

The robbers uncoupled the express and mail from the engine, and took the passengers, and pulled away from the train a mile. When they stopped, one held the engineer and the other held the passengers, and compelled express messenger Hand to open the express car and safe and deliver up the contents.

Only two shots were fired. No one was hurt. The mail was not molested. The robbers went south on foot. The time occupied in doing up the business was less than forty minutes. The train arrived here on time.

A POSE IN PURSUIT.

Marshal W. K. Meade and a posse, consisting of Sheriff Shibley, Len Harris, Will Smith and two Papago Indian boys, were sent out to pursue a desperado, Noble, of the Southern Pacific, with a special. They arrived at the scene of the robbery at 11:30 o'clock this morning. The amount of the booty taken is not known.

THE YAQUIS.

Mexican Troops Have a Rattling Fight With Indians.

NOGALÉS, February 23d.—A light fought a few days ago at the little valley of Batuchi in the wild Bacatote Mountains. Captain Enciso, at the head of a number of troops, and a large party of Yaqui Indians, attacked some Indians who were fortified in a strong position. The Yaquis defeated them bravely, and the fighting was waged from 2 o'clock in the afternoon till midnight, when the battle was suspended owing to darkness.

The following morning, with the intent of continuing the battle, the troops moved on to the Indian fortifications, but found the Yaquis had fled. They were killed and two wounded. Enciso is in hot pursuit of the Indians, with a reinforcement of fifty more men from the Yaqui Battalion, and is well supplied with the munitions of war.

Some parties of the Yaqui war, which instead of ending with the death of the Yaqui chief, the acknowledged successor to Cajeme, the Yaquis' situation in Sonora resembles that of the Apaches, Utes, Sioux and other tribes of the United States. The Yaquis were possessed of a large reservation along the Yaqui river, embracing several thousands of acres of rich and fertile lands that had never been disturbed by the victors, and had been hidden away by the modern Mexicans. The Yaquis had in fact always sufficiently warlike to keep up some kind of independence under their own chiefs, who guarded with a jealous eye their country from the invasion of Mexican squatters.

The real cause of the Yaqui war was the burning desire of a number of wealthy and influential Mexicans to possess themselves of the rich, fertile Yaqui lands. For this reason the aid of the Federal Government was invoked, while open war was waged against the Yaquis, who were in several ways. After Cajeme was made way with these promises were not kept. The whole district is watered by the Yaqui river, from the crest of the Sierra Madre, and the Yaquis are parcelled out in immense grants to a few favored persons, whose influence in Sonora is well understood and to whom grants will go.

Some parties in high position managed to secure the larger portion of Lower California under the guise of a grant to the International Company. Not in the United States alone do people use the facilities given by high official position for the purpose of swilling their private accounts.

The "Mail" Label Suit—A New Case of Small-Pox—Etc.

(Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press.)

STOCKTON, February 23d.—The trial of E. L. Calton, editor of the Evening Mail, who was indicted by the Grand Jury for criminal libel, was resumed to-day, and a jury was selected. J. C. Campbell will make the opening statement for the prosecution to-morrow morning.

The Health Officer to-day discovered another case of small-pox, an Italian named Calton, the child, which is in a precarious condition, has been hidden away by its parents. This makes three cases of the malady in town at present. The other two cases are mild ones.

General O. Howard delivered his lecture on the "Battle of Gettysburg" to-night under the auspices of the High School Literary Society. The theater was filled, and the audience well pleased.

HOW IT WORKED.

More Light Thrown Upon the Sugar Trust Operations.

CHICAGO, February 23d.—A light is thrown upon the operations of the Sugar Trust, through the agency of interviews with Philadelphia refiners, who refused to enter the combination. E. C. Knight said to an interviewer that he would have joined the trust had his refinery been in New York, but Philadelphia refiners would be in the minority in the trust, and the Philadelphia brokers would, therefore, have been closed probably only those in New York and Brooklyn continuing to run.

A DISASTROUS BOOM.

Fatal Logging Accident in a Washington Territory River.

PORTLAND, February 23d.—To-day a very large boom of logs jammed in the mouth of the Palouse river, near Colfax, W. T., killing Moses Ebert and very seriously injuring three other men. The boom, which was not learned. At the same time another man, name unknown, was drowned in a stream just above the boom.

NEVADA.

A Man Drops Dead While Engaged in Conversation.

VIRGINIA, February 23d.—J. A. Lovejoy, while conversing in a butcher-shop last night, suddenly died. The cause of death was caused by the rupture of an artery in the region of the brain. Deceased was a native of Maine, and was a painter. He was a carriage painter and builder.

HEAVY ROBBERY IN NEVADA COUNTY.

NEVADA, February 23d.—Eleven hundred dollars worth of bank stock and other securities were stolen from Orrin Gowell, owner of the Marzanita mine, Tuesday. The papers were in his pocket, and he was left hanging in the town-house at the mine. An Italian named Dalapizza has been arrested, and will have to explain the robbery. He was seen around the mine about the time of the robbery. The missing papers have not been found.

NOTES FROM FRESCO.

FRESCO, February 23d.—A mass meeting was held to-night to consider the proposed bill to amend the law relating to the sale of land to San Francisco and other cities in the State.

THE BLUE CREEK ACCIDENT.

ELKO, February 23d.—The wreck at Blue Creek, Nevada, yesterday morning, was much, only as a delay to the trains. Two freight cars on the side track got on the main track in a head-on collision, and the East-bound passenger train was broken up, and the freight cars were broken up, and the passengers were injured.
