

DAILY RECORD-UNION

SAURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1888

The Record-Union is the only paper on the coast, outside of San Francisco, that receives the full Associated Press dispatches from all parts of the world.

Because it is my deliberate judgment that the prosperity of America is mainly due to its system of protective laws, I urge that Germany has now reached that point where it is necessary to imitate the tariff system of the United States.

The London "Times" having a letter from President Cleveland in its possession, after quoting passages from it, editorially says: "It would hardly be possible to put the free-trade case more clearly or more strongly. The arguments which Cleveland uses are those which Cobden used to employ forty-five years ago, and which any English free-trader would employ now."

The demand for cheaper coats seems to me necessarily to involve a cheaper man and woman under the coat. - Benjamin Harrison.

INTELLECTUAL EVENINGS PROMISED.

George W. Cable, the distinguished author and publicist, delighted a large and intelligent audience by his readings in this city a week ago. It was an intellectual treat, and no one went from it who did not feel refreshed and strengthened.

RIGHT TO THE POINT.

A distinguished Democrat in a recent speech in this city insisted that the workers in cotton mills in America receive lower wages and work longer hours than the workers in cotton mills in England.

THE ONE-DOLLAR LIE.

Though the great majority of the men engaged in the labor strikes of 1877 at Indianapolis have been found and have willingly signed a paper, circulated by their own comrades, that emphatically denies that General Harrison was their enemy, but that on the contrary he intervened for them and did his best to secure them that they asked for, there are Democrats so unprincipled as to continue to circulate the infamous story that the General assailed the workers and attempted to break them up from them, etc.

A CONTEMPTIBLE LIE.

It is the constant assertion of the men who oppose the election of General Harrison to the Presidency, that his triumph will mean "free whiskey and unlimited drinkings." Let the voters in whom this twaddle awakens any alarm, reflect for one moment upon the reasonableness of a charge.

A WITTY SPEECH.

In this morning's RECORD-UNION we print the full speech of Hon. William E. Mason of Illinois, delivered in the House of Representatives recently, upon the subject of the tariff bill. It is a keen and merciless exposure of the fallacies of the bill, and a "showing up" of Democratic supporters in their attitude as free traders.

MR. FOLLET AND THE WOOL INDUSTRY.

Mr. Follet, the Democratic orator, who flattered the Democracy and libeled Republicans in a speech in this city on Wednesday, took occasion to refer to the tariff and to declare that in the matter of wool-growing the tariff had never benefited the industry, and that we need the fine foreign wools to mix with the home product.

4,000,000 people interested in wool-growing. Of sheep, we have 50,000,000 in the United States, and their raising employs over 112,000,000 acres. The value of the wool crop is about $77,000,000 yearly, while the mutton value of sheep is $122,000,000 annually. To strike down wool-growing will not cheapen mutton, for men will not raise it for amusement. It is now the cheap food; when it is raised for itself alone it will be the dear food. To strike down the wool industry and admit free foreign wool, will cause a shrinkage in the value of lands, in labor, in decrease of flocks and of wool product, of $355,000,000, says Mr. Washington Belt in his admirable monograph upon the subject.

THE ELECTION OUTRAGES.

The outrages upon the ballot-box in San Francisco on Thursday cause every self-respecting citizen to blush with indignation. It makes no sort of difference what political party is to blame, or whether the brutal men who perpetrated the crimes are Republicans or Democrats—the infamy of Thursday's proceedings is a menace to free institutions. It was the legitimate child of boss rule and was born at the expense of human life, the loss of which is chargeable directly to the vicious bossism that in both parties struggles with its own for dominance. The shameless violation of law in illegally voting; in invading polling-places with gangs of hired ruffians; in breaking up ballot-boxes; by assaulting election officers; by firing polling-booths; by beating inspectors and inhumanly setting one on fire when sprinkled with coal oil, was bad enough; but when it came to invasion of the Republican Committee-rooms with arms and the shooting down of human beings, the culmination of the day's disgraces was reached, and not only the city of San Francisco, but the system of ascertaining the will of the people, covered with shame. There should be such an example made of the ruffians who were guilty of these outrages as will strike terror to the souls of the bosses and boss servants. The political parties in San Francisco must sooner or later wash their hands clean of any relation to the wretches who make such scenes as those of Thursday possible. Unless they do so, the people will desert them. The civilization of the age will not much longer tolerate political systems under which it is possible for ruffianism to dominate at the polls or to invade the sanctuary of the right of the citizen—the ballot-box.

THE ONE-DOLLAR LIE.

Though the great majority of the men engaged in the labor strikes of 1877 at Indianapolis have been found and have willingly signed a paper, circulated by their own comrades, that emphatically denies that General Harrison was their enemy, but that on the contrary he intervened for them and did his best to secure them that they asked for, there are Democrats so unprincipled as to continue to circulate the infamous story that the General assailed the workers and attempted to break them up from them, etc.

The lowest average daily temperature in the city of San Francisco, during the month of September, was 62°; the highest, 75°; the lowest minimum, 48°; the highest maximum, 92°.

OFFICE OF THE CALIFORNIA COTTON MILLS COMPANY.

DEAR SIR: Your favor of yesterday duly received. What you saw in the papers, as stated by you, is a gross misrepresentation of facts. We are not overstocked with goods, and we are not reducing the import tariff on any article produced in the country. Having come from a well-known and established cotton mill, we know too well how badly it would fare with both employer and employees if we were to compete with the low-paid labor of our country. The California tariff papers give a correct and complete and accurate account of the standard of wages, and this can only be done by a strong protective wall. These are some of the reasons why we propose to reduce the aggregate duty upon cotton and cotton goods from $1,233,599.57 to $955,930.29 according to the official tables published by the committee that framed it.

HIGH LICENSE TESTIMONY.

Pennsylvania and Minnesota have just reported upon the experiment of high license for one year in those jurisdictions. In the Keystone State the law went into effect June 30, 1887. In the year preceding, under the old law, there were granted 14,704 licenses; in 1888, under the new law, 7,738, or a decrease of about one half of all the saloons in the State. In 1887 the revenue from licenses was $976,179 under the old law; in 1888, under the new law, it amounted to $1,835,963. So the experiment was resulted in decreasing the saloons by one half, and doubling the revenue. The officials' report, also, notes a decrease in drunkenness and the disappearance of most of the vile dens where men were made stupid with bad liquor and then robbed. Now these things will be remembered are precisely the results that the friends of high license claimed would develop. Let us turn to the Minnesota report. In 1888 there are 1,597 saloons, while in 1887, under the old law, there were 2,806. The figures are not yet obtainable as to revenue, but it is reported officially to have been greatly increased. But it is set forth with much emphasis that the social conditions have been very much improved during the year. That is to say, the low groggeries are shut up, the call for police service has fallen off in all the smaller towns and cities, and in these especially drunkenness, brawling and the crimes of drunkenness have decreased.

States has everything to encourage it, and that it is an "infant industry," and that by protection we can raise as many birds and produce as fine plumes from them as is possible in any part of the world.

If anyone desires, by the experience of comparison and contrast, to realize what a wise and comfortable policy is that of Sacramento in sprinkling all her streets and alleys by general taxation, let them go to San Francisco and travel to the Pacific Mail dock, on Third and Brannan streets, or anywhere in the section between Howard street and Mission bay. He will be so grieved with dust, and his eyes so filled by notes and beams, and his nostrils with powdered manure and dirt of the streets, that he will anathematize the man that led him into a city so utterly neglectful of the commonest economy in the care of its highways and so careless of the comfort of its people.

ALL SENSATIONAL STORIES.

All the sensational stories going about that General Harrison has promised this and that Cabinet position to certain men in case of his election, are unworthy of consideration. Unless we are to write General Harrison down a fool we are not to believe them. He is a far-sighted, sensible and cool-headed man of great experience and high position. Such men do not count unattached clients, much less boast of how they will fill offices before they attain to the power to dispose of them.

FIRST-CLASS WEATHER.

The Regular Condition of Things Reported by Central California. Sergeant Barwick, Signal Service Observer, informs a RECORD-UNION reporter that the highest temperature yesterday was 75°, which is the first time since June 17th that the maximum or highest temperature has been so low.

The following shows the lowest maximum temperature for each month from June to present, viz: June, 74°; July, 70°; August, 69°; September, 75° (yesterday). The highest maximum temperature during the same time was: For June, 92°; July, 90°; August, 92°; September, 100°. The extreme lowest or minimum temperature during the same time was: For June, 51°; July, 51°; August, 48°; September, to date, 54°. The above data shows that for the past four months the highest temperature has been 10° to 15° less than it was at the same time last year, and the lowest 4° or 5° more than it was at the same time last year.

The lowest average daily temperature in the city of San Francisco, during the month of September, was 62°; the highest, 75°; the lowest minimum, 48°; the highest maximum, 92°.

PRESS EXPRESSIONS.

Cleveland is like a tree. He leaves in the spring—Oregon Express. It seems to be a notion of Mr. Cleveland that all Americans engaged in gainful pursuits are deep-eyed rascals, while all those who are innocent and honest—Ohio State Journal. The Philadelphia Press remarks that it is a sad thing for the Indiana Democracy which, in 1880, carried the State, that the party is now in the hands of the penitentiary for election frauds. Every vote is needed this year. The question to be decided at the polls this year is whether we will continue to have a protective principle and keep up wages, or destroy it and reduce wages to the European level. The election of 1888 is a referendum on the question of the tariff. All the elections of this year show Democratic gains, and it must be painful for Democrats to reflect that a change of 600 votes in the State would carry the State over to the Republicans. The Iowa Judge who has decided that the State has no right to regulate the sale of liquor for their own use, has expounded a far-reaching principle. For if a man's right to sell liquor is absolute, and if he can't make vinegar he can't make pickles, and if he can't make pickles the boarding-schools for girls might just as well be closed. The Iowa Judge's decision is a precedent that will be followed by other States. This decision is in accordance with the principles of the Philadelphia Press.

THE UNIVERSAL REPUBLIC.

The Universal Republic is the title of a new weekly paper published at Portland, Me. It is a paper of high character, and is published by the Universal Thought Publishing Company, with H. N. Maguire and Lucy A. Mallory, editors. The paper and press, an excellent trade journal published in Philadelphia in the interest of the typographical fraternity and in its own behalf, presents a series of articles on the subject of the Republic and Democratic nominees for President and Vice-President. The paper is a new publication in the city of Portland, and is published by the Universal Thought Publishing Company. It is published in small quarto form, sixteen pages, weekly, at New York, N. Y., for $2.00 per annum in advance. It is published by the Universal Thought Publishing Company, with H. N. Maguire and Lucy A. Mallory, editors.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Of the "Questions of the Day" series we have received from the Bancroft Company, published by the Bancroft Company, Putnam's Sons, Professor Edward Clark Lunt's admirable monograph upon "The Demand for a Radical Change in its Methods and Aims." Professor Lunt holds that the present economic system is avarice, and that it is avarice that has caused the present economic system to be what it is. He is a far-sighted, sensible and cool-headed man of great experience and high position. Such men do not count unattached clients, much less boast of how they will fill offices before they attain to the power to dispose of them.

The "Musical Herald" (Franklin Square, Boston), in its issue for September very much that will interest the musical student, and also these selections of music: "The Evening Picture," by J. H. Boulanger; "The Old Farm Bell," by J. H. Boulanger; "The Old Farm Bell," by J. H. Boulanger; "The Old Farm Bell," by J. H. Boulanger.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Pugilist Sullivan's physician says that he is out of danger. Fred Balzac shot and killed Stephen Johnson at San Diego on Thursday. The Governor of the Chickasaws took his seat on Thursday attended by an armed force of 100 men. At the Brussels International Exhibition the Westinghouse brake received the highest prize. Half of the Roslyn coal mine strikers have been permitted to return to work at reduced wages. At Gravesend yesterday Haggin's Firezini was beaten by a horse and a half race by Comemara in 2:37. Elsie Reynolds, the "materializing medium," was exposed again Wednesday night at San Diego.

John Parrell had been held to answer at Sonora, Tuolumne county, for the murder of Lyman B. Randall. Florence Ruiz, a brave and influential Mexican woman, died at a day or two ago at her home in Sonora. General Jacob M. Campbell died at Johnston, Pa., on Thursday. He was born in Somerset county, Pa., in 1821. Senator Florence Ruiz, a wealthy ranchman of Sonora, famous for a quarter of a century as an Indian scout for the United States and Mexican troops, has died at his home near San Laramie, Arizona. Hon. J. C. Haines has been arrested at Houston, Tex., in connection with the Gardner oil-smuggling business. He had acted as attorney for parties accused, and his arrest is regarded as an outrage. The editor and manager of the Portland Sunday Morning were arrested Thursday on two charges of criminal libel, preferred by a resident of Salem. They were released upon giving bonds in the sum of $1,000 each. At Sandy Creek, N. Y., William Vandervoort was to have been married to Miss Frankie Matteson, a highly respectable young lady, but before the ceremony he took his own life by shooting himself.
