

SLIPPER DAY.

TO-DAY! 200 PAIRS ON SALE OF LADIES' DRESS AND HOUSE SLIPPERS. YOUR CHOICE At 80 Cents per Pair.

Saturday there will be a Sale of RIBBONS and HATS in Military Department.

KID SLIPPERS, PLAIN AND FANCY. PLUSH SLIPPERS, beaded and plain, in different colors. Velvet Slippers, plain, beaded vamps and bows.

80 Cents per Pair!

TO-DAY! IN DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT; 2 CASES OF SATENS WILL BE ON SALE AT 12 1/2 CENTS PER YARD.

These Goods have just arrived from PHILADELPHIA, and are of the LATEST STYLES and full width.

TO-MORROW WILL BE THE DAY FOR Millinery and Ribbons!

Our First Sale this season; therefore, we shall try and do our best. 100 boxes of Fancy Ribbons, varying in width from No. 12 to No. 40.

ALSO, THE SAME DAY, we will sell 40 Trimmed Hats at $1.95, $2.50 and $3.50 each. All New Shapes. Worth more than double the price asked, and trimmed in the latest style.

RED HOUSE, Nos. 714 and 716 J Street, AND NO. 715 OAK AVENUE, SACRAMENTO, CAL.

THE NONPAREIL! CORNER OF FIFTH AND J STREETS, SACRAMENTO.

This is the First Day of Spring. SPECIAL DRIVES TO-DAY

HOSE, MUSLIN UNDERWEAR, CORSETS, GLOVES, EMBROIDERIES.

TO-DAY! OUR STOCK OF SPRING WRAPS, JACKETS and ULSTERS is now COMPLETE.

REMEMBER! Our 200 Cartons of Fancy Ribbons now on the way from the East. Proper announcement of their arrival will be made.

BUTTERICK PATTERNS AGENCY. THE NONPAREIL, Corner of Fifth and J Streets, Sacramento.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

SENATOR STANFORD URGING THE CLAIMS OF MIZZNER.

A Determined Assault Upon Useless Red Tape—Whitelaw Reid Not Yet Confirmed.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

IN THE SENATE.

Several Nominations Sent in by the President Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Senate met at 10 o'clock. The President's private Secretaries, appeared at the bar and delivered sundry messages from the President, whereupon the Senate went into executive session.

After a brief executive session without opening doors, the Senate took a recess until 2 o'clock, at which time, there being no further nominations, they adjourned.

THE NOMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The President has received the following nominations to the Senate to-day:

Mrs. C. Moore of Walla Walla, Washington Territory, Governor of Washington Territory.

Henry N. Blane of Montana, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Montana.

WILL SOON ADJOURN. The Senate likely to conclude its session next week.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—In the executive session of the Senate this afternoon Sherman announced that President Harrison had named him that the President would be far along with the nominations that the Senate might conveniently adjourn next week.

In order to assist the President in his intention, the Senate did not take its usual three-day recess to-day, but will meet again to-morrow. This notification makes it practically certain that no legislative business will be transacted before the adjournment.

There will probably be, however, some discussion of the resolution introduced yesterday by Butler, declaring that the Senate has power to elect a President pro tempore for service during the term of Congress, a decision by the Senate being desired by a number of Senators upon that disputed point.

In executive session to-day the Senate confirmed a number of Territorial and postal nominations, comprising all that had up to date been reported from the committee.

THE MEXICAN MISSION.

President Harrison Requests an Interview With Mr. Mizner.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Senator Stanford called upon the President to-day and urged him very strongly to appoint L. B. Mizner Minister to Mexico.

He spoke of the great interest the Pacific States have in the selection of a good man for this post. The California railroads were being extended into Mexico, he said, and the Pacific States, along the southern border, was a California enterprise.

The President said that there were a number of candidates for the place, but none of them seemed to him to possess all the requisite qualifications for the place. He said he considered Mr. Mizner as one of the most important in his list, and he wished to make no mistake in the choice of a Minister. He asked Senator Stanford to bring Mr. Mizner to see him, and to-morrow they will call upon the President.

RED TAPE MUST GO.

Business Methods to be Instituted in Federal Department.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The special committee appointed in the last Congress to investigate the methods of doing business in the executive departments, of which Senator Cockrell is Chairman, has completed its work, and the report is being prepared by Cockrell, who has introduced a bill into the Senate to-day.

It will be made to the Senate in a few days.

The report is an extensive and important one, containing illustrations of forms and precedents, and details of the dispatch of public business, and it will show that some departments—the Pension and Land Bureaus, for instance—require as long time as four or five months to settle a claim or get information of certain kinds. Claims filed as far back as under the old style.

Cockrell says there is, however, in many—if not most—cases a disposition to ignore improved ways of doing business, and other things, that a Commission be appointed with authority and direction to institute reforms.

PLUMB AND VEST.

Two Republican Senators Who Do Not Admire Reid.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—There is no truth in the published statement that a attack upon the nomination of Whitelaw Reid, to be Minister to France, was made in the executive session of the Senate yesterday. Mr. Reid's nomination was reported favorably from the Committee on Foreign Relations yesterday.

Senator Plumb objected, as he desires a day to have studied the nominations reported before they are acted upon.

This morning, when the case came up in executive session, Senator Vest asked that it might lay over until to-morrow, and his request was complied with.

Both Senators Plumb and Vest dislike Reid, because they have been, during the columns of the Tribune, but it is not believed that they intend to make a fight against his confirmation. It is evident, however, that they do not intend the Senate shall pay him the compliment of an immediate confirmation.

IMPORTANT RULING.

A Minor May Take Up Land Under Certain Conditions.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Interior Department has made an important ruling in the concrete session of the Senate yesterday. Mr. Reid's nomination was reported favorably from the Committee on Foreign Relations yesterday.

Senator Plumb objected, as he desires a day to have studied the nominations reported before they are acted upon.

This morning, when the case came up in executive session, Senator Vest asked that it might lay over until to-morrow, and his request was complied with.

Both Senators Plumb and Vest dislike Reid, because they have been, during the columns of the Tribune, but it is not believed that they intend to make a fight against his confirmation. It is evident, however, that they do not intend the Senate shall pay him the compliment of an immediate confirmation.

THE CHIN KANG RIOT.

Particulars of the Affair—The Leaders to be Punished.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Consul Jones Chin Kiang reports to the State Department the particulars of the Chinese riot that occurred on February 25th. It appears that the Chinese were celebrating a holiday and some boys and young men stoned and stoned the policemen around the British Consulate and were repulsed, one man being injured. Rumor had it that he was killed.

This angered the Chinese, and a mob of 20,000 gathered and surrounded the British and American Consulates, which were barricaded. A small force of Chinese police sent to disperse the mob were routed. A force of 300 troops then arrived, but

PACIFIC COAST.

AN EXPRESS TRAIN ROBBED BY ARIZONA BANDITS.

Another Bonanza Hoax—Suicide at Redding—Matters in San Francisco—Etc.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

HIS LIFE A FAILURE.

Fremont's Suicide of an Oregon Man at Redding.

REDDING, March 21.—A man by the name of G. E. Crookshank, of Clackamas, Ore., committed suicide at Redding, Ore., by shooting himself in the head with a revolver.

He registered on Tuesday, the 18th, went to his room and ordered some brandy. Wednesday morning he was heard in the room, and at evening they supposed him to be asleep.

This morning, on opening the door, they found him dead and a partial bottle of morphine by his side. There were also a new revolver and a box of cartridges, $50 in money, and letters written in a notebook to his father and wife, stating that he was miserable and that his life was not in his right mind. At the inquest the above facts were brought out and a verdict returned accordingly.

TERRIBLY INJURED.

Accident to an Arizona Man Through His Carelessness.

HOLBROOK (A. T.), March 21.—Otto Schmidt, a German and ranchman of several years near Winslow, after having finished his Saturday's work, turned his horse loose to graze until Monday. On Sunday morning he was heard in the barn, and he was found, carrying with him a double-barreled gun. He saw them in the animals and started them back.

In pulling the weapon toward him, the hand he caught in the limit of the barrel and the charge in the gun was exploded, sending both loads of shot into his hand, and he was badly injured.

He was taken to the hospital, and is now in a critical condition. The doctor says he will live.

ANOTHER "HOLD UP."

Masked Bandits Rob a Railroad Train in Arizona.

HOLBROOK (A. T.), March 21.—The East-bound passenger train, No. 2, of the Atlantic and Pacific, in Canyon Diablo, last night, was held up by a party of five men. The train was stopped by a volley of shots, and four masked men appeared by the engine. The passengers were ordered to get out of the train, and the engine was taken to a place near the town.

The train was moving slowly, and the robbers mounted the locomotive without any difficulty. The train was held up for some time, and the passengers were ordered to get out of the train.

None of the passengers were molested, and from the meager account obtained it appears to have been no effort on their part to protect Walla, Fargo & Co.'s property.

The four men left, going southward from Winslow. A sheriff's posse is in pursuit.

QUITE OBSCURE.

A Remotest Murderer Tascott is in Tehama County.

CHICO, March 21.—A week ago a stranger applied for work at Stanford's vineyard at Vina, which was given him. It was rumored that the man was a murderer, and the man who had been killed by the stranger was Tascott, the murderer of banker Snell, of Chicago, Ill.

The man who had been killed by the stranger was Tascott, the murderer of banker Snell, of Chicago, Ill.

One of the men at the vineyard informed the sheriff that the man who had been killed by the stranger was Tascott, the murderer of banker Snell, of Chicago, Ill.

The man who had been killed by the stranger was Tascott, the murderer of banker Snell, of Chicago, Ill.

A SAD CASE.

Alice Luchinger's Death Not Caused by Poison.

NEVADA CITY, March 21.—It is ascertained this morning that Alice Luchinger, the 14-year-old girl, who was killed yesterday by a bullet, committed suicide by death by shooting in the head or breast was painful. Tuesday afternoon she bade good-bye to her mother and brother, and Wednesday morning she asked her brother Frank if the gun was loaded.

She then fired the shot which unfettered her clothing and bared her breast. The shot entered the heart. It is not known whether she was sane or insane at the time.

The case is being investigated by the coroner, and it is expected that the jury will find her sane at the time.

AT THE BAY.

Silk Worm Eggs From Europe—The Financier's Case—Etc.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The Silk Culture Association has received several thousand silk worm eggs from France and Italy, which are being distributed in accordance with the demand from several parts of the State.

The Harbor Commissioners have granted the contractors permission to protract work on section seven of the seawall at night.

The case of Finigan against Perkins, an action to test the right of Governor Waterman to remove Finigan as a member of the Board of Agriculture, was before Judge Hunt to-day, and was continued until Monday.

Engineer F. E. R. Whitney, of the old Volunteer Fire Department and Superintendent of the Safe Deposit Company, was yesterday called to the bar in Piedmont for a long time, it is reported to be convalescing.

Matthew Conlon, a teamster, was thrown from his seat to-day and a wheel of his truck passed over his head, killing him instantly.

WASHOING TERRITORY.

Spokane Republicans Wanted Squire for Governor.

SPOKANE FALLS, March 21.—Great dissatisfaction exists among Republicans over the appointment of Miles Moore as Governor by the President to-day. The Republicans here are all for Governor Johnson, and they are being distributed in accordance with the demand from several parts of the State.

UTAH.

Leading Aspirants for the Surveyor-Generalship.

SALT LAKE, March 21.—The people are expecting daily the nomination of a Surveyor-General for this Territory. The leading candidates are Adolph Jenson, of Park City, ex-Surveyor-General Solomon, and Ellsworth Duggett. Mr. Jenson, who is a mining engineer and surveyor, is believed to lead in the race.

FOREIGN TOPICS.

WARM TIMES IN THREE LEADING PARLIAMENTS.

A Bloodless Hungarian Duel—English High Life Escalate—Pigott's Liary—Etc.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

IN THE COMMONS.

Captain Segrave's Record Gives Rise to a Discussion.

LONDON, March 21.—In the Commons, this afternoon, Baron de Worms, Parliamentary Colonial Secretary, read a telegram from the Cape, saying that Captain Segrave was dismissed from the Cape in 1887 for gross neglect of duty and breach of trust.

The reading of the dispatch was followed by a scene of great disorder. The Irish members rose and cheered and there were cries of "Pigott's back!" "Remember Mitchellstown," etc. Quiet was restored.

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

FOREIGN TOPICS.

WARM TIMES IN THREE LEADING PARLIAMENTS.

A Bloodless Hungarian Duel—English High Life Escalate—Pigott's Liary—Etc.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

IN THE COMMONS.

Captain Segrave's Record Gives Rise to a Discussion.

LONDON, March 21.—In the Commons, this afternoon, Baron de Worms, Parliamentary Colonial Secretary, read a telegram from the Cape, saying that Captain Segrave was dismissed from the Cape in 1887 for gross neglect of duty and breach of trust.

The reading of the dispatch was followed by a scene of great disorder. The Irish members rose and cheered and there were cries of "Pigott's back!" "Remember Mitchellstown," etc. Quiet was restored.

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

Captain Segrave commanded the Constabulary at Mitchelstown in 1887. On the 10th of Balfour's salary severely criticized the Government's action in carrying on "a furive and clandestine business in the name of the Government."

Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the House should not be misled by the evidence of his guilt was received.

The House Secretary, Matthews, admitted that the House had passed a resolution in 1887 in favor of the Parnell Commission bill, but he did not know whether Andrews had seen LeCaron, the informer, or not.

FOREIGN TOPICS.

WARM TIMES IN THREE LEADING PARLIAMENTS.

A Bloodless Hungarian Duel—English High Life Escalate—Pigott's Liary—Etc.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

IN THE COMMONS.

Captain Segrave's Record Gives Rise to a Discussion.

LONDON, March 21.—In the Commons, this afternoon, Baron de Worms, Parliamentary Colonial Secretary, read