

FREE CITY OF LUBECK.

REMARKABLE CHARITIES IN THE FAMOUS CITY.

A People More Proud of their Birthright than of the Thrones conferred by Emperors and Kings.

(Special Correspondence of the Record-Union.)

LUBECK (Germany), March 5, 1899.—There is no city in Europe which can give more to its visitors in the way of medieval antiquities, than the old, free city of Lubeck, which at one time was the most powerful of the great Hanseatic League.

The effect which America had upon the commerce between Europe and India was the destruction of Lubeck and its sister cities, whose trade fell into the hands of England and the Netherlands.

It is in the use of bricks that the Lubecker has been most successful, and has introduced the world the simplest of architecture which admits only the most refined forms, but at the same time

MOST WONDERFUL EFFECTS IN COLOR. And carved surfaces are hard to relieve the otherwise too plain spaces between the windows and the doorways.

Many a man does loudly sing When to him his bride is being. But could he know just what they brought to cry instead of sing he would bring.

THE GREYERADEN CHAPEL. Is one of Memling's best paintings, containing over 200 figures.

THE TEN TRAVELERS. All ten weary, footsore travelers, All ten weary, footsore travelers, All ten weary, footsore travelers.

THE MOST REMARKABLE PLACE. I never visited. Imagine the Gothic church with two towers, on either side of which are, in place of the usual pews, little rooms with doors and windows.

INTEREST ON INTEREST FOR ETERNITY. The good Secretary has figured out that in 3886, A. D., the sun will be 29,000,000 times that which France paid Germany after the late war.

IT WAS A Clever Trick. No one enjoys feeling that he has been the object of a clever trick, yet there are circumstances under which people must be tricked to their benefit.

THE BAKER MADE OUT A draft on New York, and as he handed it to the man, asked him if he would mind asking along a small parcel, to be delivered in New York to the banker's brother.

THEY KIND AND WINKLED FACES. As they gave me "good day" seemed to carry a blessing with them. Two warm, home-like living-rooms attached to the building are for the use of the members, and the rooms of the sick, in a quiet corner, are as beautiful as any sick man could have.

FARM AND ORCHARD.

WHO HAS THE BEST PLAN FOR A HEV-HOUSE?

Valuable Information About Planting Potatoes—Curled Leaf on Peach Trees.

A correspondent asks the RECORD-UNION to give him some ideas as to the best plan upon which to construct a hen-house suitable to the climate of the foothills.

As soon as a sufficiency of green food can be provided, cut down the grain ration of the hens. By so doing they will keep in better health.

Cut clover hay should not be expected to take the place of grain. It is good feed for hogs, but for chickens it is not so good.

Wood ashes are excellent on the flower beds. Roses need an application of them in the fall.

THE SHORTER PEACH TREE is cut back when planted the stronger and healthier it will be.

CULTIVATE THE PEACH ORCHARD in the same manner as you would the apple orchard.

STOCKWELL'S BONANZA. A Theatrical Manager Who Has Struck It Rich.

L. B. Stockwell sat in the managerial office of the Alcazar yesterday with a smile of intense satisfaction rippling round the corners of his expressive mouth.

THE PROSPEROUS LOOK of Manager Stockwell was the first thing that struck the eye of the reporter who had just stepped into the office.

THE MANAGER'S SMILE was provoked inadvertently by a ludicrous expression which had just crossed the lips of the reporter.
