Weather Indications for To-Day.
California—Fair, westerly winds; stationary temperature.

It is difficult to understand why any naturalized citizen should ever return to the country of his nativity without bearing with him the official proofs of his American citizenship.

One-half the cases of invasion of the rights of our naturalized citizens abroad is due to neglect to procure documentary evidences of citizenship that, indeed, every one traveling in a foreign country should carry with him.

Here, now, is the case of young Biesel, that would not have occurred had the family taken ordinary precautions. Biesel and wife came to America about eight years ago and located in Texas.

In due time the father took out his papers of naturalization. His son was but a mere lad, and the act of his father therefore accrued to his benefit, and he, too, became an American citizen.

When the lad was 18, the family took a trip to Germany, the native land of the head of the house, and took his boy with him. Just as they were about to return, the authorities at Bremen seized the boy, and informed the father that the youth must enter the army and serve his time.

A SMILE Englishman—we have not a doubt of his smartness—has written a long letter to an English journal in which he shows, to his own satisfaction at least, that in case of a war with the United States the mother country will be able to turn her child over her ancient knee and give us ocular proofs of astronomical theories.
