WASHINGTON CULLINGS.

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Regarding Agriculture.

MEXICO AFTER MIZNER'S SCALP.

Governor Knapp of Alaska, Says the Territory Should Have a Delegate to Congress.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

CROP REPORTS.

The United States Raises Enough to Feed the World's Population. WASHINGTON, November 3d.—The first annual report of the Secretary of Agriculture was today made public. Complaint is made that Congress has not in the past appropriated a higher plane given more liberal appropriations. After deducting $60,000 for the experimental farms, the department had over $1,350,000 for its entire purposes. This, as compared with the appropriations made in 1888, is a marked increase.

A broader liberality in the matter of the crop reports from the various States is recommended. Of the year's crops the report says: Statistical records of the season indicate an average yield of cereals, a full supply of most of the fruits and the cotton crop is adequate for all demands.

Potatoes have received some injury from which the crop is more prevalent in the east than in the west. Fruits have been produced in only moderate abundance. Apples, especially yielding, are in short supply. The peach crop and producing scarcely a third of a full crop.

There was an increase in the variety of fruits and the area occupied in California and Florida is yearly enlarging our resources, and in some directions limiting the importation of foreign fruits. The great crop of American arable culture corn is larger in breadth this year than before, commencing about the middle of the area of all cereals and representing three-fourths of all the maize grown in the world. It promises slightly more than an average yield of about twenty bushels per acre.

Though slow in germination and early growth in the eastern States, the crop from the excess of moisture and from droughts, except in local and very limited areas, the production of wheat has for several years been so large as to reduce the price to a point so low as to discourage growers.

There has been an increase of the demand since 1880, due to the increase of the population, of 70,000,000 bushels, and a decline in the foreign demand of about 65,000,000 bushels. The exportation of 1888 was 188,321,514 bushels in wheat and flour, an average for eight years has been 121,300,000 bushels.

This country still supplies a large part of the European deficiency, which is much smaller than in the period of the poor European harvests of 1879 and 1880. The present crop will be a full average of from between twelve and thirteen bushels per acre, but the quality is below an average, with lower weight and bread-making capacity. There is ample supply, however, for all possible European requirements, and the surplus is large, where should tend to sustain it and advance the price.

The product of cotton, approximately, is close to 7,000,000 bales. For the first time since 1884, the crop of 1887 and 1888 each yielded about the same volume, and that of 1888 has slightly increased in volume, while the October percentage of the condition is somewhat higher than last year.

The report says agriculture in the Rocky Mountain region and on the Pacific coast is showing great stimulus. A special agent who was sent to California to investigate the vine troubles is said to be making commendable progress. Disease experiment stations are recommended.

Attention is also given to dairy and poultry interests and to sheep-raising. Special attention is also given to the development of varieties of bees containing a higher proportion of available sugar. Important progress has already been made in the production of many localities in the United States, especially in the North and on the Pacific Coast. The soil seems to be specially suitable to the production of the forage beet rich in saccharine matter. Interest in this subject by successful experimenters in California will be met by the publication, during the coming winter, of a report on the best sugar industry of the United States.

Department is to be specially occupied in the effort to solve the problem of increasing the forage yield on 300,000,000 acres of the Government lands, by irrigating, by promoting the production of grasses there.

In regard to textile fibers, the question now before the department is the question of the utilization of flax, jute, ramie, and other fibers. The report urges the necessity of a more extensive and definite preservation of such forest areas as are still owned by the Government.

Sheep and wool receive special consideration in the report. The growth of the mutton interest is referred to as one that is greatly encouraged.

As a consequence, the reduction in the tariff of 1883 is earnestly deplored. To it is attributed a great reduction in the number of sheep, which has fallen off about 7,000,000 head, while the important wool has increased from 73,350,611 pounds in the past year.

The figures are submitted showing the importance of agriculture, which produces annually a yield of $4,000,000,000, employing over 10,000,000 people, and representing a population of 30,000,000 people, while the value of live stock is estimated at $2,500,000,000.

TERRITORY OF ALASKA. Governor Knapp Says the Story that the Natives are Dying Off is Absurd.

WASHINGTON, November 3d.—Governor Knapp of Alaska, in his annual report, states that the number of natives in the Territory is about the same as when the census of 1880 was taken, but he thinks the next official enumeration will show an increase. The story about their dying off he characterizes as absurd. The white population is estimated at about 3,500.

He says the Government schools and the mission work of various religious denominations and coming in contact with the better class of white people are influences for good with the natives.

The Governor calls attention to the fact that under the existing laws there is no legal title to land except to mineral lands for mining purposes, and they cannot be secured for any purpose whatever. He dwells upon the lack of facilities for enforcing the laws. He recommends that Alaska have a representative before Congress.

MINISTER MIZNER. His First Speech May be the Cause of His Fall from Power.

WASHINGTON, November 3d.—The Post this morning published the following: Mr. Romero, the Mexican Minister, arrived in Washington yesterday on a flying trip from his Pan-American excursion. It is doubtful if he will rejoin them; certainly not if the object of his journey to the Capital was to make a public declaration of urgent matter of international courtesy and comity that has arisen, and Mexico satisfied by the grounds for her grievance and complaint.

Within a few days the press dispatches have been giving currency to the rumor that Mexico has made an Indian alliance against the presentation speech at Costa Rica of Minister Mizner, accredited to the United States by the Mexican Government. The substance of that speech is now for the first time made public in an American newspaper. Minister Romero has a copy of the Mexican paper containing the speech in Spanish.

The Central American States consist of Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala, of which Costa Rica is the most northern and Guatemala the most southern. Minister Mizner, of Costa Rica, seems to have undertaken to spread the seeds of discord among the Central American States by the instigation of Turner has fallen to the lot of Mizner. In presenting his credentials in turn to the President of Costa Rica he made the following statement: "The States of Central America must unite. A strong federal government is the only basis of their permanent peace. Her troops on the southern border of Costa Rica. Mexico has a covetous eye on Guatemala. It will be only a short time before the Central American States will be divided into two parts, the one of Colombia and Mexico. The time is drawing near, and only the most energetic action in the federation of Central America can save the States from this fate."

In view of the well-known friction between Mexico and Guatemala, it is little to be wondered at that the Central American States should be divided into two parts, the one of Colombia and Mexico. The time is drawing near, and only the most energetic action in the federation of Central America can save the States from this fate.

It seems probable that Costa Rica has no intention of recognizing the Central American States. Mexico and Costa Rica at least is so far established that mesal, pulque, aguardiente, and other favorite drinks of the Mexican people in Mexico are given free admission.

He Apologizes to Mexico for Mizner's Remarks. WASHINGTON, November 3d.—Mr. Romero, Mexican Minister, arrived in this city yesterday, having left the Pan-American excursionists. He said this evening his return was not due to the "Mizner scandal." That affair was settled before he left Washington some days ago. A dispatch from the Central American States some time ago stated there was great indignation there on account of the speech made by Mr. Mizner in Costa Rica, on the subject of the Central American States. It was stated that Mizner had been having a conversation with the President of the United States, and that the boundary dispute between that country and Guatemala.

The remarks of Mizner had been officially disavowed, and nothing further was to be said on the subject. "There has been," he added, "no intention to ask for Mizner's recall. That was not what was desired. Minister Mizner has been looking back when he struck him in the face, and he fell to the ground. His presence of mind saved his life, as he lay prostrate on the ground. He was shot by some one unambushed in the back of the head, and was on his feet and shot him in the back of the head.
