MICHIGAN'S BLACK BART.

A Startling Confession—He Says at Times He is Not Responsible.

Bessmer (Mich., Nov. 14th)—The murder of banker Fleischbein, of Bellemeville, Ill., and for the robbery of the Gogebic National Bank, at Hobbey, Mich.

Hobbey says he worked on the Oconto river for three years, and then, desiring a change, went to Portland, Or., for a short time. He then went up the Puget Sound country, where he worked in a mill for five months. He also spent eight weeks in the Rocky Mountain country, and in the West altogether about six months.

While in Washington Territory, Hobbey said he was injured by his horse falling upon him, and he had unconscious for some time afterwards, and that while his health previous to this accident had been good, since then he has been unable to do his usual work.

He could not describe just how it affected him, but it affected his whole system, and particularly his head. Ordinarily he felt quite good, but these ailments would come over him and would last probably a day, sometimes more. He said that during these periods he was not sane, but could not describe his feelings.

During such spells his actions, and any incident or occurrence taking place at such times were entirely unknown to him, and several of these spells since his capture, and probably had a dozen or more since he has been in the prison.

Hobbey said he remembered the day he was arrested, and who arrested him. He could not tell why he was held up. He says he does not remember who was the driver of the stage, but he does remember seeing either Fleischbein or the driver, and failed to recognize either of them.

The attorney flattered the prisoner somewhat when he said: "Why did you not tell us before that you were insane?" Hobbey answered in the negative, but he had one of these spells at any time and shoot anybody?"

Hobbey answered the question, but replied: "I carried revolvers to protect myself from the wild animals in the woods and did not know where they were, as I might not find them again."

Hobbey was the only witness called for the defense.

EPIDEMIC OF RABIES.

A Reign of Terror in the Western Portion of Kansas City, Mo., November 14th.—In Saline county, Mo., there is what might be called an epidemic of hydrophobia. The rabid dog has become a pest.

Three of four weeks ago a mad dog ran through the county, biting human beings and brutes. Three people were killed, and nine more were bitten by other dogs that afterward took the disease. Of these people two died, and the remaining one is still suffering.

The rabid dog was the first to be killed. It was shot by the first dog owner, and the others were shot by the same owner.

A little five-year-old boy was the first to suffer from the disease. He was bitten by a young man, died. His mother and dogs have gone mad all over the county. A war is being waged against the mad dogs.

A war in Marshall the city Marshal was ordered to kill all canines that ran at large. The slaughter began and spread to the country. In Saline county, Mo., there is what might be called an epidemic of hydrophobia, while the others live in the first stages of their lives.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Hunting Up Reed's Record on the River and Harbor Bill.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), November 14th.—Although the leading candidates for the Speakership are not in the city their friends are at work on whatever material they find to their advantage. It is not likely, however, that many members will get here until after Thanksgiving. Burrows' men have been hunting up Reed's record on the river and harbor bill, and the postmaster general has been discovered that Reed voted against the passage of the bill in the first and second session of the Forty-ninth Congress.

They have discovered that Reed voted against the passage of the bill in the first and second session of the Forty-ninth Congress. Reed also voted against the adoption of the conference report at the same session. In the Fifty-third Congress Reed voted in favor of the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, and Reed also aided the filibustering against the measure.

The record, it is believed, will have a serious effect on Reed's chances.

OFF FOR A HUNT.

Gov. Went for Fish, Benjamin Goes for Ducks.

WASHINGTON, November 14th.—The President left this city last night by way of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad for a few days of duck shooting. It is not known where he has gone, but it is supposed to be one of the famous duck hunting grounds in Maryland in the vicinity of the Chesapeake bay. Private Secretary Hallock said to-day he could not tell where the President was, because he did not know.

Benjamin wanted a few days of uninterrupted recreation, and the only way he could have it was by keeping his movements secret.

POOR PRICES.

Illinois Cattle Do Not Bring Much in the German Market.

WASHINGTON, November 14th.—Commercial Agent Smith at Mayence, Germany, reports the prevalence of high prices for meat in Germany.

A firm of Mayence butchers have accordingly tried the experiment of importing live cows from the United States. Arrangements have been made for the shipment from Illinois to Germany of 900 head of cows within two months.

It is the first time that live cows from the United States have been imported for sale in Germany.

The first lot of cattle arrived the week preceding the report, and the animals sold at a price 10 to 15 per cent. less than the price of the same animals in the United States. The cost of transportation and the customs duty.

The result of the experiments will be communicated to the International Marine Committee, and especially the heavy cost of transportation and the customs duty.
