

POOR HATTIE DONAHUE.

SOME UNKNOWN SORROW DRIVES HER TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

Beautiful, and Loved by All Who Knew Her, she Seeks Death in the Rushing River.

Pretty Hattie B. Donahue's body lay in a coffin at Reeves & Long's undertaking establishment last night, and was visited by scores of people who had heard of her sad and tragic death in the early evening.

She had been an operator in the Western Union Telegraph office in this city, and committed suicide a few minutes before 6 o'clock in the evening by jumping from the Yolo bridge into the swollen waters of the Sacramento river.

Yesterday she was still at her post half an hour after her usual time for ceasing work, and John Allen, the Night Superintendent, asked her if she did not want to be relieved. He then noticed that she was not receiving messages, but was writing, and spoke to her jokingly about it.

She smiled and replied that it was simply a note to a married lady, and a few moments afterward left the operating room. On reaching the business office down stairs she asked the clerk if he could spare her one of the boys for a little while, and he said he could.

Accompanying her she left, accompanied by a messenger. She asked the boy to show her the way to the YOLO BRIDGE.

And he accompanied her there. On reaching the bridge she gave him two letters to post for her, and a note for Mrs. Elijah Swift, who resides at 410 Al street. She also gave him two dollars for his trouble.

The boy left her on the bridge and returned as directed. The bridge-tender noticed Miss Donahue's messenger waiting down on the bridge for some minutes after the boy left her, but thought nothing of it, supposing that she was waiting for some body.

What awful thoughts were engrossing the mind of the young woman during those moments can only be conjectured, for she then threw herself into the terrible act of self-destruction. Presently Mr. Todhunter and one or two other men on the Yolo side of the river saw the girl.

AN OMINOUS SPLASH. In the river, followed by a heart-piercing shriek of despair, and rushing to the edge of the bank saw a dark object floating off on the rushing current. The man who was looking for Todhunter's boat near by, but it was locked and could not be got loose.

After some delay another boat was found and the men put off in it, but they were too late—the body had gone out of sight, and poor Hattie Donahue had found a watery grave.

The alarm was given and men set to work to recover the body, but it was perhaps two hours before they succeeded in their efforts. The body was finally recovered with grappling-irons within a few yards of where the unfortunate girl was last seen. It was taken waiting for some body.

At the meantime Mrs. Swift had received the note brought her by the messenger boy, and fearing that something was wrong, hastened to the telegraph office, where she formed Superintendent Semp and others of her fears. The note received by Mrs. Swift read as follows:

Dear Mrs. Swift: You know my life has not been an enviable one for some months past. I think I have chosen here my best friend, my troubles. Many thanks to you for your kind words. You have been a good friend to me with love.

The messenger boy was questioned in regard to where he had gone with Miss Donahue, and further inquiry developed the fact that she had leaped from the bridge into the river, as stated.

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY. The first person called upon by a RECORD-UNION reporter, in his search for information that might throw some light on the mystery which surrounded the affair, was Superintendent Semp. He said that Miss Donahue had been an operator in the office for about a year, prior to which time she had been in the company's employ at San Francisco, Virginia City and Reno.

She was one of the best operators they had, and a young lady of a remarkably quiet disposition. She was always at her duty, did not keep company with any gentleman, so far as he knew, and was on the best of terms with her relatives at the Bay. She had been at her desk all day, and had had not the remotest idea as to what could have impelled her to commit the terrible act of self-destruction.

She had seemed to be in good spirits all day, and had not noticed anything unusual in her manner. The reporter next called upon Mrs. Swift, at 210 M street, where Miss Donahue had roomed for some months. Mrs. Swift was so overcome by the shock of the terrible affair that she declined to talk much about it. She also declined to read the note she had received from Miss Donahue by the boy, the contents of which are given above.

THREE INQUESTS.

THE CORNER DOES A LAND OFFICE BUSINESS YESTERDAY.

The Case of Tennie Gottsch—Death Caused by a Criminal Operation—A Sad Affair.

The RECORD-UNION yesterday contained the announcement of the sudden death at the American Eagle Hotel, in this city, of Miss Tennie Gottsch of Diamond Springs, El Dorado county. The cause of her death was not known, however, until yesterday, when Dr. White held an autopsy on the body, which showed that death was caused by a criminal operation performed for the purpose of abortion.

Consequently, Coroner Clark and District Attorney Bruner concluded that it was necessary to hold an inquest, which was done last evening. The first witness called was John Smith, a resident of Diamond Springs, and the half-brother of the deceased, who testified that he saw his sister last alive at her home last Thursday night. She left home about 5 o'clock in the morning to come to Sacramento with George W. Callahan, a neighbor. He did not see her leave. He was not aware that she was in a delicate condition.

She was born at Diamond Springs, and was about 19 years of age. George W. Newberry, proprietor of the American Eagle Hotel, testified that the deceased and Mr. Callahan came to his hotel on the afternoon of the 29th. She went down on Saturday and Sunday. On Sunday night she complained of being sick, and on Tuesday morning his wife informed him that Miss Gottsch was very ill, and asked him to call on her. With his wife he did. The deceased said she had been here during the fall, and she said she had her first child, and when she came here this time she had another child. Witness examined her tongue and said to her that she did not seem to have any fever, and that something else was troubling her. He suggested that she had better have a physician.

He was expected every minute, and that he would have him call on her. She said that Mr. Callahan had gone for a physician, and she was expecting him. At 5 o'clock, his wife called to him that Miss Gottsch was groaning in her room. He went to her, and she said she did not seem to have any fever, and that something else was troubling her. He suggested that she had better have a physician.

Witness went into the room and found that she was apparently dead. He told Callahan to go for a doctor, and inform the Coroner. Witness remained in the room until Dr. Hughson arrived, and when he had seen the physician, the girl was dead, he appeared surprised. Witness said he had a conversation with Callahan regarding Miss Gottsch's sickness, and expressed his opinion. Callahan said he was innocent as a child unborn. He had never stopped in the house before. In her room he found her night-dresses and bed-sheets spotted with blood.

Dr. Hughson testified that Mr. Callahan asked him on Tuesday morning, about 9:30 o'clock, to call on Miss Gottsch, that she had a chill and was vomiting. About 11 o'clock, when he arrived at the hotel, he met Callahan, who said that the girl was very sick and vomiting terribly. Callahan held his horses while he went to the room. He found Miss Gottsch vomiting fearfully. She said she had been laboring under a hallucination. He realized that he had made a fool of himself, and was anxious to get out of the house as soon as possible. In the afternoon, when Chief Lee became satisfied that he had regained his sober senses, he was released.

Police Court Doings. The charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Maggie Roe, made by "Yorke" Monahan, was continued by Judge Buckley yesterday until Saturday. The battery cases of William Crank-shank, William Beeler and Ah Ling, were heard and the charges against them dismissed.

The misdemeanor charges against "Doc" Ray and William Grubbs, on complaint of Jesse Slaughter, were also dismissed. Regan Myers was fined $2.50 for disturbing the peace. A boy, named on the calendar as John Doe, charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, was sentenced to pay a fine of $7.50.

Little Cases for Anxiety. Chief Lee said yesterday regarding the sudden disappearance of Neils Holmdrup that, in conjunction with officers Rider and Carroll, he had made a thorough investigation into the matter, and as a result firmly believed that Holmdrup was still in the city. He also said that he had had shipped on an ocean vessel. A few days before he disappeared Holmdrup remarked that it was no use for him to study the map of the living, and that he was going to show that he had purposely left the city is the fact that he took along his best suit of clothes.

NATURAL CAUSES. In the case of the death of A. H. Heppner, ex-Chief Engineer of the Volunteer Fire Department, who was found dead by one of his sons on Tuesday evening, the verdict of the jury was that he deceased died from natural causes.

TEMPORARILY RELIEVED. Three K-Street Dives Relieved of Their Low-lived Crews. The frequency of petty thievery and burglaries, and the contemporaneous presence in the city of an army of ex-convicts and tramps of the lowest caste, caused Chief of Police Lee to issue an order on Tuesday for all the officers on night duty to move on the notorious dives on K street where thieves and gamblers are in the habit of gathering and passing their nights, sleeping on the floors, on tables and wherever they can find room to squeeze in their worthless carcasses. The raid was made on Tuesday morning, and resulted in the capture of 130 A. M., yesterday morning, but it was nearly 2 o'clock before the officers could get together. The arresting force consisted of officers Agner, Stafford, Eider, Harvey, Ashie, Morrell, Carroll, Campbell and Simmons.

The first place visited was Fred Gibson's place, the Lafayette. Ordinarily it would be an easy matter to "pull" about fifty or sixty of the toughest specimens of degraded humanity in this region, but the officers could do so without a fight. It looked as if somebody had got wind of what was coming, as the gang that was marched out of there did not contain a single member of the dive. Charges of vagrancy could not be entertained against them, and in allowing them to go, his Honor warned them that if any of them were arrested again for loitering in saloons it would go hard with them.

"If you cannot get work here," concluded Judge Buckley, "then go somewhere else, where you can, and not remain idle in this town."

Claimed Her Child. Mrs. Kate Pender, of Marysville, has been awarded the custody of her little daughter whom she left with a colored woman named Kemp, about a year ago, and who—abandoned by Mrs. Kemp—had been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. William Hook. They did not know whether her mother was, and the child could or would give no information on the subject. Mrs. Pedro Hook came to town, however, and finding her child, claimed her.

AN ENTERPRISING FIRM. The remarkable progress made in the Sacramento "Pastorale" business by the Sacramento, cannot be said of being over-run with manufacturing houses, but nevertheless the few she has within her limits rank among the most important industries of the coast. One of the most extensive of these is the firm of Scott & Gilbert, who carry on a general chemical manufacturing business, one of their specialties being the well-known "Top Notch" flavoring extract. This enterprising firm which saw fit to invest its capital in Sacramento and await results, has been in existence but two years the coming January, yet thanks to their energy, the establishment is on a substantial footing, doing an extensive business, and enjoying a constantly increasing trade. Since its commencement the growth of the business has been remarkable. At first their trade was purely local, but now their territory extends from Portland on the north to Los Angeles on the south, and east as far as Utah Territory.

Three traveling agents are kept constantly on the road, and new trade is being established daily. Up to a short time ago the place of business of the firm was at 322 J street, but the accommodations there being inadequate on account of influx of business, they moved to 418 and 421 J street, between Fourth and Fifth, where they claim their appliances and conveniences are far superior to any other similar establishment on the coast. A reporter visited the house yesterday, and found a number of persons in the various departments of their factory, busily engaged in preparing, bottling, labeling and shipping the product, and it was apparent at a glance that the usual depression of business at this season was not affecting this firm.

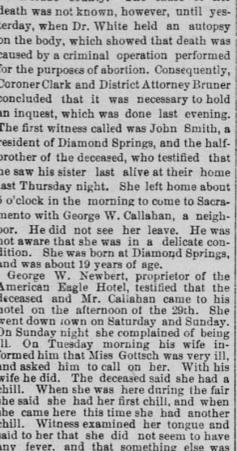

BRIEF NOTES. The river at 6 o'clock last night was 20 feet 11 inches above flood stage. Judge Armstrong yesterday sentenced Theodore Woolf to two months in the County Jail for petty larceny. The governor yesterday appointed John Street, of San Francisco, a Justice of the Peace, and Laura Irwin was divorced from N. A. Irwin for a similar reason. Owing to a landslip on the Oregon railroad, yesterday morning's express train from Portland did not arrive until about 10 o'clock last night. This morning's train from Portland is reported to be a number of hours late.

A special meeting of the Farmers' Club will be held next Saturday, the 7th, at 6 o'clock P. M. at Loomis street, county, to organize and perfect a company for the sale or shipment of fruit from that locality. Every fruit-grower or other interested are invited to be present. The Free Thought Publishing Company has filed articles of incorporation in the Secretary of State's office. Principal place of business, San Francisco. Directors, T. Putnam, G. E. Macdonald, W. H. Eastman, E. S. Lemme, F. L. Brown. Capital stock, $20,000, of which there has been subscribed $1,025.
